PSC denies GDU rate hike

...ately 3,000 local residents ... by General Development Utilities.

There can be little doubt the long awaited denial was the culmination of several long hard months of research spearheaded by the Port St. Lucie-River Park Homeowners Association. The association later gained the support of the Port St. Lucie Homeowners Association, the Country Club Homeowners and the Civic League in their efforts.

Back in June, the four civic associations, citing test year inadequacies in the GDU application, objected to the proposed rate hike. At that time, the group submitted a detailed eighteen page rebuttal to the PSC for their study and consideration. They maintained the test year basis of the application did not fully represent current conditions and income of the utility firm.

The rebuttal followed nearly three months of research conducted by the local group, who met twice a week to study the firm's application to the PSC.

Following the first public hearing on the requested rate hike held in Port St. Lucie, GDU staff members were given until August 11 to present a detailed lot sales report to the PSC. The purpose of the request was to aid the PSC in determining whether or not GDC was fulfilling their sales agreement by providing free water and sewer hookups as promised to those buyers purchasing lots prior to 1972. GDC amended the sales contracts in 1972, thus making the purchaser of a lot responsible for water and sewer hookups.

The PSC left no stone unturned while conducting their extensive investigation into the GDU application. William A. Becker, PSC Assistant Chief Engineer said early in the investigation his committee was concerned that GDC provided the promised free connections and the costs of such installations are not divided among the lot owners who are required to pay for hookups.

The second public hearing scheduled by the PSC was held in Port Malabry since GDU was seeking an across-the-board increase in rates covering all of their state ...

Planning board

Martin, St.Lucie commissioners head council

PORT ST. LUCIE–Commissioners of Martin and St. Lucie counties were elected to head the newly-created Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council at its second meeting last week in Stuart.

Martin County Commissioner Maggy Hurchalla was selected chairman and Commissioner George Price was named vice-chairman. Actin, mayor of North Palm Beach Merve McIntyre will be secretary-treasurer of the 13-member council.

Within 45 minutes, representatives from Martin, St. Lucie, Indian River and Palm Beach counties signed the pact to form the council, appointed sub-committees and elected their leaders.

Palm Beach County Commissioner F.W. "Bud" Weaver was named to head a subcommittee handling transition from other regional planning councils.

Weaver said that some of the projects in limbo before the South Florida Regional Planning Council may have to be reheard by the Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council.

Martin, St. Lucie and Palm Beach counties were members of the South Florida Council, and Indian River County was a member of the East Central Regional Planning Council before the four counties ask the state to form the new council.

Commenting on the speedy action of the formation of the new council, an associate planner with the state Department of Administration said:

"The council was formed so fast because it was an indigenous move. I think there is a lot of planning interest in this area."

Associate planner Lauren Stryker also noted that it has been only 62 days since Lt. Gov. Jim Williams made the announcement approving the new council.

The agreement to form the council signed last week should be approved within ten days by the state Attorney General's office, Mrs. Stryker said.

Council members decided to explore the possibility of receiving early designation, which would allow the council to set policy for the region prior to official beginning date.

Subcommittees appointed by Mrs. Hurchalla will draft by-laws, transition of applications budgeting and to determine a salary range for the executive director and to seek applications. Other councils pay the directors from $21,000 to $35,000.

All counties and municipal representatives or their alternates selected to serve on the council were present at the meeting except one the municipal representative of St. Lucie County, who has not been selected yet.

The next meeting of the council is set for Sept. 16.

Landfill talked by COG

PORT ST. LUCIE–Problems prodding a solid-waste land fill were outlined by St. Lucie County Commission Chairman Ed Enns at the recent meeting of the Council of Governments (COG).

Enns noted that the problems include obtaining land, obtaining the necessary environmental approval required for permits, getting qualified personnel for operations, and obtaining equipment.

Many agencies are in direct conflict with one another, Enns said, noting the many conflicts between environmental agencies which create many problems.

Pointing out that the present landfill site used by St. Lucie County is near the St. Lucie County Airport, the Department of Environmental Protection informed the county that it must obtain the approval of the Federal Aeronautics Administration to operate the site.

COG members discussed whether or not a landfill should be operated and owned by a county or lease the operation.

Enns and St. Lucie County engineer Andy Helseth agreed that there are no firm rules set or guidelines to be used for a landfill project.

COG chairman Mayor Schuyler Sharpe requested information concerning the final approval or implementation of a mutual assistance agreement between Martin and St. Lucie Counties.

An official of Waste Management, Inc. Monday told St. Lucie County officials that he would be in the county Sept. 13 to give officials a cost proposal for operating a sanitary landfill at a 233 acre site off Glades Cutoff Road in Port St. Lucie.

Gerald J. Gersh told county officials who are facing a Jan. 1, 1977 deadline to find a new landfill that his company could be ready to begin operations within three months after signing a contract.

The company, based in Pompano Beach, operates a number of landfills in 28 states and four in Florida.

Operation of a landfill has been the subject of discussion at several COG sessions.

Helseth, who is in charge of obtaining cost proposals on proposed sites, said he doubted the county could purchase land, prepare it and be in operation by the Jan. 1 deadline.

Budget cut $144,000; millage set at 1.75

PORT ST. LUCIE–Following a two-hour hassel, the city council voted Tuesday to cut the 1976-77 budget by some $144,000 and set the millage at 1.75.

The action came late in the morning after the City Administrator Elmer Cox pleaded with the council to make every possible effort to reach a decision on the matter during the Tuesday session.

Residents of the community, as well as representatives from the Civic League were on hand at the city hall for the second time in as many weeks to protest what they claimed to be an excessive budget.

At the close of last week's meeting, Cox was instructed to re-work the $763,238 budget and present the revised document this week.

In presenting the fifth draft of the city budget, Cox told the council and those attending the meeting, the document represented the absolute minimum computation with respect to revenues without seriously endangering both the state and federal revenue sharing income.

The budget of $619,000 is actually approximately $18,000 above our estimate in the current fiscal year," Cox said, adding the estimated ad valorem tax revenue of $223,000 is based on a millage of 1.364.

"This millage rate is considerably below the 1.5 which Councilman Larry Emmel suggested and even further below the 2 mill suggestion of Councilman Bill McCheseney," Cox added.

It was a motion made by McCheseney and seconded by Emmel that set the millage at 1.75, thus adding a little fat to the barebones budget as presented. That motion carried with it two stipulations. One that the extra money generated be placed in a trust fund for its intended purpose.

Accordingly, $35,000 will be placed in trust for the establishment of the police department when the time is right, and $27,000 will be earmarked for the proposed city hall complex and placed in trust. The city meanwhile will receive interest from both accounts.

The motions carried unanimously.

The 1.75 millage will generate approximately $265,000 in ad valorem taxes and will represent a nearly five percent cut for the taxpayers this year.

The fifth and final draft of the 1976-77 budget totals $661,000 and represents a $144,238 cut from earlier drafts.

"We are proud to bring the many services of First National to our many customers and friends in Jensen Beach, and are looking forward to making many new friends as our plans progress," Dale Hudson said.

The announcement of the Jensen Beach branch was made in connection with plans for a 13-store shopping center which will be contiguous to the bank.

The 10,000 square foot shopping center will be just west of the Savannas Shopping Plaza, according to James H. Bruner.

Bruner, president of the Savannas Shipping Plaza Corp., and developer of the new center, said work is now under way on the new center. He said the bank building 150 foot front footage on Commercial Street – will be just to the west of the new center and across the street from Aycock Funeral Home.

Bruner said the shopping center is expected to be completed in November.

There are 16 stores in the Plaza, according to Bruner.

Dale Hudson said plans for the new bank building have not been completed by architect Paul Henderson, but it is expected to have about 3,000 square feet and designed to be enlarged with drive-in facilities.

The bank officials said "PAT" facility now located next to Ace Hardware in the Plaza would be moved to the new building.

Plans call for opening of the new bank during January 1977, and it is the first bank in Martin County approved under the new Florida branch banking law.

After 20 years of political finagling, branch banking was approved by the 1975 Florida Legislature. The law allows Florida banks to open as many as two branch banks in its home county every year.

So far, about 170 of the state's 758 banks have taken advantage of the new branch banking law.

The Jensen Beach branch will be a full service banking institution offering the same modern service as First National, including 24-hour banking.

He said the office of the United Way will have a secretary, and that between 10 to 14 agencies will be included in the campaign.

Food program help is needed

JENSEN BEACH–Volunteers for the "Meals on Wheels" program are needed, according to the Martin County Council on Aging. The program starts Sept. 13.

From Jensen Beach to Hobe Sound, volunteers will be transporting hot, nutritious meals to 21 homes as part of the council's program.

Although the food program will begin by serving only 21 people, the council spokesman said the program will expand.

The council said drivers are needed to deliver the meals and help in any capacity in getting the program on the road.

Any one interested in helping may call the council at 283-2242 or 283-2243, or the chairlady of the Meals on Wheels volunteers at 287-0590.

Security fence at Jensen school

JENSEN BEACH–A six-foot security fence has been erected on the Jensen Beach Elementary School campus for the safety of the children and security of the building, school principal Dale Clark said.

"Over the years, we have had some vandalism, but it was mostly nuisance," Clark said.

"The main reason for the fence is for the safety of the children," Clark emphasized.

"The fence is along the bank of the creek that borders the campus and on the side and rear of the building.

Pointing to the fenced area along the creek, Clark said that "we have first and second grade students playing in that area. The idea of a fence along the creek was for student safety."

Clark said vandalism has been mostly from pellet gun bullet holes in the windows and doors. "A pellet from the gun will damage a door so that it makes it unsafe and will have to replaced," Clark said. "It costs about $100 to replace a glass in a door."

"Last spring someone broke into the building and took a small office safe, and generally made a big mess."

"There wasn't any money in the safe because we don't keep school funds in the building," Clark pointed out.

The cost of erecting the fence was paid for from a new state program called "health, life and safety."

"Under this new program, we have spent $160,000 in the past six months," School Superintendent James Navitsky said.

"We have erected fences at four schools, installed fire alarms, lights and other security work for the safety of the children," Navitsky said.

"Work like this in the past had to be done with county money," Navitsky

Campus tours are conducted

Howey-in-the-Hills—Campus tours of Howey Academy for interested students and their parents are being conducted daily from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Admissions officials at college preparatory Howey in Central Florida said the tours follow completion of renovations in boys' and girls' living facilities, and those interested in attending grades 7-12 should first call for a convenient appointment.

In addition to visits to the residence halls, areas covered by campus tours include the reading and study skills classroom, two recently constructed science laboratories and adjoining classrooms, the library, dining hall, and arts and crafts center, and recreational facilities and athletic fields.

Information on curricula for both college and career preparation will also be provided.

Registration for Howey's fall semester is September 13, but immediate application is urged to facilitate transfer of credits and prompt scheduling.

Tour appointments can be made by telephone (904) 324-2701 in Howey-in-the-Hills.

TAXES: I will oppose any new taxes. The cost of living has gone up 13 percent or more in the past two years and is expected to rise another 6 to 7 percent in the coming year. For that reason I do not plan to be a part of any move which would further burden you with additional taxes. When I served as a County Commissioner, the tax line was held and for two years the millage was reduced.

INDUSTRY: I want to re-establish a once existing on-going program for property industrial development to provide payrolls and constructive growth. Reactivating our industrial park can help in this effort.

SOUTH BRIDGE: We can obtain a second south bridge now by cooperating with the Department of Transportation on a bond issue guaranteed by the obligation of a small amount of the primary Road District funds.

ROAD PRIORITY PROGRAM: Re-establish a published road and drainage program based on need - NOT POLITICS - that reflects the status of area conditions so that you will know when and where it will happen.

HARMONY: I promise to work harmoniously with state and local governmental agencies to secure an end to our many problems. However, I will stand firm against efforts to take away our right to determine our own future.

SERVICES: I want to bring long neglected services such as automobile inspections, registration, licensing, etc., to outlying areas of St. Lucie County.

ZONING: I will reaffirm and protect established zoning laws.

PORT: We should actively promote and seek proper development of the Port of Fort Pierce and the St. Lucie County Airport.

BEACH CAUSEWAY: I will again initiate efforts for proper development of our now dormant public owned causeway property so the public may benefit from its use. Lever 23-A

LETTER

To the Editor:

As a south Martin County property owner and one of those unfortunate persons included in the present ENCON District, I am very much disturbed at the developments concerning ENCON and the latest projected figures on how much each resident of the area will be forced to pay monthly for sewer rental. It will ultimately be in the neighborhood of $25 per month for each single family home. In addition, there are the costs of installation and hookup (approximately $1,000 per one family dwelling) and costs to each household of approximately $3.75 per foot to hire a plumber to connect ENCON with house plumbing. These costs will create a hardship on most of the population of south Martin County and an intolerable burden on its Senior Citizens.

According to all published reports these costs are excessive for the following reasons:

(1) Use of the most expensive type of treatment plant.

(2) The costs of treatment are 4 times that of the Palm Beach County average.

(3) The collection lines were installed at the highest price per foot of any treatment facility in the surrounding areas.

(4) ENCON dug up the roads for sewer lines but failed to install water lines, now that work will have to be done again.

(5) Inefficient operations of the ENCON Board.

According to the information I have obtained, there has been a willful waste of about $5,000,000 in the construction of the ENCON sewer system, thus far, and the projected completion figure as of this date is over twice the amount that the entire project was to have cost originally. If we look at the facts we find that since the inception of ENCON, inflation has gone up approximately 30 percent while the costs of ENCON have increased over 100 percent.

I am writing this open letter to all the citizens of Martin County to inform them of our plight in the south and to warn them that this intolerable situation can be repeated in other areas without continuing vigilance of the voters.

I am the president of the South Martin County Homeowners Association but am writing this letter as a concerned private citizen.

Trusting this letter will help to enlighten all of the residents of Martin County, I am,

Sincerely,
s/J.V. Endebrock

COG Meeting

PORT ST. LUCIE—The next regular meeting of the St. Lucie River Council of Governments will be held on October 14, 1976 instead of September 16, as previously scheduled.

The meeting will be held at the Martin County Courthouse in Stuart and will start at 7:30 p.m.

Thornhill Park terms requested

PORT ST. LUCIE—While General Development Corporation agreed last April to donate Thornhill Park to the City of Port St. Lucie, councilmembers are awaiting the recommendation of the Planning & Zoning Board before making any decision on the matter.

The park, which consists of approximately 21 acres situated near the intersection of Floresta and Thornhill Drive, was offered in conjunction with the city's purchase of the proposed city hall site at the corner of Alcosa and Port St. Lucie Boulevards.

Prior to making their recommendation in regards to the transfer of the park to the city, the Planning and Zoning Board has requested the terms of such transfer be more specifically outlined by General Development Corporation.

Consequently, Elmer Cox, city administrator, has requested a letter from GDC setting forth the following primary points:

1. That GDC is willing to deed Thornhill Park to the city without costs.

2. That GDC does not expect the city to undertake any development of the park for at least five years.

3. That GDC acknowledges the city's intentions to maintain a buffer zone or greenbelt around the peripheral boundary of the park.

4. That GDC and the city may from time to time discuss future development of Thornhill so that it will remain a passive recreation area causing the least disturbance to any present or future residential development.

Originally, GDC had stated that upon acceptance by the city, the city must undertake all maintenance of the area so as to not cause an eyesore, and must pledge to use the park only as a passive park with a reservation of a 50 foot greenbelt adjacent to the platted lots for the protection of the lot owners from any unnecessary noise or traffic.

The developer also stipulated the area would be reserved for park purposes only and, if not used for these purposes, would revert back to GDC. The corporation would also reserve the right of review of any plan of development, only for the purpose of assuring compliance with the details of development to the option of the City of Port St. Lucie.

Council members thus far seem to favor the park donation presenting, of course the city will not be pressed into improving the area within the next five years.

Good voter turnout is expected Tuesday

PORT ST. LUCIE—Approximately fifty percent of the St. Lucie County eligible voters are expected to cast ballots in the Tuesday, September 7 primary.

"I recently reviewed my files and found that in 1972 a similar ballot brought out 59 percent of the voters in the 1974 primary, where we had a reduced number of local candidates the turnout was about 29 percent," said James Brooks, St. Lucie County Supervisor of Elections.

Over 300 absentee ballots have been processed to date through the supervisor's office which according to Brooks, would indicate nearly a 50 percent turnout this year or less than 6,000 voters.

Eleven voting machines will be placed in the four south county precincts, five at the North Port St. Lucie Marina Precinct 20, two at the Spanish Lakes Recreation Center Precinct 21, two at the Port St. Lucie City Hall Precinct 22 and two machines at the Port St. Lucie Community Center, Precinct 23 (the CESA Building).

Of the 29,198 voters registered in St. Lucie County, 6,102 are included in Precincts 20, 21, 22 and 23.

There are several contests on the Democratic and Republican ballots and the non-partisan ballot for judicial officers.

On the Democratic ballot, three candidates are in the 10th congressional district race: G.W. "Jerry" Bowers, Robert Culpepper and Bill Sikes.

Two candidates are seeking nomination in the State House of Representatives race (Port St. Lucie area): Dale Cassens and T.J. Del Rosso.

Bill Gunter, Aubyn H. Hodges and Roosevelt Jones are in the State Treasurer race and Phil Brewer and Katie Nichols are vying in the Florida Public Service Commission race.

On the county level, Doyle Jenkins and Lamie Norvell are in the sheriff's race with Stanley Ostrowski and D.R. "Red" Seeliger competing for the district superintendent of public schools position.

Seeking the county commission seat for District One are W.R. "Willie" McLain and John J. Smith.

Three candidates are on the running for the District 3 commission seat: John W. "Johnny" Blank Jr., Tom Lilly and John B. Park, while Cody L. Bailey and George D. Price seek the District 5 seat.

Seeking the District 3 nomination for the St. Lucie County School Board chair are Millie E. Helseth, W.E. "Ed" Raikes and Kathleen Schaefer.

Judy James, Charlie Frank Matthews and O.C. Peterson will compete for the District 4 School Board seat.

The candidates on the judicial ballot shows:

Charles B. Holley, Frederick B. Kark and Richard "Max" Swann in Group 1, Supreme Court; John V. Russell and Alan C. Sundberg, Group 2, Supreme Court; and Harvie S. DuVal and Joe Hatchett, Group 3, Supreme Court.

Carroll S. Barco, Rudolph Brood and James C. Daubsch, Jr., Group 1, District Court of Appeal, Fourth Appellate District; Harry Lee Anstead and Henry Pennuska, Group 3, District Court of Appeal.

Philip G. Nourse and G. Kendall Sharp, Circuit Judge, 19th Judicial Circuit, Group 2.

Punt, pass and kick competition begins

PORT ST. LUCIE—It is again time to register for the Punt, Pass and Kick Competition. This year the local level of Punt, Pass and Kick will be co-sponsored by the Ft. Pierce-St. Lucie County Recreation Department in conjunction with Sunrise Ford. The competition is free and is open to all boys and girls, ages 8 thru 13. Seven year olds who will reach their eighth birthday by December 31, 1976, may compete, but a 13 year old who becomes 14, on or before January 1, 1977, will not be eligible. Participants in the Punt, Pass and Kick program compete only against others their own age. Scoring is based on accuracy and distance in punting, passing and place kicking. There is positively no body contact during the competition.

Sneakers (tennis shoes) are required and no special footgear such as football shoes and boots can be worn in local competition. Also, no barefoot kicking or punting is permitted.

Youngsters should take a parent or guardian to Sunrise Ford, 1699 North Federal Highway, Fort Pierce to pick up copies of the free booklet on Punt, Pass and Kick tips which explains how to compete and while there, register for this event. The deadline for registration is Friday, Sept. 10, at 5 p.m.

There will be a Punt, Pass and Kick Clinic held on Saturday, Sept. 4, beginning at 9 a.m. at the Lawnwood Baseball Complex. Be sure to attend this clinic and receive proper guidance and instruction.

The Punt, Pass and Kick competition will take place Saturday, September 11, 1976 at the Lawnwood Baseball Complex at 9:30 a.m.

READY FOR OCCUPANCY—With four of the units already in use, the new million dollar Port St. Lucie Medical Center is now ready for occupancy. The new facility is located on U.S. 1 across from the Spanish Lakes entrance. Early occupants in the center include a pharmacy, one medical doctor, an optometrist and the GGS office, developers of the facility.

Few register for Flu shot

PORT ST. LUCIE—Even though it has been recommended that local residents avail themselves of the Swine Flu shots, relatively few persons have registered to take them.

Several weeks ago, Dr. Fred S. Carter, chairman of the City's Health Committee, urged persons twenty-five years of age and older to consider the immunization shots, particularly those individuals over sixty-five years of age or, what he termed "high risk" individuals.

He also suggested that residents obtain their shots from free clinics which will be established in the county, rather than from their private physicians.

Those persons interested in acquiring the shots are asked to call the Community Center, 878-1380, or Fred Wiggin at the Medical Center, 878-2713.

According to Wiggin, only 45 persons have registered to date.

700 enroll at PSL Elementary

PORT ST. LUCIE—With the new Port St. Lucie Elementary School completed less than two years ago, enrollment reached an unprecedented peak Monday as 700 students, kindergarten through the fifth grade, appeared on the opening day of the 1976-77 school year.

"While it was indeed a busy day, everything went very well," said Mrs. Pat Gillen, school secretary.

There is a speech therapist and twenty four classroom teachers on staff at the south county school this year.

According to school officials, the biggest improvement was the addition of the bike path on Irving Street, which will be a big help in traffic distribution.

Through the cooperation of the St. Lucie County Commission, General Development Corporation, the St. Lucie County Sheriff's Department and the Parent Teachers Students & Friends (PTSF), Irving Street from Prima Vista to Marion Street has been designated for one-way vehicular traffic, with vehicles using only the west one-half of the paved surface. The east one-half of the street is to be used for bicycle and pedestrian traffic only, with pavement marked to exclude vehicles. Huge barricades are installed at each end of the road.

Also a marl surface has been installed along Marion Street north of the paved surface from Curtis Street to Irving Street for bicycle and pedestrian traffic.

According to D.R. Seelinger, superintendent of St. Lucie County Schools, some 12,708 students were expected to be enrolled in the 14 schools within the county during the year but he said the peak number will not be reached until probably mid-December.

Countywide, Seelinger said the new school year got off to a real good start.

Approximately 620 teachers reported for the Monday opening of school in St. Lucie County.

Island project gets okay from county

JENSEN BEACH--The proposed 1,200 unit Indian River Plantation development on Hutchinson Island has been approved by the Martin County Commission.

Commissioners Ross Philbrick and Timer Powers voted for approval, while Commissioner Maggy Hurchalla voted against it. Commissioners John Kiernan and Tom Higgins were on vacation last week and missed the meeting.

Mrs. Hurchalla said she is concerned about building density on the oceanfront, the height of buildings and problems with water supply for the 200-acre project, which is also to have commercial facilities and golf course.

Philbrick noted that adequate water must be guaranteed before building permits are issued.

The agreement approved by the commission and developer Lloyd Dutcher calls for the developers to realign MacArthur Boulevard, widen part of SR A1A and install traffic signals when needed.

The developers also agreed to finance construction of a fire station on the island, contributing up to $100,000 before the 301st living unit is built.

First phase of construction calls for a 40 unit apartment building, golf course, lakes and realignment of MacArthur Boulevard. Indian River Plantation will be built on the property previously designated as Coot Bay.

Man drowns while fishing

JENSEN BEACH--A 60 year old man drowned after he apparently fell out of his boat while fishing on the Indian River.

The Martin County Sheriff's office reported last week the body of Elliott Nordheim was found in the river about 9 p.m. Wednesday. Nordheim's boat was located by the Marine Patrol at the Jensen Beach Causeway.

After investigation the sheriff's office listed the incident as an accidental drowning.

PSL Women's Nine Hole Golf

PORT ST. LUCIE--Carol Edwards birdied the 16th hole on the Saints Course of the Sandpiper Bay Resort, but Edris Kessler and Kay Stabler carried off flight honors as the Port St. Lucie Nine Hole Women's Golf Association played an individual low net event on the back nine.

In Flight A, Kessler led with 31, followed by Joanna Hart with 35.

Stabler had 33 in Flight B, followed by Martha O'Dell who came in with 34.

Kessler had a chip-in on number 13, and Helen Jeffries did likewise on number 15.

The week before, Edris Kessler and Mildred Reifler were the flight winners as the Nine Holers played "throw out two worst holes" on the back nine of the Saints Course at the Sandpiper Bay.

In Flight A, Kessler had 32 and Carol Norman followed with 39.

In Flight B, it was Reifler with 37, and Wanda Lundin and Kay Stabler tied for second at 44.

No Smoking In Cafeteria

JENSEN BEACH--A separate "No Smoking" section has been set aside in the Palm Beach Junior College cafeteria. Two rows of tables have been roped off to separate the smokers from the non smokers.

With the help of the American Lung Association, Bruce Bates, a second year student at PBJC and representatives from the Student Government Association instigated the special section. Bates contacted officials at the college who agreed to set up a separate "no smoking" area on a trial basis.

According to cafeteria employees, students have welcomed the installation of the smoke free area. "They ask us why we didn't do this sooner," stated an employee who works in the serving line.

We recently mentioned Clyde Redinger's story in the July 31 issue of The National Observer. Clyde was overwhelmed by later developments.

The department editor wrote to him thanking him and commending him "for making the Observer a more interesting publication." The editor-in-chief followed with a substantial check and sent him the Laurel Award "for a contribution of sheer genius."

Then amusing fan letters from several states began arriving with appreciative comments, invitations and gifts. A convenient key-chain steel tape for measuring fish, a rain gauge for measuring the weather, a heavy bronze bellbuckle to contain Lila's "Plimsoll Line," a thermos bucket to keep refreshments cool and a pen pencil set with which to write more stories. A businessman urged him to come to Georgia when fishing gets better, be his guest and use his motorhome for fishing the private lake on his estate.

VOTE SEPT. 7TH

Elect K. Dale Cassens

STATE REPRESENTATIVE

DEMOCRAT DISTRICT 76

PD. POL. ADV.

HERSHEY for County Judge Sept. 7th.

I BELIEVE that a judge should protect the rights of the individual but not lose sight of the interests of society in seeing justice done.

I BELIEVE that a judge must always stand ready to help the citizen who comes before the court without an attorney.

I BELIEVE that a judge should always remember he was chosen to judge by the people and that he remains a public servant.

I BELIEVE that only the truly indigent should receive the services of a Public Defender.

I BELIEVE that the legislature is wrong in the way it treats juvenile crime and I would work for changes giving the County Court more authority over juvenile offenses.

I BELIEVE that the County Court needs a probation officer to work with probationers and to ensure that the Court's judgment is being enforced.

IF YOU BELIEVE AS I DO, then I ask for your support and vote on September 7th

One ambulance donation was received in the office. In memory of Mrs. Charles Moye: Aikin from Mr. and Mrs. Frank von Halle, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Keith, and Mrs. Josephine Doring.

The following is an example of the prize-winning writing skill that belongs to Clyde Redinger of Ocean Breeze. I asked him to report on his and Lila's recent vacation.

The Redingers' Mountain Holiday

Our six weeks in the mountains of North Carolina were a nice change of scenery and helped us appreciate how much better it is to live right here in Jensen Beach.

Tom has a stone house. We drive to it then walk up a ramp then three flights of steps on three lawn plateaus to reach his door. It is sheltered by two enormous oaks so full of mischievous birds that we needed an umbrella to go to the mailbox. Thank goodness they weren't pelicans. Being the only unmarried man in the V.A. staff, his job is something like putting a fox in to guard a chicken coop. He has a girl for hiking, one for hiking, one for tennis, one for socializing and one for church.

An elderly admirer, also in administration, urged him to take us to her family hideaway at Blowing Rock for a few days. We found a fully stocked, luxuriously furnished six bedroom home, plastered to the cliffside. Below our carparking deck and the two verandas was just 800 feet of space and far views of Grandfather Mountain. Tom took us in his new "Rabbit" to the tops of dozens of frightening mountains and interesting places.

I don't recommend Carolina eating places. Too far north for southern cooking and too far south for northern cooking, but they give a good floor show to take your mind off the food.

But many hikes in the forests were delightful. I could identify 20 varieties of trees and there were more. The woods were lousy with Florida visitors and everywhere we met somebody from home. There were 6000 Indians there, too, but since they discovered tourists will pay six bucks for an arrow, they no longer waste samples, so don't worry. Those crafty mountain craftsmen are the ones who need watching. If we discard a beverage can, they retrieve it, cut it, shape it, bronze it, then sell it back to us for $3.50.

Most states transform their beauty spots into recreational areas for all to enjoy free, but there they are privately owned. Just purchase one of those zillion mountains, place an old bedspring on its top and presto-you are in business, charging gullible tourists a dollar to hike to the top on a one-way trail to see the beautiful "Mountain Springs." Fishing ponds are stocked daily with pellet-fed hatchers fish and, for only $14.50, I would be permitted to try to catch seven per day.

At Mars Hill we had seats ten feet off stage in third row, middle when Lila whispers she can't hear it, but everybody else within thirty feet can. They were doing a fine job with "Sound of Music" and the audience was in a sentimental mood about to weep when the admiral stooped to kiss the heroine — then Lila, in one of her stage-whispers said "With Those Whiskers" Oh, No!" Well, she almost brought down the house and I'm sure the admiral would have loved to have her keel-hauled.

This is more than enough. We enjoyed six weeks of just such foolishness and more than that, what we enjoyed most was getting back to Ocean Breeze.

(Ed's note: The "Tom" Redinger refers to Clyde and Lila's son.)

Samaritans collect $5,370

JENSEN BEACH—More than $5,000 was collected in the campaign to furnish the Ambulance House of the Jensen Area Samaritans, Inc.

"The total amount collected was $3,565 in cash and $1,805 in donated items," George Krauss, Building Committee chairman, said.

"We were only $630 short of our $6,000 goal," Krauss said.

The Samaritans ended their campaign August 31, and Krauss said that a ribbon cutting ceremony and open house will be held in October. "The exact date will be announced at a later time."

"The Samaritans deeply appreciate the many donations and wish to thank the people of the Jensen Beach area for their support and assistance," Krauss said.

"The Samaritans would also like to thank the many people who have donated their time to paint, build and install equipment in the new Ambulance House. The names of the many people and businesses that donated money and merchandise are too numerous to mention," he said.

The Samaritans provide free ambulance service to Jensen Beach, Rio, Sewall's Point, Ocean Breeze Park, North River Shores, Hutchinson Island, Eden and Walton.

Land for the Ambulance House, 1250 N.E. Samaritan St., just east of South Savanna Road, was donated by Realtor Ransom Tilton in the name of Pine Lake Village.

Bolt Construction, Inc., had the $33,741 contract to erect the building.

Student enrollment is released

JENSEN BEACH—Enrollment in Jensen Beach Elementary School is tops among the county's elementary schools, according to enrollment figures released by the school superintendent's office.

The South Savanna Road school's enrollment as of August 31 was 636, 30 more than the figure reported on that date by Port Salerno Elementary.

Parker Elementary's enrollment of 572 ranked third among the county's elementary schools.

Jensen Beach Elementary's enrollment on Sept. 2, 1975 was 629, but Port Salerno's enrollment on that date was 569, showing that Jensen Beach's school enrollment had only a small increase while Port Salerno had a bigger student enrollment.

Enrollment figures for the school system after the Labor Day holiday were not available Tuesday. The student count August 31 of about 7,800 was below what was expected by the superintendent's office. About 8,000 was anticipated for the Labor Day break.

Nuke hearing postponed

JENSEN BEACH—Valerie Perine, vice president of Citizens United Against Radioactive Environment (CURE), reported last week that the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) has announced that the hearing ordered for September 8, 9 and 10 at the Holiday Inn Oceanside has been postponed until a later date.

It was very confusing, especially to the Post Offices.

Vote books close Sept. 18

JENSEN BEACH—Voter registration books for the Nov. 3 General Election will be closed Saturday, Sept. 18, at 5 p.m., Martin County Supervisor of Elections Sandra Randolph said Monday.

The office in the courthouse will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 11, and Saturday, Sept. 18, Mrs. Randolph said.

"I also will have the mobile registration unit in the south county area Saturday, Sept. 11, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.," she said.

Mrs. Randolph said she expects a big turnout for the General Election.

"We have been registering between 35 and 40 persons each day," she said.

And she reminded young voters that they can pre-register.

"Anyone who will be 18 on or before Nov. 2 can pre-register and vote in the General Election.

Fire contract okay expected

SEWALL'S POINT—Extension of the District II fire contract is expected by the Town of Sewall's Point Commission at the 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 8, session.

Mayor Ed Gluckler said Tuesday that the contract with the Fire Department is for one year at a cost to the town of about $1,200.

Commissioners also will discuss the 1976-77 budget of $165,000, also set for Wednesday, acting as a part time deputy at the time of the incident, was working as a duly appointed officer of the town, according to Commissioner Bob Russell, who suggested at the workshop that the town pay the expenses.

Gluckler said there may be some changes before final adoption.

The new proposed budget is up slightly from the present figure of $156,665, but the mayor said he doesn't see any need for an increase of the present two mills.

And commissioners will consider a resolution to clean up the Rio Vista subdivision. At last week's workshop session, Commissioner Earl Crawford labeled the brush pile an eyesore and asked the commission to consider a resolution to clean it up.

The town has no ordinance on keeping the grass mowed on unoccupied lots.

Commissioners also are expected to approve reimbursing building inspector Charlie Durys for expenses incurred in a court case. Expenses in the 1975 court case came to $1,289.20.

Break-ins also occurred at Shakra's Delicatessen on SR 707 in Rio, where $1,300 in beer, cigarettes, a stereo, television set, drill and other tools were taken.

About $120 in cash was taken from Martin Office Supplies, deputies reported. And the glass was pried out of the front door at Scottie's Mobile Supplies, Inc.

It notes in the publication that "Leif Erikson and his band of Vikings invade this Scandinavian resort during colorful pageantry reenacting the Norsemen's landing in North America almost 1,000 years ago."

ture. And to shorten the name.

Another meeting of the group is tentatively set for 8 p.m. Thursday, September 23, at the Environmental Studies Center in Jensen Beach.

Architect Dick Granfield is slated to present an illustrated lecture on houses designed to require less energy.

Canoe guide is available

TALLAHASSEE—The long-awaited Guide to Florida Canoe Trails" is published and ready for distribution, Harmon Shields, executive director of the Department of Natural Resources, reported last week.

Shields said the format of the canoe guide has been changed to a map brochure, detailing location of the state's 35 rivers and streams designated as trails. "A brief, pertinent synopsis is keyed to each river on the map and an enlarged map of popular trails accompanies the descriptions," he said.

The easy-to-use brochure also gives map sources for canoeists wishing more detailed information and canoe tips. Cities where canoe rentals may be made are listed.

Copies of the canoe guide may be obtained from the Department of Natural Resources, Room 321, Crown Building, Tallahassee, FL 32304.

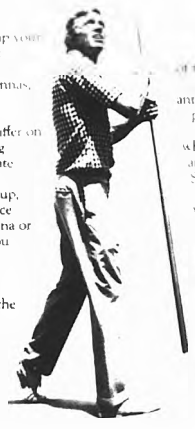
Use your eyes before you use your ears.



Before you think about putting up your CB base antenna, make sure you've got your signals straight.

To begin with, Citizen Band antennas, unlike TV antennas, are under FCC regulations.

FCC and local rules sometimes differ on the allowable height. So, before erecting your antenna, check with the appropriate authorities.

And when you're ready to put it up, check on one other thing — the clearance.

The slightest touch of your antenna or guy wire to a power line could cause you a serious shock.

Here's how to play it safe. Make sure that you check all directions. In other words, not only the space above the antenna but all around. So, if your antenna should happen to fall, it won't happen to fall onto a power line.

How far away is safe?

Certainly a distance no less than the height of the mast.

This safety rule not only goes for CB antennas but TV antennas as well. Or any metal pole for that matter.

And here's another word of caution: even when using guy wires to raise or lower your antenna you can't be assured of positive control. So, better double check the clearance.

So many people are now tuning into CB that we thought you should also be tuned into the necessary safety requirements.

This safety message has been brought to you by Florida Power and Light as a public service. Because serving the public is really what we're here for.

Why we have great squash and tomatoes. Instead of squashed tomatoes.

Why do we have pre-packaged produce at Publix? It would be easier for us to carry big bins of loose fruits and vegetables. But quality would suffer. You could end up with an oversqueezed tomato. Or bruised grapes.

So we take the best off the vine or the tree, and tuck it gently into a package. And sure, we'll break open a package if you want just one apple or tomato. Our pre-packaging is one reason we're the Place for Produce in Florida. Because the Place for Produce is no place for squashed tomatoes.

Publix the place for produce.

Jensen teams look to jamboree

BY DONNIE WILKIE

JENSEN BEACH–In the Saturday rains last week, the Jensen Beach junior football teams learned that, although the best football teams don't always come from bigger cities, it helps if you have a lot more to choose from as the local gridders were beaten by Fort Pierce teams, 13-0, and 48-6.

The games were part of a warmup scrimmage for the Jensen teams, designed to get them ready for the upcoming season, which gets underway this weekend with the annual jamboree.

The lower division Barracudas played well, but were eventually outclassed by the more experienced Cowboys from Fort Pierce. Rufus Hill and John Kennemur were the big men for the Cowboys who just one week before had humiliated the Palm City Dolphins, a team which Jensen Beach will play during the regular season.

Kennemur opened the scoring with just over two minutes remaining in the first half, as he busted in from the one-yard line. Hill ran in for the extra point to give the visitors a 7-0 lead at the half.

In the second half, the Jensenites played the Cowboys almost evenly, but, with time running out, Hill broke away on an end run and galloped 60 yards for the only score of the half. The point was missed, and thus the final was 13-0.

In the upper division game, Ronnie Parker pros died the only excitement as far as the localites were concerned, by bursting over from 6 yards out to narrow Fort Pierce's second game lead to only 14-6. But from then on, it was all Fort Pierce, as the Packers scored 5 more time for a 48-6 win. Fort Pierce had scored twice in the first five minutes of the game after recovering fumbles on Jensen's first two plays from scrimmage.

Jensen's teams will meet Palm City in the jamboree this Saturday night at Long Field on Stuart. The action gets underway at 6:30 p.m.

Fishing report

JENSEN BEACH–Despite heat and showers, some hardy fishermen tried their luck during the past week and, according to the Snook Nook report, had pretty good luck.

Peter Pauls took a nice 5½ lb. trout from the St. Lucie River on live mullet. Bob Arrington, Jr., D. DeStefano and Fred "J" Dushanek teamed up for 21 trout and 5 snappers, using Fred's Pops and Mirro lures. Pete Peterson and Stan Eppenstein used Poppers and Mirro lures for 10 trout, fishing the Indian River.

Al Kroll had two 12 lb. snook plugging the surf. Earl Chase, one 8½ lb. jewfish, taken from the river on shrimp, and Leo D. DeStefano, a 5½ lb. trout.

Larry Atkin caught 2 trout on Mirro lures. Walter Neff, a 14 lb. snook from the surf, and Charlie Arens had 12 trout and a snook in three outings.

Howard Byers and Aaron Johnson caught one 22 lb. kingfish, 2 barracuda and 2 bonito off shore on Sunday. Harold Salgier and Russ Cox used live shrimp for a pompano, released it, and a mullet.

Twelve pound snook were hanging around in the surf as Harry Beamer caught one Monday. John Minava had 2 snook and a Spanish mackerel, caught on jigs. M.E. Ott caught 6 mangroves and 2 snook in the St. Lucie Inlet. Bob Carruthers had one trout, and Marilyn Epstein snagged a 6 lb. snook from the surf.

Ed Wagner caught a trout and a snook in a couple of outings and teamed up with Bill Wagner for 14 trout, and with Pat Patterson for 9 trout.

Tom Chapman fires winning 71

PORT ST. LUCIE–Every now and then a leader has to take charge and last Thursday at the Saints course of the Sandpiper Bay Resort was the time for President Tom Chapman of the Sandpiper Bay Men's Golf Association as he fired a one under par gross 71 to lead his foursome to victory in the association's weekly golf tournament.

Leading teams in the best two balls of foursome event were:

Chapman, Warren Thorpe, Harry Kessler and Ed Searles, 113. Gradon Smith, John Huncharek, Werner Zugschwerdt and Myron Thomas, 117. Vern Porrat, Howard Beckman, Irv Endlich and Mike Reeth, and also Charlie Brown, Mel Gibson, Len Apple and Carlos Boaz, 118. Norm Kreeke, John Gouldthorp, Ken Beckman and Bob Mitchell, 119.

Those scoring under 80 without handicaps were Chapman, 71, Joe Chappelle 73, Huncharek 75, Jim Healy 76, Gordon Castrighano 77, Bill Coarse and Norm Nardone 79.

This week it's partners, both balls, full handicaps.

Venture Out

VENTURE OUT NEWS
BY WILLARD SUTCH

BY WILLARD SUTCH

Well, start off this brief column by saying thanks to all who have written me this summer telling us all of your activities. With the Labor Day weekend closing out many of the summer events, we will be looking forward to the early return of Venture Outers, especially so of Jackie Phillips and the Pinch Hitters who have worked with her.

It has been a hot summer, mostly in the high eighties and low nineties. We have enjoyed several showers and that has helped the yards with grass on them.

Received another letter from Mate and Bill Greuling, address 2145 Bass Lake Road, Lupton, Mich. 48635. Mate has been undergoing cobalt treatments for several weeks prior to surgery. Just talked to Mate and she states that last night they had to water spray their tomatoes to keep them from freezing. Bill doesn't like the cold weather too well, so they will plan to start back about October 15 and Mate will have surgery here.

The Greulings have a new member in their family. Mate surprised Bill with a new Keeshonden dog, a breed that comes from The Netherlands. They have all the papers and ribbons that she has won.

We all wish Mate the very best and are looking forward to seeing her and her wonderful smile and helpful hand to all.

And, a nice long letter from Jean and Floyd Reynolds, which we pass along.

"It doesn't seem possible that the summer has slid by and Labor Day is upon us. We enjoy reading the Venture Out and Venture Harbour news items in The Mirror and miss them when they don't appear, so thought I would contribute a little to help out.

"Jean and I have been busy this summer, did a little remodeling, boating, fishing and entertaining relatives and friends, even tho the weather wasn't too cooperative earlier.

"The first part of August we took a two week trip up into Canada, then down into Michigan and Indiana and back home, covering a little over 2,000 miles.

"We visited Al and Lorraine Suckow near Buffalo, N.Y. and they had Bill and Virginia Thompson over that evening for dinner, had an enjoyable time. Then we visited Andy and Edna Wilston at their home in Huntsville, Canada. They showed us a good time around their area, was surprised at all the lakes and waterways around there. We crossed over from North Bay through Sudbury to Sault Ste. Marie and down into Michigan. Spent the better part of a day on Mackinac Island and the tour on the horse drawn wagons. Then back to the mainland and on down to southern Michigan where we spent four days with relatives at Rochester. Leaving there we went down to Anderson, Indiana to visit Estha and Milton Mills. They gave us a tour of their area and visited some historic sites. One evening we all went out to dinner with Hugh and Ginny Glaze and then spent the evening at their home. Had beautiful weather all the time, except for the first evening in Canada, and the last day, from Ohio home it rained.

"Last week the Suckows spent a couple of days with us here on Keuka Lake. Did some boating, visited a winery, and the Corning Glass Center.

"Was glad to hear that the vinyl windbreakers were approved for the safety route. Keep the news coming.

"We expect to return to Venture Out shortly after the middle of October. See you all then."

Venture Harbour

BY JESSIE SHAVER

Letter from Stanley Clark says he and Barbara are fine and send greetings to all. They are not planning on returning to Venture Harbour until early in January. They want to spend the holidays with their family.

Edith and Dick Painter have gone to Daleville, Alabama to attend the wedding of granddaughter Ann Marie Bradley to Michael Gardner on September 11. The Painters will return next week.

Not even any news of bazaar meetings since Betty Jones is away. In fact, no new of anything. Guess I'll have to use my imagination and invent some news items. Bet I'd get some response then.

Let's have some real news for next week.

PATIENTLY—There was little privacy for little Jenny Inman as she waited outside the voting booth while her mother cast her ballot Tuesday in St. Lucie Community Center. Jenny is the three-and-a-half-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Inman of 333 Floresta Drive.

Voter apathy indicated

Norvell, McCain, Seelinger are big St. Lucie winners

PORT ST. LUCIE—It was Sheriff Lamie Norvell, Commissioner Willie McCain and School Superintendent Red Seelinger who commanded the biggest leads in the Tuesday primary, according to unofficial tabulations.

Following the county-wide trend, voting in the four south county precincts fell way short of the predicted fifty percent turnout. According to Supervisor of Elections James Brooks, 11,305 voters cast their ballots, which was a 38.72 percent turnout. This figure includes the 2111 absentee ballots processed in the county.

On the county level, Lamie Norvell defeated Doyle Jenkins in the race for sheriff by a 4,052 majority vote. Norvell carried the four south county precincts in Port St. Lucie by a three-to-one vote.

In the District 1 County Commission race, Willie McCain held a commanding lead over John J. Smith throughout the county. That lead, however, was somewhat narrower in the south county area.

While Red Seelinger emerged with a 1230 vote lead over his opponent Stanley Ostrowski for the superintendent of public schools, he was approximately four votes short in the south county area.

Tom Lilly and John R. Park will face a run-off for the District 3 commission seat in the second primary election to be held Sept. 28.

In the School Board District 2 race, incumbent Ed Raikes will have to face Millie E. Helseth in a runoff. Raikes received 3418 votes, while Helseth picked up 2046. Kay Schaefer carried the four local primaries.

The third run-off on the local level in St. Lucie County will be between Judy James and O.C. Peterson, who will compete for the District 4 School Board seat.

George Price, incumbent, won over Cody Bailey by an 818 vote lead.

The St. Lucie County voters gave Dale Cassens a win over T.J. Del Rosso, 5019 to 2531, in the State House of Representatives, District 76, race.

Bill Sikes' 3877 lead in the Democratic congressional race topped Robert Culpepper who picked up 2350 votes and Jerry Bowers who polled 1004.

Philip Nourse defeated Kendall Sharp 3,137 to 1,127 in the Circuit Judge race.

Council meeting date changed

PORT ST. LUCIE—The date for the third meeting of the Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council has been changed.

Originally set for Sept. 16, the council will meet at 9 a.m. Sept. 17 at the Martin County Administrative Center, council chairman Commissioner Maggy Hurchalla said.

Council schedules special session

PORT ST. LUCIE—The City Council will conduct a special meeting Friday, September 10, at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall.

Gang celebrates in the Liverpool

PORT ST. LUCIE—The Friday Nite Gang celebrated an anniversary, a birthday and took on an international flavor at its last session.

The anniversary was Mr. and Mrs. Al Weigel's 19th. The birthday was Betty Davis's 39th. The foreign visitor was from merry olde England, Rene Noble from Liverpool, visiting Terry Landin.

Another visitor was Edna Cornwell, daughter-in-law of Joe Cornwell, one of the Gang's old time members who now resides in Sterling Village but was visiting the Gang Snooper. Attending for the first time was Ilene Yeager, granddaughter of Joe Cornwell, and Jeff and Jane, now living in Port St. Lucie.

After the Gang enjoyed a treat of home made cake furnished by Thelma Weigel and Marie Benz, the birthday girl and the Weigels were serenaded.

The surprise of the evening came when the Snooper, Frances Bernota, won the main prize.

At the previous week's stanza goodies overflowed and the main thing accomplished was to see who could eat the most donuts, cupcakes, cookies, etc. It all came about through the Gang's method of celebrating birthdays and or anniversaries.

To begin with, Hostess Marie Benz was celebrating her 39th birthday, Natalie Deible her 27th wedding anniversary, and Kay Campbell her 39th birthday. Unknown, one to the other, donuts, cupcakes, and cookies were brought in by Philomena Loperfido, Fran Lee, Natalie Deible, Thelma Weigel, Clara Levy, Frances Bernota and Kay Campbell and coffee by Madelin Beaton.

The Snooper reported one first timer, Cindy Fisher, originally from Cincinnati, Ohio.

The main prize was won by Daisy Perrin, originally from Liverpool, England.

Proposed $700,000 center is now 70 percent committed

PORT ST. LUCIE—Although the official groundbreaking is not expected for approximately eight weeks, seventy percent of the proposed $700,000 Village Square Shopping Center is presently committed under lease agreement.

The total commitments involve nine individual leases, according to Jim Love, general manager of A to Z Realty, who is handling the rentals for the new shopping center.

At the moment we are awaiting the finalization of plans for a 6,420 square foot restaurant so that our architect can redesign, if necessary, and complete the final plans for the entire complex," Love said, adding that the restaurant plans are expected within the next two weeks.

The groundbreaking will be held within six to eight weeks after the restaurant plans are received.

Charles Groome, president of Jensen Beach Flooring, Inc., was one of the first to sign an agreement for lease of a new store in the proposed center.

The 20,000 square foot, L-shaped facility will be constructed on a site located on the west side of U.S. 1, approximately one-half mile south of the Spanish Lakes entrance.

The developer, Richard Welshans of Port St. Lucie, has said the new complex will provide adequate space for 14 to 15 businesses and offers some 740-foot frontage on U.S. 1.

Neither Welshans or Love anticipate any problems in obtaining the necessary permits to get construction underway in as much as the property is already zoned B-3.

"The only change in zoning we will request will be on a small portion of land to the rear of the facility where the sewage treatment plant will be located," Love said.

Other than that, we do not anticipate any holdups beside the normal time consuming ones, such as awaiting the survey and completion of the final drawings.

Other lease commitments include a bakery outlet, beauty shop, an ultra-modern coin laundry, title insurance firm, drapery store, a real estate office, delicatessen and the restaurant.

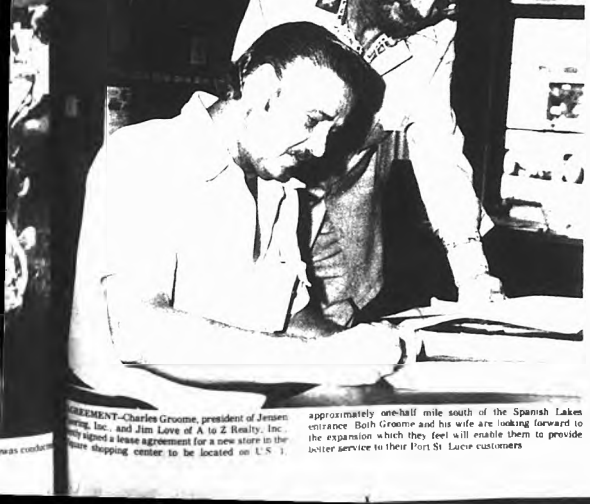
By the time the center is open, Love hopes to have a barber shop, a good men's and women's shop, a liquor store and perhaps a television repair and small appliance store established in the complex.

"Our main concern is to provide, at long last, the services needed by the people of the south county area," Love said.

Architectural drawings for the L-shaped shopping center are being prepared by Riegler Associates.

While neither Love nor the developer will commit themselves, it has been indicated the $700,000 facility is phase one of a total project.

If all goes according to plans, it is quite likely businesses will be operating in the Village Square this fall.



AGREEMENT—Charles Groome, president of Jensen Flooring, Inc., and Jim Love of A to Z Realty, Inc., recently signed a lease agreement for a new store in the Village Square shopping center to be located on U.S. 1, approximately one-half mile south of the Spanish Lakes entrance. Both Groome and his wife are looking forward to the expansion which they feel will enable them to provide better service to their Port St. Lucie customers.

Venture Out

VENTURE OUT NEWS
BY WILLARD ALCOTT

Will start off this brief column by saying thanks to all who have written me this summer telling us all of your activities. With the Labor Day weekend closing out many of the summer events, we will be looking forward to the early return of Venture Outers, especially Mr. of Jackie Phillips and the Pinch Hitters who have scooped a pitcher.

It has been a hot summer, mainly in the high eighties and low nineties. We have enjoyed several showers and that has helped the yards with grass on them.

Received another letter from Mate and Bill Greuling, address 2145 Ross Lake Road, Lupton, Mich. 48635. Mate has been undergoing cobalt treatments for several weeks prior to surgery. Just talked to Mate and she states that last night they had to water spray their tomatoes to keep them from freezing. Bill doesn't like the cold weather too much so they took time to leave for Ft. Pierce about October 15 and Mate will have surgery here.

The Greulings have a new member in their family. Mate surprised Bill with a new Keeshonden dog, a breed that comes from The Netherlands. They have all the papers and ribbons that she has won.

We all wish Mate the very best and are looking forward to seeing her and her wonderful smile and helpful hand to all.

And a nice long letter from Jean and Floyd Reynolds, which we pass along.

It doesn't seem possible that the summer has sped by and Labor Day is upon us. We enjoy reading the Venture Out and Venture Harbour news items in The Mirror and miss them when they don't appear, so thought I would contribute a little to help out.

Jean and I have been busy this summer, did a little remodeling, boating, fishing and entertaining relatives and friends when the weather wasn't too cooperative earlier.

The first part of August we took a two week trip up into Canada, then down into Michigan and Indiana and back home, covering a little over 2,000 miles.

We visited Al and Lorraine Suckow near Buffalo, N.Y., and they had Bill and Virginia Thompson over that evening for dinner, had an enjoyable time. Then we visited Andy and Edna Wilston at their home in Huntsville, Canada. They showed us a good time around their area, was surprised at all the lakes and waterways around there. We crossed over from North Bay through Sudbury to Sault Ste. Marie and down into Michigan. Spent the better part of a day on Mackinac Island and the rest on the Upper Peninsula region. Then back to the mainland and on down to southern Michigan where we spent four days with relatives at Rochester. Leaving there we went down to Anderson, Indiana to visit Edna and Milton Mills. They gave us a tour of their area and visited some historic sites. One evening we all went out to dinner with Hugh and Ginny Glaze and then spent the evening at their home. Had beautiful weather all the time except for the first evening in Canada and the last day from Ohio home. It rained.

Last week the Suckows spent a couple of days with us here on Keuka Lake. Did some boating, visited a winery and the Corning Glass Center.

We are glad to hear that the vinyl windbreakers were approved for the screen rooms. Keep the news coming.

We expect to return to Venture Out shortly after the middle of October. See you all then.

Mrs. Randolph reminded voters in Precint 2, North River Shores, that the voting place for the Sept. 28 primary has been changed.

"Voting will be held at 800 Place Condominium, which is just off U.S.1, instead of at the First Presbyterian Church."

The official vote in the first primary, released by Mrs. Randolph, includes:

Mrs. Randolph said there will be other nonpartisan judicial races on the ballot, candidates who didn't get a clear majority in the first primary.

Mrs. Randolph pointed out that the 370 absentee ballots counted at the official canvass of ballots last week didn't change any races, but it got some races even closer.

And she noted that, while the 40 per cent turnout in the first primary was below the predicted percentage, it was above the state average.

And the supervisor reminded voters that 5 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 18, is the final

2,347, Stephen Calver, 1,855, School Board, District 4, Skip Breeden, Jr., 2,289, Esther Kildea, 1,633, all Democratic candidates.

In the State House of Representatives, District 26, Dale Cassens defeated T.J. Del Rosso, 579 to 240, and Cassens will face Republican Sue Hickman in the General Election.

Voting in District 26 is in Precincts 1, 2, 11, 14 and 19, and in St. Lucie County precincts, which Cassens also won by a wide margin.

Voting on the precincts in the Cassens-Del Rosso went as follows:

Sewall's Point cuts millage to 1.88

SEWALL'S POINT–The millage rate for the 1976-77 fiscal year is 1.88, a slight reduction from the present rate of 2 mills.

The Town Commission approved the reduction at last week's meeting while approving a $165,000 budget for the next fiscal year, an increase of about $10,000 over the present budget.

Reduction in the millage became possible when the commission discovered more money was left over in this year's budget than had been anticipated – about $42,400 instead of $37,957.

Only a couple of minor changes in the budget were made before approval, and both were in the salary schedule.

Town Clerk Margaret Miller got a small salary increase, $10,430, $210 more than originally scheduled, and building inspector Charles Dursey got a small increase, $22, for a salary of $4,422.

Commissioner Earl Crawford recommended the salary increases, pointing out that Mrs. Miller worked more hours than she was asked to work, including Wednesday afternoons. Dursey is a part time employee.

Hansen, Meeker head committees

JENSEN BEACH–Look ahead to the new year directors of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Monday night elected two important committees.

A Nominating Committee headed by Art Hansen, a chamber past president, to select a new slate of officers and a Budget Committee, headed by Fred Meeker, were picked by the directors.

Wally Redit and Buck Mauldin will serve with Hansen on the Nominating Committee which will make its report at a general meeting of the chamber in November. Officers will be installed at the December meeting.

Working with Meeker in preparing a new budget will be Joan Betsch, Jack Klett and Pete Henry.

In other chamber business directors authorized the Tourism Committee to proceed with its program.

The Tourism Committee hopes to stimulate the summer business through the cooperative efforts of the entire business and business related community.

The committee's program includes printing and distributing 75,000 brochures, and out-of-state advertising, keyed through travel and tourist orientated media.

Also, the committee hopes to develop plans to promote the Village of Jensen Beach with expanded summer programs which now include the turtle watch, Fourth of July and boat races.

FCD millage is reduced

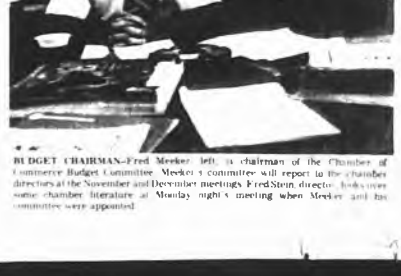
JENSEN BEACH–For the sixth consecutive year, the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District (FCD) has lowered its rate of millage to be levied to support water management in its 18-county jurisdiction, including Martin County.

The District governing board approved a tax rate of .354 mills for the 1976-77 fiscal year at its regular meeting in West Palm Beach, compared to last year's .375.

The .365 mill rate will mean a tax bill for water management of about $5.47 on a home of $20,000 assessed valuation, less homestead exemption.

The District's 1976-77 budget will total $22.2 million. This includes monies from state and local governmental agencies, as well as from ad valorem taxes. Last year's budget was $21.5 million.

...-related groups will suggest the summer events through a package... committee.



BUDGET CHAIRMAN–Fred Meeker, left, is chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Budget Committee. Meeker's committee will report to the chamber directors at the November and December meetings. Fred Stein, director, looks over some chamber literature at Monday night's meeting when Meeker and his committee were appointed.

Nellie and Jack Yousey of Columbus, Ohio, wrote that they have had a very busy summer with lots of company. Nellie has a large vegetable and flower garden and has been canning like mad. She said she has been sorta handicapped as she two thirds of the first join of her ring finger off while doing some hedge trimming five weeks ago, but the plastic surgeon sewed it back on and it healed nicely.

Since it was indicated other charges would be added, the matter was tabled until the City Administrator could consult with ESCO, the local General Electric dealer, to determine the complete cost of the system.

There's blues in the surf

JENSEN BEACH–Local surf anglers found some blues in the surf throughout the past week, and trout fishermen found some pretty good sized trout in the Indian River.

Harold and Vi Terpening used crocs to catch 61 blues in three outings. Ruth and Spencer Eddy had 6 blues on plugs; spencer Guest and Jerry Zwackenberger, 12 blues; George Leudke, 25 blues; Bob McCourt, 12 blues and a snook; Walter Neff, 17 blues; Jim Allen, 20 blues; Bob West, 32 blues.

Sam Moore plugged the surf for 20 blues, Cy Strimple had 30 blues; Claude and Margaret Smith, 100 blues; and Rex Kempton, 6 blues, using cut bait.

Pete Peterson and Stan Lippincott teamed up for a total of 16 trout. Charlie Arenie had 7 trout to 6½ pounds and 3 snook. Bob Carruthers caught 2 trout and a snook.

Al Kroll caught a 6-lb. trout. W. W. Thompson had 3 snook and 2 trout; W. W. Thompson, 2 snook; John Minaya, 1 snook (tagged); John Gibbles, a 6-lb. trout; Ed Wagner and grandson Eric, 9 trout.

Howard Byers, Aaron Johnson and Marvin Mariner went outside on Saturday, coming back with 5 kings to 14 pounds.

Jean Zarrotti caught a 5-lb. trout; Hank Greiner, one 16-lb. snook; Russ Bolton and John DeBrussey, 11 snook to 9 pounds, releasing 8; Bill Sikes, a 12-lb. snook; and Harry Beemer had 17 trout.

Pete Pawley caught a 6-lb. trout on mullet; Ed Wagner and Harold Egeland, 6 trout; Roy Greenwald and Leo DeStefano, 9 trout; and Mark Wright, 1 snook and a 7-lb. fluke.

Earl Russel used plugs to take 17 blues from the surf, and George Leudke hit for 20 blues on a second outing.

Math teacher is appointed

Arnold will teach algebra, geometry and advanced mathematics in the college preparatory curriculum.

A graduate of Yale University, with a Master's Degree in Mathematics from Bowdoin College, Maine, Arnold has 11 years teaching experience and is co-author of a book on computer science and plans to teach a unit on that subject.

Four new members are welcomed by Lionesses

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Lioness Club of Port St. Lucie met September 7 at Ramada Inn, with a hospitality hour preceding the dinner and business discussion. Mrs. Claude Grizzell presided and Mrs. Lawrence Hett gave the secretary's and treasurer's reports.

Four new members were introduced and welcomed to the club: Mrs. Edward Gerth, Mrs. Richard Miller, Mrs. Royce Sisson and Carolyn Pruden.

Mrs. Willard Stroud gave a report of her recent visit to the Lions Club Camp for the Visually Handicapped, asking continued support by local Lioness members. She said sheets, light blankets and bath towels are among items badly needed. Tentative plans for a visit to the camp by the local club were on the agenda.

PSL university under way

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Port St. Lucie Community Center is making like "Port St. Lucie University" these days, with a total of 12 adult and youth education classes scheduled to begin by mid-October.

Education Committee chairman Bob Satchwill announced last week that there will be nine classes sponsored by the Community Services Department of Indian River Community College, and three put on by the Education Committee.

He emphasized that although all are important to the students involved, the greatest need of the community should be met by the Community Theater class designed to develop a community theater group capable of producing musicals, skits and plays in the Community Center building.

Classes now scheduled by IRCC starting this week are:

Humanities 1 -- Dancing, 7-10 p.m. Sundays, Estelle Baskin, instructor, 334-2362.

Painting, 7-10 p.m., Mondays, M Reheiser, 334-1960.

Macrame, 1-4 p.m., Wednesdays, M Reheiser, and Macrame, 7-10 p.m. Wednesdays, also M. Reheiser.

Humanities 1 -- Community Theater, 1-4 p.m. Wednesdays, Lenny Laden.

Sewing, 9:30 to 12 noon Thursdays, Shirley Fallin, 878-4124.

Painting, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Fridays, M Reheiser, 334-1960.

Classes scheduled to start the week of Sept. 20 include:

Auto Maintenance, 7-10 p.m. Mondays, Baslow-Hentschel Motors.

Drawing for Children, 3:45 to 5:45 p.m. Tuesdays, Francis Sloan, 461-5419.

Call the Center at 878-1388 for more information about the above.

Classes scheduled to start the week of October 4 are:

Spanish, 1-3 p.m. Tuesdays, Rosaeli Ramerez, 878-1296.

Spanish, 1-3 p.m. Thursdays, Rosaeli Ramerez.

Consideration is being given to beginners and intermediate bridge lessons to start sometime in October.

Garbage ordinance adopted at PSL

PORT ST. LUCIE--Following the scheduled public hearing, the City Council Tuesday, by a four-one vote, adopted an ordinance which was designed to put an end to the problem of residents dumping garbage alongside roadways and on private property in rural areas.

Under the new law, all residents and businesses within the city will be required to have their garbage and trash removed by a franchized garbage and trash removal firm. City Attorney Spencer Gilbert has defined garbage as perishable items.

Garde yard and household trash may be hauled by the property owners themselves, if they so desire, but must be taken to a disposal site designated by the City Manager or his authorized representative.

For better than two years, some residents have been dumping trash and garbage at a landfill site owned by General Development Corporation, located on California Avenue. The GDC site, established for the dumping of excess construction materials, was misused by area residents and has since been closed by the developer.

The only vote against the new ordinance was made by Councilwoman Lolita Kernohan, who maintained that an ordinance passed in 1974 to prevent littering would be sufficient. While it was agreed the violation could be handled under the 74 ordinance, Safety Director Doug Stout said catching the violators would be almost impossible.

the Homeowner-League for five points which represent differences between the charters were outlined as follows:

Mirror committee suggested two year terms for councilpersons and the Mayor as opposed to four year terms as suggested in the Alternate Charter.

The Homeowner League group indicate they favor the two-year terms because "the two year term permits the voters the opportunity to replace an ineffective official at the end of two years without suffering through an additional two years. Effective office holders can always be re-elected."

The Homeowner League group prefers councilpersons to be elected only by the residents of their particular districts maintaining the selection by voters within the district would cause the elected official to be more responsive to the needs of his district as well as to the entire city. In this way all areas of the City would be assured of business like representation at City Hall.

The Alternate Charter provides that, while each councilperson must reside in his or her particular district, they will be voted on city wide.

Qualifications for a city manager are spelled out with minimum requirements in the Charter Revision's document while the Alternate Charter provides the city manager can be chosen by a three fifths vote of the council.

The Homeowner League group maintains that since the city manager will be responsible for a $6Million operation he must have knowledge and experience in the basic abilities to do this job efficiently and agrees that minimum qualifications should be spelled out in the charter.

There again the group feels that the city manager should be authorized to select the city clerk, but the Mayor's Alternate Charter provides the city council should name the city clerk.

The Homeowner League group is of the opinion the city manager should appoint his own city clerk and maintains of the manager is to be responsible for his team, then he should have a voice in naming the members of that team.

The final point in the five major differences between the two charters concerns the duties of the city clerk. The Revision Committee's version clearly states the city clerk's duties include "notice of meetings given to council members and the public and the press."

The Alternate Charter according to the Homeowner League group makes no mention of the press to coincide with the city clerk's duties.

According to a group spokesman, the Homeowners and Civic League Directors are of the opinion the Charter Revision Committee's version of the proposed charter draws the public closer to their city administration.

Public hearings on the newly-written city ordinances are scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

'Narrator' to present charters

PORT ST. LUCIE. With the final of the three scheduled hearings on the two proposed charters less than one week away, the City Council Tuesday voiced unanimously to have both charters presented by a narrator, rather than by those who have had a part in writing them.

It was the suggestion of County Judge Bill McFadden that a neutral party present both sides of the issue fairly, that was made by Mayor Pro Tem Jack Whitten. "I will be hesitant to do this situation is another when I say in regards to this matter, before and suggesting [illegible] a council [illegible] present the charters to the public.

It is important we have a person qualified to draw the opinion from the people of this city as to what they prefer on the charter," McFadden said.

Tilton's plan

New I-95 route is proposed

...SEN BEACH—Jensen Beach ...wnsman Tilton has proposed an ...ate 76 route east of Florida's ...ke Martin County.

...A-1A plan has been received at ... Lauderdale office of the ...rtment of Transportation (DOT).

"It will look at this new alignment ...how it differs from the eastern ...e are now studying," William ... DOT district engineer said.

"We are now looking at an eastern route and comparing it with the western alignment," Fowler said. "It will probably be October before my folks have plans for me to look at."

"It will be November or December before a public hearing can be held on the I-95 routes," Fowler said.

Tilton's eastern plan for the interstate was presented to the County Commission last week. He said he route was designed to eliminate the expensive access routes that would be needed for the western route and to reach the areas where development will increase in the next few years, and it will delay the six laning of U.S. 1.

Tilton said his route bypasses all homes, and would not destroy the Loxahatchee River.

Starting in Jupiter, Tilton's route would parallel the turnpike to the east and swing directly north to cross SR 707. It then travels through the Harris Ranch and curves up Cove Road and onto SR76, and west of Coral Gardens.

The route would cross the St. Lucie River south of Riverland Trailer Park and connect with Mapp Road, and then run directly west and cross SR-714 through M&W properties. At that point, Tilton said the route could either connect with the turnpike or link with the route selected for St. Lucie County which is west of the turnpike.

An eastern route through the county was proposed at a January meeting in Tequesta which was attended by the head of the Federal Highway Administration, Administrator Norbert Tiemann. The federal agency has approved the western route proposed by DOT, but Tiemann asked DOT to submit information about an eastern alignment of I-95.

The uncompleted stretch of I-95, which has been debated for several years, is north from PGA Boulevard in northern Palm Beach County through Martin County.

DOT officials have estimated it will cost between $49 and $57 million to build the 12.5 mile section from PGA Boulevard north to two miles north of the Palm Beach-Martin counties.

Conservationists have opposed the eastern route, saying the western route would be least damaging to the environment.

$25'000 salary

Council hires director

JENSEN BEACH — An executive director for the Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council was hired at last week's council meeting.

Sam A. Shannon, 31, was hired at $25,000 a year and will begin his job Oct. 4, three days after the new council is officially recognized by the state.

Some members of the council were not satisfied with the way one of its own committees had looked for an executive director.

It was noted by some council members that the job should have been advertised in professional publications and that the council's committee hired only one of 40 applications as qualified.

"I would hate to see us take action on the day, not being able to interview other people," St. Lucie County Commissioner George Price said.

"I want the opportunity to screen at least three applicants," Price said.

The committee recommending Shannon was headed by Edwin Schmierer, Indian River County commissioner, and included Bill Medlen, chairman of the Palm Beach County Commission, and Ed Ginkler, mayor of Sewall's Point.

In its written recommendation, the committee wrote, "It is our opinion that Shannon is the best and only person due your consideration."

Committee members acknowledged that news of the position's availability was passed throughout the state by word of mouth. Shannon said he received word of the job from Loring Lovell, bureau chief of the state Division of Planning in Tallahassee. The Division of Planning is the state agency which has monitored the development of the newly created council which is composed of Martin, St. Lucie, Indian River and Palm Beach counties.

Only St. Lucie County Commission Chairman Ed Kline voted against the appointment of Shannon, saying that he wanted to select one more than one of the six applicants considered by the three member committee.

Pointing out that he wasn't interested in the job, Walter Young, director of planning for the City of Boca Raton, said the council should have advertised the position in a professional journal.

Schmierer replied that advertising probably would have produced 100 candidates. That would have been too many applicants with too much of a variety in the background.

It left us open to a tremendous influx of applications that would have a very wide range, Schmierer said.

Rainbow Wheel meets Tuesday

STUART—The Rainbow Wheel Club will meet Tuesday, September 28, at the Holiday Inn, U.S. 1, Stuart. Social hour begins at 11:30 a.m. with luncheon at noon.

Frank Wacha will be the guest speaker.

Shannon has been director of planning for the City of Sanibel at a salary of $17,500, and before his job with Sanibel he was an associate planner in the Division of Planning.

The council agreed to pay Shannon $500 for moving expenses and travel expenses. He was authorized to begin negotiations with Martin County Administrator Jack Noble for renting office space in the Executive Plaza building, and employing a planner, secretary and bookkeeper clerk.

Shannon was placed on six months probation.

In other action, the council agreed to pay the South Florida Planning Council $5,000 for any time it spends on planning for Palm Beach, Martin and St. Lucie counties, until the Central Florida Regional Planning Council will be paid $7,000 for its work on planning for Indian River County.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR Sam A. Shannon has been named executive director of the Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council at a salary of $25,000.

Tax collector gets assistant

JENSEN BEACH—Martin County Democratic District 4 School Board nominee Skip Breeden Jr. has been named assistant to Tax Collector Alvin Andrews.

"He will take some of the work off my shoulders," Andrews said. "I've been my own bookkeeper and secretary for years and it was just getting too much for me.

"I've had to do most things as assistant for some time and last June I put in my budget a request for money for an assistant," Andrews said. "My budget goes to the Department of Revenue for approval."

Andrews said that an "electioneering" Breeden does will be on his own time.

The tax collector pointed out that if Breeden is elected School Board meetings are held at night and it won't conflict with his job.

Breeden defeated Esther Kildea in the primary and will face Republican David Lee Crandall, winner in the primary defeating William Fox, Jr.

A former bank manager, Breeden was fired when he decided to enter the School Board campaign.

Water study is planned

JENSEN BEACH—A consulting engineering firm will conduct a survey in Ocean Breeze Park to determine if the water supply is too close to sources of contamination such as drainage pipes and septic tanks.

Department of Environmental Regulations (DER) spokesman said he expects the study by the engineering firm of Greenlees, Montgomery and Associates to be completed in two weeks.

He said if the study reveals that water sources are too close, then the town might have to dig a new source of water supply.

State law requires that sources of water supply be at least 100 feet from sources of contamination.

Environmental officials issued an order last February requiring the town to chlorinate its water. But state officials have also asked that the water system be consolidated in order to more efficiently regulate water quality.

The water will not be chlorinated until the results of the new survey are received, according to Raby.

FIT students need jobs

JENSEN BEACH—Part time jobs and off campus housing are needed for students at Florida Institute of Technology (FIT), Jensen Beach campus.

About one out of 10 students registering for the fall term have asked about finding a part time job, a college spokesman said Tuesday.

It is estimated that 75 per cent of the students at FIT are receiving financial help through grants or working part time.

It was also noted by FIT officials that financial grants are hard to find and there is not enough money available in today's economy to meet the need of students who want and need financial help.

It costs approximately $3,800 per year for a student to attend FIT including board and room in one of the dormitories.

About 20 per cent of the FIT students are married and need suitable housing.

Anyone having suitable housing and part-time jobs should call FIT, 334-4200.

Students have been arriving on campus this week and orientation sessions start today. Wednesday Registration is slated Sunday and classes begin Monday, and approximately 900 students are expected.

No contest pot charge

JENSEN BEACH—Paula Thomason last week pleaded no contest to an indictment count in connection with a conspiracy to steal and sell marijuana that had been seized at the Martin County jail.

She had been charged with four felony counts, including those of accessory after the fact and delivery of more than five grams of marijuana.

Her attorney, David Holtz of West Palm Beach, negotiated with the State Attorney's office to obtain the final plea.

Assistant State Attorney Jim Mobley said the state dropped most of the charges because the case against Miss Thomason appeared weak.

Circuit Court Judge C. Pfeiffer Trowbridge ordered a pre-sentence investigation and set sentencing for Oct. 22.

The state also dropped two accessory counts against Stuart businessman Jack Leighton, also charged in connection with the marijuana conspiracy.

Venture Out

VENTURE OUT NEWS
BY WILLARD AUCH

Well, last week I told you we were having a few showers. Between Saturday noon and Monday a.m., my rain gauge showed over 4½ inches, so you can see we have very little dust around these parts. We hope to have things nice and green for your return, plus a few nice weeds that will keep you busy for a while.

Hd a nice letter from Jackie and Al Phillips which you will be interested in.

We appreciated last week's V O News, especially mice of Bob and Marge Owen to mention Al's eye operation. He had the cataract removed and contact lens sewn in in one fell swoop on August 19. The five weeks of complete "do nothing ness" will be up next week. Aside from minor discomfort the operation was a success - we're glad to report. Al says the bikinis never looked so good!

"Before the operation we took a delightful two week trip to Maine. On one day's outing we got lost. The scenery was so pretty, though, that we parked the car and took pictures. There was a car next to our with Florida license plates. A youthful couple with two beautiful Weimaraner dogs got out of the car. They said they were lost too. I asked them where they lived in Florida and they said "Oh, a little town I'm sure you never heard of. Jensen Beach."

We talked for quite a while, each one of us deciding the 58 degree water temperature in the middle of summer and rocky beaches were not for those of us who have the advantages of the Jensen Beach area. Their dogs were "show" dogs and they were heading for Philadelphia for a dog show. Small world, isn't it?

"We're all wondering about the conditions of our lots and looking forward to our return to V O.

"Saw by the fishing news in the Mirror that the Parmenters must have arrived back from their California trip, since Bruce is up to his old tricks of catching the best fish around. Glad to hear you made it back safely, Bruce and Kathy.

Our first returnees on Swordfish are May and Earl Eisenhard. They are back for the fall and winter, looking well-nourished and healthy, and we are sure glad to see them.

Bill and Aldyth Goetz are now back to enjoy Venture Out for the winter with their new silver travel trailer. They took delivery of it up in Ohio in July and have spent the last two months touring central and northeast U S A.

Mary Elynn Meachum and her traveling companion also arrived back this past week. They too are here for the balance of the season.

It is with much sadness that we hear Clint Mushill passed away August first after open heart surgery at the New York University Medical Center. He will be missed.

Our sincere condolences are extended to Bernice.

Guy and Jane Richdale have arrived in the park for a short stay. They plan to return again for the winter season and become real Floridians.

Venture Harbour

BY JESSIE SHAVER

Welcome home to Bob and Kay Smyth. They had a wonderful summer in Virginia, warm days and cool nights but now they can get the same in V H.

Shirley and Jack Brittain arrived on their yacht "Temptation" after traveling 2000 miles from Lake Erie and are settling in for a nice long stay. They are living aboard the boat while remodeling the interior of the home they purchased from the Gerards. Welcome to V H.

Kay and Howard Koepke's youngest son Eddie has decided he will finish his education in this area and get in plenty of surfing, so he is staying in their home. Kay and Howard are on a trip to Kentucky to a square dance jamboree where they hope to see other Location Venture Harbourites who love square dancing.

Tina Bells tells me that Walnut Street will be a street of music as four of our new residents have organs to move into their new homes. Let's all open our windows and have a concert as soon as all are installed.

A letter from Sam Tucker says he is leaving the lake where he spent the summer and going into Pittsburg to get his Airstream ready for traveling to V H. He says it is in the 36-40's in Massachusetts. He has plans for taking a steamer cruise and visiting Texas this winter, but will spend some time in V H.

Betty and Al Award from Essex and Betty Drinkard also said they were beginning to make things snug and tight to leave the colder weather of Michigan and head for our warmer clime. It will sure be welcome back time for so many of our good friends and neighbors. That includes Lol and Jean Kurth (Hagar Art) so nice that they were packing up to leave Wisconsin.

Should be having more new cars soon, all return.

Now that Mary Ellen Meachum has returned she said Betty Jones will be full of plans for the fall bazaar.

A Thousand Clowns is Barn season opener

STUART–Saturday, October 1, is opening night for "A Thousand Clowns" at the Barn Theatre's season.

Written by Herb Gardner, directed by Lorraine Arsenault and produced by Mercy Conant and Betty Smith, "A Thousand Clowns" is a comedy focusing on the problems of an unemployed bachelor trying to prove his competency as his nephew's guardian to a team of social workers who do no immediately observe the merits of his lifestyle.

The comedy will run for three weekends October 1 and 2, 8, 9 and 10; and 15 and 16. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Director Arsenault, of Port St. Lucie, announced her casting choices, including Bill Jolliffe as the bachelor-uncle, Greg Sarvel as his young nephew, and Tom Snavely and Maxine Dubby will play the social workers who have been assigned to investigate Uncle Murray's competency as a guardian.

The season's line-up for the Martin County Players, Inc. at the Barn Theatre, offers a variety that should please both long-time and first-time theatregoers.

Three more comedies will be performed: "Once More, With Feeling," Agatha Christie's "Ten Little Indians," and Neil Simon's "Plaza Suite."

One of the traditional highlights of the season is the winter musical, which this year is "Fiddler on the Roof." The holiday bonus production will be the adult drama "Seahorse" which will run only December 27 through 31.

Season tickets for five regular performances plus the holiday bonus are now on sail. Season ticket holders may make reservations now or wait to choose which night's performance they prefer to attend.

Sailing course gets under way October 5

STUART—The seven-lesson sailing course will again be scheduled by Flotilla 59 of the United States Coast Guard Auxiliary starting Tuesday, Oct 5.

This is a course designed for those who, contemplating their initial sailboat purchase or having acquired one for the first time, desire the knowledge that makes for safe and enjoyable sailing. The captain's crew can benefit also, and it can serve as a refresher for anyone who feels their skill has become a little rusty.

Classes will be held Tuesday and Thursday for four weeks at Flotilla Headquarters foot of Flagler Ave., 8 to 10 p.m. with registration prior to the first session @ 7 p.m.

The course will be taught by Flotilla 59 member Robert Krauss. As instructor Krauss points out: "It's more fun to sail when you have the confidence in your boat and your own ability to cope with any sea or weather."

Included in the course are such subjects as: Getting To Know your Boat, Theory of Sailing, Basic Boat Handling, Types of Sails and Use, Seamanship in Fair and Foul Weather.

The course is free except for textbook material costing $8. For further information call 334-3266 or 283-2405.

HAVE YOU HEARD WHAT THEY'RE SAYING ABOUT STU HERSEY?

STATE ATTORNEY ROBERT E. STONE:

"Stu has served with ability and distinction as Assistant State Attorney for Martin County during the past two years. He has demonstrated a deep concern for our criminal justice system and the problems we face today. He is totally familiar with the work of the County Court and can serve as Judge of that Court with distinction and honor. I am urging the people of Martin County to elect Stu Hershey as their County Judge because I believe him to be fair, impartial, conscientious and dedicated."

PUBLIC DEFENDER ELTON H. SCHWARZ:

"Without exception, you have been faithful to the law and have been patient, dignified and courteous...it is my considered opinion that you are the most qualified choice for the office. For this reason, I heartily endorse your candidacy for the office of County Judge."

FORMER CANDIDATE JAMES E. KNIGHT:

"After spending many hours with both candidates, I feel that Stewart R. Hershey is the person more closely aligned with my conservative philosophy. He also has the background and experience necessary to render the decisions required of the County Judge."

THE STUART NEWS:

"Stewart R. Hershey for judge of the Martin County Court. Hershey has experience in local courts, he has an outstanding academic background and has campaigned appropriately for this post."

Tigers break losing streak with Forest Hill runaway

BY DENNIE WILKIE

PALM BEACH—It had been a long time since the Martin County Tigers had won a game, but last night in West Palm Beach, there seemed to be no evidence that the drought would end.

The Tigers had looked very good in their season opener at Forest Hill against Palm Beach Gardens, dominating play for the first three periods before letting down in the fourth and losing 21-14.

Friday night against Forest Hill however, the Tigers played superior football through the entire game and the played game when the clock signalled the end of the game and a Tiger victory.

It was in Forest Hill two years ago that the 19 game Martin County losing skein began, but Friday night Danny Garland became the first Tiger to run for 80 yards or more in three years and the fourth time ever. Garland who rushed for more yardage in the first quarter than he had picked up all night against Palm Beach Gardens, sliced through the Falcon defense and made short work of the team which had taken a win before the game had even started.

Garland carried only twelve times, but picked up 82 yards, tops in the game. Meanwhile fullback Gary Reed rushed for 41 yards and quarterback Jimmy Williams passed for 55 more leading the Tigers to three touchdowns.

Daly Finch provided the only offense Forest Hill could muster as he carried 23 times for 84 yards. But the big story was the Martin County pass defense which allowed only two passes to be completed against them so far through two games. MCHS opponents have completed only three passes out of sixteen attempts for but 27 yards.

Reed gave the Tigers their first touchdown of the game in the first quarter when he charged in from one yard out. Reed then kicked the extra point and the Tigers led 7-0. The second score came in the second stanza when Garland broke loose for 20 yards and a 13-0 lead. Martin County added its last score in the third quarter as Garland took a screen pass and went 27 yards for the 19-0 victory.

Martin County meets Twin Lakes at West Palm Beach this Friday night at 8 p.m. hoping for some luck with a winning record.

In other action Fort Pierce Central stopped Lake Worth, 27-0, as the Cobras accumulated 377 yards of total offense. The Cobras have had just one game inside the conference in five years and are currently ranked number five statewide among the class 4 AAAA schools. It is entirely possible that they could be ranked number one when they meet Martin County on October 29. The Cobras still must win six more times before that meeting.

Fort Pierce got on the board early as Jerry Brown tossed a 43 yard bomb to Jackie Robinson. Brown found receiver Hilton Atwater on their next possession for a 46 yard touchdown and it was 14-0.

Alvin Miller made the score 20-0 when he dashed down the sidelines for 82 yards in the third quarter and the final score came when Golden Anderson sprinted up the middle for an 86 yard id run with 10 minutes to go in the game. Fort Pierce is now 2-0 on the year.

TOTAL YARDS MCHS: 110 run, 55 pass, 225 total; FH: 110 run, 18 pass, 128 total.

Under the lights at Sportsman's Park

FORT ST. LUCIE—Fans from Fort St. Lucie and Palm City were treated to two good football games during last Saturday's opening action of the Martin County Football League at Sportsman's Park.

Pregame ceremonies under the direction of Dick Ueberth, optimist publicity director introduced the park's new lighting system and the officials through whose cooperation the new lighting system was installed. Reverend Crawford offered the invocation, following recognition of Mayor Schuyler Sharpe and Vice Mayor Frank Rose.

The first contest between the lighter weight 80 pounds resulted in a battle of defenses. Bobby Morgan starred for the Vikings and Sean Hogan of Palm City. Hogan's defensive play Mike Vickers aided the Viking defense with scoring gains that kept the Palm City team deep in their own territory. In the second quarter the Vikings intercepted a Seminole Bandit Pass. Viking quarterback Morgan scampered to Mike Anderson. Mike Vickers' conversion run failed to connect. The score left Palm City in control of the ball. Mark Hinds plunged for the Palm City scoring effort but lack of time left the Vikings squad victors.

Fort St. Lucie's second game action found the Seminoles on the receiving end of a 14-0 score. Following a scoreless first quarter, Bobby Morgan hit the second quarter opening against the Fort St. Lucie squad. Mike Vickers completed the conversion pass. The Vikings added to their scoring punch in the third quarter as Morgan hit Mike Anderson for a touchdown pass

City manager

The Charter Committee charter provides for a city manager and specifies the qualifications for the job. The Alternate Charter provides for a city manager and omits qualifications.

The first demands that certain qualifications be met, the second leaves it up to the council to set the criteria for a city manager. Few charters include a job description in their articles. The growth of the city would determine the qualifications of the manager.

If the people would want full control over their council, inclusion of the qualifications for a city manager might be a proper thing. However it does remove one of the recognized responsibilities of the council.

Planning and zoning

The Charter Committee charter provides that the recommendations of the Planning and Zoning Board can be overruled by a four-fifths vote of the council. The Alternate Charter provides that only in rezoning would a four-fifths vote be required. A simple majority to overrule would apply in all other matters.

Again the differences would be in how much authority the people want their council to have. In one, it would be very difficult for the council with full responsibility to the voters to control an appointive zoning board that would have no responsibility to the voters. In the other, the council would have more leeway.

The differences lie in the philosophy of how much power the people desire to give the council. The city council is the lawmaking, or legislative body of the city. However, it loses much of that authority in the charter restrictions.

Pension plan

The Charter Committee charter does not disallow elected officials from participating in the city's pension plan. The Alternate Charter specifies that no elected officials or the city attorney would be permitted to do so.

The negative provision is again limiting the power of the city council. As the charter is a positive document, perhaps it should specify who can participate. In any case, the Charter Committee leaves it up to the city council to set criteria for participation in pensions, and the Alternate Charter provides who cannot participate.

CONCLUSIONS

Both documents are good charters, under which the city could operate. The political philosophy of the citizens will judge which is the better of the two.

Much of the controversial areas seems to rest on reaction to past problems encountered by the city, and each charter does something to somehow limit the authority of the city council.

The Charter Committee offers a two year term of office. It was written predominately by non-elected persons. The Alternate Charter provides for four year terms. It was written by elected officials and their attorneys.

The elected officials indicate that it takes longer than two years to get in office, become acquainted with budgets, problems and solutions, and get a job done. The citizens seem to indicate that if the councilman doesn't get right on the ball they can throw him out after two years.

In either case, it is reasonable to expect that good councilmen would be kept, and not-so-good ones would be put out of office in either two or four years.

District voting is the same. It depends if the citizens want to have a say city wide or if they want the strong power of having a person in their neighborhood responsive to their desires. It all lies in the philosophy of government.

We urge all citizens to become acquainted with the two charters and decide if they want either or keeping the present one so that all can vote intelligently in the November referendum.

Public hearings will be held on Thursday, September 23 at the Community Center, CESA and the following Thursday, September 30 at Sandpiper Bay.

Council hires director

JENSEN BEACH—An executive director for the Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council was hired at last week's council meeting.

Sam A. Shannon, 31, was hired at $25,000 a year and will begin his job Oct 4, three days after the new council is officially recognized by the state.

Some members of the council were not satisfied with the way one of its own committees had looked for an executive director.

It was noted by some council members that the job should have been advertised in professional publications and that the council's committee called only one of 30 applications as qualified.

"I would hate to see us take action on this day, not being able to interview other people," St. Lucie County Commissioner George Price said.

"I want the opportunity to screen at least three applicants," Price said.

The committee recommending Shannon was headed by Edwin Schmucker, Indian River County commissioner, and included Bill Medlen, chairman of the Palm Beach County Commission, and Ed Gluckler, mayor of Sewall's Point.

In its written recommendation the committee wrote: "It is our opinion that Shannon is the best and only person due your consideration."

Committee members acknowledged that news of the position's availability was passed throughout the state by word of mouth. Shannon said he received word of the job from Lorene Lovell, bureau chief of the state Division of Planning in Tallahassee. The Division of Planning is the state agency which has monitored the development of the newly created council which is composed of Martin, St. Lucie, Indian River and Palm Beach counties.

Only St. Lucie County Commission Chairman Ed Enns voted against the appointment of Shannon, saying that he wanted to interview more than one of the 30 applicants considered by the three member committee.

Pointing out that he was interested in the job, Walter Young, director of planning for the City of Boca Raton, said the council should have advertised the position in a professional journal.

Schmucker replied that advertising probably would have produced 150 candidates. That would have been too many applicants with too much of a variety in the background.

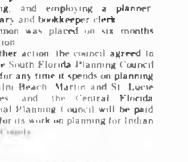
It left us open to a tremendous influx of applications that would have a very wide range," Schmucker said.

Shannon has been director of planning for the City of Sanibel at a salary of $17,500, and before his job with Sanibel he was an associate planner in the Division of Planning.

The council agreed to pay Shannon $500 for moving expenses, and travel expenses. He was authorized to begin negotiations with Martin County Administrator Jack Noble for renting office space in the Executive Plaza building, and employing a planner secretary and bookkeeper.

Shannon was placed on six months probation.

In other action the council agreed to pass the South Florida Planning Council $5,000 for any time it spends on planning for Palm Beach, Martin and St. Lucie counties, and the Central Florida Regional Planning Council will be paid $2,000 for its work on planning for Indian River county.



EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR Sam A. Shannon has been named executive director of the Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council at a salary of $25,000.

PTSF holds first meeting

PORT ST. LUCIE—The PTSF of Port St. Lucie School held its first meeting of the year Thursday, Sept. 16, in the multi purpose room. Rae Ann Wallace, the group's president, introduced all the officers to all who attended and told of the upcoming projects planned for the school year.

The first project will be the Second Annual Fall Fashion Show on October 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the school multi purpose room. Children from the school will be the models. The show will feature homemade clothing along with fashions from stores.

For ticket information call 878-4081.

Finance committee will be appointed

PORT ST. LUCIE—We have just spent thirty minutes reviewing bids for two items which could total better than $8,000. I am concerned about the approach this city is taking in such money matters. As an example we are faced with a pension plan road take over employee hospitalization as well as a plan for capital expenditures.

What has happened to the city's finance committee?

I don't know now or who abolished this committee but I would like to know all about it," said Councilman Bill McChesney.

McChesney addressed his remarks to fellow councilmembers following a unanimous vote to reject some thirteen bids submitted to the city for the proposed purchase of a copying machine and an air conditioning unit for City Hall. All bids were rejected for further analysis by City Administrator Elmer Cox.

Mayor Sharpe was quick to put the monkey on Cox's back by saying "I believe you have something to say on this issue, Mr. Cox."

While Cox's answer was somewhat brief, he did cite difficulties in trying to get a definite decision from the former finance committee on certain matters.

As an example we met with the finance committee last year probably 18 times before we could arrive at the 1975-76 budget. Cox said adding there were also some conflicts allegedly with the Government in the Sunshine Law.

Councilman Larry Kimmel was quick to counter this statement.

It is your responsibility to prepare and present a budget, not the responsibility of an appointed finance committee. I believe if you would have used that committee correctly they would have been a big help.

I object to the apparent lack of control here in a city where the finances are touching the $1 million mark. And if there were allegations involving the Government in the Sunshine, you don't wipe out the committee you simply take the necessary steps to abide by the law."

Both Kimmel and McChesney complimented Cox for the fine job he has done while serving the city, and both agreed the real problem is evident.

I know you have done a good job Mr. Cox. I have seen you here working many times on Saturdays and Sundays. I have never questioned your ability or your honesty, but I think we have been forced by a majority of this council to assume a great many responsibilities that should not have come your way," McChesney said.

After making you solely responsible it is a simple matter when something goes wrong to point the finger at you," McChesney added.

It was at this point that Mayor Sharpe spoke up and agreed to take the blame for abolishing the finance committee. He was quick to add however that any member of the council could have suggested the committee be reappointed.

The finance committee caused us too many headaches," Sharpe said.

Councilwoman city treasure and former head of the finance committee Lolita Kernohan remained silent throughout the entire discussion as did Frank Rose.

McChesney's motion to appoint a new finance committee was seconded by Kimmel and carried by a unanimous vote of the council.

CESA Golf Tournament is planned October 14

PORT ST. LUCIE—The field for the Second Annual CESA Golf Tournament, a benefit event sponsored by General Development Corporation for the Port St. Lucie Community Center, is rapidly filling up, and a limited number of openings for the golf classic that includes an awards luncheon are available at the Port St. Lucie Bank.

Tom Chapman, tournament chairman, reported that a total of 232 (144 men and 88 women) have already signed up leaving just 55 openings for the golf classic that includes an awards luncheon.

Those spots are being filled fast now and Port St. Lucie golfers who want to take part in this event should don't wait any longer to sign up. I wouldn't be surprised if we were full up by the end of next week," he cautioned.

The entry fees $40 per individual plus the normal cart fees but there are no greens fees for contestants who are not members of the Sandpiper Country Club. The fee includes the awards luncheon to the Great Hall at Sandpiper Bay and non golfers may attend the luncheon upon payment of the entry fee.

Application blanks for entering the tournament won last year by Stan Vaccio and Lloyd Adamson are available at the Port St. Lucie Bank, the Port St. Lucie Community Center and both the Saints and Sinners pros shops. Checks are to be drawn in favor of CESA according to Clem Brambles, tournament treasurer.

Current CSGA handicaps will be used for both men and women contestants and others will be allowed to compete for separate prizes under the Callaway handicap system. Golfers with Sandpiper Bay CSGA handicaps will use them as they may use the lowest of nine holes CSGA handicaps.

Prizes are being donated through host pro Chuck Johnson by GDC which is also hosting the luncheon through Sandpiper Bay Resort Area Manager Jim Bearce and donating the use of both courses and one half of the cart rentals to the Community Center.

Bert McDonnell, tournament handicap chairman, reported that the imprinted golf balls—one for guests, one each contestants and the third one for the attending pro—are being donated by an automobile dealer willing to put up an automobile as a grand prize in a hole-in-one. Bill Schultz Chevrolet is giving golf bags for players in the event. Bill Bruce at the Sinners and the pro at the Saints said like they did last year. he pointed out.

Dick Lundin, golf committee member and CESA president, expressed himself as being extremely disappointed with the small number of CESA member spouses now playing in the tournament who have signed up for the awards luncheon. This whole affair is being put on for our benefit by GDC. The very least trustees can do is to see to it that they and their spouses either play or buy a ticket to the luncheon," he stated.

We need to support it all the way."

Golf tournament committee members are Chairman Chapman, Irene Chapman, Hubs Johnson, Doris Harvey, Jan Werges, Bob Seeley, Bert McDonnell, Norm Sardoine, Landin, Herb Eschudy, Bill Flanagan, Beatrice Bramley, Al Hasell and George Jacobi.

Many attend hearings

PORT ST. LUCIE—Well over one hundred residents turned out for the first of three scheduled public hearings on the proposed charter as presented by the Charter Revision Committee, and the alternate charter written at the direction of Mayor Schuyler Sharpe and backed by Councilmembers Lolita Kernohan and Frank Rose.

While the chance seems to be slim that either charter will receive the mandatory majority vote come Nov. 2, State Representative Chuck Nergard pitched more fuel on the fire when he expressed some doubt that either of the proposed documents as written could become effective prior to the 1978 election. The city attorney, Spencer Gilbert, is expected to clear this point at the September 23 hearing to be held at the Port St. Lucie Community Center. Meeting time will be 7:30 p.m.

On the term of office, Mayor Sharpe, Councilwoman Lolita Kernohan and Vice-mayor Rose favor the Alternate charter which provides for a four year term of office. The Mayor has maintained it takes more than two years for a councilperson to become a seasoned government official and also cited the high cost of elections and the necessity for annual elections for the two year office terms as proposed by the Charter Revision Committee.

Councilman Bill McChesney, who has been an avid supporter of the Charter Revision Committee (CRC) based his stand on the fact that last year's elections cost the city in the neighborhood of $600 and he said he believes that is little enough to pay if the people want to get an office holder out.

Mayor Sharpe is of the opinion the City Council should have the responsibility of selecting a city manager. He cited that qualifications needs change and urged the people present to have faith in their City Council.

Milton Riedel, also a member of the former CRC in a surprise move took the floor and asked for a show of hands of those who favored the CRC document. The response was an overwhelming majority favoring the Charter Revision Committee's charter.

Record registers

PORT ST. LUCIE—Saturday, Sept. 18, was the final day to register for the Nov. 2 General Election and St. Lucie Supervisor of Elections James Brooks said. "We broke the record for the number of people registering in one day.

Our office registered 325 voters Saturday and we have over 31,000 eligible voters in St. Lucie County," Brooks said.

"The residents in the south county area, Port St. Lucie helped to break the registration record," Brooks noted.

Residents in the south county area traditionally turnout in greater numbers for elections than any other section of the county. In 1972 presidential election 83 percent of the eligible voters in the Port St. Lucie area voted," Brooks said.

Brooks predicted a low turnout for the second primary Sept. 28. "We hope to have a 25 per cent turnout. Only 39 per cent of the registered voters cast ballots in the first primary.

The election chief reminded voters that the Sept. 28 was a primary and only registered Democrats may vote for the Democratic and nonpartisan candidates.

All other voters may vote for nonpartisan candidates, he said.

The second primary ballots includes:

John R. Park and Tom Lilly, County Commission District 4; Mike E. Helseth and W.F. (Ed) Raikes, School Board, District 2; and Judy James and O.C. Peterson, School Board, District 4, all Democrats.

On the judicial, nonpartisan, ballot, Charles R. Holles and Frederick Karl, are candidates for Justice of the Supreme Court, Group 1; and Carroll S. Barco and James C. Dauksch Jr., are candidates for Judge of the District Court of Appeal, Fourth Appellate District, Group 1.

Tigers break losing streak with Forest Hill runaway

BY DONNIE WILKIE

PALM BEACH—It had been a long time since the Martin County Tigers had won a game, but last night in West Palm Beach, there was no need to believe that the drought would end.

The Tigers had looked very good in their season opener at Memorial Field against Palm Beach Forest, outrushing, outpassing and outplaying play for the first three quarters before letting down in the fourth.

Friday night against Forest Hill, however, the Tigers played superior football through the entire game and the payoff came when the clock signalled the end of the game and a Tiger victory.

It was th Forest Hill two years ago that the 19 game Martin County losing skein began, but Friday night Danny Garland became the first Tiger to run for 90 yards or more in three years, and the hometown hero evened their 1976 record at 1-1.

Garland who rushed for more yardage in the first quarter than he had picked up all night against Palm Beach Gardens sliced through the Falcon defense and made short work of the team which had taken a win before the game had even started.

Garland carried only twelve times but picked up 92 yards, tops in the game. Meanwhile fullback Gary Reed rushed for 41 yards, and quarterback Jimmy Williams passed for 55 more, leading the Tigers to three touchdowns.

Dale Finch provided the only offense Forest Hill could muster as he carried 23 times for 84 yards. But the big story was the Martin County pass defense which allowed only two passes to be completed against them. So far through two games, MCHS opponents have completed only three passes out of sixteen attempts for but 27 yards.

Reed gave the Tigers their first touchdown of the game in the first quarter when he charged in from one yard out. Reed then kicked the extra point and the Tigers led 7-0. The second score came in the second stanza when Garland broke loose for 20 yards and a 13-0 lead. Martin County added its last score in the third quarter as Garland took a screen pass and went 27 yards for the 19-0 victory.

Martin County meets Twin Lakes at West Palm Beach this Friday night at 8 p.m., hoping to come back with a winning record.

In other action Fort Pierce Central stopped Lake Worth 27-6 as the Cobras accumulated 277 yards of total offense. The Cobras have lost just one game inside the conference in five years, and are currently ranked number five statewide among the class 4 AAAA schools. It is entirely possible that they could be ranked number one when they meet Martin County on October 29. The Cobras still must win six more times before that meeting.

Fort Pierce got on the board early as Jerry Brown tossed a 43 yard bomb to Jackie Robinson. Brown found receiver Hilton Meatter on their next possession for a 46 yard touchdown and it was 14-0.

Alvin Miller made the score 20-0 when he dashed down the sidelines for 82 yards in the third quarter, and the final score came when Golden Anderson sprinted up the middle for an 86 yard td run with 10 minutes to go in the game. Fort Pierce is now 2-0 on the year.

TOTAL YARDS: MCHS: 170 run, 55 pass, 225 total; FH: 118 run, 10 pass, 128 total.

Under the lights at Sportsman's Park

PORT ST. LUCIE—Fans from Port St. Lucie and Palm City were treated to two good football games during last Saturday's opening action of the Martin County Football League at Sportsman's Park.

Pregame ceremonies under the direction of Dick Lieberth. Optimist publicity director introduced the park's new lighting system and the officials through whose cooperation the new lighting system was installed. Reverend Crutchfield offered the invocation following recognition of Mayor Schuyler Sharpe and Vice Mayor Frank Rose.

The first contest between the lighter weight B squads resulted in a battle of defenses. Bobby Morgan started for the Vikings and was featured Palm City's tough six man defensive play. Mike Archer aided the Viking defense with booming punts that kept the Palm City team deep in their own territory. In the final quarter, the Vikings recovered a fumble. Randy Blair, Viking quarter back passed 28 yards to Mike Anderson and Steve Smith, quarterback, found Gary Gaskins for the two yards to score for the Vikings. Rick Birch plunged for the extra point, and the Viking squad ran away with a 14-0 victory.

Palm City rallied to an early lead in the A-B combination game when Bob Hobbs ran seventy yards into the end zone following a keeper play by quarterback Danny Stroupe. In the second quarter, two successive penalties against the Port St. Lucie defensive unit for face masking and unnecessary roughness placed the ball in scoring position and a pass from Stroupe to Bobby Walker completed the scoring for the evening giving Palm City a 13-0 win.

The Vikings offensive team showed improved power with big runs by Jack Hulbert and Dennis Myles but a spell of penalties for illegal and illegal motion nullified much scoring threat.

Three weeks of the Vikings will entertain the Osceola Rebs. Indications under the lights at Port St. Lucie. Game time for the first contest is 6:30 p.m.

Absentees hold the key

JENSEN BEACH—The absentee ballots counted at today's (Wednesday, Sept. 29) official canvass of the Tuesday primary could decide the outcome of the County Commission District 5 race between John W. Holt, Jr., and Tom Kenny.

The unofficial count after all 20 precincts were counted showed Holt with 1,872 votes to Kenny's 1,806.

According to the Supervisor of Election's office, about 260 absentee ballots were returned of 516 issued.

In the other runoff races, Fred Humberstone won a one-sided victory over Ted Campo, 2,402 over 1,291, in the Republican Property Appraiser race.

In the nonpartisan Martin County Judge race, Marc Ciancia defeated Stewart Hershey, 3,896 to 3,178.

Tom Little and William Taylor ran a close race in the wire and absentee ballots could change the outcome in the Democratic nomination for State House of Representatives, District 77. Unofficial vote count shows Little with 1,206 to Taylor's 1,277.

Pot charge draws sentences

JENSEN BEACH—Former narcotics investigator Gerald Brown this week was sentenced to 10 years in prison for his role in a marijuana conspiracy while former deputy John Roberts received a five-year sentence.

Brown earlier pleaded guilty to charges of attempted grand larceny, conspiracy to commit a felony and official misconduct in connection with the theft and sale of marijuana from the Martin County Jail.

Roberts pleaded no contest to charges of attempted conspiracy to commit a felon and official misconduct.

Circuit Court Judge C. Pfeiffer Trowbridge told the former deputies that based on testimony in trials of them involved in the drug conspiracy and based on pre-sentence investigations he thought there was a difference in guilt between the two.

The judge referred to Brown as leader of the illegal drug operation.

Vance Thomas, convicted of delivery of a controlled substance in connection with the drug deal, was sentenced to three years in prison. But the judge said he would recommend that Thomas serve only one year and subsequently be placed on probation for four years.

The judge said the issue in Thomas trial was whether he had been aware he was taking part in an illegal operation as an undercover informant.

Also sentenced was 31 year old Tony Helms who was convicted of possession of a controlled substance and with being an accessory after the fact. He was sentenced to seven years.

Judge Trowbridge said that while Helms had no prior record, evidence at his trial indicated he was a "big-time drug dealer." Helms' lawyer said they would appeal the case. The appeal bond was set at $100,000.

Voter registration is now 27,680

JENSEN BEACH—There are 27,680 registered voters in Martin County, 13,426 Democrats and 12,738 Republicans.

This is an increase of about 1,400 voters from July 24 to Sept. 18, Supervisor of Elections Sandra Randolph said Monday.

The latest registration widens the gap between the two major parties, a gap which has been narrowing over the past few years. Only July 25 there were fewer than 600 registrations separating the number of Democrats and Republicans.

That figure has increased by almost 100 voters within the last few months.

There are 900 registered independents and 616 other parties.

Mrs. Randolph pointed out that under federal law the registration books will remain open until Friday, Oct. 3.

Persons registering after the Sept. 18 registration deadline may only vote for the president, vice president, senators and congressmen, she said.

Before Precinct 1, Jensen Beach voting at Langford Park Fieldhouse, was split, creating Precinct 19, it was the largest in the county.

Precinct 1 now has a total of 2,340 registered voters and Precinct 19, voting at the Jensen Beach Community Church, has 1,222 voters.

There are now registered Democrats 1,136 than Republicans 1,003 in Precinct 1, but the Republicans outnumber Democrats in Precinct 19, 590 to 572.

In other area precincts registration total include:

Precinct 10, Sewall's Point, 515 with 357 Republicans, 227 Democrats, 16 independents and 15 other parties.

Precinct 13, Rio, 721 with 339 Democrats, 342 Republicans, 25 independents and 10 other parties.

Precinct 2, North River Shores, 673 Republicans, 649 Democrats, 39 independents and 30 other parties.

Leif Erikson Day is October 10 in Jensen

JENSEN BEACH—The colorful Leif Erikson celebration will be held on the Jensen Beach Causeway Sunday, Oct. 10, and there will be boat races in the Indian River, a ship model sewing contest and a battle between Vikings and Indians.

Officials will begin arriving Friday and registration is set for 9 a.m. Saturday. Holidays Inn Oceanside on Hutchinson Island.

The Sunday celebration program starts at noon with Bud Bjorgen as master of ceremonies and a highlight of the afternoon of fun will be Norwegian music and dancing and a Burnad Parade.

But before the Sunday afternoon celebration begins, booths will be constructed on the causeway and the parade, which is always enjoyed by thousands of area residents, will be rehearsed.

Booths will include Scandia [illegible] Norwegian records, Fort Myers, T-shirts and super hero sandwiches, Gulfstream, lutefisk and Norwegian pastries and drinks.

Port Orange, handmade Norwegian and Burmese[illegible] costumed dolls and handcrafts of Norway, Orlando, jewelry of Norway, Ft. Lauderdale, barbecue chicken dinners, Tampa, Norwegian handcrafts.

State Rep. Chuck Shepard will welcome the people to the celebration Sunday, along with Martin County Commissioner Fred Frank Marsha.

The boat races will be between ledges [illegible] Fort Pierce, Jensen Beach, Orlando and Ft. Lauderdale.

George Lewis is president of the Hutchinson Lodge.

Miss Florida will attend Chase Federal opening

ART—Nancy Stafford, Miss Florida of 1976, will be one of Chase [illegible] gracious hostesses at the Jensen Beach Causeway Sunday, Oct. 3 when the office will be giving refreshments, helium balloons, instead of souvenir items all day. Participants are seeing approximately [illegible] people coming in during the "Grand Opening Day," Holmes said. [illegible] will come to sign up for the big drawing for a European Holiday and [illegible] for the free items. But we [illegible] plenty will drop by for the hostess [illegible] Miss Florida."

Miss Stafford is much more than just a beauty, he continues. She [illegible] is the top five percent of her class at the University of Florida where she majored in public relations. In addition, she consistently made the Dean's List, was tapped into numerous honor societies, and is an accomplished pianist. Her hobbies [illegible] modeling (she was a finalist in the Model of the Year pageant in 1975), gourmet cooking, needlepoint and antique collecting.

Miss Stafford, a native of Buffalo, New York, has been with Chase Federal for a year and will be responsible for over all supervision of the new, three-person office.

Chase Federal is the sixth largest savings and loan in Florida with $750 million in total assets. The 42 year-old association currently services the savings and loan needs of Dade, Broward and Martin County residents. Next year, Chase Federal will open an office in West Palm Beach.

The Chase Federal staff includes Donna Payne, Barbara Spades and Judy Martiniuk.

Environmental show to go on the road

JENSEN BEACH—Staff members at the Environmental Studies Center in Jensen Beach will be on the road selling their programs to other school systems.

Frank Pittman and Dennis Clark will hit the road first, going to Key West next week to help Monroe County school officials set up their programs.

"We have had other schools set up programs similar to ours," center director Jay Jarrett said, "but this is the first county-wide program to be started."

Jarrett then started listing other counties that staff members would be going to to tell of Martin County's program.

"We are getting invitations from all over the state to come and present our program," Jarrett said.

The county gets the benefit of us telling the environmental program to other schools in the state, Jarrett said.

A federal Title IV-C fund of $76,379 pays the salaries of the three men and a secretary.

The fund also pays for their travel expenses, office supplies, telephones and the literature of the programs.

Swine flu shots are scheduled

JENSEN BEACH—The swine flu immunization program is scheduled to begin the second week in October, according to the Martin County Health Department.

Health department officials said there will be several locations where the vaccine will be administered but the locations will not be announced until next week.

Persons 25 to 64 years of age will receive the monovalent vaccine and senior citizens a bivalent form which immunizes against two flu strains.

The Health Department is not recommending that infants and children up to age three receive the vaccine.

It is expected to take about a month or more to immunize all those residents who wish to take advantage of the free program.

VICKIE AND FRIENDS—Vickie Stephenson, public relations official for the Martin County Animal Rescue League, is shown with two residents at the shelter who are pregnant and need to be adopted. "Belinda" is a year-old shepherd, and "Bitsy" is a four year old dachshund.

"I work with the new folks in town for the same reasons you should save with them."

"Listen

I've lived in Stuart for 25 years. I've gone to school here. I work here. I like it here.

And since we've been friends and neighbors for a long time, I think I know what you look for in a financial institution.

Reliability. Dependability. Security. And Friendliness.

That's why I decided to work with Chase Federal Savings and Loan, the new folks in town.

They're 42-years-old. One of the five largest S & L's in the state. And one of the fifty largest in the entire country.

Backed by more than $750 million in total assets.

And yet, they're as friendly and neighborly as they come.

All good reasons to work here. And better reasons to save here."

"They may be new--but they sure are nice."

derly process was not followed, izen complains in PSL charter

Editor

...ulations on your excellent and ...nsive review of the charter ...ues facing the voters of Port St ... the next election. It is ...ear that they have no displayed ...ter interest in the issues as ...ed by the fact that the two ...s held to date were attended by ...ss than one hundredth of the potential 2000 voters. ...ers are not there to listen but to act ...ir own section for the Charter ...

...ticisms and personality ...ould have been avoided if the ...committee had been properly ...ed in advance of its deliberations of ...ope of its responsibility and the ...e processes of government. ... As the elected representatives ...ity the Council could not delegate ...ponsibility to a committee of ...ers. The committee, as an ...ory body, should have accom...anied all of the proposed charter ...ges with a statement of reasons supporting ...ch recommendations. Where ...ative provisions were considered ...ed, it should have detailed the ...ons for rejecting the alternatives ...ed. The vote in any section was not ...ed by a minority report should ...e provided.

...ceipt of such a meaningful ...rt the City Council should have ...ed public hearings. Upon the ...e committee's report the ...ld at public hearings and after ...ration the Council could have ...ejected or modified the ...harter, placed the charter ...ion its deliberations on the ...ot giving the voters an ...ity to adopt it or reject it. ...unately orderly procedure was ...owed. The Charter Committee ...ed its draft without any ...g accompanying report. The Council, in effect, was told that it would be a breach of faith to make any changes and that it must present the charter to the electorate in its totality as drafted: on a take it or leave it basis. The Council yielded to pressure and agreed to do so, but the majority also decided to place on the ballot an alternate charter differing in the respects stated in your article from that of the committee.

Private citizens desiring to place a proposed new charter, or an amendment to an existing charter, on the ballot may only do so by obtaining the necessary number of signatures to a petition for a referendum.

However we now will have two charters on the ballot by vote of the City Council. The resulting confusion has diverted attention away from fundamental questions regarding the structure of the city's government and caused the electorate to take sides based upon personal loyalties and friendships which should play no part in the exercise of their sound judgment.

Your perceptive article refers to one of the important substantive issues. Both charters provide for dividing the city into four districts and require that each of the four councilmen be residents of a different district. However the committee's proposal is to limit voting for a council candidate to the residents of the district which he represents whereas the City Council's majority proposal is that they be elected by the voters at large. Based upon the vote in the last election, there would be approximately 600 votes cast in each district so that 100 families could control the election of each councilman. This is far too small a constituency to whom each councilman would be responsible encouraging ward politics at its worst and depriving the citizens at large of the opportunity to vote on the membership of the majority of the City Council.

To my mind an issue of even greater importance is not discussed in your article since both proposed charters provide for a City Manager. Such a drastic change in the organizational structure of the city government is neither desirable nor warranted at this time. The City of Port St. Lucie has but 32 full time employees. It has no police, fire, sanitation, highway, parks and recreation, education, public works, health, social services, personnel or other departments common to municipalities employing City Managers. There is nothing for a City Manager to manage. Assuming the city was willing to indulge in the luxury of hiring a qualified, professional public administrator the position would not offer sufficient challenge to attract a person with the necessary background of education and experience.

At the first hearing Mr. Reeb stated that a City Manager could be hired at an annual salary of from $11,000 to $14,000. The Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council just hired an Executive Director aged 31 at a salary of $25,000 plus moving and travel expenses and a staff of three, previous employment director of planning not City Manager of the City of Sanibel at a salary of $17,500. Sanibel is hardly a large metropolis.

Residing in Port St. Lucie is a vast reservoir of talent, people who have had outstandingly successful careers in industry, commerce, finance, the professions, the military and government. Many are public spirited enough to volunteer their services for the benefit of the community such as serving on the Charter Committee. At this stage of its development the city could best be served by having as its chief executive and administrative officer a mature individual with an established record of integrity, executive ability, leadership and interest in the welfare of the community which is his or her home. Given appropriate authority under an amended charter providing for a strong Mayor having the support of the majority of the voters and sharing the aspirations of his neighbors for the future of the city, such a person could give this city an efficient government with a direction and purpose which could not be provided by a stranger who was a relative neophyte in the art of government. Without any increase in the budget the Mayor could be relieved of many routine functions by providing him with an administrative assistant or if preferred a City Administrator.

The only reasons advanced at the hearings by either Mayor Sharpe or Mr. Reeb for a City Manager is that it seemed to be the preference of the majority of people with whom they spoke. In fact Mr. Reeb stated that originally the Charter Committee was opposed to both the provision for a City Manager and that for district voting. Both the Committee and the majority of the City Council should provide responsible leadership and not yield to the results of a sample popularity poll unless that result can be supported by valid reasons.

Sincerely,
S. ALBERT E. WEIDMAN

D&M Park

BY MILDRED TICE STINNETT

So many of our residents are returning. Yvonne and Neil O'Connor, Hazel and Gerald Proctor, who entertained up near Erie, Pa., and Alice and Chris Willoughby, who flew down from their home north of Toronto, Canada, and who were met at West Palm Beach by Jane and Marvin Winninger. Alice told me that temperatures of 32 degrees in the morning induced them to come to Florida earlier than usual.

Celia Barr reversed matters by leaving for a trip to Chicago, Ill. to see her family and friends in the Windy City.

Jane had a call from her sister-in-law, Jean Winninger, with the good news that Jean had passed her examinations for a cosmetology license in Florida, which she took recently with Jane as her model.

We have added the name of Adrian Snyder to our list of exceptionally good cooks in the park, as a result of having been given a bowl of excellent clam chowder he cooked up last week - really delicious.

Ruth Tisen and her daughty Patty, of Naples, came to spend a weekend with Addy and Buddy Thomas. Ruth's parents and Patty's grandparents. Ruth had been in West Palm Beach to attend Patty's graduation from a floral design school, so they celebrated with a luncheon party at the Outrigger. Ruth and Patty are now on a two week tour of the Shenandoah Valley, then will go to Vermont for a look at Autumn in New England, leaving their tot, Schnauser Sir, with the Thomases.

I'm tempted to get in touch with Ripley's "Believe It or Not" or the Guiness Book of Records concerning my bingo success week before last. I won the first four games, skipped the fifth, and won the sixth and seventh. Isn't that a record? Some of the folks assisted me to count all the bingo cards but I resisted the temptation.

I proud great grandparents in our park, Mr. Arthur Snyder. He showed me pictures of Brian, two and a half and Ethan, fourteen months old, sons of his grandson, Jack Barber and his wife Judy, who live in Watervliet, New York.

Spring Kreitzer is back at the bingo at the Tuesday night and we were all happy to see her. Pam Mohl says she is recovering from surgery.

North Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee and Florida and that [illegible] most [illegible] enjoyed.

Lisbe and Artie Smith really do things big After cleaning up the shrubs in their yard, while awaiting the delivery of their new trailer, they moved their used trailer to lot 98 and are having their screen room erected They came here in a new motor home, planning on a western tour in the near future. Both trailers are very nice. There will be some house warming when the gang gets back!

A letter from Edie Pointon says their return will be somewhat delayed as she fell on some wet grass and broke her ankle on Sept. 15. It had to be set with a pin. But she is still coming down which will make her many friends happy.

Nancy and Ted Lontz have returned from their vacation, ready for the new season. Nancy will be busy, as she is assistant recreation director and will be getting things organized for the first three months alone since Peg Nelson won't be here until the end of December.

Dot Blair wrote that she and Bill returned home to Selbyville, Delaware, after a fine, long trip on which they saw ten thousand mountains, a million cows and a zillion trees - all turning color. They visited the Baseball Hall of Fame, Fort Ticonderoga, Lake George, Lake Champlain, Stowe, Vermont, the Trappe Family Lodge, which is a bit of Austrian Tyrol, and had a thrilling ride up to and over Smuggler's Notch. She says, "It was great."

When they arrived home, there was an unexpected and unwelcome guest waiting on their front porch. How he ever got in a securely locked area, they'll never know, but there he was - a big King fisher!

They escorted him out and then surveyed the damage he caused in his efforts to escape. He had pecked holes in almost every section of the screening and it will all have to be replaced. They are lucky at that, that it was not a squirrel.

Dee Brink wrote the Blairs that they had an accident on their way back from a trip which demolished their Airstream and damaged their new car so badly that it has to be replaced. Although she and Morris were badly shaken, they escaped with only minor bruises and are now shopping for a new trailer and car for the return trip to Holiday Out.

Irene and Harman Fawcett say their late summer trip to the mountain areas of northwestern Georgia was most enjoyable. They stayed in a campground near Black Rock Mountain, went to Cloudland Canyon, and visited the delightful restored village of Helen, where all the shops and houses are built with an Alpine motif.

They stayed in state parks as well as private campgrounds, all of which were well maintained and attractive, and met many congenial couples from Florida with whom to share the pleasures of exploring.

Cecelia and Frank Crespel are back in H.O., too, after a seven week vacation trip to visit relatives and friends in Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. They say they enjoyed their trip, but also said the congestion around the large cities of the midwest is getting "hard to buck" - they are not in a rush to undertake it again soon. Well, next year, maybe.

Anniversary congratulations are extended this week to Harold and Edna Merritt, September 29; Fred and Eleanor Greenough, September 30; Mac and Betty O'Donnell, October 5.

Happy birthday wishes go to Catherine May and Irene Fawcett, September 30; Lorene Stanton, October 1; Lee Terry, October 3; Kay Johnson, October 4; and John Smaniotto, October 5.

ART- If success is determined by number of persons attending an event there can be little doubt the Ocean East Mall Arts and Crafts Festival held this past weekend was a shopping success.

Artists from all areas of South Florida displayed their handiwork during the two-day showing. The festival was sponsored by the Mall Merchants Association and organized by TOR Enterprises of Lake Worth.

All works displayed were originals and covered a wide range of categories. Included in the display were works of oil, acrylic, watercolor graphics, drawings, sculpture photography, wood carving, unusual pottery, jewelry, macrame, wax and leather.

Many of the artists worked at their crafts while on location and all articles were for sale.

SHELL ARTS. Bob and Connie Kinnes brought a fine collection of shell crafted objects to display at the Ocean East Mall this past weekend. The Kinnes are from Rockledge.

PLANT ARRANGEMENT. Don Patrick of Orlando was one of the many exhibitors at the two day Art Festival held at Ocean East Mall Sept. 24 and 25. Patrick had numerous plants on display, most in cypress planters, which he cuts from the swamps.

Compromise in process

Voters face one charter

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE–After several weeks of haggling back and forth, it appeared Tuesday a compromise would be reached and that only one charter will be placed before the voters come the November 2 election.

A six point compromise seemed inevitable Tuesday as representatives from the Council and the Charter Revision Committee met with City Attorney Spencer Gilbert to iron out the legal terminology for effecting the changes in one of the two charters.

While the items of compromise were relatively clear, it was not known at press time which of the two documents was to be altered.

However, the newest version of the charter will be known as "The City Charter" and will incorporate the six points of compromise.

In effecting the latest charter revision, both groups agreed to the following settlements.

Terms of elected officials: the mayor and the council will be elected for two year terms with the elections staggered every other year. It is felt this plan would make the mayor and council more responsive to the voters. It would provide the means to effect a complete change in the council in two years if the voters desired the removal of elected officials.

The second point of compromise was in district voting. Although councilpersons will reside in specific districts, they will be voted on city-wide as will the mayor. All registered voters will be able to vote on all four council seats and the mayor.

Under the Planning and Zoning portion of the "City Charter" a four-fifths vote of Council will be required for re-zoning issues only. All other matters will carry by a majority vote of the Council.

It was also agreed the new charter should spell out the qualifications for the city manager. The city manager will have the responsibility of hiring the city clerk, subject of course, to Council approval.

The final point of compromise dealt with emergency legislation. It was agreed the City of Port St. Lucie would follow the same rules as the State of Florida, which requires three council members be present to conduct emergency legislation.

The revised charter will be subject to Council approval, which is expected during the regular Council session to be conducted September 29 at City Hall. Meeting time is 7 p.m.

The two men responsible for effecting the long awaited compromise were Mayor Schuyler Sharpe and Mike Reeb, member of the Charter Revision Committee.

"I have never been so happy about anything in my entire life than I am over this compromise," said Sharpe in an interview late Tuesday afternoon.

"I honestly feel we have come up with a document which will please the people of this city and I anticipate strong support will be forthcoming from our voters on November 2," Sharpe added.

Mike Reeb, who was equally as well satisfied with the end product, told the Mirror he had contacted all members of the now defunct Charter Revision Committee to acquire their views on the proposed compromise Monday. In addition, Reeb also contacted the presidents of the two Homeowner Associations in the city, as well as the board members of the Civic League, before meeting with the Mayor and the City Attorney Tuesday.

"I am indeed grateful to all those persons who offered their support in this important matter," Reeb said, adding that such a compromise would not have been possible without their help and support.

"I feel that Mayor Sharpe was both generous and cooperative, and I think he acted in the best interest of the people to bring unity to our city," Reeb said.

The new City Charter will be published as soon as possible and at least one public hearing will be scheduled.

Meanwhile the voters will face only on charter on the November ballot. The final decision of whether or not the city adopts the new charter rests in the hands of the registered voters in November.

We urge all citizens to become acquainted with the new charter at the public hearing so they can vote intelligently.

City police force is pushed by P&Z

PORT ST. LUCIE–The results of a three month study into the feasibility of this south county municipality establishing its own police force was submitted to the City Council last week by the chairman of the City's Planning and Zoning Board, H.B. Neighbours.

The nine page report was compiled by [illegible] John Hunchurek and Dr. A.J. Jatkiewicz.

While four courses of action were acceptable, studied by the two-man committee, a recommendation was made to establish an independent police department under the direct control of mayor of Port St. Lucie. The initial cost has been estimated by the committee to be $265,000.

It was the opinion of the committee that a city operated and controlled police force is entirely feasible at this time.

Also included in their findings and recommendations were the following:

1. That the City of Port St. Lucie adopt Course of Action 1 and take the necessary action to establish a city operated and controlled police force.

2. That the City take the necessary action to establish a women's auxiliary force to augment the city police force and compliment the auxiliary deputy workers.

3. That the city take action to establish a system for the expansion of the police force with thoughts toward a building block system based on numerical state and federal funds available for cities for a systematized expansion system. Grants and matching funds are available and should be sought.

4. That the City expand its 911 coverage to include the police system to preclude the establishment of a costly central dispatch, equipment and personnel.

Upon the ... of the committee's report, the ... at public hearings and after ...beration the Council could have ... rejected or modified the ... charter placed the charter ... from its deliberations on the ... thus giving the voters an ... to adopt it or reject it ... orderly procedure was ... followed. The Charter Committee ...ited its draft without an ...anying report. The Council, in effect, was told that it would be a breach of faith to make any changes and that it must present the charter to the electorate in its totality as drafted, on a take it or leave it basis. The Council yielded to pressure and agreed to do so, but the majority also decided to place on the ballot an alternate charter differing in the respects stated in your article from that of the committee.

Private citizens desiring to place a proposed new charter or an amendment to an existing charter on the ballot may only do so by obtaining the necessary number of signatures to a petition for a referendum.

However we now will have two charters on the ballot by vote of the City Council. The resulting confusion has diverted attention away from fundamental questions regarding the structure of the city's government and caused the electorate to take sides based upon personal loyalties and friendships which should play no part in the exercise of their sound judgment.

Your perceptive article refers to one of the important substantive issues. Both charters provide for dividing the city into four districts and require that each of the four councilmen be residents of a different district. However the committee's proposal is to limit voting for a council candidate to the residents of the district which he represents whereas the City Council's majority proposal is that they be elected by the voters at large. Based upon the vote in the last election there would be approximately 800 votes cast in each district so that 100 families could control the election of each councilman. This is far too small a constituency to whom each councilman would be responsible encouraging ward politics at its worst and depriving the citizens at large of the opportunity to vote on the membership of the majority of the City Council.

To my mind an issue of even greater importance is not discussed in your article since both proposed charters provide for a City Manager. Such a drastic change in the organizational structure of the city government is never warranted at this time. The City of Port St. Lucie has but 12 full time employees. It has no police, fire, sanitation, highway, parks and recreation, education, public works, health, social services, personnel or other departments common to municipalities employing City Managers. There is nothing for a City Manager to manage. Assuming the city was willing to indulge in the luxury of hiring a qualified professional public administrator, the position would not offer sufficient challenge to attract a person with the necessary background of education and experience.

At the first hearing Mr. Reeb stated that a City Manager could be hired at an annual salary of from $11,000 to $14,000. The Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council just hired an Executive Director aged 31 at a salary of $25,000 plus moving and travel expenses and a staff of three previous employments director of planning and City Manager of the City of Sanibel at a salary of $17,500. Sanibel is hardly a large metropolis.

Residing in Port St. Lucie is a vast reservoir of talent, people who have had outstandingly successful careers in industry, commerce, finance, the professions, the military and government. Many are public spirited enough to volunteer their services for the benefit of the community such as serving on the Charter Committee. At this stage of its development the city could best be served by having as its chief executive and administrative officer a mature individual with an established record of integrity, executive ability, leadership and interest in the welfare of the community which is his or her home. Given appropriate authority under an amended charter providing for a strong Mayor, having the support of the majority of the voters and sharing the aspirations of his neighbors for the future of the city, such a person could give this city an efficient government with a direction and purpose which could not be provided by a stranger who was a relative neophyte in the art of government. Without any increase in the budget, the Mayor could be relieved of many routine functions by providing him with an administrative assistant or, if preferred, a City Administrator.

The only reasons advanced at the hearings by either Mayor Sharpe or Mr. Reeb for a City Manager is that it seemed to be the preference of the majority of people with whom they spoke. In fact Mr. Reeb stated that originally the Charter Committee was opposed to both the provision for a City Manager and that for district voting. Both the Committee and the majority of the City Council should provide responsible leadership and not yield to the results of a sample popularity poll unless that result can be supported by valid reasons.

Sincerely,
ALBERT C. WEIDMAN

Holiday Outlines

BY RUTH BOWES 334-4946

Assisted by Elizabeth O'Donnell

We wish him well and continued improvement.

Helen Allison has been busy, having a new tile floor installed in her trailer and purchasing a storage box for her patio.

Bob and Gert Long are vacationing in the park for a week. He says it is good to rest...no phones or hullabaloo to disturb him.

Lisbe and Artie Smith really do things big. After cleaning up the shrubs in their yard, while awaiting the delivery of their new trailer, they moved their used trailer to lot 98 and are having their screen room erected. They came here in a new motor home, planning on a western tour in the near future. Both trailers are very nice. There will be some house warming when the gang gets back!

A letter from Edie Pointon says their return will be somewhat delayed as she fell on some wet grass and broke her ankle on Sept. 15. It had to be set with a pin. But she is still coming down, which will make her many friends happy.

Nancy and Ted Lontz have returned from their vacation, ready for the new season. Nancy will be busy, as she is assistant recreation director and will be getting things organized for the first three months alone since Peg Nelson won't be here until the end of December.

Dot Blair wrote that she and Bill returned home to Selbyville, Delaware, after a fine, long trip on which they saw ten thousand mountains, a million cows and a zillion trees - all turning color. They visited the Baseball Hall of Fame, Fort Ticonderoga, Lake George, Lake Champlain, Stowe, Vermont, the Trappe Family Lodge, which is a bit of Austrian Tyrol, and had a thrilling ride up to and over Smuggler's Notch. She says, "It was great."

When they arrived home, there was an unexpected and unwelcome guest waiting on their front porch. How he ever got in a securely locked area, they'll never know, but there he was - a big King-fisher!

They escorted him out and then surveyed the damage he caused in his efforts to escape. He had pecked holes in almost every section of the screening and it will all have to be replaced. They are lucky at that, that it was not a squirrel.

Dee Brink wrote the Blairs that they had an accident on their way back from a trip which demolished their Airstream and damaged their new car so badly that it has to be replaced. Although she and Morris were badly shaken, they escaped with only minor bruises and are now shopping for a new trailer and car for the return trip to Holiday Out.

Irene and Harman Fawcett say their late summer trip to the mountain areas of northwestern Georgia was most enjoyable. They stayed in a campground near Black Rock Mountain, went to Cloudland Canyon, and visited the delightful restored village of Helen, where all the shops and houses are built with an Alpine motif.

They stayed in state parks as well as private campgrounds, all of which were well maintained and attractive, and met many congenial couples from Florida with whom to share the pleasures of exploring.

Cecelia and Frank Czepiel are back in H.O., too, after a seven week vacation trip to visit relatives and friends in Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. They say they enjoyed their trip, but also said the congestion around the large cities of the midwest is getting "hard to buck" -- they are not in a rush to undertake it again soon. Well...next year, maybe.

Anniversary congratulations are extended this week to Harold and Edna Merritt, September 29; Fred and Eleanor Greenough, September 30; Mac and Betty O'Donnell, October 5.

Happy birthday wishes go to Catherine May and Irene Fawcett, September 30; Lorene Stanikes, October 1; Lee Terry, October 3; Kay Johnson, October 4, and John Smaniotto, October 5.

Large crowd attends Mall arts and crafts showing

...ORT—If success is determined by ...number of persons attending an ...d, then there can be little doubt the ...e East Mall Arts and Crafts Festival held this past weekend was a shopping success.

Artists from all areas of South Florida displayed their handiwork during the two-day showing. The festival was sponsored by the Mall Merchants Association and organized by TOR Enterprises of Lake Worth.

The show was the fifth semi-annual event of its kind to be held at the local shopping center.

All works displayed were originals and covered a wide range of categories. Included in the display were works of oil, acrylic, watercolor graphics, drawings, sculpture, photography, wood carving, unusual pottery, jewelry, macrame, wax and leather.

Many of the artists worked at their crafts while on location and all articles were for sale.

SHELL ARTS—Bob and Connie Kinney brought a fine collection of shell crafted objects to display at the Ocean East Mall this past weekend. The Kinneys are from Rockledge.

PLANT ARRANGEMENT—Doe Patrick of Orlando was one of the many exhibitors at the two-day Art Festival held at Ocean East Mall Sept. 24 and 25. Patrick had numerous plants on display, most in cypress planters which he cuts from the swamps.

STAINED GLASS ART—Roger Wetzel not only enjoys making beaded stained glass ...ed shows as a passing hobby, but he also teaches in the Dade County Community ...School. Wetzel is one of those displaying his handicraft at the Ocean East Mall Art ...Festival Friday and Saturday.

RUSTIC REDWOOD SIGNS—While some exhibitors have plenty of time on their hands between art festivals, Bullard Dickerson of Miami has very little time to spare. Dickerson, who has started a hobby into an income, shows ... one of the rustic redwood signs he ... at the two-day Ocean East Mall Art Festival.

Leif Erikson Day is Sunday

JENSEN BEACH–A day of Norwegian festivities will begin at noon on the Jensen Beach Causeway Sunday as the seventh annual Leif Erikson Day celebration gets under way.

Over 500 members of the ten lodges of the Sons of Norway are expected to be on hand to celebrate the national holiday commemorating the discovery of America by Leif Erikson in 1002 A.D.

A barbeque dinner will be served throughout the afternoon to some of the expected 5,000 persons who will attend the pageant.

At 1 p.m., the Martin County High School Band will play a concert and at 2 p.m. the program will start with introduction of dignitaries, expected to include local officials and national officers of the Sons of Norway.

George Lewis, chairman of the Leif Erikson Day Committee, and president of the Gulfstream (Fort Pierce-Jensen Beach) Lodge of the Sons of Norway, said that the pageant, recreating the landing of Leif Erikson in America, will feature more humor this year along with the battle between the Vikings and Indians.

The pageant begins at 2:30 p.m.

It will be followed by the annual boat races between the young Vikings of Ft. Lauderdale, Orlando and Gulfstream Lodges. The races feature three one hundred year old boats brought to Florida from Norway. Each is sailed with the colorful square sail and rowed by six men. They are called "seaerings" in Norway.

The trophy presented to the winning crew will end the races and Andre Bakke, a well known Norwegian accordionist, will play Scandinavian music for dancing.

The men and women of the Sons of Norway will be wearing the colorful "Bunad," a costume of the region from which they or their families come in Norway. The dancing will continue until 6 p.m. according to Lewis.

Throughout the afternoon there will be booths of Norwegian phonograph records, trinkets, handicrafts, open face sandwiches, pastries, dolls and helmets as trophies.

Little asks vote recount

JENSEN BEACH–A recount of votes in the State House of Representatives District 77, race has been requested by losing candidate Tom Little because of a voting machine problem in Okeechobee County.

Martin County Supervisor of Elections Sandra Randolph said Tuesday that Little had also made a recount request in Martin County.

The canvassing board may meet this afternoon, Tuesday, but it won't change anything, Mrs. Randolph said. "It will only be a routine check."

Martin County Commission met briefly Tuesday morning and designated any commissioner available for the meeting to be a member of the canvassing board. County Judge David Harper also is a member of the board.

Little who lost to Bill Taylor by more than 300 votes, requested the recount after he learned that in Okeechobee precincts in the 77th district used a machine on which the legislative race had been omitted.

There wasn't any problem with the vote tally in Martin or Palm Beach Counties.

Mrs. Randolph said that Little just "wanted to cover his bases" in asking for the recount in Martin and Palm Beach County precincts.

District 77 covers a major part of Martin County, but District 76 covers part of the northern section, including the Jensen Beach area.

Fire prevention tips

JENSEN BEACH–Some fire prevention tips were offered by Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department officials this week, fire prevention week, Oct. 10.

Department officials emphasized residential fire prevention.

Don't overload an extention cord, warned Chief Randolph Spinney and Assistant Chief Joe Luciano.

And don't put too many plugs in one outlet and don't put anything electric that draws a lot of juice.

They said people need to be more aware of the materials that are found in their homes. Modern synthetic materials are more hazardous than natural fibers and substances that were more common in past years.

And they pointed out that one of the biggest hazards in homes today is the amount of plastics that have been introduced into homes.

Plastic items are subject to burn easily, rapidly with heavy, dense smoke, and they decompose very easily, they observed.

Martin Memorial Hospital is holding a fire fighting demonstration today (Wednesday, Oct. 6) at 2:30 and 11 a.m. and Thursday at 2:30 p.m.

The demonstration is for the benefit of all hospital personnel, and the fire fighting tactics will be demonstrated utilizing the various extinguishers and fire hoses with which the hospital is equipped.

Luciano said that the last fire reported to the department was on Aug. 8.

Fire prevention week is held each year during the week of the Chicago fire ...

Bill Shawfield heads boat show plan

STUART–Bill Shawfield has been named chairman of the 1976 Marine Industries boat show on the Jensen Beach Causeway. The appointment was announced by Herman Reitz, president of the Martin County group.

The boat show will be held on December 3 through December 5.

Reitz said that the show is hoping to gett 100 exhibitors to participate, and credited the 15,000 persons who attended last year with making the show "the best show north of Ft. Lauderdale."

The marine association represents over 50 boating dealers, builders and associated businesses in Martin County with an annual payroll exceeding $3 million.

This year's show will attract exhibitors from as far north as Titusville. The show will feature boat show queens, the boat featured in Burt Reynolds' film "Gator", a 32 foot ocean racer and three local inboard racing boats, sanctioned by the American Power Boat Association.

The boat show's popularity reflects the lively interest in boating in the abundant waters of Martin County. Recent figures indicate that there is one boat to each four households, exceeding the ratios given for Dade and Broward Counties.

"We're going to have a great show" says Shawfield, whose trademark "Mr. Wonderful" is well known amongst county boating enthusiasts.

"It's free, with free bumper stickers, free safety inspections by the Coast Guard Auxiliary. There's going to be a lot of fun for everyone. We'll have a lot of boats to look at, and want everyone to have a good time and maybe buy some boats, too!"

Squadron Aides set sale

JENSEN BEACH+ +The Aides, the St. Lucie River Power Squadron Auxiliary, will hold a rummage sale at the Palm City Recreation Center Saturday, October 9, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., with Virginia Ellsworth and Marge McChesney in charge.

Among items offered will be a plant table, jewelry rable, better goods display, as well as other goodies found at rummage sales.

Members are asked to bring their sale items to the center on Friday before noon, at which time volunteers will receive, sort and price them.

The purpose of the Aides is to cooperate with the Squadron in the development of skill and safety in recreational boating. The fund raising projects of the Auxiliary benefit the education programs of the Squadron.

Officers for the current year are Vi Gongaware, president; Ruth Boardman, first vice president; Kay Powell, second vice president; Sally Putchat, secretary; Edna MacIntosh, corresponding Secretary, Elizabeth Grant, treasurer; Jane MacCallum, publicity chairman.

(2) A list of all capital improvements which are proposed to be undertaken during the five (5) fiscal years next ensuing, with appropriate supporting information as to the necessity for such improvements;

(3) Cost estimates, methods of financing and recommend time schedules for such improvements, and

(4) The estimated annual cost of operating and maintaining the facilities to be constructed and acquired.

(1) The times and places where copies of the message and budget are available for inspection by the public, and

(2) The time and place, not less than two weeks after such publication, for a public hearing on the budget.

(b) Amendment Before Adoption. After the public hearing, the Council may adopt the budget with or without amendment. In amending the budget, it may add or increase programs or amounts and may delete or decrease any programs or amounts, except expenditures required by law or for debt service or for estimated cash deficit, provided no amendment to the budget shall increase the authorized expenditures to an amount greater than the total of estimated income.

(c) Adoption. The council shall adopt the budget on or before the fifteenth (15th) day of September of the fiscal year currently ending. If it fails to adopt the budget by this date, the amount appropriated for current operation for the current fiscal year shall be deemed adopted for the ensuing fiscal year on a month to month basis, with all items in it prorated accordingly, until such time as the council adopts a budget for the ensuing fiscal year. Adoption of the budget shall constitute appropriations from the funds indicated and shall constitute a levy of the property tax therein proposed.

(d) Certification of Taxing Authority. From the effective date of the budget, the amount stated therein as the amount to be raised by property tax shall constitute a determination of the amount of the levy for the purposes of the city in the corresponding tax year. A copy of the budget as finally adopted shall be certified by the city manager and filed by him with the city council, whose duty it shall be to determine the millage for the corresponding tax year.

11.07 Council Action on Capital Program

(a) Notice and Hearing. The council shall publish in one or more newspapers of general circulation in the city a notice stating that

(1) The times and places where copies of the capital program are available for inspection by the public, and

(2) The time and place, not less than two weeks after such publication, for public hearing on the capital program.

(b) Adoption. The council by resolution shall adopt the capital program with or without amendment after the public hearing and on or before September 30.

11.08 Public Records

Copies of the budget and the capital program as adopted shall be public records and shall be made available to the public at suitable places in the city.

11.09 Amendments After Adoption

(a) Supplemental Appropriations. If during the fiscal year the manager certifies that there are available for appropriation revenues in excess of those estimated in the budget, the council by ordinance may make supplemental appropriations for the year up to the amount of such excess.

(b) Emergency Appropriations. To meet a public emergency affecting life, health, property or the public peace, the council may make emergency appropriations. To the extent that there are no available unappropriated revenues to meet such appropriations, the council may by such emergency ordinance authorize the issuance of emergency notes, which may be renewed from time to time, but the emergency notes and renewals of any fiscal year shall be paid not later than the last day of the fiscal year next succeeding that in which the emergency appropriation was made.

(c) Reduction of Appropriations. If at any time during the fiscal year it appears probable to the manager that the revenues available will not be sufficient to meet the amount appropriated, he shall report to the council without delay, indicating the estimated amount of the deficit, any remedial action taken by him and his recommendations as to any other steps to be taken. The council shall then take further action as it deems necessary to prevent or minimize any deficit and for that purpose it may reduce one or more appropriations.

(d) Transfer of Appropriations. At any time during the fiscal year the manager may transfer part or all of the unencumbered appropriation balance among programs within a department, office or agency and, upon written request by the manager, the council may by ordinance transfer part or all of any unencumbered appropriation balance from one department, office or agency to another. No transfer shall be made of appropriations made by law for capital projects.

(e) Limitations; Effective Date. No appropriation for debt service may be reduced or transferred, and no appropriation may be reduced below any amount required by law to be appropriated or by more than the amount of the unencumbered balance thereof. The supplemental and emergency appropriations and reduction or transfer of appropriations authorized by this section may be made effective immediately upon adoption.

11.10 Lapse of Appropriations

Every appropriation shall lapse at the close of the fiscal year to the extent that it has not been expended or encumbered.

11.11 Administration of Budget

He may revise such allotments during the year if he deems it desirable and shall revise them on receipt of supplemental emergency, reduced or transferred appropriations pursuant to Section 11.04

(b) Contracts and Obligations Prohibited. No payment shall be made or obligation incurred against any allotment or appropriation except in accordance with appropriations duly made and unless the manager or his designee first certifies that there is a sufficient unencumbered balance in such allotment or appropriation and that sufficient funds therein are available to cover the claim or meet the obligation when it becomes due and payable. Any authorization of payment or incurring of obligation in violation of the provisions of this charter shall be void and any payment so authorized shall be illegal. Any such authorization shall be grounds for removal of any officer who knowingly authorized or made such payment or incurred such obligation, and he shall also be liable to the city for any amount so paid. However, except where prohibited by law, nothing in this charter shall be construed to prevent the making or authorizing of payments or making of contracts for capital improvements to be financed wholly or partly by the issuance of bonds or to prevent the making of any contract or lease providing for payments beyond the end of the fiscal year, provided that no such contract or lease shall be valid unless approved by ordinance.

We have a new resident in the remodeled apartment behind the office. Mrs. Mary Merry of Sommerville, N.J. Her daughter Doris Sammis of Skyline Drive, told her OBP was the place for her. Mary has some beautiful Arts and Crafts work in her home that no doubt she'll be glad to tell others how to do at classes this winter.

Elston and Doris Lehening, 1 Key Lime Drive, returned this week after a few weeks in Tennessee while they sold their northern home to their church for a factory. Now, when summer comes again, they can take off and travel about the country.

Clyde Redinger is justly proud of having his "Fishing Is Fun, But Not For Everybody" published in the July 31, 1976 issue of The National Observer, a Dow Jones Publication.

Stanley and Florence Hughson of Arborvitae were thrilled to see a picture in a Florida paper of a large peanut shaped cake that was presented to vice president nominee Walter Mondale as it took place in their home town, Flint, Michigan, and they were there.

The Nixons, as usual have heard from many folks telling when to expect them back here.

George and Ila May Nunn wrote from Missoula, Montana, on their back here after visiting relatives in Oregon and said "See you soon."

Dick and Julia Aumiller will get their Swine Flu shots October 6 and then start back to OBP October 12.

Frances Reese has been on a trip to St. Louis and square dancing with Mary Ann and Len Ballenger and with Joe and Alex Forenise, and won't be back here until last of November.

The Covells say the hail and almost snow have driven them south, to be here around October 5.

Art and Sue Bygd have their farming done, but Art has to get in some fishing and deer hunting before they come south, maybe not until December.

Rausy Matthews, from Kent City, Michigan, says the peaches are picked, apples next, but, as she has to have a fire all day, she's going to take the "big bird" around October 14.

Elmer and Dorothy Rains, Pisgah Iowa, are taking in the fairs and say all the crops look good, no frost yet, so it may be December before they head south.

Molly Butterfield had a smooth flight from Los Angeles to Boston to visit another son, no date set for her return to OBP.

What the class of '84 needs is a good energy mix.

In eight years these 14-year-old kids will be graduating from college. They'll be ready for their first big job. And some will even be ready for marriage.

To make sure we're ready when they're ready, we at FPL have to plan ahead. Eight or more years ahead. It takes that long to plan and build a major power plant for the electricity that's needed for the jobs and homes and facilities that you and your children will need.

But our planning today for tomorrow's electricity needs has to be flexible. We have to plan on the right energy mix.

Because of growing shortages we can no longer rely on one source of energy to produce an adequate supply of electricity. We're already short of gas, and getting short of oil. We have to think in terms of more nuclear energy.

That's what we're planning on today. But we're also planning beyond that. We're now in the process of exploring energy sources as diverse as solar energy, and energy from the ocean. For example, we're part of a nationwide enterprise which is working on ways to use oceanic energy sources to generate electricity at an affordable cost to the consumer.

Planning for your family's future, making substantial investments to build facilities and obtain the necessary fuel resources in the coming years, is a prime responsibility of FPL.

Because without the availability of electricity, to meet the future demands, there won't be new jobs. Or electricity for new homes. And perhaps, there won't even be a class of '85.

THE TOWN ON WHEELS

'The Lucky' in his discovery of America

Leif Eriksson was

More than a thousand years ago the Vikings sailed westward from their Norwegian fjord homes to explore foreign shores. From scattered raids their invasions developed into major expeditions. At times they went southward to France, even penetrating far into the Mediterranean Sea, but mainly their course carried them westward aboard their fast, graceful dragon headed ships. They settle the Faroe Island, then discovered Iceland about the middle of the ninth century, spearheading the way for immigrants from Norway.

From Iceland they moved to Greenland where a dominating figure soon emerged. He was Erik the Red who had left Norway in rather a hurry following some unexplained local killings. His son, Leif, later nicknamed "The Lucky," was destined to become even more famous.

Leif the Lucky was the discoverer of the mainland of North America in the year 1002. To the regions where he landed he gave such names as Helluland, or the land of stone slabs; Markland, or forest land; and Vinland. Originally, it was supposed the Vinland meant land of wine, but according to the more recent scholarly interpretations the word is rather the old Norse word for grassland. These early travels of the Vikings also led to the birth of the first white child in America, a boy called Snorri Thorfinnason, in the year 1010.

These discoveries around the year 1000 are today historically established facts. They are confirmed by the Norwegian explorer and scientist, Dr. Helge Ingstad, from the excavations at L'Anse aux Meadows, Newfoundland, and the recently discovered Vinland map at Yale University, drawn in 1440 and hailed by many scholars as "the most exciting cartographic discovery of the century."

Viking history

In the year 1880 at Gogstad, near Sandefjord at the entrance to the Fjord of Christiania, there was unearthed the finest specimen to date of a Viking ship. Unfortunately the literature of the north is very meager in reference to details and dimensions of vessels.

The size of a boat was usually expressed by the number of rowers benches, and was a simple method which gave the people of that time a very good idea of the size and dimensions of the boat without going into detailed measurements. This scarcity of dimensions has been a great drawback in determining the size and contruction of the Norse ships, and were it not for the beautiful customs of burying dead warriors in their vessels, there would be very little information regarding them.

There were two methods of burial: cremation and interment on land, putting the deceased aboard his boat with sail set, then applying the torch and burying the ship on the shore with the body in the vessel. It is this latter custom which has furnished knowledge of the actual construction of the boats. Owing to the fact that the vessel was buried in "blue clay," the hull is in a remarkable state of preservation.

The dragon heads placed high at the front of the boats were usually of beaten gold. It was forbidden by law for these dragon heads to be mounted on their ships when they came in to home port. So, they were made detachable. The shields were also detachable. They were placed on the sides of the boats where the oarsmen were, to keep the water from they. Painted orange and black, they were placed alternately along the sides; that is, one black, one orange, and so on. They chose orange because of the fact that certain orange soil in Norway was easily accessible for the pigment in the paint.

First sexering donated

Sigurd Haugsver and his son, Leif, live the life of centuries on their little farm in Mastjorden, Norway. That life is a little easier now, since Leif received an Evinrude outboard motor as a gift of Ralph Evinrude a few years ago.

It was Leif who donated the first sexering to the Florida Sons of Norway, and in 1971 Bjarne Eikevik visited the family to learn how they enjoyed its use.

The family had just finished cutting hay for their livestock when Eikevik, a Florida director of the Sons of Norway arrived.

Sigurd's father, Lars, had built the sexering over 100 years ago, and Sigurd remembers how fast the boat was, the favorite in rowing competition in the fjord country.

Sigurd Haugsver took over the farm from his father, and in true Norwegian tradition turned the farm over to his son, Leif, when he reached his 65th birthday. With the farm, Leif also received the ancient sexering, a truly fine piece of Norwegian heritage and culture.

Sigurd still takes long walks in the surrounding mountains, hiking for several days at a time. With mountains reaching to 5,000 feet sheltering the fjords, the fjord becomes a wind tunnel and sometimes hurricane-force winds would sweep down on the fjord travelers.

Sigurd tells how the sexering would have a "special quiver" that would tell the crewmen when to reef their sails.

Built primarily for traveling in the fjords, Sigurd's sexering made many long ocean voyages to the offshore fishing banks off the coast of Norway. The crew would sleep under an "akle", a home woven, blanket-type cover in the bow of the boat.

Now the same boat will race again, plying the waters of the Indian River as a part of the growing Viking fleet of the Florida Sons of Norway.

Welcommen alle Sønner av Norge til vår by.

Welcome to all Sons of Norway to our city.

Three 100-year-old boats

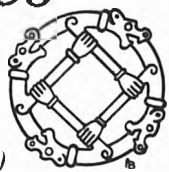
JENSEN BEACH—Three Viking boats, all over 100 years old, will be used in the Leif Erikson Day pageant. All three were brought from Norway as gifts of the people of the fjord country to members of the Sons of Norway in Florida.

The three boats, two "sexerings" (rowed by six oarsmen), and an "ottering" (rowed by eight oarsmen), will be part of the re-enactment of the landing of Leif Erikson in America in 1002 A.D.

The boats were carried to the United States aboard the Royal Caribbean Cruise Lines ship, The Nordic Prince.

Vikingenes Saga

(The Saga of the Vikings)



The Viking Age erupted throughout North Europe with an explosive force around the year 800. Young men hoisted sail and made for foreign shores. They were a restless and adventurous breed, and many of them, who led a rather difficult existence in their Scandinavian fjord homes, sought new land and homes for their families.

The Viking Age began with small-scale raids along the coasts of England and Scotland; then came larger, warlike expeditions, the purpose of which was conquest and settlement in foreign lands. It was a time of fighting, brutal in many ways. But it is often forgotten that the Viking Age was also a time of bold voyages of discovery and exploration as well as peaceful colonization, where hard work, rather than battle and plunder, was the order of the day.

The expeditions launched by Swedish Vikings were usually destined for the countries to the east up the Baltic to Russia.

The Danes would usually sail to England, France, and the countries farther south. New states, under Viking rule, were established in the conquered areas.

The Norwegians, too, followed a favorite route southward, along the west coasts of Scotland and England to Ireland, France, and on to the countries of the Mediterranean. Norwegian Vikings settled in and established their rule in the Orkneys, the Hebrides, on the Island of Man, and on the English mainland, in Ireland, and in Normandy.

But there was one overseas route which the Norwegians largely had all to themselves because of the geographical situation of their homeland, namely, the route westward across the North Atlantic Ocean. Norway's far-flung coasts faced the Atlantic, and it became the great highway of the people living there.

The maritime experience of many generations enabled them to construct a type of ship especially suitable for voyages on the high seas. They settled the Faroe Island, then discovered Iceland about the middle of the ninth century, spearheading the way for immigrants from Norway.

From Iceland they moved on to Greenland where a dominating figure soon emerged. He was Erik the Red, who had fled from Norway because of some unexplained local killings.

His son Leif, later nicknamed "The Lucky," was destined to become even more famous.

The proper spelling of Leif Erikson's own name is an unsolved issue. There are almost more variations than in chess from Leif through Leiv, Leifr, Leivr, Leifir, and Eirikkson, Eiriksson, Eiriksen, Eiriksson, Eiriksen, and Ericson, just to present a few samples.

One is better off by calling him Leif the Lucky, which was the favorite pet name used by his Norse compatriots.

Another interesting issue in the relationship between Old Norwegian Vinlanders (those who stayed in Vinland) and certain American Indians, such as the Huron and Iroquois tribes, linguistic experts indicate that the Indians may have borrowed quite a few words from the Old Norse language.

In his book "Lost America" published in 1956 by Public Affairs Press, Washington D.C., Arlington H. Mallery points out that words the Indians accepted were applied to the same things as they had covered in Norway.

The Norwegian "ok" for "and" also became the Indian "ok"; "nar" for "near"; "ata" for "eat"; "ignata" for "flame"; and "loki" for "devil". They also became words among tribal members. The author also adds that this philological fact substantially supports the theory that the Norsemen must have maintained contact with the Indians for quite some time.

Modern Norwegian commercial scholars have pointed out that the first commodities of North American foreign trade were handled by the Vikings, who brought furs and ivory from Greenland to Vinland and Markland and traded these items for timber and grapes. They also eagerly accepted maplewood. However, the Viking chieftains vetoed any trade with weapons.

Whatever early communication existed between the American aborigines and the Viking visitors, mutual antagonism seems to have eventually developed.

If historically correct, the classic case in point is recorded on the famous and highly controversial runestone of Kensington, Minnesota, which during this century has been the cause of a continuing transatlantic battle among scientists, scholars, runologists, cryptographers and historians. A decisive solution of the riddle seems no closer today than in 1898 when the stone, 30 inches long, 15 inches wide and 5½ inches thick and weighing 230 pounds, was found by the pioneer farmer Olof Ohman under the roots of an 8-inch poplar tree. In runic letters a sad story was found inscribed on the stone. Translations vary substantially, but the following is generally accepted:

"Eight Goths and 22 Norwegians on exploration journey from Vinland over the West. We had camp by 2 skerries one days journey north from this stone. We were and fished one day. After we came home (found) 20 red with blood and dead. Ave Maria. Save from evil."

On the edge was written: "Have 10 of our party by the sea to look after our ships 14 days journey from this island. Year 1362."

Books and articles have been written, lectures held and friendships lost as the question of the validity of the stone and its runic letters has been debated. The runestone now rests in the Museum at Alexandria, Minnesota, where the people proudly proclaim the artifact as "the nation's greatest historical monument," and it will probably be the source of continued controversy for years.

Whatever the true story, the early Middle Age clashes between the Norsemen and the skraelings, as they called the Indians, came to an end when the Vikings returned to Norway. The descendants of the early Norsemen have forgotten neither the Vikings' ancestors nor their pets: the elkhounds.

In addition to organizations such as Sons of Norway and Leif Erikson Association, dedicated to a more general recognition of Leif Erikson as the true discoverer of America, the elkhound, which often accompanied the Norsemen, also has his society. The Norwegian Elkhound Association of America. This society honors the Norwegian elkhound as the trail-blazing dog who staked the first tree-claim in the New World.

The President of the United States was authorized by Congress in 1964 to proclaim October 9 of each year as Leif Erikson Day, and similar legislation has been passed in many states.

Pageantry, dancing and boat races are featured events in the Leif Erikson Day celebrations. The pageants, and stories picture Leif Erikson as a restless and adventurous young man, in many ways not unlike our youth of today. Leif learned to harness his restlessness, used it productively, and it motivated him to reach the great goals and achievements which made him the greatest explorer of the 11th century.

The aim and purpose of Leif Erikson Day is to share with young and old some of the great Viking heritage with the hopes it will inspire all to become better citizens and better Americans.

Leif Erikson Day is Sunday

JENSEN BEACH–A day of Norwegian festivities will begin at noon on the Jensen Beach Causeway Sunday as the seventh annual Leif Erikson Day celebration gets under way.

Over 500 members of the ten lodges of the Sons of Norway are expected to be on hand to celebrate the national holiday commemorating the discovery of America by Leif Erikson in 1002 A.D.

A barbeque dinner will be served throughout the afternoon to some of the expected 5,000 persons who will attend the pageant.

At 1 p.m. the Martin County High School Band will play a concert, and at 2 p.m. the program will start with introduction of dignitaries, expected to include local officials and national officers of the Sons of Norway.

George Lewis, chairman of the Leif Erikson Day Committee, and president of the Gulfstream (Fort Pierce-Jensen Beach) Lodge of the Sons of Norway, said that the pageant, recreating the landing of Leif Erikson in America, will feature more humor this year, along with the battle between the Vikings and Indians.

The pageant begins at 2:30 p.m.

It will be followed by the annual boat races between the young Vikings of Ft. Lauderdale, Orlando and Gulfstream Lodges. The races feature three one hundred year old boats brought to Florida from Norway. Each is sailed with the colorful square sail, and rowed by six men. They are called "sexerings" in Norway.

The trophy presented to the winning crew will end the races, and Andre Bakke, a well known Norwegian accordionist, will play Scandinavian music for dancing.

The men and women of the Sons of Norway will be wearing the colorful "Bunad", a costume of the region from which they or their families come in Norway. The dancing will continue until 5 p.m. according to Lewis.

Throughout the afternoon there will be booths of Norwegian phonograph records, trinkets, handicrafts, open-face sandwiches, pastries, dolls and helmets on display.

Vikings lose to Stuart

PORT ST. LUCIE–The football teams from Stuart visited Port St. Lucie tiptimist Vikings at Sportsman's Park Saturday night, and walked off with a pair of victories.

The lower division "A" teams battled throughout the first half to a scoreless tie. In the third quarter, a 25 yard pass play from Gary Larue to Steve Simpson of the Vikings placed the ball on Stuart's 10 yard line, but a fumble on the next play recovered by Stuart, ended the Viking scoring threat. Runs by Adam Jolly, Raleigh Johnson and Steve Kelly carried the ball deep into Viking territory, where Adam Jolly skirted and, from the five yard marker, scored the only tally of the game. Final score: Stuart 6, Vikings 0.

The upper division game saw the Vikings overwhelmed by a fast pair of Stuart backs who scored almost at will. Rogers of Stuart scampered for 18 yards for the first tally. The extra point was missed.

In the second quarter, Frank Jamieson scored from 18 yards out, and a pass from Jamieson to Harris was good for the extra point. Harris of Stuart started the third quarter with a 49 yard touchdown burst and plunged for the extra point.

In the final quarter, the Viking defense was completely demoralized and Stuart scored three times. Cooper went in from the five, Harris completed the next Stuart drive with a final 10-yard plunge, and a foward pass from Cooper to Johnson completed the scoring. Final score: Stuart 40, Vikings 0.

For the next three weeks the Vikings will hit the road, visiting Port Salerno, Jensen Beach and Palm City.

Compromise ends charter confusion

PORT ST. LUCIE–There is little doubt that the recent compromise between the former Charter Revision Committee and City Council members has cleared the air as well as the minds of local residents who now have only one charter to vote on come the November 2 election.

City voters will cast their ballots for against the new charter at two south county precincts, the Port St. Lucie City Hall, Precinct 22, and Precinct 23 at the Community Center (CESA), during the general election, November 2.

The proposed new charter represents a document agreed upon between the representatives of the two Port St. Lucie Homeowners Associations and the Civic League following several negotiating sessions.

According to an announcement made by the city administrator, Elmer Cox, the issue will be No. 10 on the voting machines.

After what appeared to be one of the most confused issues of all time in this south county municipality, a six point compromise which consolidated the two proposed charters into one document, will enable voters to make a relatively uncomplicated "for" or "against" decision.

The one and only charter which residents are urged to familiarize themselves with appears in full in this issue of the Port St. Lucie Mirror.

PORT ST. LUCIE–President Melton Broom of the Fort Pierce-St. Lucie County Chamber of Commerce has announced the appointment of three division vice presidents for 1976-77.

Rodman, manager of Ocean Village, is serving his third year on the chamber board. He will have charge of committees on local affairs, state and national affairs, community appearance, education and utilities.

Kerr, president of Huber Distributing Co., is serving his second year on the board and will direct the work of the agribusiness, business, and economic development, planning and growth, and tourism committees.

This is the first year on the board for Tiernan, president of Warren's Laundry. He will supervise the membership and building committees.

Also serving on the executive committee with Broom and the vice presidents are President-elect Louis L. Haynes III, Treasurer Jack Scott, Past President Richard Hellstrom and Executive Vice President Richard Reid.

Signs, house numbers create problems

PORT ST. LUCIE–Street signs and house numbers have generated numerous complaints from residents and fire department officials as well, according to reports forthcoming from the city's safety director, Doug Stout, during a council workshop session Tuesday.

Stout told city officials that fire and rescue units were, in some instances, having to count streets and even backtrack because the stenciled letters on many of the sign posts have faded out completely.

Relative to the house numbers, Stout said that not all residents have complied with the city's ordinance requiring all house numbers to be at least three inches high and displayed on or near the front door or above the garage door, and be clearly visible from the street.

He also suggested script or Roman numerals not be used.

The fire department has had several cases where valuable time was lost looking for numbers or trying to distinguish fancy script numbers.

Riverettes make donation to library

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Port St. Lucie Branch Library has received a $50 donation from the Port St. Lucie Riverettes. The donation will be used to purchase new books for the library.

Lions sponsor service week

PORT ST. LUCIE–In observing the Lions Service Week, local Lion members will be available to lend a helping hand to those residents of the Port St. Lucie-River Park area who need assistance with odd jobs around the house.

According to a spokesman for the local club, handicapped persons, widows and widowers who may need assistance with yard trimming, window cleaning, or other odd jobs around their homes, will find assistance as close as their telephones.

A call to Lion Club President Robert Carl at 878-1261 through Saturday, Oct. 9, will bring the needed helping hand.

The annual "Service Week" is only one of the community programs the Lions Club sponsors.

"It is a two-way street," said one Lion. "The people of the community support the Lion programs and, in turn, we try to help the residents in any way possible."

Just last weekend the Lions sponsored a fertilizer sale which the community supported one hundred percent. What had been scheduled as a two-day sale, ended the first day when members sold 500 50 lb. bags of fertilizer at the Port St. Lucie Shopping Center. The sale netted the local Lions Club over $400, which will be used to support the various sight programs.

Savanna causeway to be removed

...EN BEACH–Removal of the ...ental sand causeway in the ...nd north of Walton Road is ...ed to begin this winter, General ...ment Corp. (GDC) officials told ...ed Martin and St Lucie County ...sion groups.

...engineers and biologists met last ...with representatives of the Martin ...Lucie County Conservation ...n to discuss the plan.

The causeway was built about three years ago by Universal-Adams as a connector to a proposed high-rise development.

However, the causeway lies on land owned by GDC.

Universal-Adams started the causeway before obtaining a state permit, and area conservationists claimed the dredging damaged the valuable fresh water marshlands.

Conservationists contended that the causeway blocked the natural flow to the south.

Dr. Walter Stokes, who attended the meeting, said GDC would like to put the dredged material back into the borrow holes during January and February when the water is lowest.

The causeway was built by dredging to a depth of 12 feet, and piling the spoil material for road base.

Conservationists said that GDC wants the two conservation alliances to support their request for a state permit to do the causeway work.

Permits will be required from the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District (FCD), Department of Environmental Regulation, and the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers may also require some review.

A report on the causeway will be on the Oct. 15 agenda of the Martin County Conservation Alliance. Dr. Stokes said he would recommend a speedy approval of the project in order to release the southward flow of water in the coming dry season.

Dr. Stokes said he feels that time is of the essence as damage has already been done to the south.

St. Lucie County Conservation Alliance director John Brooks noted that conservationists looked over some plans for the area and noted, "The plan just looks beautiful. It's what we needed."

The state Department of Pollution Control finally took Universal-Adams to court and won a judgment ordering the causeway work to stop. That was three years ago.

Community Church is site

Swine flu innoculations are set in Jensen Oct. 18

JENSEN BEACH–Local residents can receive innoculation against the dreaded swine flu at the Jensen Beach Community Church on October 18 and 25, it was announced this week by Dr. Archie McCallister, director of the Martin County Health Department.

The clinic will be set up in the church Fellowship Hall from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and from 3 p.m. to 9 p.m. on both days.

Al Palmer, chairman of the Red Cross directed Swine Flue Innoculation Steering Committee, said that persons desiring the innoculation should wear short sleeve shirts if possible, and sign the pre-consent form to expedite the program.

The latest federal directives specify that from birth to three years old, innoculations are not recommended.

From three years to 18, only high risk persons will receive the vaccine in two weaker shots, one month apart.

From 18 to the years of age persons will receive the Mono-Valent Vaccine after signing the red forms. Those over 65 will receive the Bi-Valent Vaccine (Swine and Victoria virus) after signing the blue form.

If there is a doubt in "risk" status, persons should see their doctors. He will shortly receive an allotment of vaccine for use with his patients.

If there are any questions in regards to the clinics, program, or transportation to the clinic, call Red Cross 287-2682. Area for local information, call 334-0856.

Forms may be obtained at the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, the Jensen Beach Community Church, and at some mobile home parks and condominiums. Local OBers and Jensen Ambulance Service personnel will be standing by to handle any clinic day problems.

The killer flu of 1918 has been surfacing in the fog population all these years, only to surface at Fort Dix, N.J. last February. The Federal Center for Disease Control determined that there was a good possibility of a severe epidemic during the 1976-77 winter and recommended mass innoculation of the 200 million plus Americans.

The following points are being emphasized:

1. Influenza is a highly contagious respiratory disease caused by a virus. A victim's whole body suffers from its fever, chills, headaches and other complaints.

2. There is no cure for swine flu or any other type influenza. Antibiotics and other drugs can be used successfully to treat the complications it causes, but the flu itself can be fatal.

3. People without flu symptoms can still carry the virus and spread it to others.

4. Flu can be prevented by innoculation. A vaccination for one strain of flue virus will only protect against that type.

5. Flu vaccine contains a dead virus. The vaccine stimulates the production of antibodies without causing flu. No one can get the flu from the vaccine.

6. In about 80 percent of the people vaccinated, one dose should provide protection.

7. It takes two to three weeks for the antibodies to develop, and they will provide protection for 12 to 18 months.

8. People allergic to eggs should not take vaccine. For other allergies consult your doctor.

9. Only a small percentage of those people receiving the vaccine should experience any side effects. Those who do will notice some fever, muscle ache and other flu symptoms. A larger percentage will feel some soreness with a tenderness at their arms.

10. Most people will be immunized with a jet injector.

11. The jet has to needle forces a small amount of vaccine through the skin under pressure. A slight stinging sensation will be felt.

12. While the jet injector can cause tissue to tear, all reports of its use in other countries have indicated its use is painless and harmless.

13. At this time there is no plan to immunize children and adolescents, except the three to eighteen group with chronic illness.

14. Swine flu is especially virulent because the virus which causes it is radically different from other flue strains prevalent in the population. Thus few people have antibodies necessary to protect themselves against the disease.

Candidates back vote on I-95

JENSEN BEACH–The lame duck county commission has been asked by potential incoming county commissioners to include a referendum on the ballot November 2 asking voters to decide for or against the I-95 route suggested by Ransom Tilton, Jensen Beach Realtor.

At Tuesday's meeting Commissioner Ross Philbrick made a motion to place the I-95 issue on the Nov. 2 ballot and the motion got the support of Commissioner Tom Higgins.

However Commissioners John Kiernan and Tomer Powers opposed the motion and the motion failed on the two-two vote.

Commissioner Maggy Hurchalla was absent from the meeting.

Tilton made the suggestion following a meeting of the commission in which it was pointed out that there was not route east of the Florida Turnpike that could be included on the November ballot.

Six candidates for the commission, who will form "a majority of the new board," signed the petition. They include John Holt and R.E. Kopp, candidates for District Five; Dr. Bill Myers, M.L. Horst and R.C. Lindsey, candidates for District Three; and Frank Wacha, District One.

Only two of the present county commissioners will remain on the board following the election. Maggy Hurchalla and Tom Higgins.

The question to appear on the ballot as suggested by the petition asks for a yes, no or undecided answer to "Should the new Board of County Commissioners of Martin County adopt the I-95 Route east of the turnpike that was presented to the board by Mr. Ransom Tilton and which is on display in the county commission meeting room?"

As three of signing this petition will form a majority of the new board, we feel the public's reaction to this question will be most helpful to us in budgeting our time and efforts to the various problems of the county," the petition continues.

It also states, "We do not feel that placing this question on the ballot should cost the taxpayers of the county any additional funds. We are not asking your board to promote the pros or cons of the issue, only to place it on the ballot."

Sandra Randolph, supervisor of elections told The Mirror that there would be no problem in printing the item on the ballot but felt that it would suffer by being on the end of the ballot, at the far right of the voting machines, at the end of the nine constitutional amendments.

"I am concerned about the legality, however. I told Jack Nobel, county administrator, last week when he called on this that the law provides a thirty day notice in advertisement for a referendum.

"I'm not certain about whether it would be a referendum or a straw vote, but I'd be willing to go to Tallahassee to find out. I must know by the end of the week, however, as we must get our ballots proofed and approved by Tallahassee so we can print them."

Mrs. Randolph said that she had not yet received the absentee ballots, with the confusion in Tallahassee on who is or is not on the ballot.

Wacha told The Mirror that the issue would be a straw ballot with no force of legality, "since the county commission would have no power to set that route, and the final decision would be made at a much higher level of government."

Samaritans set dedication for Nov. 7

JENSEN BEACH–The Jensen Area Samaritans, Inc. are announcing the Dedication of the new Ambulance House on Sunday, November 7, at 2:30 p.m. with an Open House the same date from 2 to 5 p.m. The new Ambulance House is located at 1250 N.E. Samaritan Street between Pinelake Village and Tropical Acres on South Savanna Road.

The Open House will give the people of the Jensen Beach area a chance to see the new facility and a chance to talk to the Samaritans.

The property for the Ambulance House was donated in the name of Pinelake Village by local Realtor Ransom Tilton. Martin County provided the money for Bola Construction to build the building. The Samaritans have been working hard during and after the construction to put the finishing touches on the new building.

The Samaritans hope that everyone will turn out to make the Dedication of the new Ambulance House a day to remember.

Swine flu shots set in Sewall's Point

SEWALL'S POINT–The three-week swine flu program in Martin County is under way and clinics have been set up in various communities.

Mayor Ed Ghickler announced at last week's commission workshop session that the clinic will be from 9 a.m. to noon Oct. 22 at Town Hall, and Dr. David Sedotte, a town resident has volunteered his services for the clinic.

Also at the workshop session, a discussion was held on the threat of lethal yellowing to coconut palms. And it is on the agenda for tonight's meeting, Wednesday, Oct. 13.

Commissioner Bob Russell said he would like the commission to look into the possibility of providing injections for trees in the town.

Commissioner Earl Crawford objected to the idea, saying he didn't believe the town should pay for the whole operation.

Also on the agenda for the Oct. 13 session is the first reading of ordinance on zoning.

Also there will be the continued discussion on South River Road, and at the workshop session North River Road was discussed briefly.

A committee from Indialantic-Satellite is working with the commission in North River Road, and another discussion on the road is slated for the November workshop session.

CUT-A-THON–Martin County cosmetologists donated their time and skills to the multiple sclerosis campaign, and for a $5 donation women got their hair done in the latest style. Ginny Scranton of Joan's Beauty Salon, Jensen Beach, works on the hair of Sylvia Allen, Jensen Beach. The Cut-A-Thon, sponsored by Florida Cosmetologists, was held last week at Ocean East Mall. Mirror record of 15 years the pride of the staffers NEN'S BEACH—This week, during Newspaper Week, The Mirror papers are celebrating fifteen s "community service to Jensen ch and Port St. Lucie.

The Mirror was founded on September Established with a firm resolve ve the Jensen Beach area, the paper operation was expanded in with the founding of the Port St. Mirror.

ring these years The Mirror made progress in the newspaper field. ntach honors were heaped on the newspaper.

ween 1970 and 1974, The Jensen Mirror was judged "Florida's ekly Newspaper" in the annual da Press Association better papers contest. In 1969, 1971, 1972 1975, The Mirror was runner-up for award.

ring these fifteen years, the Mirror has ten first place awards in competition h all weekly and twice-weekly papers in the state, and well over rds of the journalistic excellence ociation.

The Mirror was also honored for excellence in ten awards from the National Newspaper Association, in competition with the over 7,000 daily and weekly newspapers in the United States.

The Mirror made its mark on the newspaper industry as Mirror Editor Dick Campbell served ten years as a director in the Florida Press Association, and as F.P.A. president in 1968. He also served five years as director of the National Newspaper Association, and as N.N.A. treasurer for two years. This year Campbell received the Florida Press Association Distinguished Service Award.

Believing in community service, Campbell served as president of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, the Jensen Beach P.T.A., the Jensen Beach Rec. United Fund, the Martin County Resources Development Board, and Jensen Beach Kiwanis Club. He was chairman for four years of the Leif Erikson Day Celebration.

The newspaper assisted in revitalization of the Jensen Area Samaritan Free Ambulance, the establishment of the scouting program in Jensen Beach, the expansion of Florida Institute of Technology's campus, and the establishment of Leif Erikson Day in Jensen Beach.

The Mirror's revealing series on health law violations and lax health law enforcement in 1972 won a seldom-given N.N.A. award for community service, and many honors in the newspaper community for investigative reporting.

When former Mirror reporter Claudia Ross was murdered in Thailand, The Mirror established the Claudia Ross Memorial Award for Investigative Reporting in Florida, and has supervised its program with the University of Florida.

The staff of The Mirror is trained in many facets of newspapering, with the Mirror offices boasting "everyone does everything."

Editorial and news writing is done by Campbell, Alice Hickey, Charles Cates and Arlene Woodruff. The advertising staff is made up of Pat Moore and Jack Scott. Elsie Dean handles advertising composition and joins Jean Morgan in circulation. Campbell, Hickey, Cates and Scott are photographers. Woodruff and Hickey set type.

The darkroom is operated by Campbell and Hickey, and Dean, Hickey, Woodruff, and Scott operate the display type computor. Sallie Campbell and Woodruff do bookkeeping. Woodruff and Morgan are the people who handle the billing each month.

All work on the mailing each Wednesday, along with Will Bowman, who handles Jensen Beach newsstand circulation, and Paul Mucha, an FIT student, who handles the Port St. Lucie circulation.

Rick Campbell helps out with newsstand repairs and Chris Slater paints the newsstands.

We ask that the readers look at all the volunteer reporters who write the columns of interest from various areas of the community.

We've had a hell putting out The Mirror for these many years, and look forward to the future with the resolve that has helped us achieve the community respect and circulation that we enjoy.

It is our 15th anniversary. We have earned the right to boast a little. We have earned the right to say that we look forward to so many years of fun and community service, and the two are inseparable in years to come.

It is great to be here. Thanks for your readership, and your support of our advertisers. By having a strong editorial policy, as complete coverage of the news as we are able to do, and a staff that produces advertising that returns results for the customer, we have a newspaper. That is our life.

ABC Notehand course starts in Jensen Beach

JENSEN BEACH—A course in ABC Notehand will start Wednesday, Oct. 20 in the Harry Hoke Community Room of First Federal Savings and Loan Association, Jensen Beach. Meeting time is 7 p.m.

The class will be held each Wednesday and is sponsored by the Adult Education Department of Martin County Public Schools.

ABC Shorthand is a system based on the letters of the alphabet and common punctuation symbols. Because it is easy to learn and easy to write, students begin writing stenoscript on the first day of class instruction.

The course is designed for beginners who want to learn a modified form of shorthand as well as a refresher for persons with some shorthand training.

Congratulations to Dick Campbell for muddling through 15 years.

From one of your greatest advertising supporters.

To the Editor:

If you are suggesting by your last editorial that the appointment of judges rather than non-partisan election will remove the politics from this area, you are sadly mistaken Our method now may not be the best, but we understand it

In response to your editorial in the issue of September 29, 1976 regarding "Judge Endorsement", I would like to state some things which most people not directly involved in law do not seem to comprehend

Lawyers represent litigants parties involved in lawsuits before Judges and do not, generally, become personally involved One part of a lawyer's job is to attempt to help resolve the dispute as promptly as possible He cannot do this if he is not on "speaking terms" with the other lawyer Therefore it is quite common to see two lawyers appear to be at each other's throats in the heat of a trial, but afterwards see them having lunch together Quite incongruous? No A lawyer's professional responsibility is to his client

Directly as to the condemnation of the practice of lawyers endorsements of those running for judge did you ever consider that perhaps the newly elected judge might just lean over backwards AGAINST the endorser just to prove that he is unbiased This can be a two way street

I supported Mr Hershey who ran second to Judge-elect Cianca but I strongly believe and I am convinced that my endorsement of his opponent will not affect the result of any trials I might have before Judge Cianca As Judge Mr Cianca as he himself stated, must follow the law and it was now time to forget the race and get down to work If the election had been the reverse, and Mr Hershey the winner, I certainly would not have expected any preferential treatment I believe the people who endorsed the candidates were merely expressing their opinion of the candidates they felt more closely aligned with philosophically in order to provide voters, who did not personally know the candidate, dbut would personally know the endorser a better understanding of the people running The endorsers I am sure, are not seeking favors any more than the Jensen Beach Mirror in its endorsement of certain candidates

A lawyer or judge who cannot put aside his personal feelings in a given case is a small person who will eventually be discovered as such by the people

Yours truly,

Publix has expanded

JENSEN BEACH–An expanded Publix Market in Stuart will have a grand opening Thursday and one of the new features for the public to enjoy is a Danish Bakery.

Store Manager Donald Alley said the 10,000-foot expansion makes a total of 31,000 square feet which gives us three more checkout counters for a total of 12."

"New store features include the Danish Bakery, hot lunches and the expansion made it possible to have a larger frozen food section and two more aisles," Alley said.

"We will have some special features for the grand opening," he added.

Alley, who has been with Public Market for over 11 years, three years as manager of the Stuart store, was with the Stuart store when it opened in 1965.

After working in Public stores in the West Palm Beach area, the Kentucky native came back to Stuart.

Public Market has about 100 employees, Alley said.

Mrs. Chauncey's homeroom class is reading Mrs. Hickory. Her students have been ordering good books through the Arrow Book Club.

Miss Zborowski's class held a breakfast last Thursday as part of a science-nutrition unit. Matt Cook, Billy Linward, Karen Leonard and Mike Mitchell shopped for the food. Dan Beckham, Joe Kormoncik, Don Garlits and Russ Caughey joined them for eggs, juice, cereal and milk. It was great!

The third grade class is going to find an election for President of the United States. We will publish the results next week.

Mr. Baumgartner's fourth grade science class is studying environment. Matt Hunter has brought in a project on air pollution. Kenny Sedano, whose father works at North Notes, brought in insect specimens.

Soccer classes are getting up two teams, with competition "all system" and "straight T." Practices will be held after school. We would appreciate the donation of equipment, uniforms.

Hilda and Larry Allen joined Lisa Belle and Ernie Ravinet attending the Harry Theatre presentation of "A Thousand Clowns." They say the play was good and they had a very enjoyable evening.

Bob and Kay Smyth are in Orlando where Lisa is in Orange Memorial Hospital for some tests and evaluation. Our very best wishes are with them and we hope their visit soon be home.

Lisa Bella tells me that when the Koepkas return they will be able to use their boat lifts. The baby birds have left the nest and it is empty, so now Kay can't forbid the boat being put into the water as she has been doing since they discovered a family of birds setting up housekeeping in their lift.

Hope there will be more news to report next week.

Happy birthday to Walter Autenreith on Oct. 12.

Granfield energy speaker

JENSEN BEACH–Richard Granfield, past president of the Indian River Chapter, AIA, will present an architect's view of solar energy utilization in building for Florida's climate at the first meeting of Free Energy, Inc. The newly formed non-profit corporation will hold the open-to-the-public meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 21, at the Environmental Studies Center, Jensen Beach.

Granfield has researched recent solar energy technology and will apply his findings to the siting, design and construction of homes and buildings so that less energy will be required to assure comfort in weather extremes.

"Over the past 5,000 years man learned a lot about building his home to take advantage of climatic conditions like our western Indians and their thick adobe-walled homes. But lately technology has passed this knowledge by and buildings are designed and built with little thought to energy efficiency," Granfield said. "Now we are seeing a swing back to using the knowledge gained in all those thousands of years."

Granfield said he plans to illustrate his talk with recent housing designs that make the most of the natural elements in creating comfort. Orientation to prevailing breezes, planting for shade and protection from winter winds, recent developments in highly reflective paints, insulation, new building materials and methods will be included.

"There are also many different designs for solar water heaters," he said, "and we'll discuss their relative merits."

St. Andrew Society will meet on Friday

STUART–The October meeting of the St. Andrew Society of Florida will be held Friday, Oct. 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Room of First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart. Those interested in Scottish culture, customs and heritage are invited to attend.

Tickets will be available for the 8th annual Scottish Ball, scheduled for Friday, Nov. 19, at the Centennial Hall of Sandpiper Bay, when dinner will be followed by a concert by the St. Andrew Pipe Band of Miami, a traditional part of the society's observance of St. Andrew Day, November 30.

Patrick G. Kenny, Fort Pierce, is general chairman of the ball. Society President Col. Hardin E. Ross, Jr., announced this week.

Savanna causeway to be removed

PORT ST LUCIE--Removal of the controversial sand causeway in the Savanna north of Walton Road is expected to begin this winter, General Development Corp (GDC) officials told members of Martin and St Lucie County conservation groups

Army engineers and biologists met last month representatives of the Martin and St. Lucie County Conservation Council to discuss the plan

The causeway was built about three years ago by Universal-Adams as a connector to a proposed high-rise development

However, the causeway lies on land owned by GDC

Universal-Adams started the causeway before obtaining a state permit, and area conservationists claimed the dredging damaged the valuable fresh water marshlands

Conservationists contended that the causeway blocked the natural flow to the south

Dr Walter Stokes, who attended the meeting, said GDC would like to put the dredged material back into the borrow holes during January and February when the water is lowest.

The causeway was built by dredging to a depth of 12 feet, and piling the spoil material for road base

Conservationists said that GDC wants the two conservation alliances to support their request for a state permit to do the causeway work

Permits will be required from the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District (FCD), Department of Environmental Regulation, and the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission

The U.S Army Corps of Engineers may also require some review

A report on the causeway will be on the Oct 13 agenda of the Martin County Conservation Alliance Dr Stokes said he would recommend a speedy approval of the project in order to release the southward flow of water in the coming dry season

Dr Stokes said he feels that time is of the essence as damage has already been done to the south

St Lucie County Conservation Alliance director John Brooks noted that conservationists looked over some plans for the area and noted, "The plan just looks beautiful It's what we needed."

The state Department of Pollution Control finally took Universal-Adams to court and won a judgment ordering the causeway work to stop That was three years ago

PSL resigned to sign cost

PORT ST. LUCIE When the City's Safety Director Doug Stout came up with a tentative figure of $9,500 to replace the concrete street markers with the green and white aluminum signs, the City Council quick like suggested he report back with other possible solutions including the cost of re-installing the present markers

It was however, pointed out by Councilman Bill McChesney that all the new signs would not have to be purchased at one time

If we were to replace the signs little by little in the more populated areas of our city, we might find such a project quite feasible, McChesney said

Street signs which have faded letters have generated numerous complaints from residents and fire department officials in the past several months

Those operating emergency units in the city have in instances, had to count streets to find a specific location

Also residents have been urged to comply with the city's ordinance requiring all house numbers be at least three inches high and displayed on or near the front door or above the garage door clearly visible from the street

City to take closer look at road testing procedures

PORT ST LUCIE--While the City Council passed a resolution Tuesday to accept approximately two and one-half miles of road and drainage built by General Development Corporation in Section 6, it was also agreed to let the City's Planning and Zoning Board review and make recommendations for test procedure on taking over additional roads in the future

Streets and drainage facilities included in the resolution passed by a three to one vote Tuesday include Hartsdrive Drive from Floresta to Arlon Lane Arlon Lane from Hartsdrive Drive to Floresta Drive Fallon Drive from Floresta to Forgal Street Carnival Avenue from Floresta to Forgal White Avenue from Degan to Forgal Sorrento Avenue from Degan to Forgal and Degan from Fallon to East Dan Road

Also Forgal Street from Carnival to Degan Drive Degan Waterway from Floresta to Harbor Waterway and Harbor Waterway from Floresta Drive to the East Plat limit

Vice Mayor Frank Rose cast the one negative vote Mrs Lolita Kerrishaw was not present at the meeting

Several weeks ago Rose suggested the city take a better look at the construction of the GDC roads before taking them over It was his suggestion that core samples be taken of all existing roads throughout the city and that future roads to be constructed should also be checked and tested more closely than has been done in the past

Backing up his claims that closer inspections were needed, Rose referred to the deterioration of the Elkhart Terrace pavement

The Pittsburg Testing Laboratory made only two tests on the entire street, and this was not sufficient information for Greenlees Montgomery and Associates to judge whether the street was properly constructed or not Rose pointed out

Rose said that at the present time tests of roads contain only of checking to be sure proper materials are used in construction of the roads

That is not enough for me Before the city agrees to take over any more roads we should be sure that those roads are constructed as they should be he told fellow councilmembers

Rose said that no one has X-ray eyes and he would like to know for certain there is a six inch and cement base as required

As a result of Rose's action, the Council has directed the City's Planning and Zoning Board, to make a recommendation on future and present testing procedures for roads in the city The 2.5 miles of road accepted by the City this week are located in the Rivergreen area on Midport

The second clinic session will be at 7:30 p.m Tuesday Oct 19 Speaker will be Dave Willard of the Pier 1 Bait and Tackle Shop, Stuart Plenty of time will be allocated for questions and answers and general discussion

Wednesday, Oct 27 the club will hold its first small-boat fishing tournament. About a dozen boats are already signed up to move their skippers and non-boat-owning club members to favorite fishing spots anywhere in the inside waters

Any kind of fish is acceptable and there will be at least one prize for a big fish At about 4 p.m., all contestant are to gather at the Marina for final reports, awards and refreshments. Wayne Whitaker and Dr Tony Jarosewics are co-chairmen of the event

Rain fails to dampen Leif Erikson celebration

BY DICK CAMPBELL

JENSEN BEACH—Leif Erikson came ...er on a climate merger that of the ...England coast of 1002 A.D. than the ...ine of Florida's Jensen Beach ...eas, but that didn't matter.

...ver 400 members of the Sons of ...way who thronged the causeway and ...ssized Leif Erikson Day on ...ds and Sunday didn't get their ...s dampened (though just about ...thing else was). They were having ...mch fun.

...ming their Norwegian costumes ...ads and amid the recorded music ...ssia via the Sons of Norway ...r and sang, had their pageant ...r on the landing of Leif Eriksonin America, and the race of one-hundred year old boats, sold Norwegian sourve... ...rs to visitors and each other, and feasted like the Vikings of old.

The inclement weather and sixty-degree temperatures just seemed to add to the holiday mood. On Saturday the members visited with each other, held a reception and banquet, and danced until the wee hours at the convention center, the Holiday Inn Oceanside.

Sounds of the Scandinavian music filled the hotel as Anders Bakke played his accordian and all the old folk tunes of Norway came back to life. Bakke who has been a feature of the Leif Erikson Day celebration for years, is presently in the Navy, stationed at Jacksonville. He plans to wed next week. His bride will be Carol Lee Peterson, world champion "Lefse-Kjevlekast" of Jacksonville. The Lefse-Kjevlekast is translated as throwing a rolling pin. She "cast" it 84 feet in the contest.

International publicity for the event was assured with the attendance of John Lauchstetter, English editor of the Nordisk Tidende, a Norwegian-American newspaper.

Top state and national officers of the Sons of Norway were in attendance along with representatives of the ten lodges in Florida.

The Martin County High School band braved the drizzle to play a half hour concert, and delighted the five-hundred persons when, in addition to the Star Spangled Banner, the group played an excellent rendition of the Norwegian National Anthem.

The many Norwegian-Americans smiled, their eyes filled with tears as the anthem was played. Many sang the words proudly as the Norwegian and American flags flew in the rainy breeze.

Local (Gulfstream Lodge) members of the Sons of Norway announced that they looked forward to the celebration next year, hopefully without the inclement weather.

ENTERTAINMENT: Valerie Vance and Lori Helseth danced for the Sons of Norway during their annual banquet ...rsday Sunday night at the Holiday Inn Oceanside.

...ECTIONS: Rud Jorgen, left, introduced the many ...s visiting their Lodge, and described the district of ... Norway that each delegation represented. Many areas of Norway were represented, as were the formal and informal ...ssed the customary Sunday on the Jensen Beach Causeway.

Silvers celebrates twenty years in business

JENSEN BEACH--"You can have any luxury in a mobile home that you can have in a home," the president of Jensen Mobile Homes, Inc., said.

J. Fred Silvers, president of the company on SR-707, can speak with authority on mobile homes since his business near the Jensen Beach Arch has been there for 20 years.

And he has awards on his office wall to show that he is a leader in his business.

One award shows that Silvers was top dealer of Skyline Homes in the state in 1975-76, top five dealers in the state for February of 1970, and in May, 1973, a charter member of Skyline Homes Million Dollar Club.

Silvers noted that 20 years ago the mobile homes were much smaller than today's homes, and cost less.

"They were 10-foot wide back then, with less floor space, and cost between $3,500 and $5,500," he said. "Now they are 12, 20 and 24-foot wide and cost from $7,000 to $38,000 or $40,000."

"All our mobile homes come equipped with GE appliances," he said.

Silvers, an active civic leader over the years, was long-time director of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, six-year director of the American Red Cross, and a member of the Stuart Kiwanis Club.

It seems that "Equal Rights" for women is really gaining ground There are many husbands here who are helping with or doing the dishes for their wives Could it be they are afraid the cooking will be less? Who knows

Mac and Jean McCabe attended an American Legion conference in Palm Bay Saturday was luau time with Samoan dancers entertaining, while Sunday was the work day They came home a little tired

Wes and Ruth Arbo were pleasantly entertaining Ruth's brother George and Florence Poor, who arrived Sunday after two years absence from H O Alice Perreault was a guest, too Ruth and Bob had purchased a lot while George was away

My friends (and co-worker) Peg and Al Ray returned Saturday, after a most delightful summer, ready to get back in the thick of things Already intends to be in the art class on Thursdays

Bob and Audrey Middleton, loyal H Outers for six seasons, have sold their home in Rhode Island and purchased a mobile home on lot 19 in Pinelake Village where they are permanently living now They would like their many friends in H O to come to visit them

A warm welcome to Wm "Bill" Moore who is the new owner of lot 512, purchased from Glenn and Carolyn Walling Bill will be here indefinitely

Bill and Mabel Henrichsen have returned Both are well and happy to be back He is already getting the band lined up for our many dances Also they have a little ball of black & white fur puppy this year

We welcome back Ruth and Wes Arbo, 324, C J and Bertha Ouellette, 34 Lester and Catty Ullmann 327 Robert Wiley, 63, Roy and Clara Woods, 172, Albert Crisconi 486, Stanley and Mary McCart, 514 Frank Raymond, 152 Maurice and Victoria McKeever 133, Elmer and Helene Ambrogne 161 Alice Perreault, 11, Bill and Ellie Harrison, 143, Charles and Elsie Schaub, 479 Leo and Vi O Neil, 529

When Al and Ann Crisconi returned to H O last week, they brought Ann's sisters Teresa Polit and Rosella Bankus with them for an all too brief visit Teresa and Rosella had never been to Florida before and they were enchanted with the area

Ann and Al showed them as many of the local attractions as possible, including a trip to Worth Avenue in Palm Beach (Al sat that one out), the Elliott Museum and the House of Refuge, and they lunched at Lord Chumley's and had a farewell dinner at Frances Langford's on Sunday

Anne says her sisters bought so much in the shops, she and Al will have a trunkload of baubles to deliver when they go north for the Christmas holidays

Marj and Gordon McIntyre were hosts to Millie Furman, Mac and Betty O'Donnell and Carl Townsend aboard their boat "The Bucket", celebrating Millie's birthday on Oct. 6 and Betty and Mac's wedding anniversary on Oct. 5

The weather was ideal for a cruise and the skippers of yachts from Michigan, Delaware, New Jersey and New York bereiling south thought so too, for there were many of them afloat that day However, on the return trip to Holiday Out, trouble developed in the vital heat exchange pump necessitating the time-consuming repairs and all of Gordon's skill and ingenuity to fix. So the balance of the cruise was by moonlight and, though moonlight is romantic, cruising the Indian River at night requires alert navigation and real seamanship Fortunately, the Skipper had plenty of what it takes and brought his boat and passengers safely to home port It was a memorable celebration

Congratulations on your anniversary, Dick and Harriet Dubion, Oct. 14.

Happy birthday wishes are extended to Art Nagy, Oct. 13, Dorothy Johnson, Tom Stieler, Oct. 14; Betty Crisconi, Oct. 15; Mary Schmidt, Oct. 16 and Clarence Knechiges, Oct. 17.

Four-county council okays budget

JENSEN BEACH–A $147,597 budget adopted by the Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council last week will not become official until it is finally adopted at next month's meeting

The week's session was not closed as required in the Administrative Procedures Act Weekly, a state listing of pending actions under the Administrative

The budget is to provide for five staff members, furniture and office space. Salaries for staff members will be $64,300

There was some debate among council members before a four-member staff was approved.

"Rather than set up another bureaucracy, let's use our men that we've got now," St Lucie County Commissioner George Price said

Port St Lucie Mayor Schuyler Sharpe also criticized the proposed staff, pointing out, "If we cannot utilize the talent already available in the various counties, it is a poor indictment of the use of funds"

"If we use all our money for staffing," Sharpe continued, "the money never gets to where it is supposed to be"

"Just because other planning councils have a staff doesn't mean we have to have one," the mayor said

But council members were warned that if they failed to adequately staff the council, the state might not pay the $45,500 it had pledged to the group – about one third of the budget.

"You have to have this basic staff to get state agencies to work with you, to get federal agencies to work with you," Laurey Stryker, a representative of the Division of State Planning, said

Sam Shannon, the council's executive director, had proposed that, in addition to his own position, the council create the positions of a planning director, planner, executive secretary, and a bookkeeper clerk-typist Council members didn't complain about the salary ranges proposed but they did object to the titles because they would look bad to the public

"Better relations might be established if the name planning director is changed to something else," Indian River County Commissioner Val Brennan said.

Shannon said that it looked like "all chiefs and no Indians," and agreed to different titles for a planner, salaried up to $17,500 and secretary for up to $10,000

The counties' share of the $147,000 budget is Palm Beach County, $78,000; St Lucia County, $11,000, and $7,500 each for Martin and Indian River Counties

95 phone survey is scheduled

JENSEN BEACH–Another survey on proposed location of Interstate 95 in this county started Tuesday This telephone survey is by telephone surveys by First National Bank Trust Co will be conducted by a professional firm, not by live interviewers Responses will be taped

Persons will be asked to reply "yes" "no" or undecided The purpose is to determine where residents want the interstate east or west of the Turnpike

Called "Instapoll" the bank's marketing director Larry Thibaut pointed out that, "The bank is always looking at new services to benefit our customers and the community

"We felt at this time there wasn't a polling service of this kind to feel out the community's response to local issues," Thibaut said

"The only way to test reactions is by an election, and we thought a polling machine capable of judging public opinion within 95 per cent accuracy would be a valuable service for government officials making decisions."

Meanwhile the proposed easterly route of I-95 was discussed at the St Lucie Council of Governments (TCG) meeting last week

Jensen Beach Realtor Ransom Tilton proposed an easterly route several weeks ago at the Martin County Commission meeting and his proposal has been sent to the Ft Lauderdale office of the Department of Transportation (DOT)

Tilton's plan would have I-95 run between S Land Florida's Turnpike to Palm City, where it would cross the Turnpike to link up with the route in St Lucie County

Tilton has pointed out that the westerly route proposed by DOT would be too great a distance from the east coast, and the cost of arterial roads to I-95 would be enormous He said the easterly route would benefit Martin County residents most and provide a north-south alternative to U S 1

DOT is planning a public hearing on the route of I-95 in November or December

Halloween party in Jensen

Many of the merchants have donated the use of their windows for the children to decorate in competition for prizes Mary Killer, chairman of the contest, said

A total of $15 will be awarded which will be divided among the first and second place winners in three age categories, according to Mrs Killer

Registration forms have been distributed at the schools and students and parents must sign the forms and return them to the school's homeroom teachers by October 21

Mrs Killer said the pictures are to be painted after school Thursday, Oct 28, and only on the outside of the windows Judging will be Oct 29

Mrs Killer reminds students that pictures must be painted in water colors only

Chamber president K D Kirkpatrick said the Halloween party would include the annual costume judging, and children would get hotdogs and cokes

This has always been one of the community's most successful efforts and it keeps vandalism to a minimum, Kirkpatrick said

It gives our young people a place to go and something to do on Halloween, he said

Lethal yellow palm talks are scheduled

SEWALL'S POINT–Sewall's Point commissioners will continue their investigation of lethal yellowing at a special workshop session Wednesday, Oct 20 at 7:30 p m

At its regular meeting last week Robert Whitly county agricultural agent gave a report on lethal yellowing

Lethal yellowing strikes coconut and other varieties of palms and will definitely kill a tree if measures are not taken, Whitly said

"The only measure known to be effective at this time is injection of the tree with Terramycin," he said

Commissioners first discussed lethal yellowing at a workshop session two weeks ago with Commissioner Bob Russell proposing that the town unite to battle the disease

Russell said he had heard from several concerned residents since the disease was spotted in the Yacht and Country Club area

Russell said he would like the commission to look into the possibility of providing injections for trees through the town

Also on the agenda for the special workshop session is the continued discussion on South River Road Commissioners have discussed the road with property owners along the proposed right of way for several sessions

Commissioners have also set Nov 17 for a public hearing on zoning ordinance 95 Commissioners reviewed the 30 page ordinance at length at last week's meeting

Oscar Dishman, Ocean Breeze Park, was pictured with an even two dozen fish caught one day, wading and casting in the Indian River.

Condo Association sets important session

JENSEN BEACH—Treasure Coast Condominiums Association (TCCA) members will meet at 9 a.m. Friday, Oct. 29, at the Monterey Yacht and Country Club in Stuart.

Administration of the Condominium and Co-Operative Acts will be the key topic. Richard Booth, director of Division of Land Sales and Condominiums, will be the speaker, discussing the division's experiences thus far and plans for administering the Acts, effective January 1, 1977.

Because of its importance to unit owners and associations, all directors and officers of all condominium association in Martin, St. Lucie, Indian River and northern Palm Beach Counties are invited to attend. Seating is limited to 200, so early arrival is suggested as the meeting will begin promptly at 8 a.m.

Also on the agenda for discussion is desired additional legislative action in preparation for the December meeting which is to be a workshop session with state senators and representatives.

For more information about TCCA and its meetings, call Mrs. Merle Keets, recording secretary at 283-1480, Walt Christopher, V.P. at 283-7871, or Larry Aubrecht, president, 283-3874.

JBCC Aid Circle opens season

JENSEN BEACH—The Church Aid Circle of Jensen Beach Community Church will hold its regular monthly meeting Wednesday, Oct. 27, in the Fellowship Hall. Dessert will be served at 1 p.m., followed by the business meeting. Christmas and greeting cards will be offered for sale and kits and donations for World Community Day will be received.

The Annual Fair has been scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 27, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., highlighted by a barbecued chicken dinner from 4 to 6 p.m. by the Men's Brotherhood, who will also have plants and shrubs for sale during the fair hours. Tickets for the dinner will be on sale in the near future.

Fair preparatory workshops are scheduled at 9 a.m. every Tuesday at the church. Some projects need materials for doll clothing, surplus jewelry and L'egg containers. All the projects need willing hands to make preparations, and innovative ideas to make this year's fair an outstanding success, according to Mrs. Boyd Smith. Contact her at 334-2244, or the church office, 334-0716, for details.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF RETIRED PERSONS

BY ERNIE CURWEN, Tel 334-0156
and HUGH JENCKS, Tel. 878-2856
Martin County Chapter

The 1976-77 season is starting off with a swirl of activities for Martin County retirees. Therefore, in order to bring all the AARPers returning from the northlands up to date, the recent events will be discussed in chronological order.

There were 67 at the regular monthly picnic on the Jensen Causeway Thurs. Oct. 7 - always the first Thursday. There were the usual eats, socializing and games, with a little singing for good measure. Then, there was a discussion about getting out the vote - so that commissioners interested in the plight of retirees could be elected, then maybe Martin County could have some of the senior activities found going strong in the northern states. Also, it was mentioned, Why not go to Disney World during Senior Citizen time (Nov. 1 to 14)? So Helen Engebretsen of Jensen Travel Service was contacted and she is trying to get prices worked out for a bus on Friday, Nov. 12. The time is short so any interested Port St. Lucie AARPers, Senior Citizens, OHPers, etc. please let us know quickly, and as soon as the price is available, you can be notified.

A regional presidents' meeting was held in West Palm on Oct. 13. President Chas. MacIntyre, V.P. Ernie Curwen and Treas. Eleanor Overfield attended. A workshop on standing rules was held as many chapters don't have adequate ones, so that chapter procedures can run smoothly. Martin Co. has theirs worked out and copies are available for those interested. Next steps to be taken after transfers are made to a new set of officers were discussed, so that chapter documents and property will not be mislaid. Then there was a free-wheeling discussion of problems which brought to light that Florida, with retirees making up 24-53 percent of the population, only gets 1 percent of revenue sharing funds.

Thursday, Oct. 24, the ExCom meeting always the second Thursday) with Pres. MacIntyre, V.P. Ernie Curwen and Al Tucker, Recording Sec. Anna Maria Dell'Aria, Corresponding Sec. Betty Edwardson, Treas. Eleanor Overfield, Director Harry Bayliss, Chairman of the Nominating Committee Boyd Smith, Edith Hill (to handle refreshments in place of Cele Berky, on out of town duty), Mr. and Mrs. Hunt, Frank Edwardson and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brandt attending.

Too much business was conducted to report here, but for now, a few highlights. John Marr was appointed to the public relations committee to handle all contacts with all media. Copies of by-laws and standing rules were distributed. Al Tucker reported that a total of 787 had joined to date and it was remarked that all AARPers should make themselves known, wherever possible, at discount stores, at voting at Vacine Fla. clinics, so the general public will know we're around.

A Defensive Driving Class is being planned for November so that AARPers can get that 10 percent discount on their Colonial Penn Ins. (I'll probably be on some Wed. and Fri. afternoons from 2 to 5 at the Environmental Center in Jensen. All interested please get in touch with AARP or Adult Education - call 334-0536.

Everybody should be able to swim and it's never too old to learn. Therefore there will be a class for beginners and for those who want to improve Tuesday, Oct. 26, at 4:30 p.m. in the high school pool. For more info, call 283-7639.

As AAA (Americanism Alliance Program) may be one of the most interesting and exciting programs of this season. That is, if we can get it off the ground. It's really quite simple, just a group of retirees getting together with a group of young people and discussing such things as community projects, current problems, local history, family living, future of country, or almost anything of interest. In that way, the hopes and ideals of the young can be harnessed, while they benefit from experience of the older folks. All interested please come forward and let us know. There are assistance "kits" on hand.

Once over lightly

Thursday, Oct. 21, regular monthly meeting, 1:30 p.m. at the Stuart Woman's Club Auditorium. Candidates for state offices will speak and answer questions, and there'll be refreshments.

Fri., 12:45 to 1:30, members can pay their dues and fill out applications.

Monday, Oct. 25, Swine Flu inoculation clinic at the Community Church on Salerno Drive, 10 to 2 and 5 to 8. For official information call Red Cross, 287-3002, and for local info and transportation, call 334-0756.

Wed., Oct. 27, Martin County Senior Citizens Club will meet in the Stuart Youth Center at 1 p.m. for cards, crafts, music and games. This is held every Wednesday with a business meeting on the second Wednesday of the month. Next, Thurs. 28, for starting their dancing and singing at Ocean East Mall, Friday night, 7 to 8:30 p.m. Also, at the Youth Center, second Monday in November. Nov. 8, there'll be a dance from 8 to 11 p.m. $1.50 per person.

Thursday, Oct. 28, MCCA ExCom meeting at 1:30 p.m. on the new library. Sheriff James Hall will talk on crime as it affects the elderly and crime prevention methods. All interested are invited.

Tuesday, Nov. 2, Interagency Steering Committee, 12:30 to 1:30 in the mobile office opposite the hospital entrance. Methods of coordinating the efforts of all community service agencies will be worked out.

Thursday, Nov. 4: Monthly AARP picnic on the Jensen Causeway from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Bring your own lunch and beach chair. It's fun.

Thursday, Nov. 11, ExCom meeting, 1:30 p.m. at the First National Bank of Stuart. All members are welcome and urged to attend as most of the chapter's business is carried out at these meetings and your suggestions are requested and needed.

PORT ST. LUCIE CHAPTER Number 2836

Our chapter may be only pending and pro tem, but the charter and incorporation documents are due anytime. Your officers are not waiting, they are about the chapter's business, first by attending a regional meeting.

Five board members: Fred Wiggin, pres.; Maurice Arluck, V.P.; Ethel Thompson, Geraldine Casperson, Jim Kearney and Hugh Jencks went to Palm Bay near Melbourne, earlier this month for a meeting with representatives of nine other chapters. The agenda was very similar to that described above for Martin County and was brought back to the regular board meeting for action.

Board Meeting

The regular board meeting was held Thursday, Oct. 14, in the North Port Marina at 1:30 p.m. with Mrs. Casperson, Wigging, Arluck, Kearney, Jencks, Morgan Jones and George Lindberg attending. The material discussed at Palm Bay was considered and the board felt it would be more appropriate to use the title "Chapter Rules and Procedures" for the chapter guide lines, and Hugh Jencks was asked to prepare a draft.

The chapter continues to grow and soon a larger meeting place will be necessary. We are just about outgrown the North Port Marina which has so graciously provided for the three meetings to date. Under consideration are the conference room at Sandpiper Bay, the auditorium at Spanish Lakes, and, at some future date, the auditorium being planned for Port St. Lucie.

Who's Who in Your Chapter

This first Port St. Lucie AARP column in the Jensen Beach Port St. Lucie Mirrors is a good time to introduce the officers and board. They are Fred Wiggin, president; Maurice Arluck, first vice president; Morgan Jones, second vice president; Esther Thompson, treasurer; Ethel Krall, corresponding secretary; Gerline Casperson, recording secretary; and board members Lillian Hesserman, Jim Kearney and Hugh Jencks. There are six standing committees: community services, membership, legislation, publicity and nominating; chairmen to be announced at a later date.

Discount for PSL Members

Jim Kearney and his community service committee is determining if it will be possible to get discounts for the members from the business establishments of Port St. Lucie. This is in the beginning stages.

Joint activities such as outings and fun trips, might prove to be very beneficial to both chapters. Let's hear what the members think about it.

Coming Events

Thursday, Oct. 21, Regular monthly meeting, 1:30 p.m. at the North Port Marina. The subject for the meeting will be Investments.

Thursday, Nov. 18, monthly board meeting, time and place to be announced at a later date.

As the chapter gains in experience it is expected that more and varied activities will be developed.

Happy Birthday

JENSEN BEACH-Listed in The Mirror file of those celebrating birthdays this week are Dick Bowman and Frances Poh, Oct. 21; Irene Schack and Melissa Gauger, Oct. 22; George Lauterborn and Elmer DeWitt, Oct. 23; Vernal Shipes and Art Mills Jr., Oct. 24; and Ona Lasmanen, Oct. 26.

Congratulations. Have a happy day and a great year!

ABC notehand course starts in Jensen

JENSEN BEACH—A course in ABC Notehand starts Wednesday, Oct. 20, in the Harry Hoke Community Room of First Federal Savings and Loan, Jensen Beach. Meeting time is 7 p.m.

The class will be held each Wednesday, sponsored by the Adult Education Department of Martin County Public Schools.

ABC Shorthand is a system based on the letters of the alphabet and common punctuation symbols. Because it is easy to learn and easy to write, students begin writing stenoscript on the first day of class instruction.

The course is designed for beginners who want to learn a modified form of shorthand as well as a refresher for persons with some shorthand training.

For the fifth consecutive year, the local Circle contributed the largest amount—more than $16,000.

Lloyd L. Baker, Exalted Ruler of Stuart-Jensen Elks Lodge, welcomed the group at the luncheon. He was followed by James E. Oliver, administrator of Harry-Anna, who gave a detailed report of facts, figures, and accomplishments at the hospital.

Oliver presented a special project for consideration by the state ladies—engendered by the local Circle—the Florida Elks Ladies Residence, a retirement home for widowed and elderly ladies of the Elks, to be built adjacent or near to the Crippled Children's Hospital.

The project has the two-fold purpose of providing a pleasant, dignified home where ladies can live in fellowship with their kind, and also continue in the mainstream of useful, purposeful activity by acting as "Surrogate Grandmothers" to young patients in the hospital.

It was voted, without dissent, to approve this special project and to pledge support to it.

All was not work at the conference, however. The local group welcomed guests with a cocktail party on Friday, and a banquet was served Saturday evening following a 6 p.m. cocktail party. Banquet speakers included Baker, Harry Curran, V.P. of the Southeast District of Florida Elks Association, and Honorable Charles Pride, State President of FSEA.

It was the 20th anniversary of the Stuart-Jensen Anna Miller Circle and a huge birthday cake was cut and served for dessert. Entertainment was provided by Woody Martens at the organ and the Anna Miller Circle No. 1870 Revue.

Visitors were sent homeward on Sunday morning with a "Bloody Mary" breakfast hosted by the Elks.

Four-county council okays budget

PORT ST. LUCIE—A $147,387 budget as adopted by the Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council last week is still not become official until it is formally adopted at next month's meeting.

Last week's session was not advertised as required in the Administrative Register Weekly, a state listing of pending meetings under the Administrative Procedures Act.

The budget is to provide for five staff members, furniture and office space. Salaries for staff members will be $64,300.

There was some debate among council members before a four-member staff was approved.

Rather than set up another bureaucracy, let's use our men that we've got now," St. Lucie County Commissioner George Price said.

Port St. Lucie Mayor Schuyler Sharpe also criticized the proposed staff, pointing out, "If we cannot utilize the talent already available in the various counties, it is a poor indictment of the use of funds."

"If we use all our money for staffing," Sharpe continued, "the money never gets to where it is supposed to be.

"Just because other planning councils have a staff doesn't mean we have to have one," the mayor said.

But council members were warned that if they failed to adequately staff the council, the state might not pay the $45,500 it had pledged to the group — about one third of the budget.

"You have to have this basic staff to get state agencies to work with you, to get federal agencies to work with you," Laurey Stryker, a representative of the Division of State Planning, said.

Sam Shannon, the council's executive director, had proposed that, in addition to his own position, the council create the positions of a planning director, planner, executive secretary, and a bookkeeper-clerk typist. Council members didn't complain about the salary ranges proposed but they did object to the titles because they would look bad to the public.

Better relations might be established if the name planning director is changed to something else," Indian River County Commissioner Val Brennan said.

Shannon said that it looked like "all chiefs and no Indians" and agreed to different titles for a planner, salaried up to $17,500 and secretary for up to $10,000.

The counties' share of the $147,000 budget is Palm Beach County, $76,000; St. Lucie County, $11,000; and $7,500 each for Martin and Indian River Counties.

Review set October 26

GDU requests LP gas rate hike

PORT ST. LUCIE—General Development Utilities Inc., this week filed an application with the City of Port St. Lucie to increase the LP Gas rates to its customers by some 13 per cent and requested the city set a date for the public hearing as required by the franchising ordinance.

According to City Administrator Elmer Cox the application will be reviewed by the Council at the October 26 regular meeting. The Council has the authority to approve, deny or delay the matter for further study, but a public hearing must be scheduled a minimum of two weeks prior to any council action.

However for those residents outside the city limits, the increase will be automatic. The new rates will be reflected on their December billing.

At least one River Park resident was not too happy about the rate hike.

"I feel the residents of the unincorporated area should have some say about the rate hike. It seems a bit unfair to think our rates will be increased automatically without any apparent recourse while those consumers within the city will be granted the opportunity to voice their opinion at a public hearing," said George Powers, who claims his gas bill has averaged $30 per month for nothing more than cooking and heating water.

It is not beyond the realm of possibility, however, that the Port St. Lucie River Park Homeowners Association might once again launch out in opposition to the increase. The Association was instrumental in researching and providing an in-depth rebuttal to the GDU application for a water/sewer rate hike submitted to the Florida Public Service Commission. The water/sewer rate hike was rejected and the utility later has since submitted application for a re-hearing.

In its application for an LP gas rate increase, GDU has stated that in the last two years gas rates in almost three years and wants the added increase in rates since the Port St. Lucie Division began in 1959. They have indicated appeal have for the first nine months of 1975 showed a net loss of $43,000.

For a typical residential single-family customer whose warm weather usage is 900 cubic feet, the monthly bill will jump approximately 13 per cent from $8.25 to $9.30. During colder months, when the average residential usage amounts to 1,700 cubic feet, the months bill will increase approximately 12 per cent from $15.08 to $16.17.

For those customers who use less than the new months minimum usage of 100 cubic feet, a typical months bill of $3.98 will be 5 per cent higher, or $4.15.

The annual increase in rates according to GDU is required to offset the double digit inflation that has impacted the Gas division's operating costs over the past three years.

The utility firm claims that for the test year 1975, the PSL LP Gas Division showed an operating income of $36,000 or a return of 3.8 per cent on its $940,000 investment in LP Gas facilities.

While GDU contends the new rates will bring the firm's rates to a level comparable to other gas companies in the area, the City Council has asked the firm to submit a list of the comparable rates.

Samaritans get new ambulance

JENSEN BEACH–A new ambulance has been given to the Jensen Area Samaritans, Inc., by Mrs. Martha Moore.

Mrs. Moore, owner of Lord and Lady Shop on Commercial Street, Jensen Beach, turned over the keys of the new ambulance in brief ceremonies Sunday morning at the Ambulance House.

"The people of the Jensen Beach area and the Samaritans are grateful to Mrs. Moore for her generous donation to the community," George Krauss, night supervisor, said.

"The new ambulance will be designated 'Rescue 612' and will replace an old ambulance that must be taken out of service at the end of the year," Krauss said.

"The Samaritans now have three first line ambulances that meet all of the latest federal and state requirements," Krauss said.

"Samaritans can still use volunteers who want to be ambulance attendants and drivers. Anyone interested in joining should call Nellie Cook, 334-5312, or attend the next meeting Wednesday, Nov. 3, at 8 p.m. at the Ambulance House," he said.

The Samaritans will hold open house at the new Ambulance House from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 7. The Ambulance House is located on South Savanna Road between Pinelake Village and Tropical Acres Park.

Big turnout expected

Voter's turn is Nov. 2

JENSEN BEACH–Political candidates have been on the campaign trail for months, shaking hands, making promises and pledges, and now it's the voter's turn to speak – Nov. 2 at the voting booth.

A big voter turnout is predicted in Martin County by Supervisor of Elections Sandra Randolph.

Noting that the county had one of the highest voter turnouts for both primaries, Mrs. Randolph is predicting a 75 percent vote in the Nov. 2 General Election.

"Some people say that my prediction is too high, but I expect a big vote," she said.

She pointed out that there has been a big request for absentee applications. "We have issued more" than 1,500 absentee applications by Monday," she said.

Because of the number of races and 11 constitutional amendments on the ballot, Mrs. Randolph urges voters to "vote early and be familiar with the amendments.

"Because of the extensive reading matter on the amendments, voters should read them and be familiar with candidates before going into the voting booth," Mrs. Randolph urges voters.

The ballot includes presidential, congressional, state and county candidates.

Heading the ballot are the presidential candidates, Jimmy Carter, Democrat; Gerald Ford, Republican; Tom Anderson, American; Eugene McCarthy and Lyndon LaRouche, both Independents.

Lieutenant Gov. Democrat and John Grady, Republican, are vying for the U.S. Senate seat with Bill Sikes, Democrat, and L.A. "Skip" Bafalis, candidates for U.S. Congress, 10th District.

In the state races, Bill Gunter, Democrat, and Betty Armistead, Republican, are candidates for State Treasurer, and Katie Nichols, Democrat, and Paula Hawkins, Republican, are in the Public Service Commission race.

Voters in Precincts 1, 2, 11, 14, 19 will cast ballots in the State House of Representatives race, District 76, between Dale Cassens, Democrat, and Sue Hickman, Republican, while voters in the other county precincts will cast ballots for State House of Representatives, District 77, between William Taylor, Democrat, and Ed Norton, Republican.

On the county level, the races include Clerk of Circuit Court, Lettie Zarrutt, Democrat, vs. Eugene Sauers, Republican, and W.G. "Bill" Koehler, Jr., Democrat, is opposing James D. Holt, Republican, in the sheriff's race.

The Property Appraiser's race matches A.D. "Augie" Maiffredo, Democrat, vs. Fred Humberstone, Republican, and W.E. Stuart, Democrat, opposes James Savitsky, Republican, in the school superintendent race.

County Commission, District 1, candidates are M.L. Hurst, Democrat, William G. Myers, Republican, and R.C. "Dick" Lindsey, American. In the County Commission District 3 race the candidates are John W. Holt, Democrat, vs. Bob Kupp, Republican.

In the school board race, District 2, Peggy Robbins, Democrat, opposes Carolyn Lichy, Republican, and in the District 4 race, R.D. "Skip" Browder, Democrat, opposes David Crandall, Republican.

There are almost 25,000 registered voters in Martin County.

Ladies feted at Lions banquet

BY JACK SCOTT

JENSEN BEACH–The ladies were honored for their contributions to the activities of the Lions Club of Jensen Beach at a combination Halloween and installation banquet at the V.F.W. Hall Saturday night.

The dinner was spiced by imaginative costumes that had the Lions and their guests roaring.

The prize for the best costume went to Riley, who walked off with first for "last of the red hot mamas" get-up. Mahoney tripped over his cane on his way to pick up second prize and Jeanette Weiss took third for her ghastly make-up that would have done credit to the late Bela Lugosi. Al Walker was considered for a prize until the judges discovered that he was wearing his Sunday suit.

Harvey Schlemmer, past president of the Lions Club of Jensen Beach, received one of the highest accolades that can be gained as an offer of Lions from Past District Governor Chuck More. It was the "100 percent" President's award signifying that during Schlemmer's term of office, he faithfully executed the duties of his office to the highest degree possible.

New Lion members installed were Joe Bevis, sponsored by Art Riley; Bob Wilson, sponsored by Harvey Schlemmer, and Jack Scott, sponsored by Al Walker. The oath of membership was administered by Bill Weiss, Past District Governor of the Lions.

Each member also received his quota of tickets to the annual Lions Club of Jensen Beach Pancake Day to be held at Langford Fieldhouse Sunday, December 5. Proceeds from the affair will go to The Lions Club projects such as The Florida Foundation for The Blind, Florida Eye Bank, Leader Dog Program and other Lions Club projects.

"Bones" Mahoney, cozying up to her unaware that more was slipping than a "mickey."

BAILEYS–Bill and Maxine Bailey did much to liven the customs with their buttons and bows outfit.

SCHLEMMERS–Harvey and Joan in their 1800's garb. Harvey is past president of the Lions Club of Jensen Beach as well as Zone Chairman of the District.

Fitness at 40-plus

Many people over 40 work against their own physical fitness. These are individuals who assume that because of their age they are no longer capable of much physical effort. One of the greatest dangers to men and women past 40 is living into sedentary ways, either because of job confinement or sheer laziness.

The Florida Medical Association advises those past 40 to do two things with regard to physical exercise.

If not reasonably adept at a specific sport - bowling, golf, tennis or swimming - take instruction in at least one of these or some other form of physical recreation.

Take an inventory of physical activity in the course of the regular daily schedule. This includes on the job and at home. It might include such chores as housework, gardening and maintaining the home, as well as sports. Often these do not provide enough physical activity.

For the sedentary person who decides to become more active, a good starting point is walking. This means a brisk posture walk, holding the belt line level and raising the breastbone.

Then, in addition to regular physical activities, start devoting a part of the weekend to a pleasant physical activity like golf, bowling, dancing, or swimming - something that is really enjoyable.

Fifteen minutes of regular exercise every other day is hardly enough to produce noticeable results quickly, but it is a good start. Over a period of time its benefits will be evident.

With regular exercise, the sagging, dragging middle-ager may well begin to exhibit a total change in attitude. Meals are more enjoyable and there is more interest in the home. Even physical appearance is more vital.

For the person past 40 who decides to begin an exercise program, a visit to their doctor for a physical examination is advisable, to make certain there are no conditions that would limit exertion.

Remember, there is no substitute for the personal relationship with your doctor. Your physician knows your physical condition better than anyone else and can advise what is best for you. As a result of this personal relationship and your doctor's concern for the individual patient, Americans enjoy the best health care available in the world.

This is a medical message from the Florida Medical Association and the Martin County Medical Society in behalf of the doctors of Florida and as a public service feature of this newspaper.

Another voice

I considered my not voting in the 1972 election a protest.

A protest against our two "leading" political parties trying to shove someone down my throat every four years by slick Madison Avenue packaging, lies, innuendos, half truths and other devious means.

Statistically, I feel that there are many others who shared my feelings. It is illustrated by the fact that less than 50 percent of the eligible voters exercised their right to vote in the last election.

Of course, I realize that there are those who simply do not care or will not take the time and effort to vote, but I feel that they are in the minority and that the vast majority of non-voters are simply tired of being lied to and faced with business as usual after the quadrennial circus designed to convince the people that "we really care about you."

This election is no different. On one hand, we have a third rate political hack who was a lackluster Congressman from Michigan until a combination of some rather dismal events catapulted him into the Vice-Presidency and then the Presidency.

Please do not construe this as a lack of respect for the Office of the President. I have the greatest respect for that office and all it stands for. It is because of that respect that I am particular about who occupies it. Somehow, it is difficult for me to have confidence in one who aspires to the highest office of the land and forgets that the Russians have some 30 divisions fully armed and equipped to keep the Eastern Europeans in line.

Then we have "what's his name" who spends more time trying to convince people that he didn't mean what he said than he does outlining the methods he would use to solve the problems facing this country if he were elected. Mr. Carter's success in the primaries was a classic example of keeping out of trouble by not saying anything. While the so-called political pros were cutting each other to pieces, Jimmy sat back with his cheshire grin and picked up the crumbs.

I do not consider either of these men qualified or competent to occupy the highest office in the land.

This time, though, I do have a choice. His name is Eugene McCarthy who as Senator from Minnesota bitterly opposed the Vietnam war and the effect that it was having upon all strains of culture in the United States. He fought against the senseless bloodshed and the waste of our natural resources. Above all, he considered it morally indefensible and an abrogation of the constitutional powers of the Congress of the United States to declare war. His reward for being a voice in the wilderness was to be relegated to that of an outcast by his political peers. However, to their chagrin, it was found that Eugene McCarthy was speaking for the majority of the people of our nation.

This was proven in 1968 when he ran against President Johnson in the New Hampshire and Wisconsin parties and trounced L.B.J. in both, causing him to withdraw from the presidential race. Ergo our brave heroic statesmen sniffed the wind and saw their opportunity and hopped over to McCarthy's views.

The professional politicians, who held their own security and interests above that of the country, saw the danger in this individual who dared to take an unpopular stand and refused to be dictated to. So the old pros united against Eugene McCarthy and, once again, the people's will was nullified.

Humphrey was nominated, Nixon was elected and what happened is now history.

Eugene McCarthy, thank you. You have fought the valiant battle. You have had to go to court in many states, including Florida, to even have your name placed on the ballot. You have restored the true meaning of Democracy and most of all, you have given me a choice.

I know that we are battling the steamroller of organized politics and perhaps many will consider us foolish for dreaming the impossible dream. The same 10 percent of us who vote to say "a chance and not an echo" will continue to tilt with windmills and return, perhaps bloodied, but oh-so-bowed.

Halloween treats: Make them good for the kids

JENSEN BEACH-Mrs. Renee Marsteller of the Indian River Chapter of the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation has some tips about treating youngsters on Halloween.

"For youngsters coming to your house on Halloween, hands outstretched for that traditional trick or treat, why not have a few healthful goodies on hand, besides the usual stock of candies and other sweets."

"Particularly for any diabetic children who stop by," she says. "It will mean a Halloween that can be fully enjoyed by them, too."

Suggested are slim jims, graham crackers, chewing gum, nuts, raisins, corn chips, popcorn bundles, fresh fruit, packaged peanut butter crackers and pretzels.

After all, Halloween is for everyone, says Mrs. Marsteller. "So why not have some goodies that all kids can enjoy."

Besides, I think many parents would be happy to see their youngsters consume a little less candy and a few more healthful treats, she added. "This year, let's make it a Halloween that is not only good, but good for our kids as well."

New Special Service Dialing lets you dial your own person-to-person calls, collect calls, credit card calls, and calls charged to another number.

And there's nothing to it. It's like Direct Distance Dialing, except you start with "0" instead of "1"*.

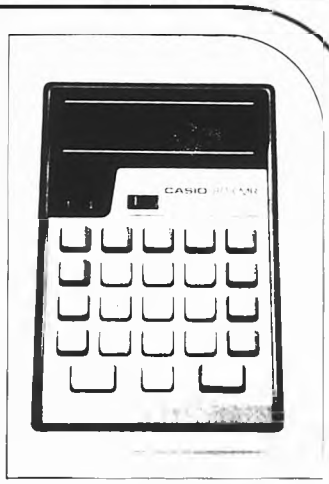
As soon as you finish dialing, an operator will help you complete your call.

Get used to a time-saving new service!

New Special Service Dialing is now effective in Sebastian, Fellsmere, Vero Beach, Fort Pierce and North Port St. Lucie.

Southern Bell

*Direct Distance Dialing rates do not apply to Special Service Dialing.



YOU DON'T NEED ONE OF THESE TO FIGURE OUT THE BEST PLACE TO SAVE!

It's really quite simple. No savings and loan pays more interest on statement savings accounts or certificates of deposit than First of Martin County.

No bank pays as much.

At First of Martin County you can earn from 5.14% interest, compounded daily, for an effective annual yield of 5.39%, on a statement savings account, all the way up to 7.75%, also compounded daily, for an effective annual yield of 8.06%, on a six year certificate of deposit.*

Any way that you calculate it, your savings will really add up at First of Martin County.

*As is true everywhere, certificates are subject to substantial interest penalties for early withdrawal.

At First of Martin County, we care about your future.

PORT ST. LUCIE CHAPTER NUMBER 2896

We better start of by telling everyone that we're no longer protem and pending, for we received our charter last week and can now proudly proclaim Chapter Number 2896. So, now to business.

FINANCIAL MEETING

The regular meeting was held Thursday, Nov. 21, 1:30 p.m. in the North Port Marina. There were 100 plus in attendance.

Ten Chapter Rules and Procedures drawn up and read by Hugh Jencks) were given to the members for consideration before submitting them to the board of directors for approval.

Two speakers from Dean Witter and Co., Inc. of Stuart brought the members up-to-date on investment and financial matters. The questions from the floor show that many members did have problems that needed clarification. It was a good program.

NOMINATIONS

Now that permanent officers and directors must be chosen for the coming year, Tom Dollan, chairman of the nominating committee, was asked to draw up two slates to be presented at the November meeting, for election at the December meeting. A plea was made for all members to act as a committee and come up with a list of suitable names.

Fred Wiggin concluded the meeting by again reminding the members to get out there and VOTE. If transportation is needed, call him and he'll alert some politician to the need.

TAXI SERVICE

Many folks in Port St. Lucie who are without wheels are often at a loss to find transportation to doctors, clinics, markets or social affairs, as taxi service called in from nearby towns can be very costly.

Therefore, Fred Wiggin and Jim Kearney got together with a taxi service and discussed the idea of having a cab based in Port St. Lucie, using radio control for routing the calls. Such a service could result in considerable saving, as the charges would start and end right here in Port St. Lucie, and not in some distant town. There would, of course, have to be nuisance nuisance to make this a profitable arrangement, so the taxi service is to make a survey and all folks who believe they could use such a service are asked to get in touch with either Fred or Jim.

SWIN FLU INOCULATIONS

The clinic at the Elementary School Saturday went very well, with an estimated 1000 or more receiving the vaccine. Fred Wiggin was active in seeing that things ran smoothly. AARP Secretary Geraldine Castenson helped by bringing 21 members to the clinic.

There is no stopping the flow of folks from the northlands at this time of the year, however it abated a bit this week, as some probably decided to wait until after the elections. But, even 30, 35 more joined us, making this season's total 303. They were: Ruth Hale, Elmer and Dorothy MacKenzie, Dr. Jasper and Dorothy Robertson, Alma Shotwell, Harry and Jean Jewsbury, Virginia Bolton, Robert and Mary Strohm, Vincent and Mary Kubilis, Lewis and Kathleen Newman, Johnie and Crystal Sumner, Ted Chilton, Claude Kepple, John and June MacHaffie, Charles Nickles, Ed and Flora Schaubach, Ann Bartle, Harvey Hill, L.S. and Minnie Brammer, Louis and Lillian Dodge, George and Nellie Hall, Nae and Dorothy Calder, William K. and Gertrude Jones.

Last summer one could stroll across Indian River Drive without a care in the world; well, almost, but now one takes his life in his hands as he crosses from Lil Bit Lane or Vista Drive to the office or when he tries to nose his car into the whizzing traffic. The flashing yellow light and 25mph speed limits are completely ignored by most and those who do observe the rules will be passed by those who don't; double line or not. Probably late afternoon to dusk is the most hazardous time, but the roar of speeders continues all night. Maybe, "Smoky taking pictures" (that's CBers talk) would help a bit. Anyway us OBPers must keep alert or we'll have other tragic accidents like a few years ago.

The "Lethal Yellowing" of coconut palms isn't going to get a start in Ocean Breeze if Gene Hoke can help it, as he's started Ralph Kramer on an inoculation program. A "Terramycin Tree Injection Formula" is now being used on all coconut palms with those on Lil Bit Lane getting their shots first.

The water pipe replacement project is nearing completion with hardly an inconvenience as the pipes from Ocean Breeze Drive south to Kumquat are being changed to a new, improved and approved type.

The MCCA Meals-on-Wheels program, with Jim Nixon and Freda Peterkin taking care of delivery, now has three or four stops in OBP. This is one project that the community can be justly proud of. Think of it, it has grown in a month from four routes of 20 stops to now seven routes with 35 stops, and not one cent of government funds was used. Donations of time and money has kept it alive so far, but more of both are urgently needed as it costs about $60 per day to operate. For info, telephone 283-2242.

Election is just around the corner, thank goodness (?). The Town Council urges every registered voter to get out and VOTE. If we can again have the highest voter participation in the county, the politicians will be notified that we want consideration. To find out if you are registered properly, call 283-6760.

THANK YOU

George Henle and his wife Winnie want to express their gratitude for the wonderful service of the doctors and nurses at Martin Memorial Hospital during his recent confinement. Also to George's many friends and neighbors for the cards and visits.

PARK EVENTS

Ruth Hoke announced that there'll be a dance in the Clubhouse Saturday, Oct. 30, at 8:30 p.m. These first Saturday night dances will be mixed square, round and ballroom, that is until the classes start up. Ruth says that'll be about mid-November with Ed Henderson having a ceramic class and arrangements for art, sewing, leather hobby, being worked out.

Camera Club: The first slide show meeting will be Thursday, Nov. 4, at 7 p.m. in the Clubhouse, and it is rumored that Dot Beck will show some of Ann Bartle's slides of an Airstream Caravan tour to Hudson Bay.

Shuffleboard: Irma Fair, president of Shuffleboard Club, wants everybody interested in shuffling to attend the meeting Monday, Nov. 1, at 9 a.m. in Clement Hall, when plans and schedules for the season will be drawn up.

The Central East Coast District will have Amateur Doubles Monday, Nov. 1, at Stuart. Pete Muller, Frank Greenlaw, Gus Fusco and Emma Saum have signed up.

The Central League team is being organized right now with Evelyn Groves, Ted Witmer, Elsion Lehning and Harvey Chase making up two of the teams.

The Petticutters are off to a good pre-season start with four courts busy at 9 a.m. Tuesday. All gal shufflers are asked to get in some pre-season practice as the Stags must be beaten this year.

HOSPITAL, ETC.

Donations for the Jensen Area Samaritan Ambulance fund have been made by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kutil. You know, there is a beautiful new ambulance building on 1350 N.E. Samaritan St. (off S. Savanna Rd. between Pine Lake Village and Tropical Acres). There'll be a dedication at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 7.

Home from the hospital are: Mable Mast, 3 NE Sixth; Everett Ashley, 18 Ocean Breeze Dr.; George Heede, 28 Key Lane.

However, the following OBPers are still in Martin Memorial Hospital: Blanche Hare of First St. (resident since 1945); Oscar Wahlquist of S. Sixth; Mrs. Hedvig Forslund, 9 Almond; and Muriel Kutil, West End Blvd.

Al Wickes won't be down this year as he is in hospital at Towaco, N.J. 07511. Molly Butterfield, up there in Massachusetts, quite cheerfully says that she'll soon be on her two feet again after a recent fall that broke her hip. Andy Pickard, a resident of OBP for many years, fell on Oct. 3, breaking his hip. Mary, his daughter, says he is recovering nicely in Rm. 416, Community Memorial Hospital, Ventura, Calif.

Wow! I made two mistakes in one item last week. It wasn't Mrs. Eleanor Baltrus who died, it was Mr. John, and it was not reported to me by your "old" correspondent, Leta Keith. It was by your ex-correspondent, Leta. Sorry about that.

RAMBLING AROUND

While rambling around distributing some 50th wedding anniversary photos that The Mirror was discarding (file clean out time), I ran into many interesting stories, too many to print this week, so if your story isn't found now, maybe it'll appear at a later date. Here goes for a start:

Bea Tourville of Mango had the greatest vet tour of the British Isles last month. Bea says that in spite of too much rain, that must have made up for all that summer drought, she saw just about everything, including Loch Ness without a monster waving to the Queen who waved back, coming out of Crathie Church meeting other Janet Badlands on the street. Bea says he's sure "and watching the kilted Queen's Regiment marching down a hill" it was awe inspiring; but Bea said she liked Wales best of all. I'll be Glad to see her next year.

Elmer and Dot MacKenzie are just back from a Travco caravan to Alaska on their motorhome. It was all very delightful, but Dot in no uncertain terms mentioned the muddy pot holes of the Alcan Highway, saying it was terrible. But, the marvelous wild country with clear blue skies, fluffy white clouds and gorgeous snow capped mountains was worth the effort. They went to Pt. Barrow on the Arctic Ocean where Elmer caught dozens of large king salmon. The pipe line activities were observed as part of the 2,000 mile jaunt. It was educational as well as an entertaining tour.

Harry and Jeanne Jewsbury also had Alaska on their summer itinerary. They took the Princess Patricia ferry on Aug. 28 from Vancouver for eight wonderful days going up to Alaska with six stop-offs for land tours. The magnificent scenery was matched for enjoyment by the excellent entertainment on the boat.

Emily and Boyd Smith accompanied Leta Keith to the Florida Council of Community Churches meeting in Avon Park near Sebring last week. The group of 10 from here included Rev. Johnson, Rev. Kehrli and Rev. Cooper. Leta says it was interesting, informative and entertaining.

Stamp and coin show is Nov. 7

PORT ST. LUCIE—The Port St. Lucie Stamp Club will hold its annual Stamp and Coin Show on Sunday, November 7, at the Community Center (CESA), 200 W. Prima Vista Blvd., from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. admission free.

Members of the club have planned interesting displays and will trade and exchange stamps and coins.

Local dealers participating in the show will include The Treasure Coast Stamp & Coin Co., Ye Olde Coin Shop, Regan's Coinc and Florida International Gold & Silver, Inc.

Added attractions this year will feature handcrafted jewelry, ceramics, rare and unusual bottles, interesting stones, macrame, and a table of plants.

Coffee, doughnuts and sandwiches will be available.

The Port St. Lucie Stamp Club meets on the second Thursday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at the CESA building. The club is interested in encouraging collecting among the youth and is planning to organize a junior club in the near future. At each meeting, members and guests view an interesting film related to topical stamps, and have an opportunity to exchange stamps. A large supply of cancelled stamps is always available for purchase.

Tom Hillegas, secretary, says, "Everyone is most welcome to attend the meetings." Call him at 878-1459 for further information.

SAFETY PATROL—Two members of the Port St. Lucie Elementary School Patrol, Mark Sawick and Doug Fowler, keep a watchful eye over students as they cross Prima Vista Blvd. at the Irving St. intersection. Both boys are fifth grade students at the local school.

ity keeps breast of landfill

PORT ST. LUCIE—While St. Lucie County Commissioners are still undecided on how to take care of the county's solid waste disposal problems, Port St. Lucie officials were told Tuesday that private enterprise offers the least expensive and best solution to the ever-mounting dilemma.

Gerald J. Gersh of Waste Management Inc. told the Council his firm has an investment on the 223 acre site owned by General Development Corporation. If given the word, could have the landfill in operation by the January 1 deadline the county faces.

The decision is in the hands of the county commission, Gersh said, adding that Waste Management is ready to help.

County officials have been struggling for more than a year, not only to find a site for disposal, but to determine whether or not the landfill should be publicly owned and operated.

According to Gersh, if the county does come up with a price estimate of $6 per cubic yard which is less than he would be the cost of every other county in the area, he would have since realized the figure presented an impossible estimate and is currently re-working their cost estimate.

From an ecological standpoint Waste Management has been informed by the Florida Flood Control District that the St. Lucie site was in the flood plain of the county. It is easily accessible, is paved road, the property is high and dry and can be drained if necessary.

Gersh told his listeners that, while the price is important, the most important factor is the ecological impact of the site on the community and the environment.

He also pointed out his firm has an engineering staff that does nothing but design landfills and they take a great pride in the development of these projects.

Waste Management operates a number of landfills in 28 states, including four in Florida, several others in Canada, and recently completed a recycling plant in New Jersey.

The charge included in the disposal fee proposal to St. Lucie County was for the entire yard. They have agreed to "fix" the price with a performance bond.

Understandably the smaller the volume, the more costly to operate. The price we have proposed is the same as those rates charged in the counties of Broward and Dade, he said.

Should the St. Lucie County Commission will reach a decision on the landfill problem is anyone's guess but it is possible the Port St. Lucie City Council intends to keep abreast of the situation being made.

inance committee appointed

PORT ST. LUCIE—Based on the recommendations received from the two homeowner Associations, the City Council Tuesday appointed three local residents to serve on the city's new Finance Committee.

Those appointed were Francis Chandler of 332 N.E. Solida Circle, Don Reeb of 1497 Sunshine Drive, and Ed Taylor of 1290 S.E. San Ignacio Lane.

All three men have excellent backgrounds. Alexander has 30 years experience in accounting, Merz is currently in business as a Certified Public Accountant, and Estes served on a finance committee in Orlando and is also an accountant.

Ex-officio members who will serve on the committee include City Treasurer Lolita Kernohan, City Administrator Elmer Cox, and the City Accountant Gerald Van Patten.

The new group will be provided with a set of guidelines, rules and regulations which will spell out the duties, responsibilities and functions of the finance committee.

Recreation Committee to hold special meet

PORT ST. LUCIE—A special meeting of the City's Recreation Committee will be held on November 1 at City Hall.

Meeting time will be 7:30 p.m.

The only item on the agenda will be the presentation of the proposed master plan for the Sportsman Park facility.

LAST MINUTE CHECK—St. Lucie County Supervisor of Elections James Brooks is pictured above making a last minute check of the Sun-2 ballot. Due to extensive reading matter in the constitutional amendments and referendums, Brooks has urged voters to familiarize themselves with the issues prior to entering the voting booth. Vote Early, Vote Fast is the slogan for the upcoming election.

Civic League pushes city for street plan

PORT ST. LUCIE—The City's recent action in taking over the maintenance of certain streets from General Development Corporation has prompted the Civic League's Board of Directors to once again request that the city refrain from accepting any more streets until such time as a notable part is paved.

In a letter to Mayor Schuyler Sharpe, Mike Reeb, president of the League questioned whether or not the city does have a plan for taking over the streets and if so, what is it?

"We don't feel the citizens of Port St. Lucie have ever had a responsible answer to this question. We would like to ask it again, and with the following addendum:

"Just what needs to be built along the streets before the City takes over maintenance? Sidewalks? Some homes? Homes on all the lots?

"I realize its easy street and road department complete with staff, equipment, headquarters, etc."

Contrary with an operating contract for who has a staff, men and equipment to do the work on a job basis?

"Some other plan?"

Reeb also asked of the City had a written contract with GDC covering street take-over.

If the city administration does not, in fact have a plan, isn't it time one be put together so the citizens could have a realistic idea of how much more their future tax load will be?" he asked.

In closing Reeb suggested if such a plan does exist it be outlined for all to see.

According to George Mantooth, who chairs the Planning and Zoning Board's Streets and Roads Committee, a comprehensive plan is in the beginning stage. He was hopeful the formula could be presented to the Board, for consideration in February 1977.

Vice-mayor Frank Rice has also strongly opposed the take-over of streets, claiming the testing of those streets was insufficient.

Matton Post to receive life charter

PORT ST. LUCIE—The Andre "Andy" Matton Post 10136, V.F.W., of Port St. Lucie will receive the "Perpetual Life Charter" Thursday, October 28.

The Post and Ladies' Auxiliary will hold brief business meetings at 7:30 p.m. Promptly at 8:30 p.m., in open session with the members of the Auxiliary in attendance, Immediate Past Florida State Department Commander Harold G. Schull will present the charter to Commander Carl Pallazzotto. Schull will represent the National Commander in Chief R.D. "Bulldog" Smith in making the presentation.

This is a milestone in the short history of the post. Refreshments will be served and all members of the post and Auxiliary are requested to be present.

Lion flapjack feedfest is Sunday

PORT ST. LUCIE—The Original Flapjack Feedfest, put on by the Port St. Lucie Lions Club, kicks off at 7:30 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 31, with serving at the Community Center continuing until 1 p.m. Offered is a serving of sausage and "all the pancakes you can eat."

Tickets can be obtained from club members or by calling 878-2705. Tickets purchased in advance cost $1.25, but when bought at the door, will cost $1.50.

Members of the club will make and serve the pancakes and Ethel Krall has offered to cook the sausages for this event.

Vote early, vote fast

Big turnout is expected

PORT ST. LUCIE—With the general election only days off, St. Lucie County voters are being urged to familiarize themselves with the ballot before going to the polls November 2.

In predicting a 75 to 80 percent turnout, Supervisor of Elections James Brooks has applied the slogan "Vote Early, Vote Fast." He has also suggested that voters read up on the issues and candidates before election day and, if necessary, mark a sample ballot to take into the voting booths.

"Due to the extensive reading matter in the nine constitutional amendments, it will be next to impossible to read, digest and vote on these issues in the booth within the time allotted," he told the Mirror Monday.

Aside from the nine constitutional amendments and the twelve candidates, Port St. Lucie city residents will also face the referendum on the proposed city charter.

According to Brooks, his office has done a landslide business in processing some 1500 absentee ballots to date.

Absentee ballots may be obtained from the Elections office up until 5 p.m. November 1. All ballots must be returned to the office on or before the 7 p.m. deadline November 2, when the polls close.

Disabled persons who cannot pick up their absentee ballots at the office, may have them delivered by calling the Elections office before 5 p.m. November 1. An Elections Deputy will deliver the ballots.

While indicating the 75 to 80 percent turnout would be large, Brooks said it would not be unusual in the general election year.

In 1972 we had 79.5 percent turnout countywide, however, some south county precincts went as high as 85 percent, Brooks said.

Although there will be thirteen voting machines located in the south county precincts, Brooks stresses time will be of the essence.

"We are encouraging all those who can to vote as early and as fast as possible. This will give the working people a chance to cast their ballots in the late afternoon and evening," he said.

According to Brooks there will be three machines at the Port St. Lucie City Hall, four at the North Port Marina, three at the Community Center (CESA Building), and two at Spanish Lakes.

Those candidates seeking office on the county level include:

Incumbent Katie Norvell Dent, vs. Willie C. Reynolds, Ind. on the Sheriff's race; incumbent Herb Seeninger, Dem., seeking re-election over Nolan Skinner, Rep. for the Superintendent of Public Schools; and in the race for school board member in District Four (c), Peterson, Dem., will face Gene Krueger, Rep.

In state races, Democrat Bill Gunter and Republican Betty Armistead will vie for the office of state treasurer, while Democrat Katie Nichols will try to unseat incumbent Republican Paula Hawkins for the Public Service Commission seat.

On the legislative level, local voters will decide two races by casting their ballots for Dem. Arthur Neubarger or Rep. B. Dale Patchett as representative to the 38th District. Seeking office of representative in the 39th District are Chad Cassens, Dem. and Sue Heckman, Rep.

In Congressional races, Dem. Lawton Chiles will face Rep. John Grady for the United States Senate. Bill Nikes, Dem., faces L.A. "Skip" Bafalis, Rep. for the office of Representative to Congress, 19th District.

In the presidential race, voters will have four choices. Jimmy Carter and Walter F. Mondale on the Democratic ticket, Gerald R. Ford and Robert Dole, Republicans, Tom Anderson and Rufus Shackelford running on the American ticket, and Eugene McCarthy and Shari Cassens, Dem.,

There is no stopping the flow of folks from the northlands at this time of the year, however it abated a bit this week, as some probably decided to wait until after the elections. But, even 30, 35 more joined us, making this season's total 202. They were: Ruth Hale, Elmer and Dorothy MacKenzie, Dr. Jasper and Dorothy Robertson, Alma Shotwell, Harry and Jean Lewsbury, Virginia Bolton, Robert and Mary Strohm, Vincent and Mary Kubilis, Lewis and Kathleen Newman, Johnie and Crystal Sumner, Ted Chilton, Claude Keppie, John and June MacHaffie, Charles Nickles, Ed and Flora Schaubach, Ann Bartle, Harvey Hill, L.S. and Minnie Brammer, Louis and Lillian Dodge, George and Nellie Hall, Nae and Dorothy Calder, William K. and Gertrude Jones.

Last summer one could stroll across Indian River Drive without a care in the world, well, almost, but now one takes his life in his hands as he crosses from Lil Bit Lane or Vista Drive to the office, or when he tries to nose his car into the whizzing traffic. The flashing yellow light and 25mph speed limits are completely ignored by most and those who do observe the rules will be passed by those who don't, double line or not. Probably late afternoon to dusk is the most hazardous time, but the roar of speeders continues all night. Maybe, "Smoky, taking pictures" (that's CBers talk) would help a bit. Anyway us OBPers must keep alert or we'll have other tragic accidents like a few years ago.

The "Lethal Yellowing" of coconut palms isn't going to get a start in Ocean Breeze if Gene Hoke can help it, as he's started Ralph Kramer on an inoculation program. A "Terramycin Tree Injection Formula" is now being used on all coconut palms with those on Lil Bit Lane getting their shots first.

The water pipe replacement project is nearing completion with hardly an inconvenience, as the pipes from Ocean Breeze Drive south to Kumquat are being changed to a new, improved and approved type.

The MCCA Meals-on-Wheels program, with Jim Nixon and Freda Peterkin taking care of delivery, now has three or four stops in OBP. This is one project that the community can be justly proud of. Think of it, it has grown in a month from four routes of 20 stops to now seven routes with 35 stops, and not one cent of government funds was used. Donations of time and money has kept it alive so far, but more of both are urgently needed as it costs about $60 per day to operate. For info, telephone 283-2242.

Election is just around the corner, thank goodness (*). The Town Council urges every registered voter to get out and VOTE. If we can again have the highest voter participation in the county, the politicians will be motivated that we want consideration. To find out if you are registered properly, call 283-6760.

PARK EVENTS

Ruth Hoke announced that there'll be a dance in the Clubhouse Saturday, Oct. 30, at 8:30 p.m. These first Saturday night dances will be mixed square, round and ballroom, that is until the classes start up. Ruth says that'll be about mid-November with Ed Henderson having a ceramic class and arrangements for art, sewing leather, hobby being worked out.

Camera Club: The first slide show meeting will be Thursday, Nov. 4, at 7 p.m. in the Clubhouse, and it is rumored that Dot Beck will show some of Ann Bartle's slides of an Airstream Caravan tour to Hudso.. Bay.

Shuffleboard: Irma Fair, president of Shuffleboard Club, wants everybody interested in shuffling to attend the meeting Monday, Nov. 1, at 9 a.m. in Clement Hall, when plans and schedules for the season will be drawn up.

The Central East Coast District will have Amateur Doubles Monday, Nov. 1 at Stuart. Pete Muller, Frank Geerincks, Guy Fusco and Emma Saum have signed up.

The Central League team is being organized right now with Evelyn Groves, Ted Witmer, Elston Lehning and Barney Chase making up two of the teams.

The Petticoaters are off to a good pre-season start with four courts busy at 9 a.m. Tuesday. All gal shufflers are asked to get in some pre-season practice as the Stags must be beaten this year.

HOSPITAL, ETC.

Donations for the Jensen Area Samaritan Ambulance fund have been made by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kutil. You know, there is a beautiful new ambulance building on 1250 N.E. Samaritan St. (off S. Savanna Rd. between Pine Lake Village and Tropical Acres). There'll be a dedication at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 7.

Home from the hospital are: Mable Mast, 5 NE Sixth; Everett Ashley, 18 Ocean Breeze Dr.; George Heale, 28 Key Lime.

However, the following OBPers are still in Martin Memorial Hospital: Blanche Hare of First St. (resident since 1945); Oscar Wahlquist of S. Sixth; Mrs. Hedvig Forslund, 9 Almond, and Muriel Kutil, West End Blvd.

Al Wickes won't be down this year as he is in hospital at Towaco, N.J. 07511. Molly Butterfield, up there in Massachusetts, quite cheerfully says that she'll soon be on her two feet again after a recent fall that broke her hip. Andy Pickard, a resident of OBP for many years, fell on Oct. 3, breaking his hip. Mary, his daughter, says he is recovering nicely in Rm. 416, Community Memorial Hospital, Ventura, Calif. 93001.

Wow! I made two mistakes in one item last week. It wasn't Mrs. Eleanor Baltrus who died, it was Mr. John, and it was not reported to me by your "old" correspondent, Leta Keith II was by your ex-correspondent, Leta. Sorry about that.

RAMBLING AROUND

While rambling around distributing some 50th wedding anniversary photos that The Mirror was discarding (file clean out time) I ran into many interesting stories too many to print this week (so if your story isn't found now, maybe it'll appear at a later date). Here goes, for a start:

Bea Tourville, of Mango, had the greatest yet tour of the British Isles last month. Bea says that in spite of too much rain, that must have made up for all that summer drought, she saw just about everything, including Loch Ness without a monster swaying to the Queen who waved back) coming out of Crathie Church, meeting actor Jason Robards on the street. Bea says he's nice, and watching the kilted Queen's Regiment marching down a hill (it was awe inspiring); but Bea said she liked Wales best of all. It'll be Greece next year.

Elmer and Dot MacKenzie are just back from a Travco caravan to Alaska in their motorhome. It was all very delightful, but Dot, in no uncertain terms, mentioned the muddy pot holes of the Alcan Highway saying it was terrible. But, the marvelous wild country with clear blue skies, fluffy white clouds and gorgeous snow capped mountains was worth the effort. They went to Pt. Barrow on the Arctic Ocean, where Elmer caught dozens of large king salmon. The pipe line activities were observed as part of the 12,000 mile jaunt. It was educational as well as an entertaining tour.

Harry and Jeanne Jewsbury also had Alaska on their summer itinerary. They took the Princess Patricia ferry on Aug. 28 from Vancouver for eight wonderful days going up to Alaska, with six stop-offs for land tours. The magnificent scenery was matched for enjoyment by the excellent entertainment on the boat.

Emily and Boyd Smith accompanied Leta Keith to the Florida Council of Community Churches meeting in Avon Park, near Sebring, last week. The group of 11 from here included Rev. Johnson, Rev. Kehrli and Rev. Cooper. Leta says it was interesting, informative and entertaining.

Expanded library is dedicated

JENSEN BEACH–The expanded Martin County Public Library was dedicated in ceremonies last Sunday afternoon with about 100 persons attending.

The $243,000 building includes a new wing, renovated old section and nearly triples the library size. The expansion, completed over the summer, will provide a new public meeting room, clear office space for the staff, and space for a new paperback collection.

The building contains nearly 18,000 square feet of reading area, and can handle more than 80,000 volumes.

LeRoy Hennings, library director, said he would like to see the library expand into a public information center. He said he sees no reason why information cannot be available to the public or at least staff members can correctly direct a resident to the proper source.

Viewers get a chance to speak

JENSEN BEACH–Starting on Monday of this week, Oct. 25, Channel 5 viewers are given a chance to speak with a new program entitled "The People Speak."

WPTV has designed the program to provide the public with an opportunity to speak on television about issues of public importance.

Persons interested in the program must write a 100-word statement and sent it to: The People Speak, WPTV, Post Office Box 510, Palm Beach, FL 33480.

All statements received will become the property of WPTV, and, if selected, that individual will be contacted for a taping session which will be aired at different times.

Auxiliary plans auction

JENSEN BEACH–Members of the Jensen Beach Fire Department Auxiliary are reminded to bring "goodies" to the November 1 meeting to be auctioned off as "funds are running low."

Meeting time is Monday, Nov. 1, 8 p.m.

World Community Day is Nov. 5

JENSEN BEACH–World Community Day, sponsored locally by Church Women United of Martin County, will be observed Friday, Nov. 5, at St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Stuart, beginning with coffee at 9:30 a.m., followed by services in the church at 10 a.m.

During the services, layettes, children's clothing and health kits, made during the summer, will be presented.

Bruce Leighton is the scheduled guest speaker. His remarks will follow the World Community Day 1976 theme, "Into the Third Century - Unafraid."

Mrs. Bruce Leighton is chairman of the program. Women of all churches are invited.

PSL News

BY DOROTHY BRUNTON
878-4984

You've all heard the expression "I could write a book" about a certain event, but the person adds "I don't want to bore you."

Well, I could write a book about the cruise to River Ranch Resort by the cruisers group of the PSL Yacht Club ... I don't want to bore you!

I will, however, give you the highlights. Six boats and 26 members and guests left the Sandpiper Marina on Sunday morning. Another boat with 10 aboard was to join the convoy at the Okeechobee Waterway Bridge. Since the boat wasn't there, Bob Brunton, as cruisemaster, notified by the St. Lucie Marina to see if the boat was ready. Unfortunately there was motor trouble, and all you boaters know what that means. Since no one knew how long the delay would be, Bob left to join the convoy. We caught up with them in Indiantown. From there we left for Okee Tantie, the next stop for lunch and fuel. And then up the Kissimmee River to River Ranch Resort.

It was about a 50 mile ride through 5 locks and cattle country. Everything was perfect: the weather, the ride, the fun in the locks. We even had the gold dust twins leading the "singing."

At about 5 p.m. we arrived at our destination, showered and changed and after a delightful dinner, most everyone was ready to call it a day! But while eating, Bob got a call that our last boat had run out of gas - 2 locks back. He and Bob Tew had all the available gas tanks filled and went to the rescue. While we all had been in the last lock, our late friends were only three locks back, but to add insult to injury, the lock stuck and our friends were stuck for 1½ hours while a mechanic came from somewhere to unlock the lock. However, the extra gas was passed over and the rescue boys got back to the motel, bringing some of the passengers.

During the day there were many activities one could partake of, but most of group played bridge, golfed, fished, or just relaxed by the pool.

Thursday night we had a cook out. One thing we didn't run out of was food. It was plentiful and delicious. Joe Cornwell furnished the music and dancing followed dinner.

The highlight for most of the cruisers was the breakfast cooked by the Captains the next morning. Activities throughout the day were about the same.

Saturday we headed home. Every thing went as smoothly as on the trip over until we hit Lake Okeechobee. And then Lake Okeechobee hit us. It was very rough! Waves 2 to 4 feet deep. But having good captains manning the boats, we made it. After a good ride the rest of the way everyone got home safe and sound. And the main question is: when and where is the next cruise?

Vince and Vi Metzger of Harborview Dr. became grandparents for the 6th time. The proud parents are their son Gerry and daughter-in-law Kathy. The new baby girl wasn't named yet when I received this glad news. Youngstown, Ohio, is the home of the new little Metzger.

Mark and Gloria Radove of Detroit visited her parents Bob and Maimie Gordon of Arbor Avenue. Beside the sunshine, they enjoyed being with the Gordons, their friends and golfing. From here they flew to Arizona to visit friends, and then back to the grindstone in Detroit.

Bob Jr. and Peg Gordon of Casparilla Avenue celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on a Caribbean cruise to the Dominican Republic, San Juan, and several stops. Congratulations on your anniversary, Bob and Peg.

Stella Barr, Stella Dobrowolski and I took a bus trip to Busch Gardens last week, and had a most enjoyable time. The others on the bus was genial and had their pretty, competent escort, Jerry Geller took us under her wing we had dull care behind and were free to have fun. We departed the Gardens at the head for Clearwater and the Tarpon Tree Inn where we tried to see everything and had a delicious meal in the Florida Room.

Ray Dunovan was delighted to have as guests her sister Elena and brother-in-law James Bjorklund from Hollywood, California. All three went to the space center in Cape Canaveral, where Jim found the space outfit he had designed plan. They also went to St. Cloud to see another sister, Bernice James, and Kissimmee Gardens. The Bjorklunds went to Miami from here, and plan to visit his sister in Nevada before returning home.

Marguerite Ritenour sat across from me at bingo last week, and told me their daughter Catherine Kirker had driven her and Herschel down and will fly back.

Nettie Keefer and Emil Tweit shared the calling at bingo, and although Agnes Surrency won four games, trying to better my record she didn't succeed. The jack pot was shared by Alice Willoughby and Addie Thomas.

Flossie Roberts of Lowell, Indiana and Lucille Masters of Columbus Ohio, who came to us recently, were welcomed by all the players.

Happy Birthday, Walter Reeder! I was invited to the dinner party Alice gave in Walter's honor on October 20, but since that's the day we went to Busch Gardens. Alice saved a piece of Walter's delicious birthday cake for me. Alice and Harry Eastlack were there to join in the festivities.

To make highways as safe as nuclear plants, you'd have to eliminate cars.

The danger of getting behind the wheel of an automobile is seldom given a second thought.

However, consider this. On a yearly basis, your chances of having a traffic fatality is 1 in 4000. 1 in 4000 is pretty good odds. But not nearly as good as that achieved by nuclear power plants.

To date, nuclear power plants have a zero fatality rate. The odds: 1 in 5 billion. Because they're constructed as safe as is humanly and mechanically possible.

Commercial nuclear power plants have been operating for more than 320 reactor years without a single accident—let alone fatality. No new technology has ever been developed with as much concentration and expenditures on safety.

How safe are nuclear power plants when compared with non-nuclear risks? Dr. Norman Rasmussen, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, conducted a study for the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission. His findings are rather dramatic. (See chart.)

We realize of course, that there is an element of risk in everything an individual does from driving a car to taking a bath. However, any potential risks involved in the use of nuclear power for electric generation have been minimized by adopting and maintaining the highest standards of safety in design, engineering and construction. Such as requiring redundant protective equipment and systems.

The nuclear power industry has been built with the greatest concern for public safety, and this will continue to be a prime objective. No other industry can match nuclear power's safety record. A record we intend to keep.

We welcome Mary Cammack back from her exciting vacation around the New Orleans area. Husband Jack provided the itinerary for the fun.

The many friends of Vasco Abreu will be sorry to learn that, while attending the New England Unit rally in Pittsfield, Mass., over the October 8 weekend, Vasco had the misfortune to suffer an accident. As he was preparing to retire for the night, he lost control of his wheelchair, resulting in breaking his leg in two places.

With his quiet nature, not wishing to disturb his fellow Airstreamers, he drove himself to the nearest hospital. The doctors there found it necessary to place a pin in the leg, and when Vasco is able, he will be taken to the Veterans Hospital nearer his home.

In the meantime, the hosts of the rally have taken his trailer and set it up near their own home, so that Pilar will be comfortable during Vasco's hospital stay.

Ginny and Vince Stratford had a ball with guests Maureen and Hal Holmes on the shake-down cruise of Stratfords' new motor home. They stayed at a campground in Melbourne Saturday night but, as it was their first trip, had forgotten to bring along enough charcoal lighter fluid to cook the steaks and had to scrounge around for substitute fuel.

Every camper knows it is best to build a fire on ashes from a previous fire, so good boy scouts Hal and Vince proceeded to do that, but neglected to notice the ashes in the fireplace were damp! By the time the steaks were cooked and dinner served at 10 p.m., they had such a roaring fire that the embers will still warm Sunday morning, and they cooked breakfast outdoors.

Sunday they toured Cape Canaveral and, somewhere, spotted a motor home for sale. Maureen and Hal bought it and brought it home to Holiday Out on Wednesday. This is the way to travel!

Rita and Frank Streba logged 16,000 miles on their new motor home this summer. Spent some time at their favorite summer spot, Meadowbrook in Cherokee, N.C. Attended the Olympic Games in Montreal and took many other trips.

Martin polls 76 percent in election

JENSEN BEACH--Of the 27,680 registered voters in Martin County, 19,679 voters went to the polls and cast their ballots.

Supervisor of Elections Sandra Randolph said that the vote was 76 percent, counting the 1,451 absentee ballots which will be counted at the official canvass of ballots.

Mrs. Randolph had predicted a 75 percent voter turnout.

Holt, Isaacs, Navitsky, Myers sweep

JENSEN BEACH--In a record turnout Martin County voters Tuesday returned four incumbent county officials to office.

Sheriff James Holt, Clerk of Circuit Court Louise Isaacs and School Superintendent James Navitsky, all Republicans, registered landslide victories.

Only School Board member District 4 Democratic incumbent Peggy Robbins trailed her Republican opponent, Carolyn Lichty. Only 399 unofficial votes separated that race and the more than 1,400 absentee ballots to be counted today (Nov. 3) could change that outcome.

Mrs. Lichty polled an unofficial vote of 8,383 to Mrs. Robbins' 7,984.

In the County Commission District 3, voters returned Dr. William G. Myers to his old seat on the board after a four-year absence. Dr. Myers will be joined on the board by John W. Holt, Jr., Democrat, who defeated Republican Bob Kopp. The unofficial tally in that Commission District 5 race was Holt, 9,255 to Kopp's 6,454.

While Sue Hickman out-polled Dale Cassens in the Jensen Beach area State House of Representatives District 76 race Cassens out tallied Mrs. Hickman in the St. Lucie County precincts to win the race.

In the Property Appraiser race, A.D. "Augie" Malfregeot defeated Fred Humberstone, with the unofficial tally 9,309 to 7,633.

Sheriff Holt was the unofficial vote getter in the county, polling an unofficial tally of 13,973 with his opponent, W. G. "Bill" Koehlke Jr. getting 3,906 tallies.

Mrs. Isaacs was a big vote getter in winning another term as the Clerk of Circuit Court. Mrs. Isaacs tallied an unofficial vote of 12,593 to Lettie Zarnits' 4,837.

School Superintendent Navitsky defeated W.E. Stewart 10,347 to 6,599.

Dr. Myers, Republican, defeated two opponents, polling an unofficial vote of 10,910 to Blemoreal M.L. Hurst's 3,890 and American Party candidate R.C. Dick Lindsey's 2,917.

In the other school board race, District 4, it also was a cliff hanger with David Lee Crandall edging R.D. Breeden 8,420 to 7,852 and the absentee ballots could change that outcome.

Martin County voters gave President Ford 19,822 votes to Jimmy Carter's 8,352 and voters here favored Senator Lawton Chiles over John Grady, 8,920 to 8,243.

And Skip Bafalis defeated Bill Sikes 11,455 to 5,452 in the U.S. Congressional race, District 10.

While Mrs. Hickman was losing the state representative race to Cassens, she carried Jensen Beach Precinct 1, 886 to 571, and Precinct 19, Jensen Beach Community Church, 472 to 364.

In Martin County precincts, Ed Norton defeated William Taylor, 6,940 to 4,920 in the State House of Representatives, District 77. Some of the precincts in the district also are in Palm Beach County.

JENSEN BEACH--The new Ambulance House of the Jensen Area Samaritans, Inc., will be dedicated Sunday, Nov. 7, with a ribbon cutting ceremony and open house from 2 to 5 p.m.

Martin County Commissioner and Jensen Beach Realtor Ransom Tilton will lead the ribbon cutting ceremonies, according to Samaritan Wally Redit, who will be master of ceremonies for the occasion.

They are two of our benefactors, Redit said. Tilton donated the land for the Ambulance House located at 1250 N.E. Samaran St. just off South Savanna Road between Pinelake Village and Tropical Acres.

The County Commission awarded the $32,741 contract to Bolt Construction Inc. to erect the building.

We have invited representatives of clubs and organizations, all county commissioners, people who donated to the Ambulance House Fund, Jensen Fire Departments, other ambulance groups and local news media, Redit said.

Redit said the flag pole would be dedicated to Bill Shipbottom, Samaritan president who died this year.

In a fund drive, which ended Sept. 1, Samaritans received more than $5,000 in cash and donated items to furnish the building.

Many area businesses donated items to furnish the building, including paint for the building and landscape plants and shrubs.

Several days ago, Martha Shore, owner of Lord & Lady Shop on Commercial Street, donated a tea ambulance to Samaritans.

Redit pointed out that because of the Ambulance House location just off South Savanna Road parking will be a problem for the open house and dedication ceremony and suggested that residents may want to "share a ride."

The Samaritans provide free ambulance service to Jensen Beach, Rio, Sewall's Point, Ocean Breeze Park, North River Shores, Hutchinson Island, Eden and Walton.

Vet services are set

JENSEN BEACH--Armistice Day services will be conducted by Martin County Barracks 854, Veterans of World War I, at 10 a.m. Thursday, Nov. 11, at the Jensen Beach Women's Association clubhouse on Sugar Hill Road.

The memorial address will be given by Mrs. Bert Fulton, principal of Martin County High School.

Oscar Dexter, quartermaster of Barracks 854 and chairman of the arrangements, said the program will open with a call to order and advancing of the colors.

Invocation will be given by the Rev. Kevin MacGabhann, pastor of St. Martin's Catholic Church, and benediction by Rev. Norman Kehrli of the Jensen Beach Community Church, and the musical program will be by the Community Church.

Taps will be played by Bruce Arnold of the high school, and Clarence Snook will sing "My Buddy," accompanied by Roby Wren.

The public is invited and refreshments will be served following the program.

Old items top agenda in Sewalls Point

SEWALL'S POINT--Some items that have been discussed at previous meetings are on the agenda for the 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 17 regular workshop meeting of Town Hall.

North and South River Roads have been the subject of discussion at several sessions and are slated for more discussion.

Mr. Indialantic Subdivision committee has been working with commissioners on the traffic situation North River Road in that community for some months.

South River Road was discussed at a special workshop session last month and some residents in the area of the proposed road would like to restrict the use of South River Road to bicycle and pedestrian traffic except in emergencies.

Town Engineer Richard Hellstrom proposed a tilted road rather than a crowned road to run along the western edge of the peninsula. The road could serve as an emergency exit for residents of the southern section of the town.

Also on the agenda is lethal yellowing of palm trees, and that has been on previous agendas.

Several weeks ago Commissioner Bob Russell proposed that the town unite to battle the threat of lethal yellowing in coconut palms.

Martin County Agricultural Agent Bob Whitis appeared before the commission at a later session and discussed the palm tree disease which has been spotted in the Yacht and Country Club area which is south of Stuart.

Another item on the agenda is the Mandalay Bridge which has been discussed for several years.

Tax bills are moving along

Martin County Tax Collector Alvin Andrews said Tuesday that the office has received some property tax bills.

We received about 4,000 tax bills Tuesday, and it will take us about a week to get some more this... Andrews said.

If we don't have any machine problems, tax bills will be in the mail the last part of next week, he said.

...tters to the editor

...Editor
...lowed is a letter mailed to the
...ssioner of Education for the State
...da and to the Martin County
... Board. I would like to see it
...shed in Letters to the Editor, so that
...ople of the county could see that
...em, not only mine, but many others, are being left to flounder, and it is not fair if the programs are available.

I know that your policy is to print the name of the writer. In this case, I hope you would make an exception because of the children and their peers. Someone has to speak up and ask for help for all the children, but I would not like to have my children teased or marked as dummies because of this letter to the Commissioner.

Mr. Ralph Turlington
Commissioner of Education
State of Florida
Tallahassee, Florida 32304
Dear Sir:

I am writing to let you know how dissatisfied I am in our Florida Education System. I have three children in Jensen Beach Elementary School in Martin County at present.

One is in kindergarten and I don't know if there will be any problems to date. I have one child repeating first grade this year at our request, who is having difficulty learning to read and remember the alphabet. Because this child "is too smart" she cannot receive any extra help at school. The child wants to learn and has been diagnosed by a doctor as having a Learning Disability. However, after being tested by the school psychologist it was found that the child was three points above the state requirements for the Learning Disability Program. This test includes letters of the alphabet and it just so happened that the child knew these three letters, but failed when asked to identify others not on the test. Therefore, the child did not qualify and will be given no help. Which brings me to the next child who is in fourth grade and we have just been informed that the child is a second grade reader. Also, "too smart" and not entitled to the Remedial Reading Program because the IQ is too high.

Something is very wrong with the system of education. Retaining children is not the complete answer. They need more basics and extra help.

I wish you and your commission would take these and all the children with similar problems into consideration and give them the help they need. This past summer there was a Federally Funded Six Week Reading Program at Parker Elementary and only some children from that school could go because it is a Title I school, and Jensen is a Title II school. That's not fair at all. We all pay taxes. Children will be pushed along, become displeased with themselves and society, and become discipline problems. I ask you for education, for the future of America. I remain,

Respectfully,
"Name withheld by request"

To the Editor:

I am very distressed with your endorsement of Peggy Robbins and Paula Hawkins. I must presume that you have not had problems with either one of these people on a professional basis or else you would feel the frustrations of inaccuracy, disinterest and absence of communication I have personally felt with my dealings with them.

I hope at least in these races the influence of the press will be incomplete.

Sincerely yours,
David MacMillan, M.D.

Women attend district meeting

STUART – Ten members of the Woman's Club of Stuart recently attended the District 10 Tour of Officers meeting in West Palm Beach. There were 25 clubs represented with 171 members attending.

After a discussion of the many projects of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs, President Mrs. Elmer Norton of Jacksonville presented her project – the Special Olympics for mentally retarded individuals.

Special Olympics was organized in 1968 and is sponsored nationally and internationally by the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation. It is a program for sports training and athletic competition. It is unique in that it provides for competition at all levels of ability by assigning participants to "competition divisions" based on both age and actual performance.

Local and state games are scheduled during the spring and early summer of each year. The international games are scheduled every four years with competitors invited from foreign countries. The 1975 International Special Olympics were conducted at Central Michigan University with 3500 competitors who qualified through the State and Foreign National Games. The next International Games will be held in 1979.

Leffler applied the "Heimlich Maneuver" to dislodge the obstruction and saved the woman from strangulation.

The "Heimlich Maneuver" is a jerking motion to the area below the rib cage and a strike on the area to free the air up the windpipe and dislodge the item.

The maneuver is part of a first aid training program given to Southern Bell employees.

We are very proud of Leffler for his quick effective action," Burnett said, "and we are pleased to recognize him with the award.

Post 10130 receives Life Charter

PORT ST. LUCIE--At an open ceremony held at the Port St. Lucie Community Center last week, the Andre Andy Mattson Post 10130 V.F.W. and ladies auxiliary were presented with a Perpetual Life Charter number 2922 by Harold J. Schuh, past State of Florida Department Commander.

The Charter was accepted by Post Commander Carl Palazzotto on behalf of the members.

This was a double mile stone in the history of the post which was originally charter on September 27, 1968. Bonoring the 14 present Life Members and the soldier who gave his short life to his country in the Korean War.

Schuh complimented the post on its vers progressive activities, the 34 present Life Members in the post represent 30 percent of the post membership, which is far above the national average of 5 percent.

The amendments

PORT ST. LUCIE--The people of Port St. Lucie and St. Lucie County joined the state voting pattern as they approved and rejected amendments to the Florida constitution.

Four amendments received approval as five hit the dust in the ballot box.

The people approved 1 full public disclosure, 2 merit retention of supreme court justices, 3 judicial qualifications panel, and 8 govern ment funding of retirement plans.

The people rejected 4 community redevelopment tax breaks, 5 housing bonding programs, 6 limitation on government employees, 7 legislative veto of executive regulations, and 9 a capitol and mansion commission.

City charter passes

PORT ST. LUCIE--The city charter that has endured ups and downs for several years of preparation and debate, including volatile sessions between the charter commission and the city council, passed easily Tuesday, 1,100 to 417, and the city of Port St. Lucie enters the third century under a new form of government.

Port St. Lucie voters, enamored by the last minute compromise of the council and former charter commission members made it all happiness and light as they approved of harmony over argumentative politics by an overwhelming vote.

Voters once faced the prospect of three charters on the ballot, the present one, the charter commission's, and one drafted by the city attorney on direction of the council. As debate built, the statesmanlike instincts of the proponents of the two new charters revised, compromised and produced a strong, viable document.

The voters approved the move at the polls.

He said the woman was in a party of several persons who at first laughed at her while one member slapped her on the back. But when she started to turn blue and was clawing at her dress, I knew there was something wrong.

Leffler applied the Heimlich Maneuver to dislodge the obstruction and saved the woman from strangulation.

The Heimlich Maneuver is a jerking motion to the area below the rib cage and a strike on the area to force the air up the windpipe and dislodge the item.

The maneuver is part of a first aid training program given to Southern Bell employees.

"We are very proud of Leffler for his quick, effective action," Burnett said, "and we are pleased to recognize him with the award."

Chamber, bank promotion

Christmas promotion is key-'Try Jensen First'

BY DICK CAMPBELL

JENSEN BEACH–There will be many signs and fliers along the business streets of Jensen Beach and Rio this Christmas season as merchants have keyed their Christmas promotion to "Try Jensen Beach First" in a combined effort to boost business.

The Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Jensen Beach Bank promotion will be unveiled to merchants at 7:30 Wednesday) at a 7:30 p.m. meeting of merchants in the Harry Hoke Room of First Federal Savings building on Commercial Street.

Special Christmas tree buttons, bearing the slogan "Try Jensen Beach First" will be worn by all sales persons, posters, counter cards, and shopping bags will be included in the kits given to the merchants.

"All business is local, and we hope to be able to get all the people of Jensen Beach and Rio shopping in our stores," said Ron Mitchell, president of Jensen Beach Bank.

"We want all salespersons to deal individually with their customers on a person to person basis, to let them know that we have the merchandise, and our salespeople want their business," he added.

Art Hansen, co-chairman of the promotion, told The Mirror, "We know that many people do their shopping outside of Jensen Beach, especially during the Christmas holidays. We want those people to know that we want their business, and in the greatest number of cases, our stores have the same merchandise at competitive prices.

"We also know that if those people do 'Try Jensen Beach First' they will be surprised at the savings they can get, and the friendliness of our merchants, and might just do all their shopping in town."

Beth Zurich, co-chairperson of the promotion, added that shopping at home keeps dollars at home, creating more jobs, a healthy economy here, improves the local standard of living and makes possible a wider selection of merchandise in local stores.

In latest Jensen Beach Mirror statistics, it was found that local families will spend over $42 million this year at retail.

The Christmas promotion will begin on November 27 with the arrival of Santa aboard a Jensen Volunteer Fire Department truck. The entourage will tour the shopping areas and move to the Chamber of Commerce building where Santa will have pictures taken with children.

Though details are not set here, the Chamber hopes to have sales promotions each week up to Christmas, have choral music in the shopping areas, and have Christmas music played from the Chamber building during the season.

precincts in Martin County Jensen Beach area, she lost to Cassens in St. Lucie County.

Martin County voters approved a proposal for making future School Board elections nonpartisan.

Martin County residents voted to approve proposed constitutional amendments (1 sunshine), (2 merit retention of judges), 3 (judicial discipline), 5 (for a state housing finance agency), 6 (state employee cap), and 8 (funding of retirement systems).

They voted against proposals 4 (urban development tax breaks), 7 (administrative rules) and 9 (a capitol and mansion furnishing commission). Statewide, 1, 2, 3 and 8 passed.

Jack Klett elected Chamber president

JENSEN BEACH–A 1977 budget of $22,100 income was approved by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce directors Monday night.

Treasurer Fred Meeker presented the budget going over each budgeted item and anticipated income and expenditure.

Before the budget was presented, Dan Wilkie said that the directors "put the cart before the horse."

The budget should justify the dues increase, Wilkie said, pointing out that chamber membership dues had been increased earlier this year. "You should come up with the budget first."

Income from membership dues is $10,000, about half of the anticipated total income.

The chamber has budgeted $2,500 for state matching funds for tourism, other anticipated income is $2,000 from the boating guide, $2,000 fireworks fund, and $1,600 from the tourism program.

On the expenditure side of the ledger, $8,000 for tourism program, $4,000 for the executive secretary's salary, and several small expenditures for chamber projects and committees during the year.

Prior to the regular monthly director's meeting, a general membership meeting was held for the election of officers and directors.

Chamber members approved the Nominating Committee selections including Jack Klett, president; Fred Meeker, first vice president; Meeker, treasurer, and Marilyn Epstein, secretary.

The new directors Malcolm Finnegan, Jr., reinstated, Jack Klett and Art Hansen, two-year directors; Stanley Smith, William Selmi and Ronald Mitchell.

Officers and directors will be installed at a dinner Dec. 2 at the Holiday Inn Stuart-side.

In other business, directors voted 8-6 for a resolution asking the county restrict the use of alcoholic beverages on the Jensen Beach public beach between the hours of 9 p.m. and 7 a.m.

Opponents of the resolution raised the question of enforcement of the resolution, and also has the jurisdiction, and pointed out that some group outings would have restraints with beer.

"If we don't control it now, we will lose it forever," Joe Hicks said.

We are concerned about the parking area," Al Epstein added.

And president L.D. Kirkpatrick assured the directors that it wasn't meant to infringe on the rights of the people.

Kirkpatrick also announced that newly elected Commissioner Frank Wacha would give an update report on the Savanna Road and Commercial Street intersection at the December meeting.

And the members were asked by Kirkpatrick to meet Wednesday, Nov. 10, to discuss the new program of "try Jensen Beach first."

Merchants will be given materials, including taped buttons, at the Wednesday evening meeting.

Tag crackdown is in order

JENSEN BEACH–Florida Highway Patrol Director Eldridge Beach has ordered a crackdown on expired automobile tags and vehicle inspection stickers.

Floridians will not be allowed to take driver's license examinations without proof of current tag and inspection sticker, Beach said.

A spot check of parked vehicles in the Jensen Beach area shows that a vast majority of motorists have valid tags and inspection stickers.

SPECIAL RECOGNITION–Three persons were singled out for special recognition at the dedication ceremonies Sunday after of the Jensen Area Samaritans, Inc. new Ambulance House. Jensen Beach Realtor Ransom Tilton, left, donated the land on which the house was constructed. Martin County Commissioner Ross Philbrick, right, worked to get the funds for construction of the building and Martha Moore, owner of Lord and Lady Shop, donated a new ambulance. Samaritan president Roger Hazel made the presentation of plaques.

Ambulance House is dedicated

JENSEN BEACH–Sunday, Nov. 7, was a great day for the Jensen Area Samaritans, Inc. and several hundred area residents joined with the Samaritans in the dedication of the new Ambulance House.

Samaritan Wally Redit, master of ceremonies for the occasion, thanked the many many people and businesses who made donations to the new Ambulance House and have supported the volunteer ambulance group.

And Samaritans President Roger Hazel singled out three persons for special recognition.

"Three people played a great part in getting the Ambulance House," Hazel said.

"We told County Commissioner Ross Philbrick of our needs, and he worked many, many hours in getting the building contract."

In presenting a plaque to Philbrick in appreciation for his work, Hazel told the commissioner "Thank you for what you have done."

The County Commission awarded the $32,741 contract to Bois Construction, Inc., to erect the building.

Continuing the presentation ceremony, Hazel noted, "We had to have land to put the building on." Realtor Ransom Tilton donated the property in the name of Pine Lake Village which is adjacent to the location of the new Ambulance House on South Savanna Road.

Tilton also was presented a plaque in appreciation for his donation of land.

Pointing out that "The government says we must meet certain specifications," Hazel said that one of the old ambulances would be taken out of service this year.

Several days ago Martha Moore, owner of the Lord and Lady Shop on Commercial Street, donated a new ambulance to the Samaritans.

"I don't have a plaque for you," Hazel told Mrs. Moore, "but the ambulance is your plaque."

And the county and Samaritans paid special tribute to Bill Stephenson, Samaritan president who died earlier this year and was a member of the volunteer group for several years.

Commissioner Philbrick read a resolution passed by the County Commission in appreciation for his work while a Samaritan.

The special citation was presented to Stephenson's widow. Also, the flagpole in front of the Ambulance House was dedicated to Stephenson, and his grandson Bradford raised the first flag on the pole.

Redit also presented a special plaque to Mrs. Stephenson.

Redit gave special recognition to the many donations to furnish the building and landscape work.

During the program there were donations in money, including a $525 check from "grateful friends of Holiday Out." Ruth Bowes made the presentation of the check.

Also the Jensen Beach Lions Club has budgeted approximately $300 Lions Club president Tim Weiss informed Redit of the money, pledging $100 as the first installment.

Following the ceremony, residents were served refreshments and a tour of the facility.

INVITATION

STUART–The public is invited to the ribbon cutting ceremony and a "Stroll Down Memory Lane" Saturday, Nov. 13, at the Barn Theatre.

Starting at 6 p.m. the occasion is the dedication of the new addition to the theatre. Champagne punch and cookies will be served.

Martin County Players Inc. say "Help us dedicate the new addition."

ewall's Point zoning rdinance is on agenda

EWALL'S POINT–Sewall's Point commissioners will "clean up" zoning matters at the 7:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 10, meeting at Town Hall.

A review of the new zoning ordinance will be held prior to the second reading later this month.

Also on the agenda for the regular session is the South River Road matter, a continuation of the discussion at the workshop session last week.

The workshop session, a petition presented to the commission by residents requesting that the proposed South River Road be restricted to bike and pedestrian traffic and vehicle use be limited to emergencies.

The road would be built along the northern edge of the peninsula and would be used as an alternate exit from the town hall.

Sewall's Point Road become impassable or blocked in bad weather.

Mayor Ed Gluckler said he would mail all the names on the petition and come up with a decision on how to proceed on the road project.

Another matters, Gluckler reported, is that the next telephone directory in the Sewall's Point residents will be included in both the Stuart and Jensen Beach-Port St. Lucie sections of the directory.

Residents had been complaining that their town friends could not find their telephone numbers in the book. Mail in Sewall's Point is delivered through the Jensen Beach Post Office, so friends often look in the Jensen Beach section of the phone directory, but Sewall's Point phone numbers are listed under the Stuart section.

Also, John Fennuman, former town attorney, reported that the Edward Haas case had been decided in favor of the town.

Haas charged that his town was being ruined because the town accepted a road without proper drainage and then refused to install the drainage.

The town maintained that it had accepted the road without proper drainage, but Haas knew about the situation before he purchased the property and therefore could not hold the town liable for damage.

Commissioners take office on Tuesday

JENSEN BEACH–Three Martin County commissioners will take their seats on the Board of Commissioners in special swearing-in and reorganization of the new commission at 9 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 16.

Frank Wacha and Dr. William G. Myers are returning to the commission after an absence of four years and they will be joined by John W. Holt, Jr.

Holdover commissioners are Tom Higgins and Maggy Hurrehalla.

Council budget adoption expected

JENSEN BEACH–A $147,387 budget will be formerly adopted at the Friday, Nov. 12, session of the Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council which will be held at the Martin County Administrative Center beginning at 10 a.m.

The budget was approved at last month's session but the meeting was not advertised, and formal adoption will be held at next week's meeting.

State law requires that agencies advertise meetings in the Administrative Weekly.

The budget includes $64,000 in salaries for staff members and fringe benefits, including $25,000 for Sam Shannon, executive director.

JENSEN BEACH BANK

Dear Jensen Beach Merchant:

Jensen Beach Bank is very much aware of the tendency of many Jensen Beach residents to patronize local merchants throughout most of the year, but do a portion of their Christmas shopping outside of Jensen Beach.

We think this is a situation which can, and should, be changed. After all, whatever the shopping need, Jensen Beach has it! Consequently, we are sponsoring this year a program to encourage Jensen Beach residents to "Try Jensen Beach First".

Shopping at home benefits all of us. It creates more jobs, it improves the standard of living, and it makes possible a wider selection of merchandise. Jensen Beach Bank will provide area merchants with a packet of supplies including the following:

1. Buttons for clerks to wear reading "Try Jensen Beach First".
2. Counter cards to be displayed in local stores, bearing the legend, "Santa Thanks You For Shopping in Jensen Beach".
3. Try Jensen Beach First" window stickers for store windows and doors.
4. Advertising logos featuring "Try Jensen Beach First" for merchants to use in their newspaper advertising.
5. A musical jingle titled "Try Jensen Beach First", which all local merchants may use for their own radio spots.

We think shopping at home is important. By getting behind this program wholeheartedly, we feel that area merchants can insure that this year, more than ever before, our local residents will "Try Jensen Beach First"!

Sincerely,

JENSEN BEACH BANK

PARK EVENTS

Saturdays Night Dancing is now in full swing starting at 8:30 with an ever increasing crowd. There'll be mixed dancing of square, pattern and ballroom until the classes start up and the Tuesday night square dancing is resumed. Ruth Hoke says no date set for start of classes, watch bulletin boards.

Camera Club had a crowd of 50 for the first meeting which is good for this time of the year. Dot Beck did an excellent job of commentating Ann Bartle's slides of an AARP trip to Hawaii.

This week Ellen Nixon will act as commentator on Ann Bartle's trip out west, including Montana, the great earthquake area, Salt Lake City, Virginia City and many off beat spots. Thursday, Nov. 11, 7 p.m. in the clubhouse.

Shuffleboard activities, as reported by Avis Colby, start off with an account of the November first meeting. President Irma Fair, vice president Bill Jones, secretary Hilda Giblin, and 45 members attended, and the following committees presented their schedules.

Bill Jones, Mgr. Indian River League, first game at Port St. Lucie, Nov. 17. Evelyn Groves, Mgr. Round Robin games, Sat. and Sun. starting Nov. 6 returning to the 4 game winner play with Ella Lee and Ralph Bailets the first winners.

Pete Hollman, Mgr. Pot Luck, said games, all doubles, will be played each Friday at 6 p.m. starting Nov. 12. Ben Tourville, Co-chairman of Petherbay League, games started 8 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 9. George LeBon, Mgr. Stag League hopes to get that league started Monday, Nov. 8. Ted Witmer, Mgr. Turkey shoots will have the first shoot Thursday, Nov. 11, at 6 p.m.

The refreshment committee, Virginia Dreyer and Peg Muller, needs helpers at league games. Instructions for beginners is in session Wednesday with Fred Viland, Ada Bauer and Harvey Hill, instructors.

Avis Colby's information continues. Tournament Director, Fred Viland with Cliff Ogle as assistant. Divisional referee, Joe Wisser and chief score keeper, Betty MacNab. There'll be the usual Christmas Party committee to be appointed.

The following have volunteered as Round Robin managers: Bea Tourville, Nov. 6; Bun Miller, Nov. 13; Cliff Ogle, Nov. 20; Pete Muller, Nov. 21; Larry Brammer, Nov. 27; and Ken Dudley, Nov. 28.

Now that the schedules and managers have been listed, next week we'll start reporting the results of the various games, but first, let's give Guy Fusco and Pete Muller a big hand for getting OBP off to a good start by winning first place in the Amateur Doubles of the Central East Coast District in Stuart last week. Congratulations.

HOSPITAL, AMBULANCE, ETC.

Donations to the Jensen Area Samaritan Ambulance Fund have been made by Velma and Herb Westcott in memory of Gertrude MacKay and Willis Cadwell.

Nan Campbell is in Martin Memorial Hospital and Mary Stiles has been moved to the Stuart Convalescent Home.

Al Wickes of 1 N.E. Sixth St. died in his sleep Sunday, Nov. 6, at the Riverside Hospital in Boothin, N.J., leaving his wife Gertrude, who is staying with their daughter at 41 Long View Ave., Lincoln Park, NJ 07035.

RAMBLING AROUND

Dot Beck, busy as all get-out stopped long enough to tell of her summer activities in Beverly, Mass. and her month on "cloud nine" on a jaunt through Europe.

While in Beverly, she guided folks through the historically famous Cabot House and that was fun, but most of all she enjoyed the first real surprise birthday party since she was eight. Her daughter Betty had friends and relatives to her house for a cook out. There was a bouquet of money, nice warm weather and delicious food to make it a memorable event.

Then, on Sept. 6, Dot flew to London where she joined her 32-member AARP tour group. They "did" London, then flew over to Amsterdam to start their 2400 mile bus tour around Europe. Holland, Germany, Liechtenstein, Italy, Austria, Switzerland and France were taken in stride. Dot remarked that she must have left London the day Bea Tourville arrived, as the awful drought was still on while she was there, but it rained on departure day.

It wouldn't be possible to tell all about Dot's trip, but here is a cute one. Dot claims she wasn't panched in Italy, but a handsome Italian lad did grab her hand and kiss it. Oh Boy! Anyway, Dot did have a nice summer and a great trip. Why don't you ask her about it?

Anna Larsen of 9 Key Lime has enjoyed a two week visit by her son Wally, his wife Ione, and grandson Larry. They had a TT on Lil Bit Lane, but spent all their time with mama.

Irene Burgess' 90 year old sister, Myrtle Slayden, is with her for another winter. Myrtle says that 30 degree Cumberland Furnace, Tenn., weather isn't for her when she can enjoy our balmy Florida climate and OBP's friendly folks. We're glad to have her back with us.

THANK YOU VOTERS OF MARTIN COUNTY

FOR YOUR CONTINUED SUPPORT AND VOTE.

Your efforts show that good law enforcement was vital to you and your families.

Thanks again...

Port Salerno Bank passes $10 million

PORT SALERNO–Port Salerno National Bank surpassed $10 million in assets November 4, according to an announcement by Charles R. Harris, president.

The bank, which was founded in July 1972, has enjoyed rapid growth. On December 31, 1973, assets were at $3,109,000; on the same date in 1974 assets stood at $5,519,000, and on December 31 1975 the assets reached $7,137,000.

"Attaining $10 million in assets in less than 3½ years," said Harris, "is a remarkable performance for a new bank and indicates the excellent reception we have enjoyed in the Port Salerno community." Giving a strong boost to the bank's recent growth, Harris believes is its new facility which was opened on A1A in April of this year.

Port Salerno National Bank is an affiliate of Stuart National Bank and was the first financial institution to open in the Port Salerno area.

I spent a very pleasant long weekend in Daytona Beach with my friends Mary Green and George Stanimann. Friday afternoon we went to the Golden Age Club where we danced to the music of a 10 piece orchestra composed of talented members and thoroughly enjoyed the outstanding performance of a group of youths from Sea Breeze Junior High School who entertained with musical instruments, singing and dancing.

We drove along the beach for 23 miles, at low tide and watched the surfing competition at Ormond Beach which was very exciting because of the high winds and rough seas.

We also walked on the beach every morning and saw sand piled up in some places to the top of the retaining walls; it even covered the steps to the boardwalk.

Deed, check finalize purchase

PORT ST. LUCIE—Negotiations were completed and the purchase of the new City Hall site finalized this week between General Development Corporation and City officials.

As GDC President Louis Fischer turned over the deed to the 14.49 acre site to Mayor Schuyler Sharpe Tuesday, he expressed regrets that the land could not have been a gift, but he assured City officials of GDC's support in every way possible in planning and executing the development of the proposed new Civic Center.

"This has indeed been a delightful experience," Fischer said as he presented the deed in exchange for the City's check in the amount of $71,695.

Total purchase price of the tract situated at the corner of Airoso and Port St. Lucie Boulevards was $79,695. An $8,000 deposit had been submitted earlier.

While Mayor Sharpe agreed he would have preferred acquiring the property by way of a donation, he did praise Fischer and the GDC officials for their cooperation.

Those attending the Tuesday morning session were pleased to hear Fischer announce work on the remaining nine holes of the Wilderness Golf Course was expected to get underway during the first quarter of 1977.

Noting briefly that the original plans which called for five holes to be on the island had been changed, Fischer said that all nine holes would now be located on the mainland.

"We anticipate the course will be open for play next summer," he said.

Fischer also assured local golfers that the golf carts would be repaired or replaced in the immediate future. For some time, resident golfers have been complaining of the poor condition of the carts. However, Fischer said the matter had just been called to his attention.

Reporting on business at the Sandpiper Bay Resort, Fischer told his listeners that, while the facility continues to operate in the red, things are looking up.

"We will once again suffer a substantial loss on the Sandpiper, but not as much as last year, and that is good. We are more than willing to decrease the loss over a period of four or five years," he said, adding that getting better advance bookings has been a big help in decreasing the annual losses.

Groups join forces against FPL

PORT ST. LUCIE—Port St. Lucie area groups Monday initiated an investigation into Florida Power and Light Co.'s $340 million proposed rate increase.

Representatives of three homeowners associations and the PSL Civic League, representing approximately 8,000 persons, moved to test the proposed rate hike.

Bob Brunton, president of the PSL River Park Homeowners Association was named temporary chairman of the group.

The four organizations were successful earlier this year in defeating a 48 per cent proposed rate hike by General Development Utilities, GDU.

Frank Zennia a financial expert who aided in an inquiry into GDU's proposed rate hike was appointed to travel to Tallahassee to study testimony presented by FPL to the Public Service Commission (PSC).

Leaders of the groups established a plan for continuing its investigation including consideration for naming a fund raising chairman to raise an estimated $5,000 which organization representatives say is needed if they oppose the rate hike.

Representatives said they fear other utility companies in the state will follow FPL's base rate and that would mean an increase among small firms through the state.

It was also noted by group spokesmen that GDU was just a little thing in comparison to FPL.

Don White, a director of the River Park group who was one of the more actively involved directors on the GDU rate fight said based on his preliminary study of FPL's proposed rate increase, "there is no doubt we should oppose it."

Attorney Harold Shear, joined the group and said he is serving on an individual volunteer. He agreed to serve the group in any way I can help."

Community leaders Mike Reeb and Seymour Fleming president and vice president of the PSL Civic League, Vern Seaver president of the PSL Homeowners Association, Dick Werges PSL Country Club Homeowners Association, and Bob Brunton and White represenring the PSL River Park Homeowners are leading the inquiry.

SERIOUS BUSINESS—When the Board of the PSL-RP Homeowners Association met last Friday there was some serious business discussed. The decision was made to meet with the other two homeowner associations and the Civic League to discuss the possibility of uniting forces for the purpose of investigating the Florida Power & Light's requested $340 million rate increase. The four organizational heads met Monday and agreed to investigate the proposed rate hike. Pictured above are President Bob Brunton and Secretary Mary Rosenberger of the PSL-RP Homeowners Association who initiated the action.

ity will seek full-time planner

PORT ST. LUCIE—While Council... Kernohan thought the recommendation for the hiring of a city planner was a bit premature the Council voted authorizing City Administrator ... to proceed with the ... advertisements for employment of a full time planner.

In making the motion Councilman Hill Charles said that, while the City has been capable Planning and Zoning ... he did think they needed a professional planner to assist them with the ... Comprehensive Master Plan.

The recommendation was submitted to Council by P&Z Chairman H.R. ... and aired during last week's ... session.

Neighbors outlined earlier what he felt ... goals and objects of the ... Planning & Zoning Board which included plans that the city be a residential community supported by well located commercial, recreational school church and public areas.

Mrs. Kernohan gave no reason for her negative response other than saying she thought the idea was premature at this time.

Requirements of the position state the employee must be a graduate of a four year college preferably with a master's degree in Urban and Community Planning and have a minimum of three years experience with state or federal agencies a county or municipality or with a consultant firm or he must have a bachelor degree in administration or related fields and at least five years experience.

Charter issue set for workshop

PORT ST. LUCIE—Following a brief ... the Council Tuesday quickly ... two resolutions which were ... by Assistant City Attorney ... Hotkowitz in an effort to effect a ... transition to the new city ... election Larry Kimmel voiced the ... objection on the grounds that the ... charter should be discussed and ... for implementation set forth ... a workshop session prior to any ... by the Council.

... said he had prepared the two ... as the first step toward ... of the new document.

... resolution provided for the ... of City Administrator ... to the position of City ... in accordance with the ... of the new charter and the ... second resolution was for the appointment of five members of the City to comprise the redistricting committee.

The new charter has been filed with the Secretary of State.

With reference to the districting committee Hotkowitz said it was understanding after talking with Supervisor of Elections James Brooks that nearly 50 per cent of the work in that area has been accomplished by Brooks in anticipation of the new charter being voted in. Hotkowitz said the re-districting would not necessarily have to completed prior to the March city election but he would find it hard to believe that by working closely with Brooks the job would exceed a thirty day period.

It was unanimously agreed the charter issue would be tabled until next Tuesday's workshop session.

PSL-RP Homeowners seek members

PORT ST. LUCIE—In hopes of doubling the membership of the PSL-RP Homeowners Association, Ed Searles told the Board of Directors he has prepared a letter which will be mailed to approximately 1600 homes in the area.

Pointing out that the strength of the organization is predicated on the size of the membership, Searles briefly outlined some of the major accomplishments of the Association within the past three years.

The PSL-RP Homeowners Association spearheaded the opposition to the requested rate hike sought by General Development Utilities just a few months ago. They solicited and received the support of the two other Homeowners Associations and the Civic League and as a result of this intervention, the Public Service Commission denied the GDC increase.

Should the sewer and water rate hike have been approved, the increase would have cost the homeowner $1.85 per month for sewer and $1.75 per month for water based on using 6,000 cubic feet per month.

Searles pointed out that over a period of the year these increases would have cost the homeowner $21 for water and $46.20 for sewer, or a total of $67.20 per year.

This saving alone would pay the annual membership dues for a resident for the next 34 years, Searles said, adding that bargains like that are hard to come by.

Don White a River Park resident who chairs one of the committees for the Association attributed the low membership and poor turnout at the quarterly meetings to the lack of publicity the Association receives from the media.

By that I mean that all too often I have seen an individual's name mine included, used more than that of the PSL-RP Homeowners Association and I sometimes wonder if the residents of the area are really aware of the accomplishments made for the Association," White said.

The open meeting date is every possible was suggested as property for a board are somewhat grateful however I do, said, they would leave out the individual names and fully credit the Association," he added.

Other accomplishments initiated by the Homeowners group include the request for the installation of a traffic light at the corner of Bonnar Drive and ... Once again they have received the support of the City Council as well as from major businesses in the immediate area.

Now the Association is preparing to fight the latest Florida Power & Light Company request for a rate hike.

Currently the PSL-RP Homeowners Association has a membership of 800 which they hope to double.

The annual membership meeting will be held in January, 1977.

Property identification is urged

PORT ST. LUCIE—In submitting his week police report, the City's Safety ... Doug Stout, urged all building ... in the area to assist in ... Identification Program.

... the property was stolen from ... St. Lucie homes under construc... has been extremely difficult to ... the owners of the property due to ... of identification on such items ... heaters, refrigerators, stoves ... conditioning equipment.

... contractors have been asked to assist ... enforcement officers by engraving ... their driver's license number or ... their social security number on all appliances and equipment at their earliest opportunity following delivery.

I spent a very pleasant long weekend in Daytona Beach with my friends, Mary Grewell and George Sunarium. Friday afternoon we went to the Golden Age Club, where we danced to the music of a 10-piece orchestra composed of talented members, and thoroughly enjoyed the outstanding performance of a group of youth from Sea Breeze Junior High School, who entertained with musical instruments, singing, and dancing.

We drove along the beach for 23 miles, at low tide, and watched the surfing competition at Ormond Beach, which was very exciting because of the high winds and rough seas.

We also walked on the beach every morning and saw sand piled up in some places to the top of the retaining walls; it even covered the steps to the boardwalk.

Minnie and Alan Fowler have come back to us from Springfield, Mass., bringing Angus with them. They told me they had celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at the home of their son Alan, Jr., his wife Kay, and grandchildren Stephen, Susan, Andrew and Sally, in Yorktown Heights, N.Y. They were so happy that all their children could be there for the two day festivities, which included the traditional cake and champagne.

Another son, Robert H., his wife Laura and their children George and Karen came from Sunland, Calif., their daughter Barbara Stutz made the trip from Aptos, Calif., and another daughter, Ann Latimer, came from San Jose.

The Fowlers were married September 11, 1926, at Lindle, Wyoming.

The mail just brought a note from Olive and Jack Binns, who live in Marin Heights, Quebec, Canada, and I quote:

As soon as our colds are out of the give-away area, we will be moving out of the snow zone. It's really coming down at the moment and heading for D & M. Part of our lake is frozen over and we are eager to get away before snow-shoveling time when youth, skis and cross-country trips on the snow were fun. Ah me! To be young again! Regards to you and our other park neighbors."

Council stays in Martin

JENSEN BEACH—Headquarters for the Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council will remain in Stuart, council members agreed at last week's meeting.

Executive director Sam Shannon pointed out that remodeling is under way on the second floor offices in the Martin County Administrative Center (Executive Plaza) for the council.

"We wanted to get into some office space as quickly as possible," Shannon said. "The Administrative Center offers the quickest space."

Shannon has been working out of a back room in the county attorney's office.

It was also reported by the executive director that a planner who will oversee the daily planning operation of the council, probably will be hired in mid-December.

About 25 persons have applied for the position which could have an annual salary as high as $17,500.

Council members also approved a $147,000 budget which they had discussed at the October meeting.

Salaries for the four-member staff were set at $54,300, and the council budgeted $7,000 for consulting fees, more than half of which will go to a legal consultant at a cost of $4,000. Shannon said he expects to recommend a legal consultant at the December meeting.

"I think this is something we definitely need (an attorney) on board as soon as possible," Shannon said.

Also slated for discussion at the December 9 session is a review governing the developments, but Shannon said the developments probably would not be drawn up until February.

The four-county council — Martin, St. Lucie, Indian River and Palm Beach — will approve or reject new developments of "regional impact." What is considered a development of regional impact differs according to the population of each county.

There are no new developments of regional impact in the four-county area which the council must now consider. The most recent such developments in the area have been handled by the South Florida Planning Council which was paid for its work by this council.

Martin, St. Lucie and Palm Beach split off from the South Florida Council to form the new council, and Indian River County — formerly a member of the Central Council — joined the three coastal counties.

JENSEN BEACH—Santa is coming, and all youngsters had better watch out on Saturday, November 27, when Santa arrives amid the sirens of the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department, visits the local shopping centers, and has a sit-down session with young people at the Chamber of Commerce.

Santa plans to arrive on the fire truck throwing candy and spreading joy at 10:30 a.m. at the downtown area, the Savanna Shopping Center, the Jensen Beach Plaza and the Suncoast Plaza in Rio. He will be at the Chamber of Commerce building on Commercial Street to hear the requests of youngsters between 1 and 3 p.m.

At the Chamber building, parents will have an opportunity to have their children's picture taken with Santa at a cost of one dollar. Proceeds of the photos will help to offset the cost of the Chamber's "It's Jensen Beach First" campaign.

Also on the 27th the Chamber will become Christmas center of Jensen Beach with holiday music being played by the public address system from the Chamber building.

Higgins is chairman

New commission is off and running

JENSEN BEACH—The new Martin County Commission got off to a "running start" at Tuesday's organization meeting.

Commissioners Frank Warcha and Dr. William G. Myers—both returning to the commission after a four-year absence—listed several issues they wanted action on in upcoming meetings.

Before the two commissioners aired their views, controversy developed in the selection of a new chairman.

Commissioner Tom Higgins was nominated for chairman with Commissioner Maggy Hurchalla objecting, pointing out that as vice chairman for the past year she "is next in line for chairman."

Commissioner Hurchall noted that any differences she had with Higgins can be resolved.

"Tom can do a good job," Dr. Myers noted.

Higgins was elected chairman by a 4-1 vote with Commissioner Hurchalla objecting.

Chairman Higgins noted that the 4-1 vote does not "split the board. We have a good board."

Newly elected John Holt, Jr., District 3, was elected vice chairman.

Some of the issues Commissioner Warcha and Myers discussed were subject of some campaign issues with Dr. Myers referring several times to the questionnaires he distributed in the campaign.

One of the campaign issues which was presented to the previous commission and rejected was proposed by Commissioner Warcha.

An opinion poll on Interstate 95 in the county was proposed, and got the endorsement of the commission with Commissioner Hurchalla opposing.

"I believe the people of Martin County have the right and the intelligence to speak on the location of I-95 in our county," he said.

Commissioner Warcha proposed to distribute 12,500 cards to county clubs, chambers, organizations to be distributed to residents.

The cards give the residents the choice of voting on eastern, western or "on Florida Turnpike" for I-95.

It's a good idea," Dr. Myers said, noting that "getting out among the people" in his campaign, they have the right to speak and the board should act with the weight of public opinion.

Commissioner Warcha noted that the cards would be printed at "no expense to the county."

Former commissioners Timer Powers and John Kiernan voted against a referendum on I-95, two times in a period of two weeks. Commissioner Hurchalla voted against the proposal one time but was absent for the second meeting when it came up.

Former Commission Rose Philbrick and Higgins supported the referendum.

Commissioner Warcha also called for a state auditor general audit of the spending and borrowing practices of the commission up to Sept. 30, 1976.

It was noted by Warcha, who was finance chairman when he was a member of the board previously, that some of the practices may have been illegal.

Commissioner Warcha labeled the practice of individuals coming before an administrative board wasted motion.

"We should get our information first hand," he said, and suggested that commissioners serve on these boards.

"It will save the individuals time."

And the commissioner of 12 years with four more coming, called for getting something started on the four-laning of East Ocean Boulevard.

Stuart City Commissioner Dale Anderson read a resolution adopted by the City Commission two weeks ago calling for four-laning of East Ocean Boulevard, to be given emphasis over Palm Beach Road.

Chairman Higgins noted that the two roads are two different questions. East Ocean is a primary road and Palm Beach secondary.

A review of Ordinance 16, so-called dirt road ordinance, was called for by Commissioner Warcha, and the 9-inch cut-down regulations.

And he asked for a review of the Water Management Board, and asked, and was granted, a motion to provide two parking spaces at the courthouse and Administrative Center.

Commissioner Warcha requested a ruling on the Sunshine Law so he could have coffee with Commissioner Myers or Chairman Higgins and discuss county business.

When Commissioner Myers got his turn, he requested seeking information on recreation, including a golf course.

He suggested that help be sought on the water problem issue, and some help on the redistricting question.

Dr. Myers called for a meeting of the county department heads "Tell them what is ahead and get some feedback from them."

"I would like a study of beach parking and a study on the St. Lucie Inlet placement of sand," he said.

Commissioner Warcha commented on the beach parking proposal, pointed to a resolution of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce which sees profitable alcoholic beverages on Jensen Beach public beach from 9 p.m. to 7 a.m.

The Chamber resolution was turned over to the Beach Committee.

And Dr. Myers pointing out the financial disclosure law, wanted to know how it affects people appointed to advisory boards. Most of the appointments are expected to be made at the next meeting of the commission.

Town road gets okay

SEWALL'S POINT—After many months of discussion and a petition in opposition, Sewall's Point Commission last week voted to move ahead with paving South River Road.

A petition signed by 138 residents urged the commission to restrict use of the new road to pedestrians and bicyclists except in emergencies.

The residents claim the new road will become a raceway and harm the dignity and natural beauty of the town.

Mayor Ed Gluckler said the road will be more of a meandering nature trail than a primary road because of its numerous curves.

Gluckler said it would be too expensive to build a road capable of carrying cars and then restricting it to pedestrians and bicycles.

David Dickinson, who circulated the petition, claimed that Gluckler had promised to hold a referendum on the road project if enough signatures were collected.

"I said I would consider it. I did," Gluckler said, rejecting the referendum proposal.

Break One-Nine!

Use your eyes before you use your ears.

Before you think about putting up your CB base antenna, make sure you've got your signals straight.

To begin with, Citizen Band antennas, unlike TV antennas, are under FCC regulations.

FCC and local rules sometimes differ on the allowable height. So, before erecting your antenna, check with the appropriate authorities.

And when you're ready to put it up, check on one other thing – the clearance.

The slightest touch of your antenna or guy wire to a power line could cause you a serious shock.

Here's how to play it safe. Make sure that you check all directions. In other words, not only the space above the antenna but all around. So, if your antenna should happen to fall, it won't happen to fall onto a power line.

How far away is safe?

Certainly a distance no less than the height of the mast.

This safety rule not only goes for CB antennas but TV antennas as well. Or any metal pole for that matter.

And here's another word of caution; even when using guy wires to raise or lower your antenna you can't be assured of positive control. So, better double check the clearance.

So many people are now tuning into CB that we thought you should also be tuned into the necessary safety requirements.

This safety message has been brought to you by Florida Power and Light as a public service. Because serving the public is really what we're here for.

Mass-Media Spiritual Campaign is underway

JENSEN BEACH--"I Found It!" For the past week billboards, television spots, bumper stickers and lapel pins have proclaimed this message throughout Martin, St. Lucie, Indian River and Palm Beach Counties.

This week the message has been broadened by adding the phrase "You Can Find It Too" and giving telephone numbers.

It's all part of a nationwide spiritual program called "Here's Life America," said retired businessman James Baker of Riviera Beach, chairman of the Gold Coast program.

Woman's Club card games set

STUART--The Woman's Club of Stuart will hold the first Wednesday card games on Wednesday, December 1 at the Club House on East Ocean Boulevard.

Instead of the usual refreshments, luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m. The public is invited.

For reservations and further information call Dorothy Clibbon at 283-1629 or Elizabeth Wendelboe at 287-3686.

Sponsored by Campus Crusade for Christ International, an interdenominational movement, the campaign is being conducted in more than 175 metropolitan areas around the country.

The program involves members of local churches with men and women staffing telephone centers, telling callers how they can find Christ.

The local telephone centers and coordinators are for Stuart 286-1900, Roger Gordon, coordinator, and Fort Pierce 465-7970, Ed Wood, coordinator.

The campaign's area headquarters is Suite 110, 5380 N. Ocean Drive, Singer Island, FL 33404.

Some 80,000 trained workers around the country are saturating their communities with the claims of Christ through mass media, telephone and personal contact.

It's probably the largest campaign of its type," said Baker. "It is all on a personal basis with no mass meetings. A spiritual awakening, but not a typical revival," he said.

The program is funded by business and churches are not being asked for contributions.

Workers in the campaign have been trained in how to conduct the program in either answering queries about how to find it, to calling people asking if they have seen the message "I found it."

Here's Life" is a 3 week concentrated program but effects will continue for another month, Baker said. Churches involved in the program will be conducting 26 week evangelism and training programs.

Rio News

BY HAZEL MORRIS - 334-7447

The meeting of the Rio Civic Club was held November 11. Mrs. Wendell, president of the club, conducted the session. Several major repairs have been made to the club house, including a new paint job on the outside.

Nominations for officers of the club were made and will be voted on at the next meeting.

There was one visitor, Bernie Jackson of Ft. Lauderdale. A delicious chicken dinner was enjoyed by all. Hostesses for the dinner were Janice Cary, Rae Zajic, Inez Barry and Kathleen Spenser.

The next club meeting will be held December 2 with coffee and cake served. This is an important meeting as new officers for the coming year will be elected. So we do hope everyone will attend.

The Christmas dinner for the club will be held December 19.

The club bazaar will be held in the clubhouse December 10 and 11. The ladies are very busy making and baking many fine things.

'Brave Coward Zack' autobiography is due

STUART—The autobiography of Zack Mosely, creator of the comic strip "Smilin' Jack," will be out in the middle of next month, according to the author.

Mosely, Stuart resident who did most of his artwork from his studio on the St. Lucie River, retired the strip in 1973. He has been writing his autobiography since then.

The book, 114 pages with photographs and illustrations of the life of the artist, is being published by Valkyrie Press, 2135 First Avenue South St. Petersburg, Fl. 33712, and will cost $6.95 (plus 50 cents postage. Pre-publication orders are being accepted.

The strip Smilin' Jack ran for forty years, and was syndicated by the Chicago Tribune New York News Syndicate.

With 7,000 miles of flying to his credit, Mosely at 70 still has the sparkle of youth and the ideas that created such legends as Kat Shaft, Hoot-mon Zaton and the beautiful dessert that graced the strip for years.

The book is being promoted by the AOPA, Airplane Owners and Pilots Association through its magazine, the Local group pursues FPL rate hike request

PORT ST. LUCIE—Whether or not local organizations will join together to oppose the $349 million proposed rate increase of Florida Power & Light Company (FP&L) remains to be seen, but there is no question they are out to get all the pertinent information relative to the firm's application filed before the Public Service Commission.

The move, spearheaded by the PSL-RP Homeowners Association, has gained the support of the Port St. Lucie Homeowners Association, the PSL Country Club Homeowners Association and the Civic League.

Bob Brunton, president of the PSL-RP Association, and temporary chairman of the newly organized representative group, left for Tallahassee and an appointment with Woody Lyles, consumer advocate in the FP&L case.

Brunton's intentions are to bring back copies of the original FP&L petition as well as a copy of the interim petition requesting $226 million of the increase be effective immediately while the original petition is being processed by the Public Service Commission.

All documents, facts, figures and pertinent information Brunton obtains will be turned over to Frank Zemia, a financial expert, for study.

Zemia aided in an inquiry into GDU's proposed rate hike earlier in the year, which resulted in the increase being denied the utility firm.

Brunton was reluctant to take a stand on whether or not his group would oppose the FP&L increase, saying only, "It is too early to tell at this time. We must have all the facts and these must be analyzed by our financial expert before we can commit ourselves."

Leaders of the groups established a plan for continuing the investigation, including consideration of naming a fund-raising chairman to raise an estimated $5,000 which organization representatives say is needed if they oppose the rate hike.

Representatives said they fear other utility companies in the state will follow FP&L's base rate, and that would mean an increase among small firms.

Don White, a director of the River Park group, who was one of the actively involved directors in the GDU rate fight said, based on his preliminary study of FP&L's proposed rate increase, "there is no doubt we should oppose it."

Community leaders Mike Reeb and Seymour Fleming, president and vice president of the PSL Civic League; Vern Porter, president of the PSL Homeowners group; Dick Werges, PSL Country Club Homeowners Association; Brunton and White, representing the PSL-RP Homeowners, are leading the inquiry.

Attorney Harold Sheas joined the group and said he is serving as an individual volunteer.

VOL. 5 NO. 16, NOVEMBER 17, 1976

ovember 23 public hearing or GDU LP gas rate hike

ORT ST. LUCIE—With less than one remaining before the City's ed public hearing in regards to n Development Utilities (GDU) ase for an LP gas rate increase, tomes Spencer Gilbert has made ent as of this date, the existing ses between GDU and the City of S. Lucie are still in full force and

City council does not intend to ge the legality of the GDU ises in a court of competent ction, Gilbert said, adding that last time as the franchises have ppeared to be void by the courts, the ounds to honor them.

ert's statement was specifically ed to John E. Sherrard as the ey for Port St. Lucie Utilities, Inc., ppeal corporation operating as a ative to furnish utilities to all mers in the City of Port St. Lucie djacent areas.

a letter dated Nov. 5 to Mayor ne Sharpe, Sherrard appealed to to either negotiate a new ise with GDU or grant the se to another entity. He also ed the city ask for a complete sis and appraisal of the water, sewer and gas operations at its present market value to enable the city to determine the best path for the franchise based on the best interests of the citizens of Port St. Lucie.

Because of the greatly varied estimates of the worth of the utilities, and because of GDU's refusal to sell the utility operations, PSL Utilities, Inc. has urged the city to declare the 1961 franchise agreement void.

Meanwhile, a full barrage of GDU officials is expected to be on hand next Tuesday to present the firm's facts and figures to support of the requested 11 per cent hike in LP gas rates from its Port St. Lucie customers. For those residents residing outside the city, the new rates will be automatic and the increase will be reflected in their December billing.

Three weeks ago the City Council set November 23 as the date of the public hearing and at that time instructed Wayne Allen, a member of GDU's legal staff, to bring all the necessary information for a complete review of the fuel cost figures.

In the application, GDU has stated this is the first increase in gas rates in nearly three years, and is only the second increase in rates since the Port St. Lucie Division began operation in 1959.

The loss that GDU claims to have suffered was the basis for the organization of the Port St. Lucie Utilities, Inc. by Francisco Rencia.

We think it is unfair that GDU, a corporation out to make money, should continue losing money servicing the people of Port St. Lucie. On this basis, it is our intention to purchase, operate and maintain all the utilities presently held by GDU," Rencia said.

For a typical residential single-family customer whose warm weather usage is 20 cubic feet, the monthly bill will jump approximately 13 per cent, from $8.25 to $9.30. During colder months, when the average residential usage amounts to 1,500 cubic feet, the monthly bill will increase approximately 12 per cent, from $25.06 to $28.17.

For those customers who use less than the new monthly minimum usage of 180 cubic feet, a typical monthly bill of $3.96 will be 5 per cent higher, or $4.15.

The small increase in rates, according to GDU, is required to offset the double-digit inflation that has impacted the Gas Division's operating costs over the past three years.

PLANS FINALIZED—Bob Seeley, GDU vice president and PSL general manager last week presented a check to Larry Heil as plans were finalized for the Central East Coast District General Development Shuffleboard Tournament to be held at the Port St. Lucie South Port Marina on December 2-3 and a GDU has sponsored the event for the local Shuffleboard Association for the past several years.

Council stays in Martin

PORT ST. LUCIE—Headquarters for the Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council will remain in Stuart, council members agreed at last week's meeting.

Executive director Sam Shannon pointed out that remodeling is under way on the second floor offices in the Martin County Administrative Center for the council.

"We wanted to get into some office space as quickly as possible," Shannon said. "The Administrative Center offers the quickest space."

Shannon has been working out of a back room in the county attorney's office.

It was also reported by the executive director that a planner, who will oversee the daily planning operation of the council, probably will be hired in mid-December.

About 25 persons have applied for the position which could have an annual salary as high as $17,500.

Council members also approved a $147,000 budget which they had discussed at the October meeting.

Salaries for the four-member staff were set at $64,800, and the council budgeted $7,000 for consulting fees more than half of which will go to a legal consultant at a cost of $4,000. Shannon said he expects to recommend a legal consultant at the December meeting.

"I think this is something we definitely need [an attorney] on board as soon as possible," Shannon said.

Also slated for discussion at the December 9 session is a review governing the developments, but Shannon said the developments probably would not be drawn up until February.

The four-county council — St. Lucie, Martin, Indian River and Palm Beach — will approve or reject new developments of regional impact. What is considered a development of regional impact differs according to the population of each county.

There are no new developments of regional impact in the four-county area which the council must now consider. The most recent such developments in the area have been handled by the South Florida Planning Council which was paid for its work by this council.

St. Lucie, Martin and Palm Beach split off from the South Florida Council to form the new council, and Indian River County — formerly a member of the Central Council — joined the three coastal counties.

Toy campaign gets under way

PORT ST. LUCIE—Once again the Friday Nite Gang will sponsor a Christmas Toy Campaign to provide toys for 150 four year-old boys and girls of the Headstart Group.

We are off to a good start with cash contributions submitted by the Veterans of WWI and the Psi Shuffleboard Club totaling $50.

Contributions may be either cash or new toys.

The next session of the Friday Nite Gang will be a Mardi Gras night to be held at the North Port Marina on Nov. 19.

There will be special prizes galore for the lucky winners.

Rio Lindo will meet Monday

PORT ST. LUCIE—A workshop session on corsage making will highlight the next meeting of the Rio Lindo Garden Club.

The group will meet Nov. 22 at 12:30 p.m. in the Port St. Lucie Community Center.

Cox also pointed out there is a significant aspect to the work of the Committee involving financial planning for the future, especially in the area of capital improvements and acquisition of capital equipment.

Civic League will handle Christmas decorations

PORT ST. LUCIE—Mike Reeb, president of the Civic League, volunteered the services of his organization to decorate the City's Christmas tree and to organize a Yuletide kickoff in this south county municipality.

Tentative date for the event has been set for December 10.

It was Councilman Bill McChesney who suggested the tree decorations be taken over by the Civic League.

"People of this city seemed to enjoy the caroling last year and I see no reason why this year the program can't be even bigger and better," he said, adding that the Sweet Adelines have volunteered their services.

Auxiliary patrol needs volunteers

PORT ST. LUCIE—In his plea for auxiliary police volunteers City Administrator Elmer Cox said Tuesday that whereas the City at one time had met their quota of ten members, two have since moved and three others decided to leave the force.

Cox pointed out that the Sheriff has used both Fort Pierce and St. Lucie County Auxiliary members to patrol the area, it would be much more effective if the City could form its own force of local residents.

It is hoped that ten persons will respond to the call for volunteers, according to Cox, who says this will provide the Sheriff with a choice.

Those interested are asked to contact the City Hall or the St. Lucie County Sheriff's Department.

...told me that the latest news from our Nimrods is that Don and Marvin Wininger have done very well, bagging lots of rabbits and quail up in Paoli and Orleans, Indiana, where they went when the hunting season opened.

We've had quite a flurry of people coming back to us: Bob McBriar and his bride Alice from Travers City, Michigan; Marie and Harold Johnson from Concord, New Hampshire; Florence and Ralph Williams from Akron, Ohio.

Florence and Ralph told me that when they left Akron, the temperature had dropped to the 20's and there was a light snow falling. On the way down they stopped at Parkersburg, W. Va., to look in on their daughter Marian Ashcroft and their grandson Brian and, since Ralph's brother Earl and his wife Mary also live in Parkersburg, they paid them a visit, too.

They showed me pictures of their charming grandson Brian, and their granddaughter Colleen who lives with her parents David and Nancy Williams in Akron.

Our turtle expert, Irma Meredith, and her husband Bill have opened their home, after a summer in Townsend, Tennessee, and we welcome back Jenny Levingood, who spends her summers in Philadelphia, Pa. Ruth and Merle Conklin are also here from Weston, Ohio.

A belated but sincere "Happy Birthday" to Martha Duffy, who was born on November 4, and to Edna May, November 7. Jane and Lois Wininger helped Edna celebrate her birthday by taking her out to lunch, and we'd have baked a cake if we had known in time.

Celia Barr and I took a trip to Key West last week with a most congenial group of people under the able guidance of "Sis" and faultless driving of Bill Bradley, both of whom made the trip comfortable and fun. The weather cooperated, aiding and abetting the Conch Train ride, the sightseeing, shopping and dining. We stopped at the Coral Castle on the way down, and at Vizcaya on the way back, arriving home with lots of happy memories, including adventures in eating Key Lime pie and ice cream, crabburgers, guavas, turtle soup, turtle steak, and conch chowder - not all at one meal!

George and Florence Poor are back with us after traveling for a year and a half.

On leaving Holiday Out on May 5, 1975, they journeyed to New England where they spent a month renewing old acquaintances from Portland, Maine, to Cape Cod. From there they joined an Airstream group and attended the International Rally in Brandon, Manitoba, where 409 trailers congregated over July 4th.

They then joined a group of 130 Airstreams and traveled the roads of northern Manitoba and they visited the western U.S.A. visiting old acquaintances in Denver and Las Vegas, winding up in California after Labor Day to visit their three married children and grandchildren there.

A highlight of their travels was a 41½ month bicentennial tour of the southwest U.S.A. Further Airstream tours and some travel by bus and train took them through Texas, Arkansas, Mississippi, over the Sierra Mountains to Los Mochis, Mexico, and to Victorville, California, where they joined with the 12th Region Airstream "Springtime in Canyonlands" Caravan to and thru Death Valley, Zion, Bryce, Capitol Reef and the Arches, National Parks, Moab Utah, Monumen Valley in Navajoland and the Grand Canyon.

They then journeyed to Seattle, Washington, where they stored trailer and car, traveled by bus to Vancouver, B.C. where they boarded the M.S. "Sun Princess" for a trip via ship, train, bus, train and plane of two weeks duration, seeing the far north. A very interesting trip they would recommend to all.

On Sept. 20, they hitched up for the 20-day, 3579 mile trip to Holiday Out, arriving October 10.

Low cost senior citizen housing is always of special interest to AARPers, so here's a brief report of a public hearing on such a project. Developer John Oswald want a variance R-1 to R-3 so he can build a 56-unit two-story complex especially adapted for senior citizens on 14th Street. A number of well known people spoke for it, including Russ Conser of NCCA and a number spoke against it, including Art Rubnke of the city planning advisory board. The city commissioners felt that more study was needed so the matter was tabled until Nov. 23.

Conser pointed out that there are many senior citizens living on social security along who are forced to live "in proverty and desperate circumstances." Rubnke felt that such a project would be putting oldsters in a "ghetto of the elderly," whereas retirees prefer to live with a mixture of young and old.

Oswald said there were two ways of getting government aid. One was for the developer to obtain a once percent interest mortgage with the federal government picking up the different. The second way was for the income tenants to pay a rental equal to 15 percent of their income with the federal government making up the difference to give the owner a reasonable profit. Oswald said they chose the first method, which will make the rent $105 to $125 per month, subject to maintenance and inflation changes.

Some AARPers wonder where the senior citizens "in desperate circumstances" are going to find $125 per month for rent, and other wonder how come they enjoy living in all retiree communities that have waiting lists.

Now, remember this column has absolutely no official status. It only tries to report the doings and comments of local AARPers and community events of concern to senior citizens.

Martin County Chapter No. 2223

There was a lively ExCom meeting Wednesday, Nov. 10, in the library conference room. One of the sticky problems was discussed at length: an easy way to get an accurate attendance record. Signing record sheets, turning in name tags, and other simple methos have problems, so it was proposed to make one corner of the bulletin a clip-out for name, address, tel no. etc. This would be available to members in good standin. They could drop this tag in a suitable container and then, at the close of the meeting, a name would be drawn for a door prize. This idea just might work out, so it'll be tried for the December meeting.

Christmas Parade: Saturday, Nov. 11, at 4 p.m. there'll be a Santa Claus parade in Stuart. The committee voted funds for Leon LaRouche to revamp the bicentennial float to a Christmas theme. Planned is a group of carollers with taped music, pine bows, tree, and bunting. Leon is good at it. There is a need for eight AARPers to act like they were singing. Call Leon, 334-0418.

Picnic: Thur., Dec. 2, from 11 to 2 at Langford Park (near the big bend by the Bowling Alleys on the Rio to Jensen road). This will be sheltered and we'll have the use of the building in case of rain. Bring your lunch and chair and have a lot of fun.

Defensive Driving: November class will have started, Mon. and Tues., Nov. 15 and 16, at the Environmental Studies Center in Jensen. This class was filled to its 50 student limit very quickly and names are now being taken for a December class that is being very tentatively scheduled for some of the following dates: Dec. 7,8,14,15,21,22. Tuesdays and Wednesdays. As there are over 20 signed up so far it's advisable to register very soon. Telephone 334-0756.

Swimming: Every Tuesday, now at 3:30 p.m. in the Martin County High School pool, there will be a swimming class for beginners and oldtimers. There are now 14 or 15 regulars but there is a lot of room for more. It's fun and also it's self-protection.

Regular Monthly Meeting: Don't forget, it's at the First Presbyterian Church in North River Shore, 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 18. This will be for the election of officers, surveys, and next season's project and program discussion. Members shouldn't miss this one!

Disney World Bus Trip: Rain didn't daunt 43 AARPers who took off at 9 a.m. from the Jensen Beach Travel Service for the day. But, by noontime when they arrived, the sun was peeking through the clouds and all was well. Returning to Jensen by 10 p.m. all said it was one of the best days and "let's go somewhere next month." Suggestions welcome. Call Ruth Woodruff 283-0351.

Port St. Lucie Chapter No. 2696

The Board of Directors met Thursday at the North Port Marina and it was jumping around there, so much so that the meeting had to held out in the fresh air, which wasn't bad at all. Present were Fred Wiggin, president; Ethel Krall; Esther Thompson; Lillian Messerman; Maurice Arluck; Morgan Jones; and Hugh Jencks, with Sam Lawder of St. Lucie Council on Aging as guest speaker.

Vice President Maurice Arluck arranged for Lawder to brief the board on the council's activities. Lawder pointed out that it would be possible to "deliver meals" in Port St. Lucie, but each time it has been brought up, there were no volunteers to take care of getting the meals in Fort Pierce and delivering them. He figures that it would take five volunteers each week for the service. AARP is going to see if it can supply the volunteers.

Lawder also disclosed that the council has for the past year operated a bus service to Fort Pierce, one day a week. Monday. It makes two round trips: first leaving at 1 p.m. and returning at 3 p.m., then making another round trip. The bus calls for people and leaves them at their homes. This service started when General Development discontinued theirs.

Board of Directors contined their meeting with reviewing the standing rules drawn up by Hugh Jencks after some minor changes it was approved for presentation to the members. Also, the by-law change to have the regular meeting on the third Thursday instead of the third Tuesday was approved. Esther Thompson has ordered membership cards and name tags due soon.

Nominating Committee had to report that their slate wasn't quite ready for presentation, but that it would be by the Nov. 18 session.

Disney World Bus Trip: The many Port St. Lucie AARPers who took the bus trip Nov. 11 reported that it was a dandy trip and a grand day for all.

Bus Service, as is being proposed by the Department of Transportation for the county, is of great interest. There are many folks with no means at all of getting about, so it is something that is very necessary. Our chapter is going to watch the DOT proposal and do all it can to move it along. One of the things that can be done is to prepare petitions for signatures.

Discount Buying: Maurie Arluck, chairman of the discount buying committee, has a "Unity Buying Service" proposal to discuss at the next meeting.

WTVX Program: Fred Wiggin is making out questionnaires for TV station WTVX in Fort Pierce. They are asking for a listing of projects most interesting to AARP members, community problems, such as health care, transportation, legal problems, financial matters and community apathy. WTVX plans to shape a program from this info.

A regular monthly meeting will be held at the North Port Marina Thursday, Nov. 18, at 1:30 p.m.

God, Country Day plan

JENSEN BEACH–Committees for the third annual God and Country Day have been organized and are ready to go to work, co-chairman of the Publicity Committee said Tuesday.

Virgil Rathbone, who heads the Publicity Committee with Ed Douglas, said it will be held in the middle of February at Florida Institute of Technology Auditorium.

God and Country Day co-chairmen are Father Frank Alvarez of All Saints Episcopal Church and Louis Villano, commander of American Legion Post 29, Jensen Beach.

Committee appointments include Program Father Alvarez and Villano; arrangements Dick Nesson, Virgil Wilson, William Herzog and Clifford Hunting; communications Irene Stewart, Gerry Loder, William McCabe; transportation Mel Swenson, Gerald Wilkinson and Cyrus Stell.

Rathbone said the speaker and other features on the program will be announced later.

The first God and Country Day services were held at FIT but last year it was moved to Martin County High School Auditorium.

The speaker for the second service was Col. Donald Peterson, a NASA astronaut.

WINNER–Marissa Tigies, Jensen Beach, won the best of jewelry award and $100 at the Kingdom of Sun Craft Show held November 13-14 in Stuart. Judges were selected from more than 120 competitors from Caribbean islands participating in the show which is sponsored annually by the Sun Banks of Florida. The show was attended by craft enthusiasts from the area.

'Trash and Treasures' by Jensen Garden Club

JENSEN BEACH–The annual Trash and Treasures sale of the Jensen Beach Garden Club will be held Saturday, Dec. 4 at the Jensen Beach Community Center from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

There will be many tables featuring jewelry, plants, books, clothing, baked goods and seasonal miscellany.

Of special interest will be the many special food items for the approaching holiday season, including home made jams and jellies, state Mrs. Arthur C. Mills, Jr. and Mrs. William A. Stephenson, co-chairmen of the Ways and Means Committee sponsoring the event.

Proceeds from the sale will go to help defray the costs of the club's civic beautification projects.

Mrs. Eunice A. Sorensen, past president of the Treasure Palm Garden Club of Jupiter, past District A director and past director of the Judges Council, Florida Federation of Garden Clubs, Inc., spoke to the Jensen Club last week at the Jensen Beach Community Church.

Her topic was "Christmas Ideas" and she displayed original and creative ideas which Sally Hill Club members can adapt in arranging and constructing their Christmas swags, wreaths and centerpieces. All special interest to club members was the use made of sabal palm screw pine and a glimpse of the decorative potential now in the process of being introduced in South Florida.

Many harvest arrangements, both beautiful and edible, were entered in the arrangement class judged by Mrs. Sorensen and Mrs. Robert Fenton of the Stuart Garden Club.

The harvest theme of Thanksgiving was carried out by the hostesses for November with the serving of the traditional pumpkin pie. The hostess committee chaired by Mrs. August Wermeister, consisted of Mrs. Leon Older, Mrs. Jack Best, Mrs. Carl Hoag and Mrs. Vernon Frey.

United Way luncheon is November 30

JENSEN BEACH–The United Way of Martin County will get under way Tuesday, Nov. 30 with a luncheon at [illegible].

The campaign chairman, Augie Malfregeot, said some reports will be made from the business community and various organizations, including Southern Bell Telephone, Florida Power and Light and Grumman Aerospace Corp.

Malfregeot said the drive will begin with a mailing to residences and small businesses.

The campaign this year is $100,000 and Malfregeot pointed out that the drive in the county raised $72,000, exceeding its goal of $65,000.

Jensen Beach area conducted its own drive last year, raising about $16,000, but this year is joining the county-wide drive.

A real estate appraiser who was recently elected Property Appraiser, Malfregeot said he is being assisted in the drive by Dan Daniel, campaign director of the United Way of Palm Beach County.

See and read the new Business & Service Directory appearing in the Classified Advertising Section in both the Jensen Beach and Port St. Lucie Mirrors.

Also, proceeds from the bake sale on the Lionsmen will go to supplement the Youth Exchange Program.

Beach erosion battle continues

JENSEN BEACH–Sand was bulldozed last week on the Jensen Beach public beach in an effort to reinforce the dunes and to repair the erosion damage.

And county officials said there are plans to bulldoze sand on other county-owned beaches.

Beaches were severely eroded by strong northeaster winds and rough seas. Both the county and a condominium complex were permitted to bulldoze sand on the beach because of emergency permits issued by the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

While county officials admit that the erosion damage is not as great as in the past, erosion of the beaches continues. After the sand was bulldozed along Jensen public beach the strong northeast winds and rough sea coloring the beach last Monday's loss of sand continued.

Meanwhile a committee of the Martin County Conservation Alliance hopes to make a 100-foot beach access strip just north of Seminole Shores available for public use.

Ed Behrens, co-chairman of the Save Our Beaches Committee, reported the 100 foot strip would consist of a 50-foot parcel owned by the city and another 50 feet of beach access owned by Scripps-Howard Corp.

Behrens said Scripps Howard has indicated it will donate 30 feet of access to the county and that the committee is trying to acquire the additional 20 feet.

It will be necessary to swap a couple of beach strips to end up with a continuous 100-foot access, he said.

JAWS TAKE BITE–The Rio Volunteer Department has a new piece of equipment, called the "jaws of life," and it will pry apart things in a hurry. G. Darryl Huff of Jacksonville demonstrated the equipment last week for the firefighters.

'Jaws' are at Rio Department

JENSEN BEACH–The Rio Volunteer Fire Department has a new piece of rescue equipment, "jaws of life."

Rio Fire Chief Bill Gass said the equipment is most often used to rescue someone who is pinned in a car following an accident.

"It will open cars, railroad cars and airplanes and pick up big trailer trucks," Gass said.

"We hope to use it for all accidents north of Roosevelt Bridge, but we will respond to a call county-wide," Gass said.

The "jaws of life" equipment cost $4,700, and Gass said the department borrowed the money from one of the department's volunteers, Ken Klager.

"We hope to pay him back with money we receive in our annual fund drive in January," Gass said.

"We have one of the best equipped well-trained departments in the county," Gass stated.

"Anyone wishing to join the department, we will be happy to have them," the chief said.

So happy to welcome Tena and Geoff Van Raay back to tot 8 from cold Canada. It was rather doubtful they would make it on the first leg of their trip. They got out of Detroit and were crossing a high bridge when their tire blew out on busy Route 75. It necessitated unpacking their car to get at the jack on a very narrow walkway next to heavy traffic. They had no spare to use, and it being Sunday, they couldn't purchase one. But to the rescue came one of the state police to help them put on their only tire safely, and th y finished their trip down.

IN APPRECIATION

The Raymond E. Stiles family want to express their heartfelt thanks for all the flowers, cards and expressions of sympathy they have received from all their Ocean Breeze friends and neighbors. The donations in memory of Mary Stiles are to be given to the Cancer Fund and the Jensen Area Ambulance.

This week the migration let up a bit, probably some potential snow birds decided to wait until after a Thanksgiving dinner with relatives. However 50 did get here in time to enjoy some almost perfect weather. This makes the office total 450 for the season but there are many who drift in unannounced to make the actual total greater. Here's a list of this week's additions.

William and Georgia Jones Peter and Helen Zarella, Harry and Kathleen Farmer, Frank and Louise Clancy, Lucietta Logerquist, Ada May Smith, Adele Garrison, Leroy and Opel Cole, Robert Hines, Walter Gebert, Cyril and Jessie Mathy, Henry and Olga Eldracher, Clarence and Anna Johnson, Ralph and Emma Neblett, Bernard and Alma O'Neil.

Gordon and Myrtle Hawkins, Roy Donaldson, Mable Whittaker, Red and Hazel Garrity, Les and Ruth Roberts, Grace and Bill Weaver, Vera Thomas, Margaret Johnson, Carlton and Dorothy Whitney, Rudy and Elsie Werges, Alvin and Dorothy Glazier, Dick and Janice Sheehan, George and Wilma Diedrick, Hazel Wilson.

The Clubhouse walls are bright and cheerful again as Ruth Hoke, high on a step ladder, puts the finishing touches on the tropical scenes.

Sometimes it is said there's never anything in the Mirror about our section of the park. Well now, remember about that old squeaky wheel. If there's something of interest to OBPers going on down your way, let me know and I'll write it up.

PARK EVENTS

The Saturday night dance was almost a mid-season pitch Nov. 20 as dancers and spectators had a ball with square dancing varied with ballroom and good old mixers. Square dancing classes started last week, so those that hadn't danced since last spring now knew that "scoot back" didn't mean "clean the ladies."

Ruth Hoke took this opportunity to announce some of the class activities. Square Dance Classes, intermediate, 10:30 a.m. Mon. and Fri., and for beginners 1:30 p.m. Mon. and Fri. Jane Smith will have an art class in Clement Hall Wednesdays at 9:30 a.m., and there will be a leather class Thursdays at 1 p.m. in the clubhouse.

Now it can be told, for it'll be all over as this column goes to press. There was a surprise birthday party for Myrt Huntington in the clubhouse Tuesday, Nov. 23. Myrt is 90 years old and still square dancing to beat the band. Details next week.

Camera Club also came up to mid-season form Thursday when Do Beck and Olga Comer narrated Harry Bartle's super 8 movies of an Airstream caravan tour to Churchill on Hudson Bay. It was up to the usual excellent quality of all Harry's photography with Ann Bartle posing snugly bundled up on the center top to give a personal and realistic touch.

Jim Sisser, program chairman for December, announced that Hugh Laroche will show slides of a caravan tour across Canada this Thursday, Dec. 2 at 2 p.m. and President Zack Comber, back from summering in the north, will take over as M.C. at that time.

Shuffleboard, in spite of inclement weather postponing both league matches, is off to a roaring start this year. Seems like more enthusiasm than ever. The postponed games were played Tuesday, Indian River League at Port St. Lucie, and the Central League entertaining the same city here at OBP.

Monday, Nov. 15, the Stag League had five courts busy, then on Tuesday, Nov. 16, the Petticoaters added theirs again with eight courts.

Round Robin, seven courts on Sat., Nov. 13, had the following four game winners: Evelyn Groves, Avis Collis, Hugh Laroche and Bill Jones. Then, on Sun., Nov. 14, there were eight courts with Howard Leyshon, Bun Miller, Pete Mullet, and George LeBon coming up with four game wins.

Bill Jones, Ralph Bailets and Tom Elliot have joined the teaching staff of Fred Vlandi and Ada Baum so that more beginners can be taken care of Wednesday mornings.

Sal Russo and his partner, Dominic Bergamini, of Port St. Lucie, placed third in the Central East Coast District Axe Doubles Tournament at Whispering Creek, Nov. 18 and 19. Already, five teams have signed up for an Amateur Mixed Doubles Tournament to be held at Port St. Lucie December 2, 3 and 4.

The regular shuffleboard meeting will be held Monday, Dec. 6, at 9 a.m. in Clement Hall to discuss final plans for the Christmas dinner party. However, at this time it can be announced that Pete Hillman will be the general chairman and M.C. It will be held at Stuart Holiday Inn Tuesday, Dec. 14, at 6:30 p.m. Tickets can be obtained from Hillman, Ralph Bailets, Syl Garing, Bill Jones, Larry Brammer, and Rea Tourville. More on this next week as Avis Collis will attend the meeting and "get the facts."

HOSPITAL, AMBULANCE, ETC.

There have been frequent inquiries about the Swine Flu inoculations by folks who were in transit during the clinics. The Martin County Health Dept. says that, after the clinics ran out of customers, the balance of the vaccine was turned over to private physicians. However, a list of folks wanted the shots is being compiled at the Red Cross (287-1300) and if there is sufficient interest another clinic will be set up.

Clara Pfingsten made a donation to the Jensen Area Samaritan Ambulance Fund in memory of Al Wickes.

Rip Henders on 4 Melaleuca is in the hospital for tests. Emma Schraff of Third Avenue (back of the office), a park resident since 1956, is in the hospital. Lowell Leyshon of 29 Almond is also in the hospital.

RAMBLING AROUND

Horace and Olive Fifield visited here last week and they were looking just fine and dandy. They were long time residents of OBP but now live at Hilltop Mobile Park, Lot 40, 36 Oleander Circle, Lakeland, FL 33801. Horace celebrated his 83rd birthday Tuesday, Nov. 23.

Harry and Bernice Covell, 24 S.W. Tenth St., celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary last Thursday with a little party. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mahon and Mr. and Mrs. Pete St. Pierre helped them celebrate. Many cards were received from folks back in Lansing, Mich., and a telephone call from a grandson going to college in Boulder, Colorado.

Bernice mentioned that her friend Mame Snoddy just arrived from New Cumberland, Pa. without Pete a dog for the first time, as Tiny, the 13-year-old black and brown mini terrier, died just the week before she was to leave. Many of us know the sorrow of losing a pet, especially one closely associated with someone loved. Pete, her husband, died only two years ago.

Evelyn LeBon reports that C.F. Johnson and Anna arrived Nov. 16 on her birthday, so the LeBons entertained the Johnsons and the Hugheons for dinner. The Johnsons' stay will be curtailed this year as "Johnny" must return to Nashville to be installed as Patron in their Eastern Star Chapter.

Clyde and Nancy Tipton, irregulars of OBP, wrote a nice long letter to Marion Curwen asking to be remember to the Nixons, Aumillers, Dot Beck, Frances Reese, Bernie Taylor, and all their friends here. They are well and suffering the cloudy, cool, rainy weather of Maryville, Tenn., wishing they could get down here again this year, if only for a short stay.

Mary Ann and Leonard Blanchard will be leaving soon with Ann's mother, Frances Reese. Weather up in Michigan tells them it's time to head south, so look for them before the end of the month.

Also, Mrs. Ethel Paige of Fifth Street, who is now visiting her son Ronald in Texas, will be flying in before the end of the month.

Auditions are set for Variety Show

JENSEN BEACH—A talent search is under way for the 19th annual performance of the Benefit Variety Show sponsored by the Martin County Association for Retarded Citizens.

Over the years, this popular local show has presented an almost unbelievable array of talen, from concert harp to musical saw, opera to rock, ballet to soft shoe, spirituals to ragtime, scenes from Broadway shows and "home town" comedy skits, solos and choruses, whistlers, comedians young and old. By actual count, more than 200 acts have been performed by thousands.

The 1977 Variety Show will be held at the Lyric Theatre February 4 and 5. Auditions are scheduled for 7 p.m. December 6 and 7 at Julian Parker School. Anyone wishing to assist with the production of the 1977 show is urged to come. Any type of entertainment will be welcome, amateur or professional, from the ridiculous to the sublime. Workers are also needed to help in preparing and presenting the show.

Further information about auditions is available by calling 287-8842.

Proceeds from the show are used to help retarded citizens in Martin County.

Ralph Hattermann, publicity chairman, says, "Your talent is needed to make the show a success."

reen turtles, officers highlight Anglers' meet rt ST. LUCIE—Green turtles and officers drew the attention at the ting of the Port St. Lucie Anglers. week at the Northport Marina. es Brininger was re-elected other officers include Phil e president, Herb Tschudy, Clyde Blunt treasurer and Charles Fisher and Tony Jarosewicz directors.

The turtle contribution was by Ross Witham of Stuart marine biologist and project leader for sea turtle research conducted by the Florida Department of Natural Resources.

Witham is a dedicated director of the efforts to preserve the green sea turtle and, hopefully, to increase the turtle population, an effort where he is joined by marine biologists in the Caribbean and North Atlantic area.

Witham told the club how the earliest explorers found the green turtle in large numbers in these areas and discovered they were an excellent source of food. Untracked killing for food depleted the turtle population so greatly that by the 1950's they were all but extinct.

Early preservation efforts included Archie Carr hatching eggs in Costa Rica and Witham collecting eggs and hatching them along the Florida coast. Survival being a problem, Witham experimented with rearing the hatchlings in pens and then releasing them when they were able to defend themselves against predators.

The efforts proved successful and in 1964 he began tagging the turtles before they were returned to the ocean. Subsequent returns of tags provided current data on the travels and survival of the turtles.

Since turtles cannot swim as fast as ocean currents, tag returns from South America suggest that some turtles are carried north on the Gulfstream and make the full circuit south along the European coast to eventually arrive in the South American and Central American areas from which the tags were returned.

Witham pointed out that while the turtle watches are an interesting summer diversion along local coasts, they are hazardous to the turtles. People on the beaches tend to frighten away the females who would otherwise lay their eggs in the area they had formerly used.

Lights of buildings and cars tend to confuse the hatchling turtles, who then lose sense of direction and head toward the lights and get killed by automobiles rather than heading for the sea.

Witham says he remains confident that the project is making progress. Interest is building and cooperation of beach front residents has been encouraging.

Meanwhile, Witham continues in his laboratory on the Jensen Beach Causeway where the hatching is done and the flow of baby turtles continues to the rearing tanks in the Hutchinson Island House of Refuge where they are fed scraps from crab packing plants to bring them to a size justifying release on the beaches and back into the sea.

An archery range in PSL?

PORT ST. LUCIE—Depending on the response from St. Lucie County residents it is entirely possible that a semi enclosed public archery range may be constructed in Port St. Lucie—free of charge.

According to an announcement by the local recreation committee, the range would be funded through available government funds.

However, in order for the Port St. Lucie Recreation Department to consider the installation and operation of this facility, they wish to be assured of adequate participation by county residents.

They therefore earnestly solicit your assistance in this project. If you would canvass your group and or members to determine approximately how many would utilize the range the information would be of great value. The proposed site of the range is Sportsman's Park in the City of Port St. Lucie.

It should be noted at this point that there will be qualified archers available to instruct the novice and beginning archer and to oversee the safe and proper use of the facility.

Church school and other groups will find this an excellent opportunity to learn a great sport and to enjoy the fun of clean, healthy competition. Age and or infirmity are no barrier to the enjoyment of archery.

Residents are urged to reply at their earliest convenience to Charles N. Calmes, Project Coordinator, 108 SW Grove Ave., Port St. Lucie, FL 33452. Telephone 878-1843.

Carols planned

JENSEN BEACH–The Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce announces the singing of Christmas Carols in the Jensen Bch area this year.

Plans call for caroling each Friday evening before Christmas. So far, two weekends are definitely scheduled.

December 3 at 7:30 p.m. the Jensen Beach Community Church choirs will be singing outside First Federal of Jensen.

And December 10, at 7 p.m., the choirs of the First Baptist Church of Jensen will be caroling at the Jensen Shopping Center.

Everyone is invited to attend these joyous reminders of the meaning of Christmas presented by friends and neighbors.

SIGN COMES DOWN–With firemen and passers-by watching, a crane lowers the welcome sign of the Jensen Beach Arch to the street, following a crash that destroyed the eastern tower of the landmark last Wednesday evening. Mrs. Ethel Walker was killed in the crash. MIKE HICKEY PHOTO

Other companies participating in the early report to lead this year's campaign with employee donations include $10,076 from Southern Bell, and First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart, $1,620.

Last year's United Way president Gerald Meilich, pointed out that this year's goal is a 25 per cent increase over the last campaign.

The United Way has been operating for three years. Meilich pointed out and "last year we accomplished our goal of $65,000."

The campaign will continue through Dec. 7, and Bowdish told the volunteers to "go out into the community and remind people about the United Way."

General Campaign Chairman and President of the United Way, Augie Malfregeot, was out of town and did not attend the luncheon.

Careening auto destroys famed Jensen Arch

BY DICK CAMPBELL

JENSEN BEACH–A careening auto traveling at a high rate of speed, crashed head-on into the east tower of the Jensen Beach Arch last Wednesday evening, destroying the arch and killing Ethel H. Walker, 69, of Jensen Beach.

Florida Highway Patrol officers estimated that Mrs. Walker had a heart attack as her auto approached the curve northbound on SR 707. She must have fallen forward, and her foot froze to the accelerator, one officer said. She was alone in the car.

The auto knocked down safety reflectors at the FINA gas station, rode the shoulder of the road off and on the road two blocks, reaching a high rate of speed before crashing into the arch tower. The tower, built of interlocking tile, was destroyed, and the sign that spanned the two towers hung down, suspended by the steel tower.

Highway patrol and sheriff's department officers arrived with the Samaritan Ambulance squad and Jensen Beach volunteer firemen to close off the street and clear the debris. Mrs. Walker was pronounced dead on arrival at Martin Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Walker, a resident of Stuart for 12 years, was owner of Walker's Jewelry in Stuart, now Gas's Jewelry. Services were held Saturday morning with burial in Forest Lawn Cemetery. Mrs. Walker was the first reported traffic fatality in Florida during the Thanksgiving holiday.

The historic landmark arch was built in 1924, a combined effort of the county commissioners from St. Lucie County, the City of Jensen Beach (the area was then incorporated) and local businessmen. It was not located on the city limits of Stuart as has been suggested, according to W.H. Tilton, pioneer resident.

Tilton told The Mirror that the county should replace the arch, saying the liability insurance the county has should pay for the replacement.

"They shouldn't have knocked the whole tower down. It could have been saved," Tilton said. "That lower means a lot to people."

The original sign across the road was made of cypress with bronze trim and letters. The bronze was stolen during the early part of World War II, Tilton said.

The south side of the sign read "Welcome to Jensen Beach" in those days, and the north side read "Gateway to the Gulf," a reference to the opening of the cross state Okeechobee Waterway.

The sign itself has been replaced many times, and repainted by local businessmen and the Chamber of Commerce often.

The Jensen Beach Garden Club, working with the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, planted shrubs and landscaped the arch as a club project, and in 1950 won a district award for work at the arch.

Two years ago the club did more landscaping and the county had the sign repainted.

Just two weeks ago, garden club members began their annual cleaning of the arch, planting some shrubs at the site.

The future of the arch is uncertain at this time. County Commissioner Frank Wachta is reported to be seeking information on the cost to rebuild the arch and restore the landmark to its prominence on SR 707.

DISCONNECTED–As the Jensen Beach Arch sign dangled precariously, volunteer firemen from Jensen Beach worked in the dark of night to disconnect the west tower's load so that the arch sign could be lowered to the ground. The east tower was destroyed in an auto accident. MIKE HICKEY PHOTO

Santa came to Jensen Beach

JENSEN BEACH–Santa Claus arrived in Jensen Beach Saturday, Nov. 27, kicking off the Christmas season and as Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce officials said, "even Santa Claus Tried Jensen Beach First."

The program is going much better than we anticipated, chamber president L.D. Kirkpatrick said Monday.

They referred to the new chamber promotion program: "Try Jensen Beach First."

Jackie Hall is chairman of the installation dinner committee.

Also on the agenda for the annual dinner is Kirkpatrick's "president's message" and Klett will give the incoming president's message.

Officers to be installed with Klett are Fred Stein, vice president; Fred Meeker, treasurer; Marilyn Epstein, secretary.

Directors to be installed include Stanley Smith, William Selmi, Ronald Mitchell, Malcolm Finnane, Gene Greenwood, Jack Scott and Agt Hansen.

"We expect the program to grow and the program is a conversation piece with consumers," Kirkpatrick said.

"Customers have said they found things in Jensen Beach that they didn't know we had," he said.

Santa Claus visited downtown Jensen Beach area, the Savanna Shopping Center, Jensen Beach Plaza, and Suntowne Plaza in Rio.

Santa Claus arrived in Jensen Beach from the North Pole on a Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department truck, and about 50 children came to see him at the chamber building Saturday afternoon. Some of the children had their picture taken with him.

Cost of the picture with Santa was $1, and proceeds go toward the chamber's Christmas promotion.

Candy, which Santa distributed to the children, was donated by the Jensen Beach Kiwanis Club.

Chamber officials said they wish to thank the Fire Department for arranging Santa's transportation, the Kiwanis Club and "everyone connected with the event for their time, so willingly given."

Chamber installation

JENSEN BEACH–Martin County Commissioner Frank Wachta will install the new Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce officers at the annual installation dinner Thursday, Dec. 2.

The dinner will be at the Holiday Inn, Oceanside, Hutchinson Island, with the social hour at 7 p.m. and the dinner beginning at 8 p.m.

Jack Klett will be installed as president, succeeding L.D. Kirkpatrick.

Master of ceremonies will be Dick Campbell, editor of Mirror Newspapers, and a special committee report will be given by Al Epstein.

Epstein has been chairman of the chamber's Tourism Committee, keeping the directors informed on the committee's progress at the past several chamber meetings.

...sgiving Day is a wonderful ... time on that day the Indians ... Pilgrims had a big feast. The ... was in 1631 which was 345 ... This was celebrated because ... showed the Pilgrims how to ... harvest crops and plant them.

At the feast they ate many of the foods that they had grown and animals they had raised. Some of the foods were corn, peas, carrots, and the main course was turkey. The Indian chief and leader of the Pilgrims sat at the head of the table.

It was a fantastic meal and went on for a couple of hours. The women did all of the cooking and preparing so they had to eat last. They did not get as much to eat as the men.

Later President Lincoln declared Thanksgiving Day a legal holiday on the last Thursday of November in Massachusetts. Then in 1939 President Roosevelt proclaimed Thanksgiving Day a holiday.

In 1941 Congress passed a law that the 4th Thursday in November would be a holiday of Thanksgiving. Canada also observes Thanksgiving Day on the second Monday in October.

Now we celebrate Thanksgiving Day the same way the Indians and the Pilgrims. Our mothers or fathers make turkey for dinner and the children get excused from school.

By Donald Peart

Thanksgiving is a holiday that is celebrated because the Indians helped the pilgrims grow crops. One of the things the Indians did was to give the pilgrims corn for the freezing cold winter. They were blue, red and black kernels. The pilgrims called the corn Indian corn.

The pilgrims celebrated the growing of their crops with the Indians. They had a big feast with turkey. Today we still celebrate Thanksgiving. We still have turkeys and a big lunch or dinner like the pilgrims did a long time ago.

The Chinese claim that they thought of the idea of Thanksgiving instead of the pilgrims. We celebrate Thanksgiving the fourth Thursday of November. We sometimes invite people to our homes for a Thanksgiving dinner.

What Thanksgiving means to me

Most schools of today given children Thursday and Friday off for the holiday. Thanksgiving is a legal holiday. The telephone company makes the long distance calls 60 percent less than the full rate. We buy and make decorations for Thanksgiving.

We have been celebrating Thanksgiving for about 300 years. Today a rock near the shore called the Plymouth Rock is very famous because the pilgrims stepped on that rock to get to the shores which is now called the United States. Long ago the pilgrims settled and lived for many years there.

Many people celebrate this holiday of November.

By David Nehme

Thanksgiving is celebrated on the 4th Thursday of November.

The Mayflower sailed over a rough ocean for 67 days. Before they reached Plymouth, winter came and many of the pilgrims died of starvation or they became too cold. After winter they helped each other build their houses, but they still did not have enough food.

Later on they met some indians. They were friendly indians. The indians taught the pilgrims hunt for food without the animals away and they also taught them how to grow their crops.

The indians and the pilgrims decided to have a feast. They ate turkey, cranberrys, corn, beans and plenty of other good food. On Thanksgiving we give thanks to the Lord.

What Thanksgiving means to me

Thanksgiving is a very special holiday because we given thanks to the Lord. For dinner we usually have turkey, cranberrys, corn and other things.

My family and I usually go to our friends house to eat dinner or some of my relatives come down and we eat dinner with them.

For entertainment we play games and have a lot of fun. I LOVE Thanksgiving. It is one of my favorite holidays!

Letters to the Editor

...be wonderful to be so smart in a few words you have solved the ... over the South River Road ... mind that over a hundred people ... a petition asking that the road be ... built ... restricted to bikes or ... pedestrians.

...the only reason for building the road ... her exit in case of a big storm ... about the Florida Keys? There ... thousands of people there and only ... road of two lanes. Also A1A handles ... cards of cars every day, also two ...

No, that reason won't hold water. There are many out there who hope another road will help sell their property. Years ago when the road was first proposed, no storm insurance was available, today it is.

Years ago you didn't have the warning system that is available today, at least forty eight hours to get out.

The people that are pushing for the road like most don't seem to realize Sewall's Point will never be the same. Another road is going to be detrimental to everything that most of us missed out here for.

We attended the meeting the different candidates for commissioner presented their platforms and most were in favor of building the South River Road. So in that respect, we didn't have much choice and my wife and I voted for Mr. Gluckler.

You wrote in your column the commissioners were elected to make decisions for the citizens. Does that mean they are always right? Pres. Nixon was elected by a tremendous majority. Were his decisions always right?

Dave Dickerson went to tremendous trouble to get his petition signed and it went for nothing. At least Mr. Dickerson and others that signed realize that once the road is built it can't be undone.

You sneered at town meetings in New England and thought referendums worthless. In that case think how much time would have been saved. Nov. 2nd had you just written another one of your learned columns settling each one for your public.

Have you given any thought to settling the controversy over the location of I-905, east or west of the Turnpike?

As you may have gathered from this letter, I don't think your column was the proper place to write about the River Road, either for or against.

I think the proper place for you to express your opinion is at one of the town meetings and then you speak as one and don't have the paper behind you.

Yours truly,
S.C. Washburn

To the Editor:

We hope you can publish this letter for the sake of honesty and to alert residents of Sewall's Point about Mr. Gluckler and what he is doing in the commission meetings. The true danger to liberty is when it is nibbled away, for expedience, and by parts. Mr. Gluckler is doing just that.

First meeting, he fires the chief of police and blackmails him that if he objects to Mr. Gluckler will enter in his record all the bad things imaginable. Early meeting thereafter he adds one more ordinance to get even with some of his neighbors like those who used to park some cars about he did not like or build hedges, or were living peacefully away from traffic noise. Having driven those through a road cut by the High Point millionaires can afford and want.

When a dedicated man tries to clean him through signatures what the majority wants on a town hall or a carriage and a hurrican SNEAKED UP ON HIS VESSEL. Lord save us if this is how our Navy's radar system operates and can no longer tell if a hurricane is coming.

Lary Carlberg
Hutchinson Island

Sorry, Mr. Gluckler, no phone!

Alice and Walter Reeder went to the Palm Beach International Speedway last weekend to participate in the sports and formula car races. They "do their thing" flag and communications - on the corners. Walter has a divisional license and Alice will obtain hers shortly.

Walter told me that when it rained it didn't stop the cars racing over the two and a half mile course, some of them at 180 m.p.h.

George Carpenter has returned home from the hospital after heart surgery. Health permitting, he and Emma plan to come down some time in February.

Mate Grunling has also returned home after undergoing heart surgery. We are encouraged to learning she is making good progress.

Dean Reynolds was admitted to Martin Memorial Hospital on Sunday. With best wishes for a speedy recovery, we are all hoping she'll be home again soon.

Sandy Shoes is being planned

TEENAGER ENTRY—Miss Patty Cardaro will be sponsored in the Miss Teenager Pageant by General Development Corporation. Pictured above [illegible] GDC Office Manager, presents Miss Cardaro with a $150 check. Miss [illegible] will compete in the state pageant at Winter Park High School January 29. [illegible] of the Miss Florida Teenager pageant will travel to Atlanta, Georgia on [illegible] to compete in the 1977 Miss National Teenager Pageant.

PORT ST. LUCIE—If you've seen one parade during the Sandy Shoes Festival, you've seen them all, right? Not this year according to the Cattlemen's Day Parade chairman, Harold Supanik.

"If you've seen the last 19 parades," Supanik said Monday, "you'd better not miss this one, because it's really going to be different. For the pleasure and convenience of the audience, the parade will be tightened up and held to a time limit, and acting on many recommendations received, the committee has established standards for entries.

They are on the lookout for floats and horse riding units to typify this year's theme, "Twentieth Festival of Fun."

Application forms for the parade are available at the Festival Headquarters in Fort Pierce City Hall, 500 Boston Avenue, and the Chamber of Commerce office on Virginia Avenue.

Deadline for applying is December 15 and that will be a firm cut-off date, committee members indicated. Filing applications will not guarantee a group a place in the parade, but applicants will be notified no later than the first week in January. Those who are invited to participate will be given their number, official place and parade instructions at that time.

Many changes are taking place in the annual festival, starting with the parade. This year it will kick off the celebration on Saturday, January 22. Shrine Temples throughout the state have been invited to send their colorful and creative units this year. The Greater Miami Marching String Band, the Merry Mummers will return for the fifth year to display its splendid plumage.

The standards for judging floats will be similar to those used in previous years. Awards will be given to the best floats entered by commercial, amateur, Scout, church, fraternal and civic groups, for the best one on the theme, and for the most original and beautiful floats. For more information on these entries, contact Float Chairman Ginny DeHaven in the Student Activities Office at Indian River Community College.

All horse riders must be with a family, club or other organized riding unit this year. Trophies will be awarded for best horseman, horsewoman, family unit, ranch unit, club unit, boy and girl tiny tots, junior cowboy and cowgirl, and for the best looking horse.

The Merry Mummers and Lisa Price, 1977 Sandy Shoes Theme Girl, will lead off the parade. It will be only the second opportunity for the public to see the Mummers' new outfits. The band's theme changes annually, and it's kept a secret until the first of the year. You can get a preview of their finery by watching the King Orange Parade in Miami on New Year's.

The parade will follow the same route as in previous years. It starts at 25th Street and Okeechobee Road, proceeds north on 25th to Orange Avenue, east on Orange to 13 Street, where it will disperse. Starting time is 2 p.m. and it is scheduled to last 90 minutes.

PORT ST. LUCIE—During a special session conducted Tuesday, the City Council appointed a ten member Districting Commission as provided by the newly adopted City Charter.

Those chosen were Merle Anderson, Sam Feigenbaum, Hughes Brannagan, Mariam Levine, David Moses, Paul Sheehan, Mrs. August Hofmeister, Harold Shear.

The commission will start work immediately in close harmony with the St. Lucie County Supervisor of Elections in counting heads and dividing the city into four equal population districts.

Under the terms of the new City Charter, there will be four councilperson units, one from each district, voted on city wide. The mayor will also be elected by a city wide vote.

Candidates for election must file with the City Clerk between the hours of 9 a.m. February 18 and 5 p.m. February 28, 1977.

A $25 non refundable filing fee will be charged.

The City election will be held March 15.

Brewer, stamps are from each of the 50 states and placed as accurately as possible on the respective states. Posing with the map is Allen Brewer. The map was one of the many outstanding displays shown at the exhibit held at the Port St. Lucie Marina.

Junior women plan breakfast with Santa

PORT ST. LUCIE—One of the different kinds of event scheduled for the Port St. Lucie Community Center this year is the Breakfast with Santa affair on Saturday, December 18 from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., which is sponsored by the PSL Junior Woman's Club.

Although children will be the featured guests, club members want the PSL community to know that everyone is welcome to come and share in the holiday spirit along with the children.

Another innovation will be the Children's Choir which Cathy Gibson has assembled from the south in the area. They are scheduled to sing at 10:30 under Cathy's direction.

Holy Faith fashion show is Saturday

PORT ST. LUCIE—The women of Holy Faith Episcopal Church, Port St. Lucie, are sponsoring a luncheon, fashion show and card party Saturday, Dec. 4, at Bay's Inn, St. Lucie Plaza.

Mature models will show fashions for the holiday festivities, cruise clothes, sports styles and clothes for everyday. Florida wear in Misses, Women's and Half Size furnished by June Andrews of Clothes Quarters.

Gang enjoys another "first"

PORT ST. LUCIE—At last week's session of the Friday Nite Gang the Snooper came up with a "First"—a four generation group consisting of the host, his son, his granddaughter and his great granddaughter as follows: Cedric Benz, William A. Benz, his daughter Donna and great granddaughter Jenifer, four years old.

The Snooper's report read: Bill and Johnnie Benz, Debbie Boutelle, Donna and Jenifer Hackney, all from Austell, and Jenifer Hackney from Clinton, Georgia. Miss Webster from Clinton, Conn., and Ann Sweeney from Tampa, Florida.

Attending for the first time were Tom Schlidge, originally from Madison, Conn., and Milton Brooms, from Tampa, Florida.

The Snooper also reported one anniversary: Mrs. Norma D'Arruda's 16th.

Star fleet to race at Sandpiper Bay

PORT ST. LUCIE—A record number of boats led by defending champion James Ding Schoonmaker of Miami, is expected this year for the 7th Annual Sandpiper Bay Star Regatta December 4 and 5 on the St. Lucie River offshore from Sandpiper Bay resort.

Race committee chairman Harry Walker of Vero Beach said at least 17 and perhaps as many as 22 of the sleek, 22½-foot racing crafts are expected for the three races on the South Fork.

Walker added that the recent formation of the Sandpiper Bay Star Fleet and its sanctioning by the International Star Class Yacht Racing Association accounts for increased interest in the 1976 renewal of what was formerly called the Southern Star Championship.

Sanctioning of the Sandpiper Bay fleet raises the number of Star Fleets in Florida to four, said Walker, and we're looking forward to increased participation this year by sailors in the Tampa, Miami and Jacksonville fleets.

Schoonmaker, the 1975 World's Champion of Star Class Racing, will be going for his third straight victory off Sandpiper Bay and his fifth since the regatta was inaugurated in 1970. The Miami skipper ran up 46 points last year to outscore Russ Bigie of New Paltz, N.Y., in a regatta that drew 12 Stars from six southern and eastern states.

In addition to Schoonmaker, former North American Champion Barton Beek of Los Angeles and 1960 Olympic Silver Medalist Bill Stearns of Winnetka, Ill., are expected to compete this year according to Walker. He added entries also have been received from Terry Rapp of Riverton, N.J., Pete Conrad of Saybrook, Conn., Bob Wilten of Lorain, Ohio, and Dave Oberg of Cooper River, Md.

Walker said facilities at Sandpiper Bay have been expanded for this year's races which, combined with the Ryder Cup and Bacardi Cup Series in Miami, comprise the Triple Crown of South Florida winter Star boat racing.

Headquarters for this year's regatta will again be the dockside Captain's Lounge at Sandpiper Bay.

Two races, one at 1 p.m. and the other at about 2:30 p.m., are scheduled for Saturday, December 4, while the Sunday race will start at 10 a.m. The Sandpiper Bay marina is an excellent vantage point for watching the races, according to Walker, and admission is free.

Presentation of awards will be held at dockside immediately following the third and final race Sunday afternoon.

Walker noted that the Star boats were reconfirmed just last week as craft to be used in the 1980 summer Olympics on the Baltic Sea. The action was taken on recommendation of the U.S. Yacht Racing Union to the International Yacht Racing Union.

Charter members of the newly sanctioned Sandpiper Bay Star Fleet include, in addition to Walker, Dave Dickey, Gregor Downey and Webster Walker of Vero Beach, Pete Finley of Ft. Lauderdale, Dan McCarthy of Palm City, Hudson Millar, Jr., of Port St. Lucie, and Bob Seeley of Fort Pierce.

Yacht Club membership rises to 233

PORT ST. LUCIE—At a recent meeting of the Port St. Lucie Yacht Club, new members were admitted. Charles and Marilyn Berensford, Robert and Margaret Cooper, John and Josephine Corsello, Clement and Virginia De Roo, Joseph and Mae Granello, Walter and Helen McNally, Joseph and Catherine Podereskey, Frank and Helen Ruby, Charles and Florence Stallings, Gerry and Dorothy Vander Pluym, and John and Helen Walker.

They were introduced by membership chairman Fred Adler and presented with their badges and introduced to the club's officers and directors by Bob Clemens. The ladies received corsages from Nancy Clemens. These additions bring the membership up to 233.

Ben Fiorenza, Ed Baumbach, Marion Thurston, Thurston Smith and Fred Adler split the 50-50.

Hostesses for the evening were Evelyn Nielon and Pat Hassel.

The next scheduled event is the annual Christmas Party at Sandpiper Bay on Saturday, December 11. Tickets are available from the committee and board of directors.

Christmas card party

PORT ST. LUCIE—Plans are going ahead full scale for the gala Christmas Card Party to be held at the Port St. Lucie Community Center on Saturday, December 11.

They day will begin with a bake sale at 10 a.m. and Christmas "goodies" available. Then at 1 p.m., dessert will be served and card games will follow, with table and door prizes to be awarded.

June Johnston is overall chairman for all card parties being held at the Center. Betty Miller is chairman of the Christmas affair. Her assistants are Ruth Andrews, Ruth McDonnell, Mary Decker, Helen Scott, Wanda Lundin, Olga Atkins and Sirelsa Schreiber.

Tickets are available from the committee members or from the Center.

Toys for tots under way

PORT ST. LUCIE—The Friday Nite Gang's Toys for Tots program is progressing nicely, according to Gang Host Cedric Benz. He expressed great pleasure at the response from the community of Port St. Lucie to the extent that the Toys committee was out immediately after Thanksgiving, purchasing a goodly supply of toys to help in supplying some 180 tots at Headstart and the JayCee's Retarded Children's Home in Fort Pierce.

Commitments by individuals and organizations to date come from Barracks 2936, Veterans of World War I, the PSL Shuffleboard Club, V.F.W. Auxiliary, Norman and Belle Kaiser, Louise and Buz Gilbert, Bill and Grace Kessler, Harriett Hunt, Larry Hett and George Petrie.

The Gang will be appreciative of any further donations of money or toys from any individual or organization. Benz said. Call 878-2206 or see the Gang at the North Port Marina any Friday evening from 7 to 7:30 p.m.

The toys will be on display at the Marina on Friday, December 17, from 7 to 7:30 p.m., after which time a delegation from head Start will be on hand to take the toys to its headquarters for the Christmas Party on December 22.

The committee procuring the toys is comprised of Al and Thelma Weigel, Fran Lee and Marie Benz, who have been performing the chore for the past eight years.

Before Nettie Keefer left for Leesburg, Georgia, to spend Thanksgiving, her son Lee and his wife Sue visited here and indulged in a lot of Lee's favorite sport fishing. They all went up to Sebastian and brought home a goodly number of clams, so Nettie gave some to our "chowder chef", Adrian Snyder, who used them to concoct his famous, delicious chowder.

Alice and Walter Reeder went to the Palm Beach International Speedway last weekend to participate in the sports and formula car races. They "do their thing" flag and communications on the corners. Walter has a divisional license and Alice will obtain hers shortly.

Walter told me that when it rained, it didn't stop the cars racing over the two and a half mile course, some of them at 180 m.p.h.

To what does Bender attribute his long, healthy and active life? Frankly, it is a combination of things.

First you must be good natured, enjoy a good chew of Beechnut chewing tobacco after each meal, don't forget the cold beer and take an occasional sip of a highball. It is just that simple." Bender will quickly tell you.

Serving on the Johnstown Police Department for 55 years, he recalls taking part in the Johnstown Riot in 1923. At that time three officers were killed and Bender was shot in the stomach.

Just last Friday Bender suffered a broken hip in a fall. Hospital x-rays taken shortly thereafter revealed he was still carrying that 1923 bullet.

Retiring as Captain of the Johnston Pa. Police Department 46 years ago, Bender moved to Jensen Beach nearly nine years ago. He resides with his son Raymond at Skyline Trailer Court on Indian River Drive.

This week the snowbirds were greeted with just the kind of weather they come down here to enjoy, balmy trade winds and low eighties for temperatures, and there were only 23 of them this week as follows and Michael Forman, Adelle Jaycox, Al and May West, Aldrich and Mildred Klvana, George and Evelyn Farnham, Charles and Ann Krow, Carl and Dorothy Marquart, Mary Mulligan, Ray and Olive Fleeger, Irene Coats and Ethel Rafuse

While at the office getting the above names, it was noticed that only Gene Hoke has entered his name for Mayor and Henry Donaldson and Ernie Curwen for Aldermen. Betty MacNab said she would sign the list soon. Nomination lists will remain open until Dec. 14 for the Dec. 21 election of three Aldermen and a Mayor.

Also, there's a "lost and found" department. It's unbelievable the stuff OBPers drop here and there about 50 cars and house keys, 3 spoons, key clips to prevent the loss of keys, 2 purses, a fancy doily and a Spanish head scarf, and it looks like they were never even missed. Next time you lose something, check with the office.

PARK EVENTS

Myrt Huntington, OBPer for years, was 90 years old Tuesday, Nov. 23, and it didn't go unobserved. There were outings, picnics and house parties for Myrt, all topped off by a grand party and dance at the clubhouse, with refreshments and a take home cake. Myrt showed the young uns how to do it by dancing every dance. Congratulations Myrt!

Classes are all underway now, including square dancing, intermediates, 10:30 a.m. Mon. and Fri., and novices, 1:30 p.m. Mon. and Fri. Also, the sewing classes will start with Mary Ricci, instructor, Wed., novices, 9:30 to 10:30 and the more expert, 10:30 to 11:30.

Camera Club resumes this Thursday, Dec. 2, with Hugh Garside taking the members on a slide tour across Canada.

Shuffleboard started the week with a rained-out Round Robin on Sunday, Nov. 21, but Evelyn Hillman was the 4 game winner on Nov. 20. All players are urged to compete every Sat. and Sun. at 1:15 p.m.

Stag and Petticoat leagues are going strong with 8 courts of stags and 6 of the petticoaters. Monthly scores next week.

Indian River and Central Leagues off to a good start with the Indian River breaking even 5-5 and, Oh Boy, the Central had a 4-0 both played Port St. Lucie.

Pete Hillman has the Pot Luck humming with 45 players every Fri. at 6 p.m. There are more potential shufflers in the making, with 7 showing up for beginner instruction Wed. at 9 a.m. but the instructors say, "Let's have more."

Get your Christmas Party tickets. The party is Dec. 14 at Stuart Holiday Inn, and don't forget the regular club meeting Dec. 6 at 9 a.m. in Clement Hall.

AMBULANCE & HOSPITAL

Donations were made to the Ambulance Fund by Earl and Lila Ehrmann of 7 Kumquat. Don't forget Square Dancers are going to donate the proceeds of their Dec. 4 dance at the Elementary School. See Jim Nixon for tickets.

Larry Honn is in intensive care at Martin Memorial Hospital, and Nan Campbell and Lowell Leyshon are still in the hospital, but Rip Henderson has returned home. Mae Baker of 6 Cypress has been taken north to Laurel, Mich., by her son Ralph.

RAMBLING AROUND

Milt and Bertie Sage celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Thanksgiving Day, with a party at the Vero Beach Musicana. There were 15 in the part with these OBPers included: Jack and Olga Comer, Earl and Lila Ehrmann, Ann Bartle, Martin Van Vleet, and ex-OBPers, the Hoskens and Parks. They were married in Berkely, Calif., and it was on a Thanksgiving Day. Congratulations, Milt and Bertie.

Beth Baillie reports that the annual Thanksgiving party at Clement Hall was just as satisfying and filling, as ever. Eighteen attended, including Edna Stromunger, Evelyn Harring, Ann Riley, Gladys Adams, Mamie Snoddy and ex-OBPers Earl and Thelma Gordon. First they had semi-pot luck turkey dinner at 1 p.m. Then they played cards and games until hungry again, and at 5 p.m. they picked the platters clean. Beth said it was a delightful way for loners to spend the holiday.

Remember folks, sometimes there just isn't room for your good stories, but they will be used a lil' bit later.

My apologies to all who gave me news items for last week. In answer to phone and personal inquiries, it was due to circumstances beyond my control that they were not included in the paper. Please keep the news coming.

The Thanksgiving dinner at the rec hall was well attended and was, indeed, a bountiful feast. Thanks to the four women who cooked the turkeys, there was more than enough to satisfy all. They were Jean Van Willigen, Lola Bonar, Marie Akin and Mary Ellen Meachum.

* * *

Harriet and Lee Price have their beautiful new mobile home in place and are very busy furnishing it and settling in. Good luck to them.

Fran and Dick Toner had a nice trip to Jekyl Island, Georgia, to spend Thanksgiving with Dick's sister and brother-in-law, who live there, and also his brother and wife, who came down from North Carolina.

Betty and Al Jones ate Thanksgiving dinner with long time friends, Marian and Jim Jost, who have recently moved into a new mobile home in Leesburg, Florida. They had a relaxing time, which Betty needed. The Joneses were very impressed with the mobile home park there.

* * *

Yvonne and Bud Wiencke had a house guest for several days, a friend from their former home in New Jersey, Caroline Campbell.

Clarence and Evelyn Arnold - Betty's parents - of Hollywood, Fla., Doc and Kay Smith and Dottie Gerard gathered around the Drinkard's Thanksgiving table to make it a memorable day. A day after Thanksgiving visitor was Paul's aunt, Mable Shoenberg, of Miami. She excitedly told of her plans to visit the Holy Land after the first of the year.

Hazel and Walter Ramsey entertained Walter's sister, Edna Pollitz and great niece Cheryl, who hail from New Jersey, for a week's stay over the holidays.

Don and Faye Smith are in residence for a few weeks and have as guests, David Green and Donald Reynolds of Huntington, W. Va.

The Shavers' Thanksgiving guests were daughter Mary, her husband Rodney Branch and son Thomas, as well as Mother Cochran.

Hazel and Jeff Eute had son Robert Aaling, his wife and son, from Atlanta, visiting over the holiday and to celebrate the Eutes' anniversary on November 25.

Congratulations to Joe Freitag on being made vice commander of Stuart Auxiliary of Coast Guard.

Hope Jean Reynolds will soon be out of the hospital.

Belated anniversary congratulations to Edith and Dick Painter on November 25. They had as their guest daughter Margie with her husband Terry Rickey and children Don and Lee.

* * *

The Thanksgiving Dance was very well planned by Mary Ellen Meachum and committee, and the music by the Fred Rodes Trio was very good.

The Fred Rodes Trio will be back for our New Year's celebration.

Louise Shepherd is getting into the general enthusiasm for fixing up homes, having her lovely, big front porch screened in.

Edsel and Betty Plabe have moved into the former Ellis home and have been busy getting home, patio and boat all shipshape.

* * *

Gil and Jean Van Willigen also had the urge to improve so they had their screened porch floor covered with chatahoochee rock.

Bud and Lou Pyes are still working on their home, as are Ray and Howard Koepka and Shirley and Jack Brittain.

Birthday greetings to Dick Toner, November 28; Lester Shaver, December 4; and Joe Capra, December 7.

See you at the Bazaar Saturday, December 4.

Come at 10 a.m. and stay for lunch.

The attendance at our Pavilion Church is growing. Rev. Clark Thompson officiated Sunday with guests George Barnes on the organ and Jean Taylor on the piano.

Monday night's bridge scores were: Sophie Holler 1930, Merle Whitten 990, Hans Holler 1120. Come on out all you bridge players. Come alone or with a group.

The many happy gatherings of friends and relatives for Thanksgiving are happy memories now. Some of the events follow:

Sam and Dorothy Foote, Arden and Doris Berry, Don and Delores Finch, Helen and Carl Eury enjoyed the real old-fashioned dinner at Ramada Inn with ample turkey and all the trimmings as did Lil and George Barnes, Edie and Steve Dunfee.

Herb and Pauline enjoyed a wonderful Thanksgiving with Alton and Jane Sheehan at the mobile home in Pinelake Village. I am told it was scrumptious.

Al and Peg Rays joined their best man at their wedding at Merritt Island for the holiday. One of the ushers was there also, who lives at Fort Myers. So there was a lot of reminiscing, plus some old time song a longs.

Spending Thanksgiving weekend with Ted and Nancy Lentz were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hughes from the Keys. Mrs. Haines is Nancy's aunt.

Jim and Martha Lewis celebrated Thanksgiving with Martha's aunt in Lake Worth. Martha's sister, who lives in Miami, was there too. It was a happy family gathering.

Helen Eury's sister, Wilma Miller of Ft. Wayne, Ind., is making her first flight to Miami, where Helen and Carl will meet and attending a conference in Key Biscayne. He flies from Miami to West Palm, to spend overnight with Dave and Freda before returning home.

Bill Harrison went into the hospital Tuesday, Nov. 22, in Ohio. Anyone wishing to send cards, R.R. 1, Box 53, Farmersville, Ohio 45325. We wish him a speedy recovery.

* * *

The Wilsons and Al Rays had a coffee klatch on Wednesday morning at Sophie Holler's, a farewell to the Wilsons. Hope Ohio will refurb soon.

We extend our heartfelt condolences to Ellen Freeman, whose father passed away Friday and J.C. returned to H.C. Sunday night.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. M. McNaught from Chicago and D.B.A. visited the Bowes on Thanksgiving.

Helen Allison went to Cleveland, Ohio, for Thanksgiving with her aunt and daughter, also to visit her new great granddaughter.

Alma Schwamberger from Ohio and Ginny Kohorst spent the weekend with the Nagys at H.C., following a Thanksgiving dinner in Hollywood.

Mo and Bucky Berman are now in the park on lot 86 permanently. Welcome to a lovely couple.

Welcome to new owners Jack and Lillie McConnell, lot 20, purchased from Earl Phillips. They are from Milford, Mich., and are here for the season. The rest of the family are sons Jack, Jr., Leonard, Michael and daughter Carla.

* * *

New owners John and Marcelyn Evans, lot 154, purchased from John Vetterl are returning after the holidays. They winter it in cold Ohio and they are looking forward to the warm weather here.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. L.F. DeVore wish to express their gratitude to the many people in Holiday Out, Venture Out and others who helped and showed concern for their safety after the explosion Thanksgiving afternoon. They say, "The thoughtfulness shown on this occasion exemplifies the spirit of trailer people. We have much to be thankful for and many to be thankful to."

* * *

The Kennedys are back with granddaughter Sarah for a visit. Sarah is from Greenwich, Conn. They will all go back for Christmas, then the Kennedys will return.

Late arrivals are A. Fils, lot 460; Anna Schultz, 145; Elsie Heins, 121; Carmile Lassoie, 146; M.H. Steele, 9; Orville Blinn, 233; Robert McLean, 299; Wilbur Smith, 47.

David McCarthy, Jr., visited his parents recently. He is Dean of Georgetown University's Law School and was guest speaking at conference in Key Biscayne. He flew from Miami to West Palm, to spend overnight with Dave and Freda before returning home.

The Shuffleboard Club misses Ed Frost, who is in Martin Memorial Hospital. They all hope for his speedy recovery.

Lionel Jones is that Roland Shephell came home last week from the hospital.

Grace Carson is slowly recovering from her accident. She and Hobe were traveling west on the Stuart Causeway in their motor home when an approaching motorist suddenly cut across in front of them. John had to jam on the brakes and Grace, who happened to be standing at the moment hit the floor causing severe contusions to her ribs. The doctor has ordered her to have complete rest for the next week or two.

It is hard to keep up with all the holiday travel plans. Mae and Aussie Williams left to spend Christmas with their family in New York state and Paul and Ethel Pinkerneil have returned from their trip to Wisconsin.

Harman and Irene Fawcett are back after a trip north.

While others are coming and going, Roy and Bea Leonard are busy settling into their handsome new trailer.

ROCKS--A truck dumps a load of rocks on Hutchinson at a condominium to prevent further erosion of the beach. Erosion at the Little Ocean Club condominium has been termed critical and Martin County Commission approved the plan to shore up the beach.

County okays

Rock pile on island

JENSEN BEACH--There is a big rock pile on Hutchinson Island at a condominium to protect the dune.

Martin County Commission last week approved a plan to shore up the beach with rocks, reversing a previous policy.

At the urging of Bill Carlton, head of the state Department of Natural Resources Bureau of Beaches and Shores, the county voted to issue a letter of no objection to plans by residents of Little Ocean Club and Little Ocean Place condominiums to build a rock pile to protect the dune.

"I was here about this time last year and measured 11 feet from one building to the bluff of the dune," Carlton said. "I measured it again this week and it's only four feet," he said. "If we have several days of severe erosion and northeasterly winds, that building will no doubt be gone."

Commissioner Frank Wacha issued the following statement later in the week after the commission's action.

"I have received numerous comments concerning the expenditure of county funds at Little Ocean Club and Little Ocean Place on Hutchinson Island. There appears to be some thought that the county has spent exorbitant amounts. During the last week when it was feared that at least one building would be lost, the county incurred expenses of less than $1,000. Most of that was in time and manhours. Most of the county's effort to date has been directed toward helping the property owners in the endangered area to help themselves.

Carlton pointed out to commissioners that short-term measures such as bulldozing sand and fortifying dunes with old wood and junked cars are virtually useless.

Last year, Little Ocean Club officials sought permission to construct a stone revetment on the beach and state authorities gave their approval.

However, the County Commission blocked the efforts, claiming it would heighten erosion problems south of the revetment.

Carlton said the rock revetment can be designed so as to minimize erosion damage to property south of the structure.

It was noted by Wacha that he approves of the construction of Little Ocean Club revetment, but would not favor any county aid to another condominium to the south because that complex has time to prepare anti-erosion plans.

United Way total 60 percent

JENSEN BEACH--The United Way of Martin County campaign is "looking real good and moving ahead better than I expected," Augie Malfregeot, general campaign chairman and president, said Tuesday.

"We are at about 60 per cent of our goal," he added.

Malfregeot said most of the collection has been from payroll contributions from corporations.

"We have received about $7,000 from the residential mail," he said.

The campaign goal is $100,000, an increase of 25 per cent over the campaign last year.

"This week we are working the schools and next week will be contacting the county and cities," he said.

The campaign ends December 17.

Mini-Exhibit is this weekend

JENSEN BEACH--Members of the Jensen Beach Art League will exhibit works in the League's "Mini Art Exhibit" Sunday, December 12, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the First Federal Riverside Park, east side of Indian River Drive.

Works in all media will be on display, many of them for sale.

mbulance donation on agenda

ALM'S POINT--A donation to the Area Ambulance Samaritans, is expected to be approved by Point Commission at tonight's nday, Dec. 8) meeting.

commission donated $1,000 this ar to the Samaritans, and at last workshop session, Commissioner ussell suggested that this year's on be $1,300.

or Ed Gluckler suggested that the ntans provide the number of ance runs to the town the past A report on the number of call to n is expected tonight.

on the agenda for the 7:30 p.m. at Town Hall is emergency ance #5 regarding $1 for court cost al of a pool in Archipelago, and ot approval of Benihana sign.

last week's workshop session, issioners once again held a sion on the proposed South River again rejecting a referendum.

And Mayor Gluckler said he has been subjected to "hate mail" on the proposed project and "hate phone calls."

Mayor Gluckler told Dave Dickinson that his letters to newspapers were "pretty specific in asking the people to write me a letter. We got six letters, three were from one family and one from yours."

Dickinson circulated petitions urging the commissioners to restrict use of the proposed road to pedestrians and bicycles except in emergencies.

The petition was signed by 138 residents and Gluckler said he had contacted several of the residents who signed the petition, and many didn't even know what they were signing.

When Dickinson presented the petition to the commission, he claimed that Gluckler had promised to hold a referendum on the road project if enough signatures were collected.

The mayor responded, "I said I would consider it. I did."

At last week's work session, the mayor said it would be a waste of town monies to go to a referendum.

And Commissioner Russell pointed out that proper planning for the future of a town that will triple in the number of residents would call for another exit road besides Seward's Point Road.

ounty-city meeting set

SEN BEACH--County cities meet were proposed at the first meeting new Martin County Commission onth.

first joint session will be held nday, Dec. 15, at the County nistrative Center beginning at 7 arles Foster, Stuart mayor, ired the session at Tuesday County mission meeting.

mayor wants the county and cities cuss some mutual problems, and cially to talk about creating a ional service district.

all goes back to double taxation," e said, referring to the cities' claim ying city and county taxes.

ask that the County Commission der a municipal service unit. I feel the new commission there is a new and more cooperation," Foster was pointed out that a municipal ce district could be created without ng it into effect in 1977.

rt Commissioners noted that such a ce unit would be setting up a rm taxing unit.

other action, a request for a building permit on S.E. Sharon Street in the Hobe Sound area led to a lengthy discussion on roads.

The request by the owner noted that the street was an open street and eligible for a building permit.

Commissioner William Myers noted that the street was open in the 1960's and apparently closed by nature.

During the discussion, it was pointed out that if the road was opened after 1972, it would have to abide by county ordinances, be brought up to county standards.

Dr. Myers pointed out that the man had spent his own money on improving his property, and "every man should be able to get to his property."

And Dr. Myers observed that "open" has not been defined, and "we should take each case on an individual basis."

Chairman Tom Higgins pointed out that Dr. Myers has "first hand knowledge of the issue" and the commission approved the request.

Commissioners also approved additional parking for the Martin County Fair Association at the fairgrounds on A1A.

National journal features center

JENSEN BEACH--The Environmental Studies Center in Jensen Beach is featured in the November issue of American Education, the official publication of the U.S. Office of Education.

Jay Jarrett, center director, said the center has received letters from New Jersey and Texas school districts referring to the article and asking for more information.

"We feel honored to be written up in the prime educational journal in the country," Jarrett said.

The story in the national publication points out:

"It has been cited by the U.S. Office of Education as one of 150 exemplary projects across the nation worthy of duplication by other school systems."

Council meeting is scheduled

JENSEN BEACH--Appointment of legal counsel is on the agenda for the Thursday, Dec. 9, meeting of the Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council.

The four-county council will meet at 10 a.m. at the Martin County Administrative Center.

Council members also are expected to adopt rules of the organization and interim personnel policies.

Wacha reports to Chamber

JENSEN BEACH--martin County Commissioner Frank Wacha will give a "legislative update" at the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce directors' meeting Monday, Dec. 13, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Also on the agenda, listed under new business, is the Jensen Beach Arch. One side of the Arch was knocked down in a traffic mishap.

Some committee reports are on the agenda, including the tourism report by Al Epstein and project summary by immediate past president L.D. Kirkpatrick.

Pix blown, camera out

JENSEN BEACH--A malfunctioning camera caused many pictures and events to be missing from The Mirror this week. Two complete rolls of film ended up blank due to the camera problem.

Some of the events include the opening of Action First Realty, the Jensen Beach Lions Pancake Breakfast, the Jensen Beach Art League event this weekend, Kiwanis Club Christmas tree sales at Winn Dixie, and several street scenes of shoppers.

Letters to the Editor

Comment continuing on River Road

the Editor:

We are writing to inform your readers another example of coercion by the government of Sewall's Point. Much has been said and thus far in reference to South River Road (re the commission's denial of a referendum on the subject).

We did not write Mayor Gluckler on the matter never realizing how urgently our voices would be needed.

We are now asking, why, if you feel as we did so unanimously agreed upon, are you afraid of asking for a vote? Is it, perhaps, that the interest group involved you might be put down? And if so, so be it. If the majority of people agree by mail. True, not many responded to Mr. Shannon's letter. Is that any surprise really? It is a difficult thing to face those who are so ready to crunch numbers. The past history of this town proves that.

We would like to point out that the new ordinance 95 is also a gross discrimination of individual rights in that it discriminates against an individual's rights to own private property of his choose, namely a vehicle, all under the cover of "restricted zoning."

While the ordinance does not forbid owning certain types of vehicles it does prohibit such to be seen in the town from the mail. It further discriminates by forbidding visitors to park such vehicles. Our commissioners and one self appointed watchdog of violations have chosen to make the esthetic decision as to which vehicle is pleasing and which is not. We do not believe this is rational intelligent action in any way representative of a democratic society or a self governing community. We are all disappointed and disappointed in

the Editor:

On behalf of the Sewall's Point Board of Commissioners, we the undersigned would make the following observations regards the Board's unanimous decision to proceed with the construction of the South River Road. In our attempt to clarify any misunderstanding that may exist in this matter the following are the facts:

1. The three commissioners elected on March were elected on a platform calling for the early completion of the road and to that end, they and the two incumbent commissioners are directing maximum and efforts.

2. The land owners who dedicated their land was did so on the premise that it would be used for the construction of a public road, primarily for the protection of residents in the low lands in the event of disaster and to provide for future growth of the Town. In this section, it may be necessary for the fire, ambulance and fire department to use this road sooner than one may think.

3. Towards this end, developers are required by Town Ordinance to dedicate their Plats Plans the location of the center of the River Road, then will construct and dedicate to the Town prior to the approval of plans.

4. The donors of land and the developers of subdivisions who dedicated their Rights of Ways and sections of land for the principle a gradual completion of the River Road. To use the right of way for anything but a dedicated road would be a breach of faith and could result in claims against the Town.

5. It was the early concept of the River Road that all subsequent Boards of Commissioners, including the present Board have pursued its development from time to time have set aside funds for its completion.

6. The purpose of this letter should not be construed as being opposed to a bicycle path. It is to point out that the funds which were obtained for the construction of a dedicated town road for no other purpose.

7. We believe that a bicycle path as well as bridle paths and nature trails are a worthy consideration by the Board of Commissioners but should not be set up as an alternative to the dedicated

the Editor:

We thank you for the coverage of the accident and damage to the Arch in Sewall's Point. You did, however, give credits to the wrong department for the excellent work in cleaning up and removing the hazards.

It was the Rio Fire Department who, through excellent leadership and coordination did an extremely fine job in avoiding personal injury in the area. I might also add that your omission of credit to the Rio Fire Department was brought to my attention by Asst. Chief Joe Delaney of the Jensen Beach Fire Department.

I was extremely pleased with the action of the Rio Fire Department and it is a comfort to me to know that I have such an excellent group of men helping me fulfill my obligations to the public.

Respectfully,

the concern over the image of living in this town rather than the more important emphasis on the quality of life.

We would like an answer to the question as to how the presence of a VW van poses a threat to the general welfare or value of property in an otherwise affluent community.

Caroline Kepp show is at Elliott Museum

PORT ST. LUCIE—Caroline A. Kepp, whose work has been shown widely in Martin and St. Lucie Counties, has an exhibition of recent paintings at the Martin County Historical Society's Elliott Museum art gallery, where they will remain through December.

A native of Cleveland, Ohio, Mrs. Kepp is now a resident of Port St. Lucie, and was invited to exhibit at the local museum after her "Cannon in the Woods" won best of show in the Daughters of the American Revolution Bicentennial contest.

At 25, Mrs. Kepp was one of Cleveland's youngest and most promising art directors already a graduate of the Cleveland Institute of Art, the Cooper School of Art and the Cleveland Advertising School. Since coming to Florida she has continued to study with Charles Velek of Melbourne, and is a protege of Edward Praediger of New Jersey, a winter resident of St. Lucie County.

The DAR prize-winner is in the exhibition at the Museum, an abandoned gun, near a stark tree trunk, the Bicentennial flag above it, and, below, a small scroll with the dates 1776-1978. It is in the attractive style Mrs. Kepp has introduced in her new work, shades of brown with an abstract expanse of white around the subject matter.

Other paintings with this "new look" include an abandoned farm, a deserted boat ashore in high grass, the Gilbert's Bar House of Refuge, and a stretch of sandy dune with sea oats. The monotone treatment is in no way monotonous, but emphasizes the central theme, with little distracting background.

The paintings are for sale (several had red stars before the end of the Historical Society members' preview).

The art gallery is open to the public, free, during museum hours, 1 to 5 p.m. every afternoon, including Sundays.

Free enterprise is the key to freedom, FIT prof states

BY DICK CAMPBELL
JENSEN BEACH–Tossing his napkin on the table, Dr. Richard Penick said, "Now, that's the kind of speech I've been waiting to hear for a long time."

Other members of the Jensen Beach Kiwanis Club echoed the remark. Bill Herzog added, "If that's the kind of teaching they have at FIT, I'm for it."

The Kiwanians had just been given a lecture on Americanism by Dr. Russell Van Brunt, assistant professor of Fine Arts and Humanities at Florida Institute of Technology's Jensen Beach Campus.

It was a rip-roaring, humor studded speech on the tie between the freedoms enjoyed by Americans and the free enterprise system, punctuated with a balance of practical statistics and generalized patriotism.

Van Brunt began and ended with the Declaration of Independence, outlining the commitment of the signers to pledge themselves, their fortunes and their sacred honor to the United States of America. He asked that the people of today do the same, to keep a free America.

Pointing out that the government definition of poverty in America is the Russian definition of middle-class affluence, Van Brunt said, "The free enterprise system is what makes freedom work."

In a survey taken on the freedoms we enjoy, only six percent of those polled thought that freedom has anything to do with free enterprise. They are like Siamese twins, and can't live without each other.

Americans must have the freedom to change jobs, join or not join a union, move from one place to another, or one state to another, he said.

Van Brunt warned that freedoms were being lost.

"You work from January 1 to June 1 for the government. You are paying 44 percent in taxes. By the year 2000 it is estimated that sixty percent of earnings will be paid in taxes. By then, you will be a slave to your government."

Calling for a rededication to the principles of the Declaration of Independence, Van Brunt told Kiwanians to pledge your lives, your fortunes and your sacred honor to keep America free.

Full discount assured taxpayers

JENSEN BEACH–We have people... County Tax Collector Alvin Andrews said Monday.

Andrews was referring to the taxpayers who had gathered at the courthouse to pay their property tax bills, taking advantage of the 4 per cent discount granted in November.

"Usually we have between 64 and 67 per cent of the people paying their bills during the first discount period," Andrews said.

And he noted that the mail is "piled up" because the courthouse was closed for the Thanksgiving holiday.

"Everything postmarked in November gets the 4 per cent discount," he said.

A 3 per cent discount is allowed on tax bills paid during December.

SKIPPER–Hank Rowan of Rancocas, N.J. (center) gets a trophy and congratulations from General Development Corporation vice president Frank Widmann after winning last weekend's Sandpiper Bay Star Regatta on the St. Lucie River. Rowan and crewman Rick Burgess of Hewitt, N.J. (right) won all three races in the two-day event

Jersey sailors sweep the river

PORT ST. LUCIE–A trio of Star Class sailors from New Jersey swept the river Saturday and Sunday, taking the top three prizes in the 7th Annual Sandpiper Bay Star Regatta held on the North Fork of the St. Lucie River, offshore from the resort.

Skipper Hank Rowan of Rancocas celebrated his 53rd birthday by winning both races on Saturday over a triangular seven-mile course. Then returned Sunday to win the final heat handily. Crewman Rick Burgess of Hewitt, N.J. handled the lines as Rowan's "Riot V" compiled a perfect score of 36 points based on one point for each race finished and one point for each boat beaten in each race.

Another Garden State skipper, Dave Oberg of West Collingswood, with Nick Morgia of Riverton as crew, placed second in the three-heat event by finishing second twice and third once for 32 points. Oberg's "Eagle" was less than a boat length astern of Rowan in Saturday's opening race as the two skippers came down the last leg in a furious tacking and covering duel that wasn't decided until the last instant.

Skipper Terry Rapp of Riverton and crewman Rick Tool of Palmyra sailing "Night Train Express" completed the New Jersey sweep by scoring 28 points on fifth, fourth and second place finishes.

Rowan, a veteran of 12 years racing the sleek, 22½-foot Star sloops, was starting the Sandpiper Bay event for the first time. A skipper who spends most of his racing time on the ocean off the Jersey shore, he found the light St. Lucie River course a "real challenge where things happen very fast."

Russ Bogle of New Paltz, N.Y., runner-up to Miami's Ding Schoon maker in last year's Sandpiper Bay race, placed sixth, third and fourth for 26 points and fourth place in total standings. Schoonmaker, who also was the 1975 World Star Class Champion, was unable to make the 1976 renewal of the Sandpiper.

Skipper Harry Walker of Vero Beach, commodore of the newly-sanctioned Sandpiper Bay Fleet, stopped the out-of-state invasion by bringing his "walkabout" home 4-5-5 for 25 points and fifth place overall. Dave Dickey of Miami crewed for Walker.

Good sailing weather prevailed for Saturday's two heats with winds generally from the north at about 18-20 knots. Sunday's morning race was sailed in light airs with occasional drizzle forcing the skippers to sail varied courses in search of friendly breezes.

Twelve Stars, the same number as last year entered the 1976 renewal, but Walker said the first time appearances of newcomers like Rowan will lead to large fleets next year.

PSL group to propose FP&L rate hike

PORT ST. LUCIE–While representatives of three local homeowner groups in the Civic League have unanimously agreed to oppose the $226 million power rate hike requested by Florida Power & Light Company (FPL), specifics as to how they would present their opposition were left dangling during the Monday morning meeting at Port St. Lucie Community Center.

Dick Brunton, chairman of the local group, indicated there are two routes of opposition available, and added both will be costly. Estimated costs range from $5 to $10,000, depending on whether the group wishes to offer their financial expert, Frank Zendzian, as a witness for the office of the consumer advocate, or, the group can choose a more costly route by presenting their own opposition as a separate intervener.

The general trend of the meeting indicated the group is optimistic about presenting their own case as separate intervers.

A local attorney, Harold Shear, who attended the session, said that there are disadvantages to the group acting in its own behalf and questioned that route as being much more expensive than allowing through the Public Council in Tallassee.

"If you intervene, you have more control over what you present and how it is presented than if you were to serve as a witness for the Consumer Advocate. I am not sure we would have the right as a witness as we would have by virtue of the route of intervener," Shear said.

Brunton said he feels the local group is capable of taking on the job and that a negative attitude on the part of the Florida Cities consumer advocate during Brunton's recent visit to Tallassee to pick up the FPL petition on late hike. Lutes told Brunton his office was the first and only one to meet him with some type of organized opposition.

"It was doubtful that we could get the number of enough consumers to raise enough dollars funds to fight FPL or to have the power behind our fight," Brunton told the group.

"But the next week the local organization will consider writing letters to the editors of newspapers in the 49 Florida counties serviced by FPL, both their moral and financial support in opposing the proposed rate hike.

"Someone has to take a stand to stop utilities from running over the consumer and it might just as well be us," Brunton said.

Although Zendrian has not yet completed research of the 1,000 page FPL application, he has determined the document is full of redundance.

"It seems to be a tactic used by utilities. They seem to feel if they can through experts to say the same thing in a different form, you will start believing what you hear. This is a smoke screen used in this case to cover up the firm's poor management."

As an example, they refer again and again to increased costs–but not once do they mention increased revenues," Zendrian said, adding that while Florida is the second fastest growing state, surely the firm's revenues have increased.

Meanwhile, a letter has been received from H.J. Schindehette, commercial manager for FPL, inviting Brunton and Zendrian to meet with him within the week to discuss the rate increase.

"FPL needs rate relief and we feel our documents and records will verify this," Schindehette said, adding he would be happy to furnish such information to those sincere enough to research the financial data.

While Zendrian has agreed to discuss the matter, he has made it clear that he is not at all interested in generalizations.

"FPL cites inflation as a major cause for seeking the increase. After all, who causes inflation? It is a circle."

Christmas tea for United Methodist Women

PORT ST. LUCIE–The United Methodist Women of the Port St. Lucie United Methodist Church will meet Wednesday, December 15 at 1 p.m. in Goddard Hall on Prima Vista Boulevard.

This is the annual Christmas Tea and installation of officers for 1977.

All women of the church are invited to attend.

STACK OF FACTS"–Shown above with the stack of facts and figures provided by FP&L to the Public Service Commission to substantiate their requested rate hike are being analyzed by three members of a local representative group who intend to oppose the hike. Pictured above, left to right, are Bob Brunton, president of the PSL/HP Homeowners Association attorney Harold Shear, and Frank Zendrian, the group's financial expert.

"Another point is that the petition first asked for a $349 million increase, then weeks later they file for a $226 million interim increase to tide them over. Now the truth of the matter, as I see it, is that should they not get the larger increase they will settle for the smaller figure and that is probably what they hoped for in the first place. The balance to put smoke there they settle for the $249 million everyone will be perfectly happy but the consumer who will pay the bill. Zendrian said in closing his report.

Community leaders Mike Hyer and Seymour Fleming, president and vice-president of the PSL Civic League, Vern Barker, president of the PSL Home owners group, Dick Wenger, PSL Country Club Homeowners Association, Brunton and Don White, representing the PSL/HP Homeowners, and attorney Harold Shear, who is serving as an individual volunteer, are leading the county.

Ella Lee, Guy Fusco win shuffleboard tournament

PORT ST. LUCIE–It was Ella Lee and Guy Fusco of Ocean Breeze Park who shuffled their way to become the first place winners in the Central East Coast District Amateur Mixed Doubles competition this past weekend in Port St. Lucie General Development Corporation sponsored the event.

Second place in the main event also went to an Ocean Breeze couple, Evelyn and Pete Hillman.

Dora Holt and Edgar Diveley of Stuart placed third, and Port St. Lucie shufflers Yvonne and Art Tondrea captured the fourth place position at the end of the two day competition.

According to Tournament Director Judd Reading, 122 persons from the Central East Coast District, extending from Coca to Jupiter, entered the competition.

The tournament play, originally scheduled for three days, was completed in two following a rainout on December 2.

Trophies were presented jointly by Emory Holt, first vice president of the Central East Coast District of the Florida Shuffleboard Association, and by Judd Reading to the first, second, third and fourth place winners in the main event. First and second place consolation winners also received trophies for their efforts.

Gen and Al Lang, of Trailer Haven in Melbourne, were first place consolation winners, while Bea Roeders and Oscar Kohlman of Spanish Lakes placed second.

Assisting Reading on the tournament committee were Fred Vizard of Ocean Breeze Park and Ken Hamlin of Fort Pierce.

The next scheduled district play will be a Novice Tournament which will be played on Ocean Breeze Park courts December 16, 17 and 18.

ENGROSSED–While there was plenty of time for friendly chit chat, at the moment the Mirror photographer snapped Mrs. George Lundberg and Mrs. Jeanne Dekreulenaere, they were deeply engrossed in watching the shufflers compete for the top four positions in the Central East Coast District Mixed Doubles competition. The event was sponsored by General Development Corporation and played on the Port St. Lucie Courts last weekend.

luke plant hearings resume

PORT ST. LUCIE–The hearings on Florida Power and Light's St. Lucie Two nuclear power plant on Hutchinson Island will resume Wednesday, Dec. 15, in Miami before the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC).

The NRC's Atomic Safety and Licensing Board spent four days reviewing evidence on alternate sites presented by the NRC staff and the opposition intervener, the intervenors, represented by attorney Martin Hodder, did not have enough time to present a complete case.

The new hearings will deal with the issue of alternate sites.

Construction of St. Lucie Two started next to St. Lucie One but was halted in October by the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington, D.C. The NCR board determined in July that the NRC staff was "misleading" by not examining alternative sites where the plant could be built.

At the Miami hearings, testimony has indicated that neither FPL nor the NRC staff studied other sites before deciding upon Hutchinson Island for St. Lucie Two.

It was noted in the testimony that Hutchinson Island was selected for St. Lucie Two because St. Lucie One is there.

Free enterprise is the key to freedom, FIT prof states

BY DICK CAMPBELL
JENSEN BEACH—Tossing his napkin on the table, Dr. Richard Penick said, "Now, that's the kind of speech I've been waiting to hear for a long time."

Other members of the Jensen Beach Kiwanis Club echoed the remark. Bill Herzog added, "If that's the kind of teaching they have at FIT, I'm for it."

The Kiwanians had just been given a lecture on Americanism by Dr. Russell Van Brunt, assistant professor of Fine Arts and Humanities at Florida Institute of Technology's Jensen Beach Campus.

It was a rip-roaring, humor-studded speech on the tie between the freedoms enjoyed by Americans and the free enterprise system, punctuated with a balance of practical statistics and generalized patriotism.

Van Brunt began and ended with the Declaration of Independence outlining the commitment of the signers to pledge themselves, their fortunes and their sacred honor for the United States of America. He asked that the people of today do the same "to keep a free America."

Pointing out that the government definition of poverty in America is the Russian definition of middle class affluence, Van Brunt said, "The free enterprise system is what makes freedom work."

In a survey taken on the freedoms we enjoy, only six percent of those polled thought that freedom has anything to do with free enterprise. They are like Siamese twins and can't live without each other."

Americans must have the freedom to change jobs, join or not join a union, move from one place to another or one state to another, he said.

Van Brunt warned that freedoms were being lost.

"Your work from January 1 to June 1 is for the government. You are paying 44 percent in taxes. By the year 2000 it is estimated that 84% percent of earnings will be paid in taxes. By then you will be a slave to your government."

Calling for a rededication to the principles of the Declaration of Independence, Van Brunt told Kiwanians, "We pledge to you our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor to keep America free."

THANK YOU

Mrs. William K. (Gertrude) Jones wishes to express her appreciation to all her Ocean Breeze friends for their cards and good wishes while she was in the hospital. And a special thank you to Dr Grossnickel and the nurses in Martin Memorial for the excellent care she received.

She is home now and doing fine!

Some of that dreadful New England weather greeted last week's returnees, making them feel right back home, like it or not. But, they know from past experience that all they have to do is wait a few minutes and the good ol' balmy weather will be back.

Thirty seven joined us last week, as follows:

Helen Ainley, Nora Stage, Iva Gill, Andy and Jean Largh, Gertrude Cochrane, Paul and Ethel Snow, Ludwig and Mary Mayer, Frank and Linda Zimmerman, Dean and Rose Murray, Maude Van Marter, Lorenzo and Ione Church, Martin and Francis Anderson, Ruth Todd, Lona Merrill, Margaret Alrutz, P.T. and Katherine Mathy, Walter and Catherine Still, Leonard and Mary Ann Blanchard, Alma Clawson, Frances Reese, Ralph and Beth Ortt, Cornelius and Nellie Van Dongen, Hans and Dora Schellberg, Nellie Schaubach.

Gene Hoke keeps the park office open from 8 to 10 a.m. Saturdays as a convenience to folks needing change, information or problem solving, and for purchase of cards and cigarettes, but not for paying rent and electric bills (requiring use of automatic bookkeeping equipment).

There has been talk for some time about "CBers" interfering with TV reception. So, being a new member of the clan I checked out my "rig" right along side the house every CB channel on every TV channel with no interference. It would seem that if there is CB-TV interference, it must be due to the use of some equipment that is out of adjustment or illegal. If that is the case, I hope it can be corrected before all the CBers get a bad name.

Nominations lists for December 21 election now have for Mayor Gene Hoke; and for Aldermen Henry Donaldson, Ernie Curwen and George Levangie. Lists will close December 14.

There are more of us around now, more cars zipping by, more bikes wobbling all over the road, more folks aimlessly sauntering along, so the cars must slow down before there's a painful accident. Remember your defensive driving; pedestrians are fragile.

PARK EVENTS

The Saturday Night Dance had a slim crowd as the square dancers attended the Ambulance Benefit Dance at the Elementary School. The huge group danced up ball to the calling of Dale McClary, enjoyed great refreshments, some won the novel door prizes, and they contributed $2.75 or more to the Ambulance Fund. Helping Jim Nixon make this so successful were Mr. and Catherine Taylor, Jill Morris, Doris Lehning, Nonie Crossett, Mildred Gray, Jo Foveresi, Doris White, Jo Zees, Ila Mae and George Nunn, Bernie Taylor, Arnold Theisen, Charles and Althea Johnson, Harry and Betty Turner, Dick Aumiller and Ernie Curwen.

Camera Club is back in stride with a good group for a stormy night to take a tour by Hugh Garside's slides to Bicentennial Washington, D.C. and then on to Switzerland with many slides of gorgeous flowers. It was great.

This Thursday, Dec. 9, Oscar Walquist will take the members to Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Holland.

Ceramics with Ed Henderson instructing, is going strong and many new items, along with old favorites, are being made by a group of enthusiastic gals. The gals say Ed is an excellent instructor and has the patience of Job. There's room for more. Why don't you join the fun?

Shuffleboard started the week of Nov. 27 with 8 courts of Round Robin, with the four game winners as follows: Kit Garside, Dorothy Elliott and Cyril Mathy. Then with six courts on Nov. 28 there were three four game winners: George Levangie and Earl Burbank.

The Stag League finished November with Pete Muller, Pete Hillmar, Larry Brammer, Syl Garing and Bur Muller leading, in that order.

The Petticoat League ended the month with Pearl Wheelock in first place, Dorothy Elliott and Fran Runyan tied for second, Rose Leybeck and Ada Wisser tied for third.

Both Indian River League and Central League teams were rained out Wednesday, Dec. 1.

HOSPITAL

Nan Campbell and Larry Hunn are still in the hospital, however, Larry's visiting daughter says Larry will be home soon.

Karl Hoke is back home after a short stay in the hospital, and Orlee Eckland reports that Sue Boyd is home from the hospital in Boyceville, Wisc. and planning to come to Ocean Breeze early in December.

RAMBLING AROUND

That old gang of Lil Bit Laners is here again for another winter of bustle fun. They are Dick and Doris Reed, Ted and Elsie Landgraf, Wilson and Kathleen Sorris (due soon), Sess and Edith Ebright, Johnnie and Crystal Sumner, Bob Hines, George and Ethel Arsens, Harold and Angela Shoaf (due soon), Walter Harmon, Jack and Olga Comer, Mildred McPherson (due soon), Bob and Ruth Reitz.

Dick and Doris Reed held the fort during the summer for the gang, keeping the wild life happy and contented by daily feeding. The birds know Doris and Doris knows them. There's a big white heron named Hermann, a big blue one called Big Blue, and some pesky sea gulls. Pretty Boy and Decrepit with his bent leg. They make the point an interesting place and then, as soon as Ness Ebright gets settled, he'll be organizing some group activity, so things will be a-humming down that way this winter.

When I stopped by to see Jack Comer about Camera Club activities, I found Olga had made some of the darnedest "Doodle-Bug" puppets for her grandchildren from white styrofoam balls of various sizes, bird beaks, fluffy feathers, nylon net puff balls and a lot of ingenuity. By proper manipulation, they can be made to wobble along in a most outlandish fashion. It looks like something for the Hobby Class.

Jack Dodge of 4 Arbor Vitae just received a marvelous picture of his grandson, Gregg Stanley, presenting President Gerald Ford with an honorary membership to a fraternity, at the University of New Hampshire where Gregg is president of his class. It is a great picture, even shows the Secret Service men keeping an eagle eye on the President.

Alex and Jo Fioveresi probably hold some kind of a record as they went 28,000 miles this summer and, when asked where they went, said "Here and there, mostly to square dancing 100 miles away."

Fishing tourney opens December 11

JENSEN BEACH–The Metropolitan Beach Florida Fishing Tournament will open Dec 11 for the longest run in its 47-year history, continuing through May 31, 1977.

Oldest and largest fishing tournament in the world, the Met is sponsored as a public service by the Miami Herald and the Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Miami. Competition is open, without entry fee or advance registration, to anglers in nine South Florida counties and Bimini, Bahamas.

Tournament territory covers the counties of Monroe, Dade, Broward, Palm Beach, Martin, Glades, Hendry, Okeechobee and Collier. Nearly 200 official weighing stations assure that all fishermen in the area have convenient opportunity to enter catches.

With 54 eligible species of both salt and freshwater fish, plus eight separate angling categories, the Met affords a trophy winning opportunity to fishermen at all levels of experience and dedication. The tournament annually awards some 300 major trophies and first-place plaques, plus many thousands of shoulder patches and citation certificates for catches of outstanding size.

Additional trophies, patches and certificates are awarded for the catching and releasing of sports fish.

Information concerning the tournament is available at official weighing stations, or by mail from the Met Tournament Headquarters, 1431 North Bayshore Drive, Miami, FL 33132.

Bowling Tourney is coming up

JENSEN BEACH–The Eighth Annual Championship Tournament of the Martin County Women's Bowling Association will be held in February. With a deadline for entries set for January 17.

All five members of the Martin County B P W A can get together and form a team to enter the tournament. A bowler may enter the team event twice, but only once in the doubles and singles. Included in the events is a Handicap All Events.

There will be a limit of 60 teams. Early entries get preference on dates and time. League secretaries have the entry forms and rules for the tournament. Early registration is urged.

Sailing with the stars

JENSEN BEACH–A new venture in celestial navigation may be just that extra bit of knowledge and skill than can make a day at sea a more rewarding experience. It is another of the nautical safety courses being offered through the Adult Education Department of the Martin County School system.

The course will enable the student to use celestial navigation to determine his position at sea, whether it be in local coastal waters or in mid-ocean. The student will learn how to take sights with a sextant, sight reduction methods and plotting.

It will be a 36-hour lecture and discussion course with problem solving sessions complemented by lab work involving actual sextant shots at various locations.

William Beckham, with a U.S. Coast Guard license to operate a vessel for hire, will be the instructor. He has been sailing the waters of the Great Lakes and east coast of the United States, from Maine to Key West, for 13 years.

No definite times or dates have been established for the course. Those interested may call the Adult Education Department at 287-6400, Extension 130.

NOW IS THE TIME FOR ALL GOOD MEN . . . and women not covered by a company pension plan or who are self-employed to come to their own aid with an Individual Retirement Account (IRA). It's the best way to take control of your future . . . even have a tax advantage next year.
Each wage earner can put up to 15% of his annual income (but not more than $1,500 per year) into an IRA plan and deduct the contributions from his gross income for tax purposes. That's a double barreled value for you. A pension for tomorrow, a tax saving today.
Stop in at any of the 21 of Martin County's five convenient financial centers and talk to a Savings Counselor about IRA. They'll be happy to help you arrange for your retirement years now, your tax break next year.
"Keogh Plans, allowing contributions up to $7,500 or 15% of gross income, are also available for those who are self-employed."
At First of Martin County, we care about your future.

PINE LAKE VILLAGE

Pine Cones

BY BOB RAMSEY

If anyone runs into Leroy, see that he gets all this information. You know Leroy, he never gets the word.

Let us pick up where we left off last week on our newcomers who will be showing up soon as residents, or are already here. We want you to know we care, will be anxious to meet you all in person and as mentioned before, give you some work to do voluntarily.

Got any hidden talents? Secret vices, such as gambling? See Sharyon and get catalogued now. The park will need you.

Here we go again!

Joe and Ruth Retz of Ballston, New York. Matt and Lucille Berhrug of Elmhurst, Illinois. Merv and Carol Figg, from Sault Ste. Marie, Micmigan. Burton and Edith Hodges of Norwalk, Conn. Orson and Marguerite Streeter of Herkimer N.Y. (who was the Herkimer Hurricane?). Joe and Genevieve Ballisch of Arlington Hts. Ill.

For the want of more space that will be all of our new family members this week. Let's just say that Pinelake Village lots are going like the proverbial hot cakes, which mean, if you have any problems moving in, what are you waiting for?

And speaking of hot cakes, have you bought your ticket for the Pinelake pancake breakfast on December 12? If not, see our genial salesman Joe De Vries, who was giving me a pitch about my buying the last two I have. Bob!

At the drop of a hat, Joe will print up any money on a real "Wheel of Fortune".

As you read this you'll only have two or three days to work up an appetite. Got it? Served around 8 a.m. until the workers drop for sheer exhaustion. Chairman for the spread is Oscar Mathiesen with his little pixie assistants, Messrs. Peterson, Mock, Garlick, Berhrug, O'Donnell and any other pearl diver I may have forgotten.

Stick this on your social calendar, also. December 12, 7:30 p.m. there will be a tree lighting. Had it last year and it was a very enjoyable thing. I hear rumors that out of this there is hope of recruiting a choral group as a permanent future. Like to sing? Here's your chance. As a matter of fact, if you like to do anything at all, announce yourself. This is our most effective way to reach you with a schedule along with our bulletin board, so hop to it. It's gonna be a long winter, and if the boob tube breaks down, you're dead!

How about some later anniversaries. Belated though they may be, still trying to catch up: Paul and Marge Sivits, Nick and Lucille Maxim, Fred and Evelyn Castle, Al and Ethel Seecla, Harry and Edith Ball.

Birthdays, too. Al Eamotte, Ruth Anne Bricker, Mary Gallicho, Ruth Hunecke, Sharyon Tilton, George Stass, Mildred Trantham and Ray Bates.

Speaking of Ray Bates, hope to see Ray and Mary rolling in most any day. We're sure they're not enjoying weather in the Poconos.

As this is being written the second annual bazaar under Sharyon's direction is going on at the Club House. About 30 minutes ago, went over there to see how the sales were going. Going in the right word. They were cleaning house.

As with every event, this looks like a big success. Hope you didn't miss it.

Sharyon was assisted by many members of the bazaar group made up of our ladies of the park too numerous to mention, but we all know who you are. Everyone says "Thanks" for your time and effort.

Your writer has come in a heart rending conclusion. After watching weather forecasts for weeks, panty hose commercials, salespersons in stores, and movies in general, I have the feeling old people no longer exist. What ever happened to them? They can't all be in Florida, or can they?

* * *

Got to hit Bob Peterson right after this column and get this typewriter fixed. The barbed wire works alright in spots and so do the straight pins, but the bobbie pins don't hold up.

Causeways picked for erosion control

JENSEN BEACH–Jensen Beach and Stuart Causeways have been selected as erosion control demonstration sites, one of 16 coastal sites around the country as the first step of a five-year program to test and evaluate shoreline erosion control measures

Martin County Engineer Ken Ferrari was notified of the program in a letter from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers

Ferrari submitted the causeways for consideration

In the letter to Ferrari from James Garland, chief of the Corps engineering division, he wrote

"This program is not expected to solve individual erosion problems so much as to demonstrate effectiveness of various ways to control erosion at different types of shoreline

"The Corps, with the cooperation of the county and state, private owners, cities, counties and state agencies can protect their own waterfront property, or projects from erosion."

A district representative is expected to contact Ferrari within the next few weeks to coordinate the development of the program

Over the years there has been serious erosion on the causeways, especially the Jensen Beach Causeway with strong northeast winds whipping the Indian River into the causeway

Trees have been lost and pavilions lost or damaged by erosion

The erosion control sites have been authorized under Section 54 of the Water Resources Development Act of 1974.

Erosion emergency is reported over

JENSEN BEACH–After an inspection of Hutchinson Island projects that have incurred beach erosion, Martin County Engineer Ken Ferrari announced "no emergency now exists."

Ferrari noted in a press release that the beach erosion problem was discussed with Bill Carlton and Bill Sensabaugh of the Department of Natural Resources, and the island projects were inspected

"It was determined that no emergency now exists, and any other property owners who feel they need to do any work on the beaches will have to acquire the necessary state and federal permits prior to any encroachments on the beach," Ferrari pointed out in his press release

Last week the condominiums Little Ocean Place and Little Ocean Club completed a rock pile to protect the buildings from further erosion

Carlton pointed out that there are many places along the coast where buildings are too close to the water, or are not properly protected from storm waves.

Zoning changes get okay

JENSEN BEACH–Two Jensen Beach area and one Palm City zoning changes were approved Tuesday by the Martin County Commission

The zoning changes were routine, putting Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department and Jensen Area Ambulance Samaritans Inc. and Palm City Park in "proper zoning classifications."

The Ambulance House, 1250 N.E. Samaritan St., was changed from residential-RSA to public service (PS) and the Fire Department 1848 N.E. Church St., was changed from business B-1 to PS.

Palm City Park was zoned PS from its classification of residential-R-2B.

In other action, commissioners passed a resolution recognizing the contributions to the county of the late Judge A.O. Kanner. Commissioner Frank Wacha presented the resolution to Mrs. A.O. (Mary) Kanner.

Also, county engineer Ken Ferrari said he wants to get the improvements of the Savanna Road and Commercial Street intersection back on the five year program.

Ferrari said the intersection improvements have been "on the back burner because the rights-of-way could not be obtained."

He said there are indications that the rights-of-way can be obtained.

Christmas trees are going fast

The trees are being sold by the Jensen Beach Kiwanis Club. They are fresh cut, nursery grown sheared (shaped) white pine trees, between five and seven feet tall.

Kiwanians are on hand daily from 1 to 9 p.m. Bill Herzog is site chairman and Bill Selmi is personnel chairman. Ham Wade is general chairman of the event.

People to speak on I-95

SEN BEACH–Residents of Mar unty are now giving their opinion ew Interstate 95 should be located, ny more will receive postcards to their views.

ie County Commissioner Frank said Tuesday he was organizing bution of 11,000 cards to voters of precincts outside the City of explained that he was eliminating voters because the I-95 issue was ballot in the Tuesday city election.

the Stuart Chamber of erce has sent out some cards opinions on the location of I-95

And at the Monday night meeting of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce directors, they re-stated their position of favoring an easterly route for I-95.

The cards some voters will receive will give them three choices on the I-95 location, and any other location they choose. Voters are asked if they would prefer to have I-95 cross SR 76

1. East three-three and a half miles east of Florida's Turnpike (Tilton plan)

2. West five-five and a half miles west of Florida's Turnpike (Alt.)

3. On the Turnpike

Jensen Beach Realtor Ransom Tilton several weeks ago proposed an easterly route for I-95, including

"The route crosses the St. Lucie River south of Riverland Trailer Park and connects with Mapp Road. It then runs directly west and crosses SR 714 through the M&W properties."

Tilton's proposal would have the route at the M&W properties either connect with the Turnpike or cross to the western side and link up with the route selected for St. Lucie County which is west of the Turnpike in Port St. Lucie.

The circulating of postcards so people can mark their I-95 preferences was approved by the County Commission at the Nov. 16 meeting.

Another hearing on I-95 has been set for Monday, Dec. 20, at 7:30 p.m. at the Village of Tequesta Town Hall.

At a meeting in Tequesta in January, the Federal Highway Administration ordered the re-investigation of the possibility of building I-95 east of the Turnpike.

Earlier, the federal agency had endorsed the state Department of Transportation's western alignment of I-95.

Wacha said the postcards should be returned "as soon as possible."

"We want the people to be heard, and I believe the people have the right to speak on the location of I-95," he said.

1-95 ROUTE–This map shows the proposed of Interstate 95 through Martin County. Cards are ready to be distributed to voters in the county. Voters in the City of Stuart voiced their opinion Tuesday.

Arch repairs set at $3,000

JENSEN BEACH–Replacement of the east tower of the Jensen Beach Arch, destroyed in an auto accident a few weeks ago, will cost $3,000 to replace, it was reported to the Chamber of Commerce board of directors Monday night.

Insurance adjustors set the figure but the Chamber board discussed the possibility of a lighted arch with raised lettering on the sign that crosses the street.

It was also discussed that the county commission be asked to cut down the rise of the hill to make the arch area more safe for traffic. At present, the slight rise makes entry into the street from intersecting roads and business parking lots dangerous.

Jon Chicky, chairman of the arch committee, was asked to contact the county regarding the rebuilding of the arch and related projects.

Nuke unit producing

JENSEN BEACH–Florida Power and Light Co.'s (FPL) nuclear reactor on Hutchinson Island is operating again.

Operators of the 802 megawatt plant were running at 20 per cent capacity last Friday with 160 megawatts of nuclear-produced power going to customers.

FPL officials said they hope to have production at 50 per cent in two weeks.

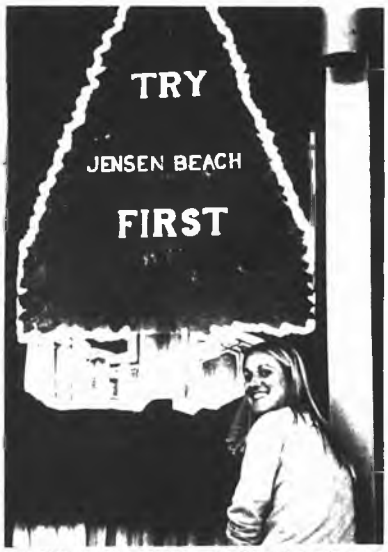
The unit was in commercial production for two weeks last June, but was closed down early in July when the power output of its radioactive core rose unexpectedly. At that time the plant was put back into testing status.

Meanwhile, the hearings of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission licensing proceedings for FPL's second unit on the island will resumed at 9 a.m. today in Miami.

The session is being held to complete the testimony on the questioning of alternative sites.

Brochures due

JENSEN BEACH–The new tourist brochures prepared by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce are due "any day," according to Al Epstein, chairman of the project.



OUR TREE–The Christmas decoration on The Mirror's front window took a Santa look with a tree resembling the local "Try Jensen Beach First" campaign sign. The artist was Julie Mauger.

Sewall's Point likes county aid, cooperation

SEWALL'S POINT–Commissioners indicated last week that they won't get involved in the "double taxation" issue.

"Double taxation is the City of Stuart's fight, not ours," Mayor Ed Gluckler said.

Other commissioners indicated agreement with the Mayor, who urged them to attend a meeting between city and county officials, Wednesday, Dec. 15, beginning at 7 p.m. at the Administra ive Center.

Stuart officials claim city residents receive no benefit from some county departments, but city residents are taxed at the same rate as the unincorporated areas.

"I feel the present system is to our advantage unless something is uncovered at the meeting," Commissioner Bob Russell said.

"We get extensive county services inside the town," Mayor Gluckler pointed out.

The mayor noted that the town gets use of the sheriff's patrols, use of the sheriff's radio frequency and the county planners will do the comprehensive planning program.

Mayor Gluckler pointed out that the Martin County Taxpayers Association has asked for a complete cost analysis of all government services.

"Too much could be disturbed by this kind of thing and we want a cost analysis before anything is done," he said.

"The Town of Sewall's Point is in a position where we can gain more by cooperating with the county than by fighting it," the mayor said.

Stuart officials last week asked the County Commission for the meeting to discuss creation of a Municipal Service District.

Rights-of-way are holdup on Savanna Road

JENSEN BEACH–A high priority for the construction of an improved intersection of Savanna Road and Commercial Street was promised by County Commissioner Frank Wacha Monday night.

Wacha, meeting with the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce board of directors, said that the major problem facing the county was acquisition of rights-of-way for widening the road and providing a left turn storage lane

21,500 mile canoe odyssey ends for adventurer here

BY DICK CAMPBELL

JENSEN BEACH–The 18-foot Grumman canoe shows the wear and tear of its 21,500 mile odyssey of Donald Watson. Its guard rails are bent, the canvas cover weatherbeaten, and the paddles from Alaska, Texas and Oregon are faded and peeling from the weather stained windshield.

Watson, 43, breaks into his big smile as he relishes telling the story of his survival.

The boat was attacked by an alligator, chased by sharks in Florida, capsized by huge waves in glacier-strewn Alaskan waters, tossed about for three days in a Gulf of Mexico storm that killed thirteen men in much larger boats than his, encircled by fifteen cavorting whales during the trip.

The Odyssey that took him from Key West to Alaska and back with many side trips added when he hauled his canoe over to St. Lucie Marine in Rio, putting it on display "for several months" while he meets television and writing commitments in the north.

"The canoe will be displayed in the Smithsonian," he says proudly. "The trip more than tripled the 1939 world record for the longest canoe trip set by two New York men."

The canoe is filled with special equipment and safety devices that would compliment a boat much larger. Two radios, a CB and a marine, offer communications for the Ellijay, Ga. retired publisher.

The gas for the 35 horsepower Evinrude is stored in long tubes in the bottom of the canoe, offering ballast that rights the boat when it turns over. The front of the boat is covered with canvas, and a snap-cover is ready at the stern in case of inclement weather.

The aluminum hull is sprayed with foam, and the built up transom holds a two-horse kicker for use in emergencies, along with the 35-horse Evinrude. "The boat is rated for six horsepower . . . I need the power to battle huge waves," Watson says. "Often I was just able to keep from slipping back into the trough by going full power."

The book that Watson wrote on his trip will be released early next year, and should reflect the excitement and loneliness of the marathon trip.

A poet of sorts, Watson remembers the setting sun's glow, turning the waters golden, silhouetting the palm trees, and the skies turning red, pink, yellow and purple as darkness approached in Florida waters.

He also remembers the three days spent tied to a channel buoy in the Gulf of Mexico as storm-swept waves crashed against the half-submerged canoe.

The loneliness of day and night alone in river and ocean, often lasting weeks, and the reporters and television crews that interviewed in town after town when he came upon populated areas.

The fixed canvas on the bow of the canoe has hundreds of signatures in various stages of fading and weathering, souvenirs of those Watson has met through his voyage.

The trip was sponsored by Evinrude Motors, Thomas Oil Company and Little Debbie Snacks.

Once the book is published, Watson plans to capitalize on it with appearances on national television, saving enough money to buy a sailing boat for his next trip. The trip, a seven year cruise around the world.

ADVENTURER. Donald B. Watson stands beside his 18 foot canoe now on display at St. Lucie Marine in Rio, at the end of a 21,500 mile odyssey. At right is Ralph Evinrude, chairman of the board of Outboard Marine, whose Evinrude Motors is one of the sponsors of the trip. The boat will be on display for several months.

Man dies in car mishap

JENSEN BEACH–A Stuart man was killed Friday, Dec. 10, when his car left the road and came to rest in a field off SR 707A.

The Florida Highway Patrol said Ernest Hofer, 80, of 1196 NW 16th St., Palm Lake Park, was westbound on SR 707A when he suddenly crossed into the east bound lane. He drove into a field 265 feet from the edge of the roadway, according to the patrol.

The patrol said Hofer was found slumped over the wheel of his vehicle and that the cause of death was a ruptured abdominal aortic aneurysm.

Letters to the editor

Dear Editor (My Friend Arlene)

I have been enjoying your editorials (all very much. However, your last one me thanking, which in itself made it more worthwhile. I first thought of writing you on the phone, but decided I could handle it better this way.

As memory serves, we went into Vietnam not to make them "like us," but to avoid a Communist take-over. AT THEIR REQUEST. We were fighting with them against an invader. There were many who think we should oppose Communism wherever and whenever we have the opportunity, believing it is a good thing to do.

As for our becoming murderers and rapists, one lieutenant was accused of murder and stood trial for it. I heard of a few cases of rape, although with half a million men there, it would be surprising if there were none. But you probably heard of the hundreds of villages where the Communists came in, raped, burned, rounded up the village officials and their families, mutilating them beyond description. Should we condemn them, but trying to stop such things?

My son Wayne was in Saigon during the last years of the war, and he feels that we should have gone on and helped the Communists which we of course could have done and saved South Vietnam and Cambodia from the Communists instead of copping out and undertaking the job (as the expected holocaust did not occur in South Vietnam), but why is so little said about what they did to Cambodia? What could be worse than forcing the whole population out of the cities into the country, where there is not enough to the thousands, no food or shelter being provided?

Of course I do not like war. Surely it is the greatest of man's stupidities. It took five years out of my life, four out of my son's. I once walked out of a wheatfield sprinkled with millions of poppies with a bullet hole in my chest, stepping over and around the bodies of friends who had been healthy, young men ten minutes before.

Back to the Cambodians. I spent a month in Phnom Penh; met many of the people, made friends there among the Cambodians and Chinese who constitute one third of the population, and I am saddened and disgusted when I remember Pres. Nixon with all his real faults, was condemned for "invading" Cambodia, also at their request, for the protection of both the Cambodians and South Vietnamese. I hold my head no higher when I realize we failed them and left them to such a horrible fate.

And we should never forget that it takes but one to make a war, that any leader of this or any country who promises to keep his country at peace in talking through his hat, and he knows it.

Still, I agree with you that the MIC should be watched carefully. But let us not forget that a military leader can only be disgraced for not having enough, never for having an over supply.

I entered into the assault mentioned above: 116 rounds of heavy ammunition. I used two of them; for nothing.

If all commanders is going to need battleships to level off an airstrip in a South Pacific jungle and figures that five of them can do the job, he orders at least three, since one or two might malfunction and the enemy might take out two or three. But the speedy construction of the airstrip may mean the lives of many men depending on the air cover.

Even if I liked war, I would still abhor the waste.

One further thought: I believe Presidents Kennedy and Johnson gave the orders they could have been stopped by Congress for the Viet Nam build-up, but I don't believe they were members of the Military Industrial Complex.

And neither was Adolph Hitler, for that matter.

I hope you will enjoy the above as much as I have enjoyed reading your editorials.

Sincerely,
Clifford Ogle

78 sails are released

STUART--Steve Rea of Cape May Courthouse, New Jersey, and a winner resident of Port Salerno, won the professional category of the 23rd annual Stuart Sailfish Club light tackle sailfish tournament with four releases. Rea fished from the Susie Q, Capt. Bob Lane, finds four of his releases in 120 feet of water almost due east of St. Lucie Inlet. Rea said he lost three other sails and raised several more.

Seventy-eight sails were released on the last day of the three-day four day tourney to set a new one-day record. High seas caused the cancellation of fishing Thursday afternoon, all day Friday and Saturday. Twenty-one sails had been released Thursday when fishing was called off at 12 noon because of high seas.

Blaine Rhodes of Sewall's Point won the amateur division with four releases fishing from the Sabre skippered by his wife Sally Rhodes.

A team from Junction City, Kansas won the team division fishing on the Joanna II skippered by Capt. Jack Reed. On the team were Larry Young, owner of the boat who also was a member of the winning team last year on the same boat. Jack Barron and Bill Wildt. They had seven releases and won on a time of catch basis.

Second in the pro class was Charles Robinson of Hatteras, N.C. with five releases from the Poor Boy. Capt. Bruce Sessoms on time basis.

Third in the pro class was Elevaen Bartlett Reed of Sewall's Point with four releases fishing from her boat Chapin. Capt. Bill Burdge. Mrs. Reed won the tournament two years ago.

Second in the amateur class was Volney Bayley of Stuart with four releases, time basis, fishing from the Vic'tar. Capt. Louis Lund.

Third in the amateur division was Ray Durdin of Lakeland from the Blue Marlin, Capt. Richard Berry. Durdin, on time basis.

Second in the team division was the Teaser, Capt. Brett Gerken. Released were seven sails, time basis by the three-man team of Monte Howell and Steve T. Miller of Virginia Beach, Va., and Tom Daughtry of Hatteras, N.C.

Third in the team class was the Lynda Kay, Capt. Archie Phelps, with seven releases, time basis by Bill Powell and Monte Tappan, both of Brandon, Fla.

The captain's prize went to Capt. Gerken on the Teaser, who also won the prize for the most tagged fish, seven.

The William Todt Memorial Cup went to Rea. The cup will go permanently to the first winner to have his name engraved on it three times. The award is made on the basis of points. Rea had 500.

The 78 one-day count topped the 61 count record set last year.

"I are confident we will exceed our egreot said.

"As has been a year of involvement en volunteers, the best effort in the ry of our fund drive here in Martin

"Our leadership more employee ies providing services through our member agencies," he said.

The final United Way campaign report luncheon will be held at Ramada Inn in Stuart and Malfregeot pointed out that it will be to "celebrate our campaign victory."

At the kick-off luncheon Nov. 30, payroll contributions from the major firms in the county were reported.

Malfregeot observed that 60 percent of the campaign contributions have come from payroll deductions.

"Money is still coming in, and we got a stack of mail today (Tuesday) from people who contributed to the United Way," he said.

Supporters of the campaign from major firms, government and institutions will gather at the luncheon along with United Way volunteers.

Ocean Breeze

BY ERNIE CURWEN
PHONE 334-4754

Now it's our turn to use that worn out phrase, "This weather is very unusual," but it is a fact. According to some 25 year residents, they have never seen a whole week of nasty weather. Florida does have daily showers at time, but it's very unusual to have continuous rain for more than a week. So you folks that just got here and you first timers, be assure, the good ol' balmy Florida weather is just around the corner.

The following 34 arrived this week:

Gertrude Wickes, Raleigh and Ada McKibben, George and Betty Ryder, Alton and Beatrice Canfield, Zora Thomas, George and Jane Phillips, Dewey and Hazel Huitt, K K and Pauline Hand, Daniel and Fredericka Cunningham, Raymond and Betty Armstrong, Byron and Clyde Sutliff, George and Nina Crockatt, Fred and Helen leacon, Adolph and Klare Steinle, Carlos and Evelyn Figueiredo, Larry and Winona Moore, Joe and Helen Keating, Carl and Ethel Birchfield, Mr and Mrs. Forest.

THANK YOU

During the recent hospitalization of my husband, Case Van Dongan, we have met many wonderful people and would like to thank our friends, neighbors, the Jensen Ambulance for their fast service, the nurses in Intensive Care and on the fourth floor at Martin Memorial Hospital, and Dr. Ulano, who did so well in his prompt attention and care during Case's stay at the hospital.

Thanks everyone for everything.

Case & Nellie Van Dongan

THANK YOU

Larry Honn, delighted to be home from the hospital, wants to thank all the skillful doctors, pleasant nurses, friends and neighbors of Ocean Breeze Park square dancers and everybody for their cards, telephone calls and encouraging words. Thank you one and all, says Larry.

* * *

The nomination list closed Dec. 14, with Gene Hoke running for mayor unopposed, and Henry Donaldson, Betty MacNab, George Levangie and Ernie Curwen running for the three alderman's vacancies. The election will be Tuesday, Dec. 21. All registered voters must get out and vote to show the politicians that Ocean Breezers are concerned and their requests deserve careful consideration. If you don't vote your elected officials will know you don't give a "hoot" what they do.

Here a couple of "don'ts":

Don't come in the south entrance so darn fast. If you have to speed up to get off the road to avoid oncoming traffic, OK, but slow down to park 15 mph speed as soon as you get out of the traffic pattern.

Second, don't go the wrong way on our one way streets, especially at the north entrance. Non-park folks have started again to use the park as a "go to work" short cut, at speeds much too fast for day dreaming retirees. Remember, if they see you violating posted signs, they'll do likewise. Don't be one of those who complain about all the other folks breaking the laws and then do the same thing when some regulation isn't to your liking. If Grandpa respects the law, maybe grandchildren will learn it's the thing to do.

PARK EVENTS

SATURDAY NIGHT DANCE was better than ever, up to mid-season crowds and fun. This mixed dancing – square, round, ballroom and mixer – is putting the laughter in the air every Saturday night, so it'll be the same thing on Tuesday.

Ruth Hoke announced that this year she'd like to try a "Singles Christmas Dance" at 8 p.m. on Christmas night. Not for singles only, but especially for them as lots of folks living alone find Christmas a long, lonely day. Everybody can bring a useful gift of less than one dollar for an exchange. There'll be dancing, "skits" and other special entertainment. You all come, and bring a loner with you.

There is a sign up list in the office for the children's Christmas party, 11:30 a.m., Dec. 24, with games, luncheon and Santa with gifts for all under 12 years old.

CAMERA CLUB. Oscar Wahlquist took the members of a colorful tour of Scandinavia and Evelyn displayed some wonderful Swedish embroidery to well over 100 folks at last week's session. This Thursday, 7 p.m., Milt and Bertie Sage will show their bicentennial journey around the USA, a selection of their best slides from all 50 states. Meetings will be cancelled for Dec. 22 and 30 because of other holiday activities.

SHUFFLEBOARD. OBPers can strut a bit this week for didn't they sweep the Central East Coast District Mixed Doubles tournament at Port St. Lucie on Dec. 3 and 4, with Ella Lee and Guy Fusco winning first place, and Pete and Evelyn Hillman coming in second.

President Irma Fair presided at the regular monthly meeting, 45 attending. V.P. Bill Jones presented trophies to George Levangie and Ralph Bailets, managers of last spring's north-south exciting grudge matches.

Ted Wisner announced there'll be free coffee and cake at the turkey shoot and country store at 1 p.m., Dec. 22.

Evelyn Hillman will be refreshment committee chairman for the East Coast District Novice tournament at OBP Dec. 16, 17 and 18.

Central Leaguers are continuing to swing 9-10 scores, took Whispering Creek last week. The Indian League players also won, 6-4, and again won from Spanish Lakes by a 6-4 score on Dec. 8.

Dec. 9 and 10, the park's ladies' and men's singles were held with 25 ladies and 22 men participating. Fred Viland was director with Ralph Bailets assisting, and Irma Fair presented trophies to Ada Wisner, Fran Runyan, Evelyn Hillman, Pearl Wheelock, Pete Muller, Bill Jones, Cliff Ogle and Ted Witmer. Consolation winners were Dorothy Elliott and Hazel Olsen, Tom Elliott and Ramsey Chase.

AMBULANCE & HOSPITAL

Case Van Dongan is at home after a week's stay in Martin Memorial, doing fine and out walking in the sunshine.

Nan Campbell, of Ninth, is still in Martin Memorial, however.

Donations were made to the ambulance fund by Mr. and Mrs. Karl Thesing, in memory of Al Wickes, Wilson Scott and Clair Runyen. The final figure for the Square Dance benefit dance was $283.75.

Larry Honn is home from the hospital and perhaps not as frisky as ever but in good spirits.

Mollie Butterfield has transferred to the Colonial Nursing Home, Brook Street, Weymouth, Mass. 02188. She'd like to hear from her OBP friends.

RAMBLING AROUND

Herb and Velma Wescott of Pepper have been entertaining their daughter Charlotte Belmonte of Staten Island for the past two weeks. She writes that she returned safely home, but had to shovel out her driveway in zero weather (and we complain about a little rain!).

Walter and Katherine Still are back on North River Bank after a very exciting summer tour of 18,000 miles and receiving a life time membership to "Good Sam." for these mighty efforts. They were in Washington State for August, then on through desolate parts of Idaho and to Glacier National Park, and a slow wander back to OBP. Walt says his Jeep Wagon is a superb tow vehicle.

Florence and Stanley Hughson of Arborvitae recently had a lil' party with Alice and Charles Cline, Hope and Cliff White, Evelyn and George LeBon, Anna and Johnny Johnson, Mildred Alexander, Laura and Fred Baron in for a wonderful turkey dinner with all the fixin's.

Jensen man drowns

JENSEN BEACH–A Jensen Beach resident, Paul W. Moody, 63, of 391 Hyline Road, drowned while swimming north of Jensen Beach public beach according to the sheriff's office.
According to the sheriff's office, lifeguards tried to save Moody but were too late. The mishap occurred last Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 7.
Moody was pronounced dead on arrival at Martin Memorial Hospital.

Post enjoys Christmas dinner

JENSEN BEACH–Jensen Beach Post 126, American Legion, held its annual Christmas Dinner Monday night, attended by more than 300 members, families and honored guests, at the Post Home on South Savanna Road.
Honored guests included District 12 Commander Mario Guseppi and his wife Rose, who is also District 13 Auxiliary president; Chin Chew Get, Commander of Dade County Post 85, Miami Beach; and Martin County Commissioner Frank A. Wacha, also a member of Post 126.
Commissioner Wacha delivered one of the shortest, and well received, after dinner speeches on record. It consisted of two words, "Merry Christmas."
This year, departing from tradition, the entree was roast beef, with all the fixings. The festive event ended, after children present were given token gifts, with the singing of well-remembered Christmas Carols, and closing remarks by Dick Neeson, District 12 Representative from Jensen Beach.

PSL joins United Way campaign

PORT ST. LUCIE--With approximately $85,000 of the $154,000 overall goal already in hand, the United Way of St Lucie County kicked off its campaign last Friday in the Port St. Lucie Country Club area.

Howard Chase of 2801 SE Pine Valley will chair the local drive, replacing Jose Moniz, last year's chairman.

Volunteer leaders will cover the South Port St. Lucie area to solicit contributions for the United Way within the week, according to Fred Johnston, executive director of the program.

Residents are reminded that the United Way funds many local agencies which offer services to the residents of St. Lucie County.

The $154,000 goal this year represents a seven percent increase over the previous year. All funds raised by the organization are disbursed to various agencies on a monthly basis.

While voicing his appreciation on behalf of the major contributors, such as local department stores, banks and savings and loan institutions, Fort Pierce Memorial Hospital, public school system, Southern Bell and FP&L, Johnston said the real basic foundation of the United Way is the average working man and woman of the county.

Some of the agencies funded by the United Way of St. Lucie County are the Salvation Army, Retarded Children's Training Center, The Community Mental Health Center, Lincoln Park Child Care Center, American Red Cross, Phoenix House (Alcoholic Rehabilitation), Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Indian Riverland Y.M.C.A., Rhodes Memorial y.m.c.a. and the Visiting Nurses Association.

Anglers set awards night

PORT ST. LUCIE--Awards for the club's second fishing contest of the year will be awarded at the meeting of the Port St. Lucie Anglers Club next Tuesday, Dec. 21, at 7:30 p.m. at the Northport Marina.

Adding to the evening will be some Christmas fun. Wives of members are baking Christmas cookies and these will be dispensed as a social hour concludes the evening. Santa Claus will be on hand with a bucket of genuine North Pole Anti-freeze, according to Floyd Gillem, chairman of the event.

Members will be looking ahead to a tentative 1977 program which will be outlined by President Hughes Brininger, and to the club's dinner at the Highpoint Restaurant, January 4, when newly elected officers will be installed.

Joe and Helen Peck will be taking final orders for the club's Christmas fruit cakes, priced at $4.25 for a three-pound cake. Their telephone number is 878-2658.

ity is pleased with Realtor support

ORT ST. LUCIE--Councilman Bill hesney says he is more than pleased the cooperation he has received realtors handling rentals in Port ucie.

hesney has held three meetings the realtors and noted the dance has jumped from 16 to 25 bers of the Fort Pierce Board of lors who attended Friday's meet ing.

Several realtors have complied with the city's request by providing a list of rental properties under their care. This will enable the city to know who is responsible when a violation is reported.

Previously, McChesney distributed a Hearty Welcome letter to the realtors for their tenants. Along with listing the many services available in the area and a general rundown on city activities, the letter also includes several of the city's ordinances which should be of interest to the new homeowner or tenant.

The Hearty Welcome letter was suggested by the Civic League, picked up and endorsed by the City Council. This was in conjunction with the "Keep Port St. Lucie Clean" campaign, also instigated by the Civic League.

For Sale and model home sign placement was another matter discussed during the Friday meeting. McChesney cautioned realtors the city would assess fines for signs violations and suggested they act quickly to correct any placement violations.

City Manager Elmer Cox, who also attended the meeting with McChesney, told his listeners the city has invested more than $2,000 in lien actions against homeowners in an effort to keep the city beautiful.

With reference to violations, when the City's Safety Director Doug Stout gave his report Tuesday, he noted 32 grass ordinance violations had been written, 15 grass ordinance violations re-checks made, 4 pet ordinance violations, and 7 zoning ordinance violations were handled during the previous two week period.

This should certainly serve as some indication that it's services is clamping down on all violators of city ordinances.

In his report Stout said two juveniles were arrested for burglary and criminal mischief of a vacant house in the Lakewood area, and that two automobile accidents, one at Morningside and Westmoreland Boulevards, no injuries, and the second, one mile south of C-24 Canal on Port St. Lucie Boulevard.

Stout also reported to the Council that he had recently completed a survey of fire hydrants in the area with fire officials and found only one in need of repair.

FINAL CHECK--Clement A. Bramley, Jr., right, president of the Port St. Lucie Bank, presented a check in the amount of $500 to Dick Lundin, president of the Port St. Lucie Community Center. The check represents the final payment of the $1,250 pledge the Bank made to the Center in 1974. Also pictured, on left, is Heine Dethmers, chairman of the Short Range Expansion Committee which is now engaged in preparing preliminary drawings for the proposed new Arts and Crafts Building to be constructed adjacent to the Center. According to Lundin, the note for the new addition of the Center has been paid in full.

roup seeks intervenor support or status on FPL rate hike

BY ALICE HICKEY

RT ST. LUCIE--Representatives of local homeowner groups and the League Monday decided the best rse of action to oppose the FP&L 1226 ntaxterm rate hike would be to act ...egarize intervenor. In this way the ...e would have full control over the ...ession of their rebuttal before the ...e Service Commission. Leaning on ...dvice of local attorney Harold ...s who has agreed to help the group ...n way he can, it is believed such a ...ntation by a financial expert will ...e a lot more impact.

...e first step the group proposes, ...ever, will be to contact civic leaders ...h three county area in solicit ...ider support in the opposition to ...idity firm's requested rate hike. ...e want at the present time is ...l support to add strength to our ...ntions," said Bob Brunton, who ...n the local group.

...n the time comes to raise funds to ...e the battle, Brunton is confident the ...p will have no problem in reaching ...r goal, which is estimated to be ...een $5,000 and $10,000 maximum.

...e present time the group is in the ...ess of drafting letters to the editors ...wspapers in the 47 Florida counties ...ed by FP&L in an effort to ...ize the campaign and hopefully ...up statewide support in their ...s.

...e only is Brunton confident the ...ssary funds will be there when ...ed, he is equally confident his group ...ver equipped to take on the task of ...ing the rate hike than the office of ...e. Lyles, the state consumer advocate.

On his staff Lyles has two young attorneys and two secretaries, no more and no less, to research the massive FP&L application and prepare a case for the consumers of the state. This is only one application they are working on, and there are others, Brunton said.

Lyles recently submitted his resignation as the State's Consumer Advocate. However, that resignation will not become effective until December 31. Even then according to Brunton Lyles might continue on until the FP&L application has gone before the Public Service Commission tentatively scheduled for the end of May.

At least the local group has its own financial expert. Frank Zendzian who is in the process of researching and preparing a rebuttal to the 1,000 page FP&L petition.

Zendzian recently prepared a concise 18-page rebuttal for the local group in opposition to General Development Utilities Corporation's request for a rate hike which in part resulted in the Public Service Commission denying the request.

Although Zendzian has not yet completed research on the massive FP&L document, he has cited numerous weaknesses in the application. He has labeled much of the contents as being nothing but a smoke screen and cited the material as being extremely redundant.

"The document is full of redundance which seems to be a tactic used by utility firms in requesting increases," Zendzian said.

Meanwhile, however various members have volunteered to contact community leaders and organizations from Vero Beach south to the Jupiter/Tequesta area to feel out the amount of consumer support, moral and eventually financial, which might be expected.

Community leaders Mike Reeb and Seymour Fleming, president and vice president of the PSL Civic League, Vern Forrar, president of the PSL Homeowners group, Dick Werges, PSL Country Club Homeowners Association, Brunton and Don White, representing the PSL RP Homeowners, and attorney Harold Shear, serving as an individual volunteer, are leading the inquiry.

ommunity Center plans

ORT ST. LUCIE--A real treat is in ...re for those who plan to spend New ...r's Eve at the Port St. Lucie ...mmunity Center, according to Mr ...d Mrs. Don Porter, co-chairmen for ...event.

...ke and Mary Lou Oliver will be the ...e attraction of the evening as they ...vide music for dancing and ...tertainment in their unique style.

..."Evening with the Olivers" offers ...special musical experience. The ...o talented and versatile duo has long been a favorite team in South Florida, having performed for 25 years in Miami before moving northward to Tequesta. They appeared regularly at the Port St Lucie Country Club for more than five years, have had other bookings in the area, and have played at many private parties throughout the area.

"We are delighted to be able to present Mike and Mary Lou for our New Years Eve party," the Porters say, "and we enthusiastically invite all in the community to share in the special enjoyment the Olivers bring to any occasion."

Dancing at the Center will begin at 8 p.m. A buffet will be served between 11 p.m. and 1 a.m. The Center will be appropriately decorated. Favors, noisemakers and other accoutrements for a festive affair will be provided.

Residents are urged to obtain tickets early because the Center capacity is limited. Tickets are available at the Center office or from committee members Mr. and Mrs. John Prinkey and Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Fleming, who are assisting the Porters in planning and arranging for the New year celebration.

Yachters will elect officers

PORT ST. LUCIE--The next regular meeting of the Port St. Lucie Yacht Club is scheduled for Tuesday, December 21, at the Community Center (CESA).

Mike Reeb, chairman of the Nominating Committee will present to the membership the slate of officers for the term of 1977-78.

According to Commodore Nelson Howers and Vice Commodore Art Coulon, there are plans to distribute door prizes.

Meeting time is 8 p.m. and refreshments will be served following the business session.

There were 241 members and guests on hand in the Convention Hall of Sandpiper Bay Saturday evening for the club's annual Christmas party, the largest attendance for any affair this season.

According to Social Director Ernie Genaweis, everyone enjoyed the prime rib dinner and the music for dancing provided by the Sheldonaires Baker orchestra. There were nothing but compliments heard throughout the evening.

Co-chairmen for the event were Tom and Ann Francolino, assisted by Donny and Rita Sullivan, Edward and Marion Rombach, Ralph and Virginia Waite, John and Stella Jankowski, Gordon and Mildred Long, William and Eleanor Flanagan.

Methodist plans
'Song Unending'

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Port St. Lucie United Methodist Church Chancel Choir, under the direction of Kerry Merrell, will present John W. Peterson's cantata, "A Song Unending" on Sunday, December 19, at 3 p.m.

Guests soloists will be Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ward, James Hall and Ms. Merrell.

The choir will be accompanied by Mrs. C.H. Flickinger, organist, and Mrs. Robert Grieger, pianist.

The public is cordially invited to attend and start Christmas week off with beautiful music and the true spirit of the season.

Port St. Lucie United Methodist Church is located on S.W. Prima Vista Boulevard.

Council action

PORT ST. LUCIE--Whereas the City officials had agreed to consider an ordinance which would establish a $25 fee for the moving of any building or structure within the city, when the ordinance appeared Tuesday for the first reading, it received a thumbs down by Councilmembers.

When it was discovered the ordinance had been worded in such a way as to charge a $25 fee for additions, change of occupancy, remodeling, demolishing or moving, Councilman Larry Kimmel objected.

"The way this is worded I would have to come in here and pay a $25 fee should my son move in with us, and I don't believe that was the intended purpose of the document," Kimmel said.

The document will be re-worded and presented at a later date for approval.

According to Ralph LaChance, the city's building official, the purpose of the ordinance was to establish a fee for moving a building or structure within the city. All other such areas such as disconnecting power lines and returning the lot to a presentable condition are all covered under the Southern Standard Building Code.

Library drops fines for overdue

PORT ST. LUCIE--The staff at the Port St. Lucie Library says, "Merry Christmas to our library patrons: no overdue fines will be charged December 15 thru December 31!"

Every year, the public library writes off three to five thousand dollars worth of books that have been checked out and never returned. Many of these are important titles that have to be re-ordered. Before this, much expensive time is spent trying to reach patrons and convince them to return the materials.

Sometimes, people are just too embarrassed to bring in books so long overdue.

Other times, it's inconvenient to come to the library when it is open.

The bookdrop, located in the back door of the Port St. Lucie Branch Library, is made to order for such cases. Drop the overdue materials and slink away unobserved.

JENSEN BEACH–A Jensen Beach resident, Paul W. Moody, 63, of 191 Hyline Road, drowned while swimming north of Jensen Beach public beach, according to the sheriff's office.

According to the sheriff's office, lifeguards tried to save Moody but were too late. The mishap occurred last Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 7.

Post enjoys Christmas dinner

JENSEN BEACH–Jensen Beach Post 126, American Legion, held its annual Christmas Dinner Monday night, attended by more than 300 members, families and honored guests, at the Post Home on South Savanna Road.

Honored guests included District 13 Commander Mario Guiseppi and his wife Rose, who is also District 12 Auxiliary president; Chin Chew Get, Commander of Dade County Post 85, Miami Beach, and Martin County Commissioner Frank A. Wachs, also a member of Post 126.

Commissioner Wachs delivered one of the shortest, and well received, after dinner speeches on record. It consisted of two words, "Merry Christmas."

This year, departing from tradition, the entree was roast beef, with all the fixings. The festive event ended, after children present were given token gifts, with the singing of well-remembered Christmas Carols, and closing remarks by Dick Neeson, District 12 Representative from Jensen Beach.

Hall of Champions picks Randy Tilton for 1976

BY DICK CAMPBELL

JENSEN BEACH–Top honors in boat racing have come to Randy Tilton. Jensen Beach Realtor Tilton was named to the American Power Boat Association "Hall of Champions" for his achievements in 1976.

The honor, the equivalent of appointment to the Hall of Fame in baseball, is for Tilton's top point-getting effort in the Outboard Performance Class Division of racing. He will be inducted in the Hall of Champions at the Miami Boat Show on February 17.

Tilton was notified of his appointment to the honor by Fred J. Miller, chairman of the Hall of Champions Committee.

Two world records were shattered by Tilton in the past year, one in closed course and the other in marathon racing.

He placed first in twelve of seventeen races, was second three times, third once, and fourth once in the year. He was the only race driver to break both marathon and closed course records during the year.

Tilton began racing in the early 1960s, and reached his peak in 1976 in G Production, driving a Hydrostream V-hull boat with an 85 horsepower Mercury outboard engine.

This year, Tilton is moving into a new a faster class. He has already defeated the world champion drive in Sport E Class, driving a tunnel hull with a 75 horsepower Evinrude, and plans to also enter the Sport J Class.

Rhodes gets four sails

JENSEN BEACH–A Sewall's Point resident finished first in the amateur division of the 23rd Annual Light Tackle Stuart Sailfish Club Tournament.

Blaine Rhodes caught four sailfish, all Sunday. He was fishing from the Sabre.

The winning professional, with five sails, was Steve Rea of Cape May Courthouse, N.J., on the Susie Q out of New Oxford, Pa.

Rea also won the Bill Todt Memorial award for most individual points, 500, or 100 for each fish.

Friday and Saturday's fishing was canceled and Thursday's opening round was cut short at noon because of high winds and rough seas.

Port Salerno's Joanna II was the top tem entry, finishing the annual event with seven fish caught by anglers Larry Goins, Jack Barrow and Bill Woldt.

Capt. Brett Gerken of the Teaser won both the captain's prize for most fish tagged on a boat and the tagging prize for fish tagged by an individual.

pen house Christmas Eve at Museum

ENSEN BEACH–'Twas the night re Christmas in 1965 that the newly appointed director of the Martin County Historical Society suggested that it might be a friendly act of community service to keep the society's Elliott Museum open to the public free for a couple of hours, and to have a pot of coffee and a plate of cookies to share with anyone who dropped in.

Eight visitors accepted this proffered hospitality, and a tradition was established.

Last Christmas Eve, the Elliott Museum was open as usual, from 7 to 10, and welcomed more than 700 visitors of all ages, from little ones nodding or asleep in their parents or grandparents' arms, through wide-awake toddlers, to people who could remember back to the days of double-runner skates and other things in the museum collections that speak of earlier times.

Mrs. Janet Hutchinson, director of the society and its two museums, is starting this week to get the big pink building on Hutchinson Island ready for a Bicentennial Christmas.

Several of our regular volunteers, who are on duty at the Gilbert's Bar House of Refuge each week, will be on hand to greet our guests, in their turn of the century costumes," Mrs. Hutchinson said. "The period we have chosen for these made-to-measure dresses is roughly from 1875 to 1910. There were keepers and their wives in residence during all of those years, and for the most part they depended on home-made entertainment during the holidays.

There was Christmas spirit on the island even if there were no bridges crossing the St. Lucie and Indian Rivers, and there was neighborliness of a warmth and enthusiasm that is often lacking in today's push-button society. We hope to show some of that to our visitors as this bicentennial year draws to a close."

The Christmas tree in the parlor at the House of Refuge will be the early revolving music box tree that plays "Silent Night," and the larger tree in the lobby of the Elliott Museum will have its customary surrounding of toys from the Historical Society's collection. Mrs. Hutchinson said Monday, as volunteers began the annual project of trimming the tree and selecting things to show with it.

"The community has come to expect that the Society will look both old-fashioned and festive for the holidays, so we are winding red ribbons around the porch columns to make them look like candy canes, and have other decorations that will remind neighbors and strangers alike that Christmas is a time for good will towards everyone, so come and sing carols with us, and enjoy your museum."

Auxilians held busy session

STUART—A very short business meeting preceded the entertainment at the December session of the Martin Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

Virginia Geiss, Auxiliary president, presented a check for $50,000 to Ralph Harman, Jr., chairman of the board of directors of the hospital, to be used in the renovation and expansion of the obstetrical unit. At their November meeting, the Auxilians had voted to pledge $100,000 to this project over a two year period and this was the first installment of that pledge.

The resignation of the first vice president was announced. Mrs. Geiss reported the appointments of Marian Monroe to step up to fill the vacancy and Marion Daly to fill the resulting opening of second vice president effective immediately.

The membership was then treated to an afternoon of music presented by Helen Beebler Williams on the piano, the lovely voice of Dorsa De Pamphilis and Margaret Jones Wilson on the violin. A social hour ended the session.

Merle Phillips, awards chairman, presented 35 awards. Hours worked by Auxilians in the month of November were 7,167 by 407 members. Anchormen numbering 18 worked more than 1,000 hours.

Lucretia Aymar earned her 5,000 hour pin. Charles Lutz, Margaret Foster and Yvonne Stiles each received 2,000 hour pins. Bessie Brown and Velma Malmsten reached the plateau of 1,000 hours worked.

Five hundred hour pins went to Harold Gilbert, Marion Lewis, J. P. Stark and Rose Trudeau. Sadie Lesher, Judy Russell, W. J. Seaman, Nathalie Valjavec and Rose VanCaro were awarded 300 hour pins.

The hospital awards certificates for the first 100 hours worked and these went to Marcelyn Alexander, Eleanor Emanuel, Charlotte Fassbender, Helena Jackson, Elizabeth Kaufman, Albert Nemecek, Geneva Nemecek, Sue Post, Harry Saffer, Louella Skinner, Marianne Swain and Miriam White.

Marie Hinch, Lou Johnson, Victoria Malvin, Jean Oram, James Povall, Frances Schenck, Catherine Tomlinson and Helen Waldbillig earned 50 hour emblems.

JOHNSON DEALERS—With the cold winds up north, and snow drifting across the land, Johnson Outboard dealers found their trip to the 1977 Marketing Leadership Council meeting here last week a delight. The top Johnson dealers in the country, selected to represent a cross-section of all types and sizes of dealerships, spent four days in meetings at Sandpiper Bay and at the Outboard Marine Test Center in Stuart before climaxing the event with a dinner party hosted by OMC chairman and Mrs. Ralph Evinrude. The dealers were from states ranging across the country, from Maine to California, Washington to Alabama.

UPDATE: — INTRODUCING THE CAT . . .

Computerized Axial Tomography

WHY DO WE NEED A CAT?

C.A.T. enables us to make medical diagnoses in a simple non-invasive manner that would otherwise require costly and potentially dangerous procedures. In many cases the diagnoses cannot be achieved in any other way except by surgery. Studies at medical centers which already have a C.A.T. indicate that the average patient saves about $300 when C.A.T. is used rather than conventional diagnostic methods. This savings results primarily from the shortening or elimination of a hospital stay for diagnostic procedures.

We are most fortunate in having a substantial anonymous gift offer of $200,000 toward the $800,000 cost of this revolutionary new piece of medical diagnostic equipment — ONLY IF we can match it with equal donations! Of course we can't do it without you — will you help us today?

GIFTS TO ALTAR–Members of Saint Michael's School took part in a Christmas program Dec. 12 at Florida Institute of Technology Chapel. Students are shown placing gifts to the altar.

Holiday safety tips

JENSEN BEACH–Some holiday safety tips on decorative lighting are offered by the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department and Florida Power and Light Co. (FPL).

Fire Chief Randolph Spinney and Joe Lacuano, assistant chief, point out that the safety tips they urged during "Fire Prevention Week" apply during the holiday season.

One of the main safety measures the fire department leaders urged during "Fire Prevention Week" was "don't overload the electrical outlet."

And during the holiday season, one safety tip is "don't overload the Christmas tree with lights."

To determine the number of light bulbs, multiply the tree's height by the maximum width, then triple that number.

Other safety reminders include:

1. Never run electric cords under carpeting, across walkways or around sharp corners.

2. Check all lighting for cracked insulation, frayed wires or damage.

3. To keep the Christmas tree from drying out and becoming a fire hazard, cut about two inches from the base of the tree and submerge the base in a bucket of water for 24 hours before decorating.

4. Because metal trees present a potential shock hazard, they should have off-the-tree lighting, such as colored floodlights, for safer and more beautiful illumination.

5. Keep bulbs from contacting flammable materials such as fabric, paper or cardboard.

6. Cover outdoor light plug and socket connections with plastic wrap and seal with tape to keep out moisture.

More nuke hearings set

JENSEN BEACH–Public hearings have been set for Jan. 11 to consider the problems of fuel reprocessing and waste managements of Florida Power and Light Co.'s (FPL's) nuclear power plant on Hutchinson Island.

The hearings were announced last Friday at the conclusion of the three-day session in Miami on whether the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) staff properly considered alternate sites for FPL's St. Lucie 2 nuclear power plant.

In testimony before the board, FPL officials said they provided the NRC staff with replies to their requests for specific information on alternate sites.

Ernest Bivans, vice president of systems planning for FPL, cited the need for power. "Even with the reduced growth that is being experienced by FPL and conservation measures foreseen in the future, St. Lucie 1 will be needed to provide sufficient capacity to meet the demands of FPL's customers in the summer of 1983."

It was also pointed out at the hearing that radiation from FPL's St. Lucie 2 is "medically insignificant."

Dr. Roger Linnemann, an associate professor of clinical radiology at the University of Pennsylvania and an expert on the effects of radiation on people, said the number and proximity of persons around the reactor would not affect the percentage of cancer and genetic mutations because the radiation was "too small to cause any effect."

"I don't think it makes any difference, from a medical point of view, the size of the population or where it is located," he said. "In my opinion, I wouldn't expect that you would detect, measure or find any evidence of an increased incidence of cancer of genetic mutations."

Mallfergot takes over as appraiser

JENSEN BEACH–Augie Malfregeot assumed the office of Martin County Tax Appraiser Tuesday, about two weeks early. Malfregeot was elected in November but was not to take office until January.

But the unexpected death last Friday of Property Appraiser E.F. (Dutch) Schnurbusch moved Malfregeot into office early.

Malfregeot went to Tallahassee Tuesday to have his interim appointment confirmed by the governor's office.

A long time Stuart resident, Schnurbusch did not seek re-election to the office he had held for two four year terms. He was to retire January 6.

Before running for the office, he was an employee of that office for several years.

Town officials hold session

SEWALL'S POINT–The proposed South River Road, which has been discussed at several commission sessions, was the subject of discussion of a special meeting Tuesday, Dec. 21, at Town Hall.

The special session was called to consider a new petition requesting a referendum on construction of the proposed road.

A petition containing 110 names was received at Town Hall Dec. 14. David Dickinson, who has been turned down twice by the commission in requesting a referendum on the road, sent in the new petition.

Dickinson said he does not oppose construction of an emergency access, but feels it should be open to traffic only in an emergency such as flooding of Sewall's Point Road.

Residents have claimed that the new road would become a raceway and harm the dignity and natural beauty of the area.

Tequesta hearing

I-95 east is urged

JENSEN BEACH–While a majority of the crowd favored a route of Interstate 95 east of Florida's Turnpike, State Department of Transportation (DOT) officials said I-95 should follow a western route through MARTIN AND SOUTHERN Palm Beach Counties.

No route was changed since the last time we looked at these same problems. DOT district engineer William Kerby observed at the Monday night public hearing at Tequesta Town Hall.

Many residents of Martin, St. Lucie and Palm Beach Counties spoke in favor of the highway east of the Turnpike.

They oppose the already approved DOT "Alternate 6" route west of the Turnpike.

The major objections to routing the interstate east of the turnpike are its impact on the Loxahatchee River, Jonathon Dickinson State Park and the St. Lucie River; advocates of a western route claim.

To meet these objections Jensen Beach Realtor Ramona Tilton submitted a proposal which would route the interstate east of the turnpike, but not as close to the sensitive areas as did the first eastern route considered and rejected by DOT in 1972.

A board observed that it is not a question of crossing the interstate a hundred feet or so away, but a question of whether you should be in those corridors at all.

Last Friday the Martin County commission passed a resolution asking DOT not to make a final decision on the route of I-95 until a public hearing is held in Martin County.

The resolution was presented to DOT at the public hearing Monday and County Attorney Terry McGrellis read a prepared statement pointing out that DOT had given the people a snow job for six years by making it seem as if an eastern route was not feasible.

And State Rep. William Taylor said on behalf of the Martin County residents, the overwhelming number of them favor the eastern route.

Kerby said the hearing was held by DOT to gain public input on the eastern route as ordered by Federal Highway Administration head Norbert Tiemann.

County rejects tax plea

JENSEN BEACH–Martin County commissioners have postponed a bid by Stuart officials to set up machinery next year for elimination of what the city claims is double taxation.

County officials refused to take the steps which would be necessary to create a Municipal Service Unit which would be one means of removing city residents of the alleged double-tax burden.

County commissioners met with city officials last week and city officials had hoped that the newly installed county commissioners would be more responsive to their request than previous commissioners who avoided even discussing the issue.

Stuart Mayor Charles Fineer had urged the county to establish an ordinance establishing the unit as an emergency measure which would be necessary to pass it by January 1 to have it operate next year.

County Commissioners Frank Warha and Dr. William Myers said they can see no real emergency that would justify creation of the unit by January 1 without the usual public hearings that require several weeks for adoption of an ordinance.

The next several months will be spent by city and county officials negotiating which county services do not benefit city residents and, therefore, cannot be charged on tax bills of city residents.

Sewall's Point Mayor Ed Gluckler didn't back the City of Stuart on the issue. Mayor Gluckler pointed out at a recent Town meeting, "I feel the present system is to our advantage."

City of Stuart officials had asked for the meeting, pointing out at a County Commission session that city residents received no benefits from some departments.

Mayor Foster asked the county to establish the ordinance and then dicker with the city over what services might or might not be considered double taxation. If the parties agreed, Foster said, then the mechanism would be available.

With the county refusing to establish an emergency ordinance on the issue, "double taxation" will continue until at least 1978.

Candlelight, Carols Christmas Eve at JBCC

JENSEN BEACH–Two special services will be conducted at the Jensen Beach Community Church Christmas Eve.

The first at 7 p.m. will be a candlelight Family Service with combined choirs leading the singing of carols.

The second at 11 p.m. in response to many requests from those for whom a late Christmas Eve service has been a tradition, will be meditative in nature, under the direction of Reverend Robert P. Cooper.

The community is cordially invited to participate in either or both of the services.

SEW OFFICERS–The Jensen Beach Art League recently elected new officers. Pictured above, left to right, are Mrs. Erna Black, Mrs. Kay Burmeister, Willard Bowman, all directors; Mrs. Pauline Goodrich, secretary; Mrs. Dorothy Hoss, vice president; and Mrs. Dorothy Elliott, president.

GIFTS TO ALTAR–Members of Saint Michael's School took part in a Christmas program Dec. 12 at Florida Institute of Technology Chapel. Students are shown placing gifts to the altar.

HOLIDAY HIGH POINT–Each holiday season residents decorate their mail boxes with Christmas scenes Santa Claus, candy sticks and Santa on his sleigh greeting the mailman and visitors.

MIRROR TO CLOSE OFFICE ON FRIDAY

JENSEN BEACH–The Mirror office on Commercial Street will be closed Friday, December 24, so that staff members can complete preparations for Christmas holidays with their families.

The office will reopen on Monday, December 27, at 9 a.m.

Lydia Circle has Christmas

JENSEN BEACH–The Lydia Circle of the Jensen Beach Christian Church met at the home of Mrs. Hazel Hutcheson for its regular meeting and Christmas party.

The singing of Christmas songs was enjoyed before the meeting, with Hazel at the organ.

President Dorothy Geeben conducted the meeting and Thelma Bennet was in charge of the devotions.

Mrs. Bennett also reported on the gift of money sent to the Christians in Homes in Atlanta.

A social hour followed the business session, with delicious refreshments served by the hostess. Organ music was enjoyed with Bessie Thelig at the console.

Vivian Ralston was welcomed as a new member of the Circle.

The next meeting is scheduled for 1 p.m. January 19.

So that our employes can enjoy the holiday, all five of our offices will be closed all day – Friday, December 24th, Christmas Eve.

We will be open for business on – Monday, December 27th, from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

DIRECTORS OF AARP–New directors of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) are Dorothy Beck, Edith Hill, Paul Berglund, Frank Edwards, Charles McIntyre.

HUGH JENCKS, 878-3858

CHAPTER OF AARP

ERNIE CURWEN, 334-6756

AARPers are enjoying that holiday period as much as the younger folks, but can't help longing for those bygone days when one dollar would buy a decent, or even lavish, gift for the kids. But now, rampant inflation has made the dollar gift a big item in the budget for a wee gift, especially for those who had to retire in the 60's with incomes that were hardly adequate even in those days.

Then, as the purchases are discussed and compared with years ago, AARPers can't help but gripe about the tremendous wages that the labor bosses have extorted from the consuming public, even though most of the are ex-union members. It seems that the only way the labor bosses can justify their high salaried positions is to get higher and higher wages and more and more fringe benefits for the members.

The AARPers, trying to figure out how the conumers lost out in the power struggle, rationalize that an unholy triumvirate of labor bosses, industrial oligolopies and omnipotent TV have rendered them powerless. Unions can demand increases and get them without much struggle, as the oligolopees don't mind passing on the increases as it means more money in the till, for won't the TV sell the public anything and everything? Those days when it was important to make "Better for Less" seems to be gone forever.

Many AARPers interested in working for a few bucks part time find most business unwilling to assume all the fringe benefit obligations and minimum wage requirements demanded by unions. It loous as though unions are fast killing the goose that lays the golden eggs and fast driving us into a mess like England. Most of union demands will lead to more inflation, hence more unemployment as minimum wages are too high to use unskilled and cost of living so high that moonlighting and working wives are a must.

Therefore, maybe now is the time to make a stand against that sacred cow, labor, and instead of giving the labor bosses more and more power each year, put just a little restraint on them. Peg minimum wages, hold onto right to work laws, don't allow total picketing on construction sites, that's what some AARPers are saying, and maybe, if they get irate enough, they'll write their elected officials.

Martin County Chapter 2223

The December meeting was a nippy affair. President "CMac" MacIntyre moved the business along without a hitch, then Rep. Dale Cassens (77 Dist.) conducted an impressive and dignified installation ceremony of the new officers and board (see Golden Eagle for listing). The Sailfish Chapter of Sweet Adelines did an excellent job of entertaining, and Cele Berky and her gal gang had delicious refreshments for all.

Then to top off a mighty fine meeting, there were raffles and door prizes. A money tree, won by Dan Piccirulo, a beautiful poinsettia plant by Betty Sharp (guest from Pennsville, N.J.), a very handy punch bowl, by Gertrude McDonald, and five $1 door prizes by Ruth Pilkington, Mary Coughlin, Mr. and Mrs. G.J. Gale, Arnie Hill and Mike Mann.

It was announced that the Jensen Mirror, that has a weekly AARP column, will be delivered to members for $7.50 per year and that includes the membership in the Martin County Chapter. Make checks out to Martin County Chapter AARP and send to P.O. Box 1336, Stuart.

The board meeting of De 14 with Fred Wiggin, Maure Arluck, Morgan Jones, Muriel Sysak, Esther Thompson, Jim Kearney, Tom Doland, Hugh Jencks and assistant state director Bill Koolage attending, was held in the new Medical Center (where Fred holds forth) and a vote of thanks was given to folks of Spanish Lakes who provided tables and chairs for the occasion.

Tom Dolan presented the report of the nominating committee. The new set of standing rules was approved and Bill Koolage suggested a "greeters" committee to meet the members and introduce them to others. These were only the highlights of this very busy session that was getting the agenda ready for the Tuesday, Dec. 31, annual meeting (which will be over and new officers elected by the time this is published).

Stuart National shares $40,000 with employees

STUART–Employees of Stuart National Bank have received profit sharing bonuses totaling $40,000 in time for Christmas, according to an announcement made by Jack T. Williams, president of the financial institution. The payments to the employees are split 75 percent which is attributed to the profit sharing fund, and 25 percent in the form of a cash bonus. This year's profit sharing and cash bonuses were approved by the board of directors of Stuart National Bank at a meeting held November 16, and the bonuses were reflected in the pay checks of the employees on December 10.

The $40,000 distributed to the employees represents the largest amount ever provided in the eight year history of the profit sharing and bonus plan for the employees, according to Williams.

The larger payout this year to employees reflects the sharply improved earnings at Stuart National Bank which, it is estimated by the bank, will exceed $4.80 per share for 1976. The total net income for 1976 is estimated at $800,000 as compared to net income in 1975 of $551,828, a 45 percent increase.

The combined assets of Stuart National Bank and its two affiliates, Jupiter Tequesta National Bank and Port Salerno National Bank, are in excess of $90 million, and Stuart National Bank will be opening a branch office in the Monterey Shopping Plaza in January.

Letter

Dear Editor:

I very much enjoy Alice Hickey's column in the Jensen Beach Mirror and have appreciated receiving the paper each week. I respect your concern about the specific problems of the area and admire your efforts toward improvements therein. However, I feel compelled to let you know that my mother died of a massive heart attack BEFORE her car hit the tree on SR707 on November 24.

Thank you for your attention.

Sincerely,
s-Betty Walker Smith

Adrian Snyder's luggage is all packed and ready for the trip north to be with his daughter and son-in-law, Eleanor and Warren Barber, in Albertson, Long Island, and his family even unto the fourth generation, during Christmas and New Year's, and to meet his new great grandson, Brian.

Irma Meredith's hobby is rescuing turtles that have been run over, are in danger from lawn mowers or from unfriendly beasts. One she found a few months ago was so badly injured, its carapace was just about crushed together. Irma took it home, applied antibiotics and antiseptic powder and, while it drank, held it up, to quote her, "like a wheelbarrow by its hind legs." The cracks have mended now, just as though they were glued together and today, for the first time, it ate out of her hand - of all things, a piece of banana.

One of her five turtles was only as big as a half dollar when she rescued it, and Irma told me each has its own preference in foods: one likes ground meat, another avocado.

Jane and marvin received a letter from their ten year old niece Deanetta Wininger who lives in Clayton, Indiana, with the request that they share it with Don and Lois, also. Deanetta had hoped to be here for the Christmas holidays, but couldn't make it - perhaps in March". She is particularly interested in science, and adjured them that Big "E" said, "in the rooms you are not using, turn off the lights and don't take too long a bath because it takes a lot of energy to heat it."

Deanetta doesn't know it, but Aunt Jane and Aunt Lois are flying up to see her and other members of their family. For the first time in ten years, Jane will be with her mother, Geneva Brock in Centerton, Indiana, to celebrate Christmas together a bit early, but Jane and Lois want to be home with Marvin and Don and the elder Mrs. Wininger on the 25th.

We have some of the best cookie bakers in Florida living in our park. I know, because Florence Williams gave me a generous sampling of those she is taking to West Virginia for her daughter and grandson; and Alice Reeder, who is getting ready for a trip to New Jersey to be with her daughter and grandchildren, also gave me some.

Speaking of cookies, they were a part of the dessert served at our annual Christmas luncheon last week. Ethel Phillips, Mona Wendt, Marie Johnson and Esther Grindley did such a splendid job of decorating the rec hall with a tree, colorful tables, lighted candles and wreaths, it was difficult to know which we enjoyed most - the decorations or the delicious food - a feast for the eye and the tummy.

+ + +

Alice Tweit invited me in to see Emil's latest acquisitions - an amaryllis with five flowers, each measuring seven inches across, and a "bashful" plant, which I'd never heard of, but which is fascinating and lives up to its name.

+ + +

Emil Tweit's birthday was December 11 and, if he hadn't been so shy about letting his friends know, we'd have wished him "Happy Birthday" before this.

George Schilling drove Flossie Roberts, Celia Barr and me into Stuart to view the Christmas parade which was most enjoyable, except for the interminable intervals. Lucky for us, Flossie had brought along folding chairs.

Olive Binns, Verna Moran, Gertrude and Lowell Foster and doing a fine job making the rounds to ascertain how many of our residents will attend the Christmas dinner in the rec hall. So far the response has been very good, and since visiting families are welcome, a good time is anticipated by one and all. The management always donates the turkeys, and Lowell is going to M.C. for us.

The spirit of Christmas is very much alive in our park, as witnessed by the twinkling lights on Christmas trees and porches, the lighted cross, and the outdoor decorations. May you all have a very Merry Christmas.

Gang Christmas party is a whopper

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Friday Nite Gang, as is its tradition, had a time at its Christmas Party at the North Port Marina last week.

To begin with, the committee for Toys for Tots gathered together all the toys they had procured, brought them to the Marina and arranged a display fit for a king. These sufficient for 180 youngsters, four years of age, were made possible through the generosity of various clubs and individuals of Port St Lucie.

Veterans of World War I V.F.W. and Auxiliary, PSI, Shuffleboard Club, PSI, Yacht Club, PSI, Junior Woman's Club, Senior Citizens Club, Spencer and Hopwood, Grace and Bill Hesaler, Harriett Hunt, Larry Hett, Buz and Louise Gilbert, the Kaisers, the Swarts, George Petrie.

A committee, headed by George Robinson and Mary Jones, reported and were presented with the toys, together with about 100 stuffed fish and animals furnished by the American Lutheran Church Women of St. Andrews Lutheran Church of Port St. Lucie. Robinson made a much appreciated acceptance speech.

After the toys were removed, the Gang got into its regular session.

The Snooper reported no visitors, no birthdays nor anniversaries, but did report some first timers, to wit:

Erma Niedrick from Miami. Mr. and Mrs. George W. Sweebe from Ravena, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Smith Dunn from Rootstown, Ohio.

It was a very good evening for first-timer Mrs. Thelma Weebe. She won the main prize of the evening, a nice, juicy Butterball turkey.

After the session and prior to the exchange of gifts, the Host was presented with an envelope containing coin of the realm as an expression of appreciation by the Gang for his devotion to the Gang and the community. He, in turn, thanked the Gang and, in turn, brought forward George Guerrin and Frances Lee, callers, Frances Bernota, the Snooper, Thelma Weigel and Marie Benz, and presented to each an envelope containing a steel engraving of Abraham Lincoln, from Santa, in appreciation for their help and support during the past years.

Special Yuletide refreshments were served and enjoyed by all.

MINISTERS VISIT—Guests of the Jensen Beach Kiwanis Club at a special aims committee session Monday were Rev. Sarah Johnson, pastor of the Jensen Beach Community Church, and Fr. Daniel Lepore, assistant pastor of All Saints Episcopal Church. They are shown with Ralph Nedkin, club Kiwanis president, and Fr. Frank Alvarez, pastor of All Saints. Not pictured was the main speaker, Rev. Clark Thompson, minister of Trinity United Methodist Church.

Spiritual commitment first, Rev. Thompson tells Kiwanis

JENSEN BEACH—"My faith comes before my citizenship second for if I am a good Christian, then I am a good citizen," Rev. D. Clark Thompson told Jensen Beach Kiwanians Monday.

Thompson spoke for the ministers of Jensen Beach, invited to the meeting as a part of spiritual aims committee efforts of the group. Thompson, minister of Trinity United Methodist Church, was a guest along with Rev. Ron Jones, pastor of Jensen Beach Community Church and Fr. Daniel Lepore, assistant pastor of All Saints Episcopal Church.

The program was handled by Fr. Frank Alvarez, chairman of the committee, and pastor of All Saints Church.

Thompson outlined the activities of ministers in the community, mentioning spiritual guidance, counseling services and the various roles in the community appealing upon the community's interpretations of the church boards.

He also told of the acceptance of ministers, and of some misconceptions about their stations in life.

"I often see people become uncomfortable in the presence of a minister saying that they should be something better than a person," he said.

In response to the minister's talk, Dick Campbell, editor of The Mirror, challenged the ministers with the idea of community involvement of the clergy, and said priorities of churches in their [illegible]

Campbell also asked why there was no expression of spirit between the churches.

"Why are there no black ministers here? Why aren't the black members of the Kiwanis Club in Jensen Beach? Have we failed to ask them why not?" Campbell questioned.

Also, who, must we have five different Sunrise services on Easter, a time when the churches are celebrating the same event, while the community should be together," he said.

Farm product sales reported

JENSEN BEACH—The market value of all agricultural products sold by the 215 farms in Martin County in 1974 amounted to $32,492,000, according to a preliminary report of the 1974 Census of Agriculture released this week by the U.S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of the Census. Production expenses on these farms totaled $32,250,000 for the same period.

The figures are for farms qualifying under the definition first used for the 1974 Census of Agriculture. PARK EVENTS

Dance nights are becoming very popular with the clubhouse comfortably full of most square dancers on Tuesday, starting at 8 p.m., and mostly ballroom dancers on Saturday, starting at 8:30 p.m. But, as it's mixed square, round and ballroom dancing on both nights, with group mixers thrown in for good measure, there's fun for all both nights.

Kids Christmas Party, set for 11:30 a.m. Friday, Dec. 24, has a sign up list in the office, so Santa will be sure to bring enough gifts for all. There'll be games and lunch before Santa comes down the chimney, making it a great party. Therefore, be sure to register any visiting children under 12 years.

Singles Dance Party, Christmast night Dec. 25, at 8 p.m. will be a novelty. Ruth Hoke, realizing that some holidays are lonely times for single folks, decided it would be nice to have a special party for them and all others. All who wish can bring a useful gift of under one dollar for exchange, also there'll be entertainment. Couples should make an effort to bring a single along with them to make this a nice friendly affair.

A ballroom dance class is under consideration. It'll be a 16 week course, Monday and Friday afternoons at 1:30 if enough folks are interested. $2 registration fee. Ballroom, folk and pattern dancing will be taught. All interested, please sign list in clubhouse.

Camera Club members had a treat last Thursday when Milt and Bertie Sage took them all around the 50 states in a bicentennial tour by slides, with appropriate music and verse to emphasize the high points. It was excellent.

The next slide show will be January 6 with the subject to be announced next week. The meetings on Thursday 23 and 30 will be omitted because of other holiday activities.

Shuffleboard Christmas party at the Holiday Inn on Tuesday, Dec. 14, got off to a great start as Marge and Ken Dudley and Dorothy and Otto Schorer greeted the 74 guests. The tables were gaily decorated in red, gold and green, with trees and Santas. The head table had a miniature shuffle court made by Peg Muller and Margaret Hindman.

Invocation was by Vice President Bill Jones, then Pete Hillman, general chairman and master of ceremonies, thanked all for their cooperation in making the party very successful.

Entertainment was great: George and Evelyn LeBon, singing and piano; Margaret Hindman and Irma Fair, skit; Charlie Pierce, solo; Mike Dryer, piano as group sang Christmas Carols. Irma Fair thanked Pete Hillman and wished all a happy holiday.

Round Robin winners were Bobby Beauclerk and Ed Henderson on Saturday, Jeannette Levangie and Otto Schorer, Sunday. Evelyn Groves and Ted Witmer, first, and Evelyn and George LeBon fourth in recent Central East Coast Novice Tournament League teams continue to win. Indian River 8-2 over Lakeside, and Central 2-2 with Holiday Out.

RAMBLING AROUND

Susie Fulton visits parents

JENSEN BEACH—Susie Fulton, a member of the first class in which women have been accepted at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, is spending the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fulton, Jr., of 336 SW Flora Drive, Jensen Beach.

It is the first time Miss Fulton has been home since she went to West Point July 7.

She said there was a lot of adjustment from civilian to military life, pointing out that "it is entirely different."

"There is a lot of discipline, self-discipline and regimentation. It is tough, but it is worth it," Miss Fulton said.

Aside from the studies, "you get an overall education," she said, adding that there are extracurricular activities in the afternoon and studying at night.

The only free time is on the weekends and you cannot leave the post.

Pointing out that law forbids women from being in combat, she said women can be attached to a combat unit in some related capacity such as intelligence.

Miss Fulton said that the "drop out rate for women is not any higher than for men, and that there is some resentment among male cadets, especially in companies that don't have women cadets.

But among the male cadets that have women in their companies, it's no big deal," she said.

Miss Fulton, salutatorian of her senior class at Martin County High School, said she will be forced weapons at camp this summer.

Her mother, Clara, is principal at Martin County High School, and Mrs. Fulton has visited West Point.

DEAR NEIGHBOR—A few firemen, members of the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department, inside some of their new equipment. On the back cover, they'll be shown with all of the equipment they have purchased, and a description of what it will mean to the people in the area they protect.

Jensen firemen start annual fund drive

JENSEN BEACH—Approximately one hundred men are ready to be called by the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department, beginning the annual fund raising campaign.

The department each year mails Dear Neighbor letters to area residents seeking donations to buy and repair equipment.

Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department has two pieces of equipment with a combined capacity of 1,500 gallons.

The Dear Neighbor letter which residents will receive in a few days includes:

"This is our annual drive for donations from the residents that we serve. All funds received are used exclusively for the purchase and maintenance of equipment for your Fire Department.

"As we primarily in the past, combined with the efforts of the dedicated members of the Fire Department, has given us the best equipped and most efficient Volunteer Fire Department in Martin County. This gives us an excellent insurance rating and benefits in terms of low fire insurance premiums.

"We are cordially invited to inspect the Fire Department facilities and equipment any time during the hours of 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to noon Saturdays.

"The Fire Department is a non profit organization, donations are tax deductible."

Sewall's Point sets road vote

SEWALL'S POINT—Before a standing room crowd of residents, Sewall's Point commissioners approved a non-binding straw ballot election February 15 to decide the fate of the proposed construction of South River Road.

Commissioners last Tuesday night, Dec. 21, agreed to the special election after residents packed Town Hall to capacity to demand a chance to vote on the issue.

David Dickinson, who initiated the push for a referendum, Town Attorney Tom Thurlow, Jr. and Commissioner John Rossiter were appointed to draft wording of the ballot question and will report to the commission Jan. 12.

Dickinson presented the commission with a petition with 191 names asking for a referendum on the road.

He proposes a limited access road and reminded Tuesday night that, if the vote is only on the road, then people will vote for construction of the road.

"I propose that a limited access road to the west be included," said Dickinson.

Residents spoke for and against construction of the road, and common sentiment maintained the road will be needed to carry traffic as the town grows and would be valuable in the case of hurricanes, trapping residents at the south end of town.

Also, Dickinson pointed out, he foresees a plan of limited access opened as a bicycle path and pedestrian road, and opened to vehicular traffic only on emergencies, or for practical since some residents who have offered to donate right-of-way for the road say they will withdraw the offers unless the road is open for general public use.

Attorney James Littman urged the commission to put the issue to a vote, pointing out that "there are a lot of people interested."

Commissioner Earl Crawford said he thought it was unfortunate the movement against the road came up at this time in light of the comprehensive planning that is about to start.

The Martin County Planning Department is scheduled to undertake the job of starting the comprehensive plan that is required by the state.

South River Road, to run parallel to South Sewall's Point Road is 2,900 feet in length and is expected to cost $60,000.

Save COG is mayor's goal

PORT ST. LUCIE—While the City Council Tuesday agreed to endorse the St. Lucie County Commission's stand terminating the Regional Planning Council in Fort Pierce and St. Lucie County, they supported Mayor Schuster Sharpe in what he termed to be a last minute effort to save the St. Lucie River Council of Governments (COG).

"It bothers me to see the death of COG since it provided an open line of communications between the local governing bodies. It is an organization where officials could meet at grassroot levels and discuss common problems," Sharpe said.

Although Sharpe intends to write a personal letter to the mayors and chairmen of the local governing bodies, he has little hopes of pulling the organization together again.

"With the six entities working together we could be a force, particularly in working with the state level, but it seems the others involved do not think it is important," the mayor said.

Martin County Commissioner Frank Wacha Tuesday supported Mayor Sharpe's position on COG.

"It is good for different levels of government to communicate with each other," Wacha said. "There can be other problems to come up that could be different from what is discussed at Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council.

"We need some mechanism such as COG for governments to exchange ideas and it is always good for different levels of government to meet, exchange ideas and some solutions to mutual problems," Wacha said.

"Since I became involved two years ago, I have tried in every way I knew how to instill life in this organization, but I just don't seem to have the magic wand to get things done," he said. Mayor Sharpe said.

"All I can do now is await replies to my final effort."

In July of 1975, Mayor Sharpe and City Manager Elmer Cox made a strong effort to revitalize COG after St. Lucie County and Fort Pierce commissioners voted to pull out of COG.

After the two Port St. Lucie city leaders met with Fort Pierce and St. Lucie County officials in 1975, Cox observed. Sharpe voiced a strong argument for keeping COG going.

And the man most responsible for the establishment of the St. Lucie-Martin Counties county and municipal governments, former Martin County Commissioner Timer Powers in 1975 blamed St. Lucie County officials for "accepting COG with reluctance and then never putting their hearts in it when it was organized in 1974."

While the City of Fort Pierce did come back in COG and former Mayor Buck Bryant attended meetings, St. Lucie County Commission, represented by Commissioner Ed Enns, didn't officially vote to return to COG, and there was a definite lack of enthusiasm.

Last week St. Lucie County Commissioners suggested the abolition of COG because the organization's functions are duplicated by the new planning council.

A meeting of COG was slated last week, but only Mayor Sharpe and Fort Pierce City Commissioner Jack Long showed up.

One St. Lucie County municipality joined the organization after it was created, and its representative was "active and enthusiastic" about the group.

The late Pat Beacom of the Village of St. Lucie took an active part in COG

JENSEN BEACH—The election of Jeanne Britt, Sue Marinkos and Gary Lindwurm as officers of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Martin County was announced last week.

Jeanne Britt, who has been in the Jensen Beach office since 1974, was named assistant branch manager of that office. Mrs. Britt joined First of Martin County as a teller in the main office three years ago. She transferred to the Jensen Beach office and has worked in all service areas in that office. She lives with her husband Gregg in Stuart.

Mrs. Marinkos joined First of Martin in March of 1972. She has served in numerous capacities with the Association, including accounting and purchasing. She was appointed savings supervisor in the main office in May 1976. She lives with her husband Jack in Jensen Beach.

Lindwurm joined the Association in September 1973 and has worked in various accounting and bookkeeping capacities since that time. During the past summer, he was appointed as the primary contact with Florida Information Management Services, the computer service corporation which provides bookkeeping services to the Association. He and his wife Bride live in Stuart.

Big bass entries are reported

JENSEN BEACH—A streak of leading entries from the Palm Beach area, and an early flurry of big bass entries throughout the boundaries featured last week activity in the Metropolitan Area Florida Fishing Tournament.

Of 11 leading fish in the Unlimited Open Division, five were posted by anglers fishing from Sailfish Center in Palm Beach Shores, and a sixth fell in Brampton Beach.

Bob Prentice of Brentwood, Tenn., headed the Sailfish Center string with a 151½ pound allison tuna aboard Capt. Dusk Parson's Sugar Too. F.A. Fleuter of Trumbull, Conn., scored a 52 pound cobia on the Lovely Lady, Capt. Dick Pennington, and Walter Hackett of Westminster, Calif., fished with Capt. Dick Grismer to take a 48 pound sail.

The other two leaders at that dock were a 385 pound shark caught by Stanley Gregg of North Plainfield, N.J., also with Capt. Grismer, and a 44 pound wahoo by Jerry Gaylor of Wyckoff, N.J., on the Anita, Capt. Lon Davis.

A 79½ pound barracuda, weighed in at Sea Most Marina, Boynton Beach, by Donna Fatum of Stanleburg, N.Y., capped the Palm Beach County surge. It was nabbed on the Harbor Lites, Capt. Ken Barrelle.

Bass fishermen found good fish all the way from South Dade to Martin County. J.T. Reese of Ft. Lauderdale landed a 10-pounder out of Lakeside Marina in Moore Haven, but his Lake Okeechobee catch didn't even make the list of leaders, because John DuBose of Stuart caught another 10-pounder in the same division 2 days earlier, fishing in western Martin County.

The Turkey Point Canal in South Dade turned up a leading 6-pound bass in Unlimited for Donald J. Lewis of Leisure City. Butch Tatom of Miami tops the 12-pound Division with a 5-pound, 2-ounce largemouth out of L67 canal, and Jay Wright, Jr., of Miami, leads the fishermen with a 4-pound bass from a canal alongside U.S. 27.

Thirteen-year-old Scott Lyter, of Miami, fished from the bank of a South Dade Canal and caught a 2-pound, 4-ounce bass that leads both the Junior and the 6-pound Divisions.

A pair of tournament records was approved the first week-end on the 6-pound Division. Jim Anson of Miami fished with Capt. Ralph Delph at Key West to post a whopping 42-pound, 4-ounce amberjack. And 14-year-old Bill Peacock of Miami, a contender last year for the Silver Junior Master Anglers Trophy, got a jump this time with a 41-pound, 8-ounce barracuda taken near Fowey Light.

The Mer Tournament, open to the public without entry fee, will continue through May 2, 1977, under the sponsorship of the Miami Herald and Coca-Cola of Miami.

It's been a good year

It is that time of year again when everyone, except me, is busy making New Years Resolutions. Those are the things you promise yourself you will or will not do throughout the coming year.

I would venture a guess that in more cases than not, these promises do not last a week.

As for me, I don't even bother to make the hat any more. I find it much simpler to leave the resolution making to the Port St. Lucie City Council. They do a better job with them than I.

Speaking of Port St. Lucie, I can't help but think of some of the many changes that have taken place over the past 12 month period.

It was in 1976 the city purchased the land for the proposed new city hall site, adopted its first comprehensive zoning ordinance that was over a year in the making, laid the groundwork and took steps toward establishing its own police force and even called for bids to purchase the first piece of city equipment for a yet to come public works department.

The city is no longer dominated by any one specific area, nor are the people of this city willing to sit back and accept the dictates of a few.

By the same token, the residents of Port St. Lucie are showing an interest that has never been shown before. That interest has nurtured involvement rather than criticism, a great step in the right direction.

In 1976, more than ever before, the people have volunteered their services and, consequently, there are many committees serving in direct relation to the city's governing body. These services are invaluable.

I can name five organizations in the Port St. Lucie area which have done a fantastic job, each in its own way, of making Port St. Lucie a better place to live. The three homeowner associations, the Civic League and the group of dedicated volunteers who have put so much into making the Community Center (CESA) one of the newest and most active centers in all of St. Lucie and Martin County areas.

The Civic League and the homeowner associations have made an all-out effort to work more closely with the City Council by presenting their views and recommendations in a constructive manner.

I feel the Council has for the most part been responsive to these groups. Much has been accomplished in this way. Most important is the fact that it has come a long way in breaking down a communications gap that for all too long existed between the people and their governing body. An open line of communications is indeed the first step establishing a well balanced, progressive and a better government.

But I think the nicest thing about the year 1976 was the attitude in this south county community.

The lawsuits, the audits the Grand Jury investigations, the accusations and the bitterness that prevailed throughout the city in 1975 seemed to vanish with the New Year. 1976.

Yes, 1976 in Port St. Lucie was indeed a good year. Let us hope the trend will continue in the coming year.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor

After months and months of I-95 West as opposed to I-95 East, I believe the average person living in the areas which will be affected by the decision when it is made, and who most likely won't even be around when it does happen having departed in the direction of that great Interstate in the sky where all they have to do is amble along not worrying about West or East, have had it up to here with, you whose controversy.

So, I feel that the best plan to settle the whole mess goes something like this. bearing in mind that it is not being advocated as not to be considered inflammatory, is not in the department of dirty tricks, but could turn the trick.

With the advance notice to North and South bound traffic coming into or leaving the State of Florida over the Roosevelt Bridge gets stuck in an open position. Assuming only five thousand cars (save me the numbers) of I-95 & Vero Beach have come over into U.S. 1 and continue south hopefully through Stuart. There you are. Or try it the other way. You leave Miami on I-95, Head North, get off at PGA Blvd. and come over to U.S. 1 and head North with you Should this happen a few times for [illegible] I'd wager I-95 would be very popular in Florida and Vero Beach would not [illegible] vulnerable on right days. As to such a situation. Of course, travelers have the alternate route, the Sunshine Parkway itself, but after a certain number of tolls for the lack of completion of I-95, someone in the state capitol would get zapped and a few roads would roll. Don't forget also that it is possible for tourists to get on and off U.S. 1 at either Fort Pierce or Stuart and detour by way of Hutchinson Island. That ought to really fear it for anyone in a hurry.

Ocean Breeze

BY ERNIE CURWEN
PHONE 334-0756

Most of the snowbirds must be here by now as only five arrived this week, but we were almost overwhelmed with the kids, grandkids and even great grandkids and didn't that put a joyful sparkle into the already sparkling streets!

The five who joined us this week were Walter and Viola Small, Kenneth and Beatrice Buyer, and Ethel Lowe.

The visitors and snowbirds were greeted with Carolers from the Community Church who every year sing a bit on Christmas Eve outside the homes of the ill and lonely. Then many OBPers went on to the Candlelight Services before strolling around to view the prettily illuminated mobile homes and grounds. Sorry about the poor arrangement on the weather but bad as it was it must have been a welcome change from the snow, sleet and cold of up north. Christmas Day was mild enough for swim suits.

Town elections are over. Mas Gene Hoke was reelected and newcomer George Levangie was elected to the Town Council along with the reelection of Betty MacNab and Ernie Curwen.

* * *

Sharon Chicks park officer reminds folks that the office is now open during the noon hour and it's no longer necessary to call the Hoke residence for park business. Sharon also reports that the office will be closed Monday, Jan. 3 for the legal holiday. She mentions that although Jack Beaton reads the electric meters around the 20th of the month the bills are not posted until after the first.

* * *

Some folks must have received pocket calculators for Christmas and wanting to try 'em out checked the cost per gallon of propane and found it higher than expected. So the word got around and others put their calculators to work and it was noted that the costs varied all over the lot with small quantities costing around 95 cents per gallon and large quantities down to about 60 cents. Of course the difference is justified but with National Energy Commission urging us to use less it seems a shame that those who use are penalized. It has been suggested that a Gas card could be used the same as an Ice card was used in the olden days thereby only getting propane when actually needed.

PARK PAPERS

The Kid's Christmas Party was a very gala beginning affair with dozens of kids playing games, eating lunch and getting presents from Santa Duk Aumiller as usual. The clubhouse was very Christmasy with evergreen roping from the State and Main, the luncheon table delightfully decorated with Santas, trees and holly, by Joe and Ada Wessel as usual and the luncheon was complete from sandwiches to cake, ice cream, mold and candy prepared by Helen Pickland and Sue Hygd, again as usual. Grampa and Grandmas proudly walked and took pictures, so it was a real fun for all.

Christmas Church Service in the clubhouse at 7:30 a.m. started many OBPers on their way to one of the best Christmases ever. Rev. Milton Fronsoe of the Christian Church conducted the service. Hazel Hutcheson of the Christian Church was soloist, with Bessie Theilig, accompanist, and Ralph Orr leading the hymn singing. The pot luck with the large cross setting amidst the Christmas tree and fireplace made the stage festive and spiritual as befitting the occasion. After the service, folks filled the air with their joyful greetings of "Merry Christmas" to friends and neighbors as they strolled back to their mobile homes.

A novel Singles Christmas Dance ended the joyful day on a happy note. Even before 8 p.m. starting time, folks in twos and threes began to head for the clubhouse and soon more chairs had to be set up for the ever increasing crowd. Ruth Hoke in her music room kept things a humming with a mixture of square and ballroom dancing and many "mixers" so that the lone singles could join the fun and get acquainted. Also there was dancing entertainment as new and old square dancers put on strange routines then ask gals with shoebox feet blindfolded dancing around rolling eggs. Alex Fuoroni with Jim Nixon's assistance arranged these skits and gave out prizes to winners. Later gifts were exchanged and by the giggling and hoots of laughter they were surely enjoyed. Waltzes were very interesting to watch as guys maneuvered their gals under the mistletoe so that when the music stopped they'd be sure to know what and then receive a prize for doing it. But all in soon it was last waltz time and slowly the folks wandered out the door saying, "Wasn't this Christmas one of the best!"

Camera Club meetings have been omitted during the holidays, but President Jack Domer says there'll be a slide show Thursday, Jan. 6, if he has to put it on himself with Olga's help of course.

Shuffleboard league activities according to shuffle reporter Asa Colby have been suspended over the holidays leaving the courts free for open play. Round Robin games were played on Dec. 18 and 19 and the winners, along with the Stag and Petticoat monthly winners will be listed next week.

A very successful Turkey Shoot was held Wednesday, Dec. 22. Irma Fair, president says, "Congratulations to Ted and Alice Witmer for the great affair and wonderful refreshments."

Happy birthday was sung to Charles Fair as he received a lovely cake. Many folks received gifts from the Country Store which was handled by Alice Witmer, Jeannette Levangie and Irma Fair while Bill Jones, vice president, handled the mike to announce the winners.

Turkeys were won by Ruth Phelps, Bobbs Tucker and Pete Muller. Chicken went to Ann Bell, Pharl Dorothy Elliott, Evelyn Groves, Irma Fair, Bun Miller, Cyril Matty, Pete Muller, Tom Sarandis and Earl Eberhardt. But Miller and Pete Hillman won the fruit cakes.

D&M Mobile Park

BY MILDRED TICE STINNETT

Christmas is the time for family and friends and, around here, we had plenty of both. Eilene and David McBriar have Eilene's son Richard Markowski, his wife Robin, and Rick, Jr., and Joseph, both of whom were confident Santa would know they were here and not at home in Highland, Michigan, when he made his annual trip down from the North Pole.

Christmas day the McBriars hosted the traditional turkey dinner for the Markowskis, Mona and Arthur Wendt (Eilene's sister and brother-in-law), Agnes McBriar Surrency and her husband Art, Hannah and John McBriar all of whom live in our park.

Alice and Harry Eastlack are enjoying a two week visit with their daughter and son-in-law, Marian and Don Clift from Woodbury, New Jersey.

Alice and Emil Tweit have been entertaining their old friends Paul and Helen Housand from Loomis, Washington. When the Housands left here they went on their way to Jacksonville, then to Oklahoma, Yuma City, Arizona, and Mexico, before returning to Washington in April.

This year's Christmas dinner in our rec hall was a gastronomic success - the two turkeys donated by the management, and the other goodies brought by our excellent cooks were so ample there was plenty left for those who came back later for supper.

Merle Conklin "did his thing" at the coffee urn as usual, Lowell Foster gave the blessing and acted as M.C., we all applauded Olive Binns and Verna Moran who got everything organized, and thanked all the others who helped make this a memorable occasion. After dinner we sang Christmas songs and visited.

Edie and Andy Andreason brought Edie's sister Ruth to the dinner. Stelle Dobrowolski had Catherine Gerdes, her daughter's mother-in-law, and I had my daughter Jill, son-in-law Jim Harris, Mark and Shannon, from Ft. Eustis, Virginia, who are with me during the school holiday.

Last Wednesday Jill and Jim went on the Jungle Queen trip out of Jensen Beach Travel Club, and enjoyed the special effects prevalent during this time of year. We've managed a few hours at the beach, but the weather has not been conducive to acquiring a sun tan.

Mark and Shannon found playmates their own age here. Shawn and Dawn MacDowell, who with their parents, Bernice and Al MacDowell, came to Bernice and George Stahlberg from Franklin, Mass. for two weeks Christmas day, the Stahlbergs also entertained at a family gathering their son Jim, his wife Diana and their two girls, Teresa and Suzanne from Jacksonville, son George and his wife Pat from Jensen; and their Joyam Gini, Shirley and Matt. One more son, Bob, and his wife Jane came down from Fort Pierce, with Bobby, Cindy, Barbara and Georgie. Now, that's what I call a full house!

Kate and Frank Crume have Jane and Nick Berker, Tracy and Jill, from Dayton, Ohio, at their home, and are awaiting the arrival of their son John and grandson Michael from Miami.

Irma and Bill Meredith went all out to show my grandchildren Mark and Shannon Harris how their turtles live and eat, allowing them to hold and feed them. They were so entranced they came back and put together a screened play pen which they presented to the turtles.

Alice Tweit entertained Mark and Shannon by carrying on a conversation with her very talented parakeet, "Pepper", and Emil showed them his banana trees and illustrated his method of grafting on his mango trees.

We have the nicest people in the world at D & M.

And on the subject of nice people, Mark got the surprise of his life when he opened one of his Christmas gifts and found a real, live CB radio, complete with license (in his Dad's name), antenna - the works - even a proper T-shirt. Once assembled, he lost no time in trying it out and was delighted at the response of other aficionados out on the highway, who talked to "Whaler KADY 4985" and congratulated him on joining their ranks.

Don't forget that art classes commence Thursday, Jan. 6, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, in the rec hall. Gather your equipment together, clean your brushes, and come prepared for instruction from Helen Wells, who is an established artist and, we understand, a fine teacher.

We'll be having a pot luck supper Wednesday, Jan. 12, at 5:30 p.m. in the rec hall. Celia Barr and I will act as hostesses, and we are looking forward to seeing all of you at this popular "happening".

ARTILLERY GIFTS: Members of the Jensen Beach (optimist) Auxiliary showed gifts for the needy and Toys for Tots during the holiday season. Shown in the modified semi-circle are gifts of Cassandra Hettinger, four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hettinger. Mrs. Hettinger Marty is an officer in the Auxiliary.

May you all have a happy and blessed New Year.

There was a large attendance at the Pavilion Church on Sunday with many children in the congregation. Rev. Clark Thompson officiated. Bert Turner played the organ as Dee Brink had burned her hand, and Tina Van Raay sang a lovely Christmas anthem and Stanley McCart did the layman service.

The park is now full with guests for the holidays. There are plenty of children to make it a real Christmas. Big hopes and dreams came true on the magic of the 24th and 25th and we all enjoyed the beautiful weather on those special days.

The Christmas Bazaar was a smashing success, netting over $200 for the recreation fund. The table of baked goods looked like a picture in a gourmet magazine and every cookie was sold. Ditto for the attractive gift items.

The day after the bazaar Lee and Maury Foote and Marian and Pat Kime packed all the canned goods and toys donated for the Salvation Army and took them to the Stuart Police Department where they were gratefully received and distributed to needy families in the area.

Though Christmas Eve was a beautiful starlit night it was windy and lot owners were kept busy lighting and re-lighting the candles in the bags on each lot. They finally seemed to burn down enough so they made a beautiful lighted path for the carolers.

A group of 36 neighbors on North Bluefish had a joint Christmas feast on the Footes' lot. Two turkeys were consumed along with plenty of trimmings.

Dot and Dick Clark came up from Tequesta to be with their friends.

A group, 86 in all, from Holland, Michigan, were here for the holidays and had their Christmas party and dinner in the rec hall.

Ethel and Paul Pinkiewicz are back from their place at Port Orange where they spent Christmas with Ethel's family.

Curt and Muriel Chase spent Christmas with their son and his family in Orlando, Florida.

Maureen Holmes had a pleasant surprise when her son, Rick Bohnemann from Fort Gordon, Georgia had a Christmas furlough and was able to spend four days here with her.

Al and Peg Ray went to Hialeah to be with their family and granddaughters for Christmas.

Ginny and Vince Stratford spent Christmas with son Patrick and his family in Ft. Lauderdale.

The J.C. Freemans christened their new porch Christmas Day with guests the Messers and Smarthes for dinner.

We were disappointed that Fred Kiefaber had a set back and had to return to the hospital in New York. We hope that he and Stephanie will be able to get to Holidays real very soon.

Bill and Bertie Harrison thank all who sent them cards and prayers. Bill will get further treatments and hopes to return in a few months. His address: W.D. Harrison, 1117 Wyoming St., Dayton, Ohio 45410.

A friend gave Al Ray a large kinfish which he shared with neighbors, the Freemans and the Messers. The portion Al kept was cooked by Peg and served to guests Betty Taylor and her housequest for dinner Tuesday.

The exercise class closed up shop Wednesday until January 3, and you can enjoy that.

Art classes are discontinued until January 10 and will be held then at Venture Out instead of Holidays that rec hall.

Bert and C.J. Ouellette have flown to San Francisco to visit their son.

Bob and Irma Barton have returned from the Bahamas. They enjoyed beautiful warm weather the three weeks they were there. Too bad they couldn't bring some back with them.

Deborah and Jan Dobson arrived from S. Ontario, Canada, to visit their parents Elmer and Rita Dobson for two weeks. On Christmas day Mr. and Mrs. Frank White, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sykora and son Scott joined the Dobsons for dinner on their new screen porch.

Lee and Mildred Stall's daughter Barbara and her husband arrived last week and on Monday this week their other daughter Sharon, her husband and two children joined the family. Logistics dictated that the young couples share a trailer on lot 477 while Mildred and Lee care for their grandchildren in their trailer, or is it that they wanted a chance to spoil them a little and love them a lot?

Herb and Pauline Baugh flew to Bertrand, Michigan to spend the holidays with their family.

Dee and Dot Finch flew to Pontiac, Michigan.

Mary Schmidt flew to California to join a sister and brother whom she had not seen for fifteen years, and to reveal her other sister who had surgery recently.

This was the year of thrills

JENSEN BEACH—Martin County's pair of top-ranked DeLand and defending state champion Orlando Edgewater last week took many people in the state by surprise. Now could a team that had been so decimated by graduation be so much better than the half. But this was not Martin County's night. Fort Pierce went on to win the tournament, but they fell to sterner competition in the Regional tourney.

Sports News

BY DONNIE WILKIE

year before." But local sports buffs might well have expected such happenings, because Martin County's tournament victory only served as the topping for a great year of local sports.

Consider the following as only a sample of the excitement: 1) Langford Park hosting the District Mustang League tournament and the Regional Bronco tourney. 2) Senne Lumber's thrilling win in the 10th annual Fireworks Slow Pitch Softball tournament. 3) Fort Pierce Central's stirring win over the local Tigers, and subsequent appearance in the Regional basketball playoffs. 4) The FP Central football Cobras number one ranking at mid-season by the Florida High School poll and thrilling game against Palm Beach Gardens for the Suncoast Conference Eastern Division title.

The year began with a big bang locally as the Jensen Beach Optimist Club sponsored the junior basketball program. Eight teams of Lower and Upper Division players took to the courts and created the most exciting year of basketball Jensen Beach has yet had.

Almost immediately after the basketball season came the county-wide baseball program. Jensen Beach, whose leagues are totally independent from the rest of the county, with the exception of the Colt League, enjoyed a prosperous year. There was fierce competition in all four Jensen Beach leagues while the Martin County baseballers also went right down to the wire. But the biggest moment came at season's end when the Martin County All Stars, a motley crew of Mustang leaguers, surprised everyone by overcoming Palm Springs heavily favored All Stars in the District tournament.

Martin County's basketball team meanwhile showed marked improvement in the 1976 half of its schedule. The Tigers went undefeated in the Suncoast Eastern Division, and also downed Western champion North Shore twice. The season's end at home was one of the most exciting games ever played at the MCHS gym with the locaders coming out on top in two overtimes.

But the Tigers ran into some problems in the District tournament when the Fort Pierce Central Cobras upset them. Peter Thompson, the Tiger who had missed the early part of the season because of poor grades, played brilliantly in the first Martin County sports during the summer. But the Mustang Districts, Bronco Regionals, and the Fireworks Softball tournament provided a lot of thrills before vacation time.

The tenth annual Fireworks Softball tournament was a tremendous success. Senne Lumber of Melbourne provided the thrills, winning six straight games to take the title. But the local teams made it a horse race, as the Martin County Merchants went undefeated before losing to Senne and the Dade Merchants Stuart National Bank, though, was the local power, advancing all the way to the final night before succumbing.

By the time fall came, local fans already had enjoyed enough action to last an entire year. But there was much more to come. The football season was upon us, and what better year could there by for Martin County to suddenly reverse their football fortunes?

Add to that the football prowess of Fort Pierce Central and you have the makings of a super football year.

But Fort Pierce Coach Phil Farinella wasn't about to put his Cobras above the rest of the Suncoast teams. "I think Boca Raton and Lake Worth have to be considered the stronger teams right now," remarked the successful Cobra coach.

Florest Hill found out just how "weak" Fort Pierce was when they met the Cobras. By the time the roasting was over, Forest Hill had been charred 61-0, prompting the state's pollsters to rank Fort Pierce Central's gladiators number one in the state.

They held this position despite a terrific scare by the local Tigers. Martin County's trip to Fort Pierce almost brought the Cobra express to a rapid halt as the Tigers totally outplayed Fort Pierce for the 2nd. on fumble and interception returns for touchdowns. Right up until the end, it looked like the Tigers might accomplish the impossible. But Fort Pierce was too strong and confident.

The FP Central confidence suffered a bit after that game, and it quickly stunned Merritt Island knocked off the Cobras 14-0 a week later in a battle which saw the score tied 0-0 through half of the final quarter.

But Fort Pierce was still in the playoff race even if they were not ranked number one and undefeated any more. Of course, they still had to beat Palm Beach Gardens, but that would be no problem. The Gators were unbeaten, both in the conference and outside it, but they had beaten Martin County 12-0, at a time when the Tigers were at the height of a 9-game losing skid. Then, they had beaten Boca Raton 13-8 on two fumble recoveries in the last minute.

Fort Pierce fell into the Gardens trap, and the Cobras ran the unbeatable gamer out of Cobra Town, 14-0 at mid-point, but with their confidence sagging, blew it. Thus, despite their number one ranking at mid-season and their win over Martin County, the Cobras did not go to the state playoffs. Instead, Gardens went and then lost to Merritt Island 9-7.

Martin County had done an about face after the loss to Gardens. The Tigers won two straight after that, over Forest Hill and Twin Lakes, but then bowed to Lake Worth's wishbone offense 40-20. From there on the Tigers lost only to FP Central and Boca Raton, and both of those games they could have won. The 6-4 record was the best by a Tiger team in four years, and Coach Wayne Bowling says "it's only the beginning."

Junior football also enjoyed a prosperous year. The Lower Division's American Conference race went right down to the wire with Stuart the surprise leader for most of the year. But Indiantown, the power of the division for the last four years, pulled it out in the last week, winning a 1-0 overtime defeater at Stuart in the most exciting game ever played in Junior Football League history.

The championship games were also exciting. Port Salerno won the Lower title, 32-6 over an exhausted Indiantown team. In the Upper title tilt, Indiantown upset previously unbeaten and untied Port Salerno 6-0, as Theodore "Cuckoo" Howard raced some 60 yards for the only score of the game.

Basketball is upon us now, and if the season games are any indication of what will happen this season, the excitement should carry over into the new year.

Martin County is off and running already. The Tigers, ranked second in the pre-season poll, upset number one ranked DeLand 97-93 in what writers all over the state called "the greatest game ever played in the state of Florida." Needless to say, the Tigers are now ranked first.

And just as the Tigers are ranked first in basketball, so was the year 1976 for sports excitement.

Northport Men's Golf

PORT ST. LUCIE—When the North Port Men's Golf League met for play Tuesday on the Holiday Country Club course, Charles Stallings, with a 62, took the top honors in Flight A, with Ed Graham coming in second with 67.

Flight B, Bob Lawyer, 58, and Hughes Brininger, 61. In Flight C, Leon Jensen scored 61.

Tigers win, try tourney sweep

ST. PETERSBURG—Sparked by the play of Moses Johnson, Lavern McFadden, and low-scoring Oscar Delancy, the Martin County Tigers won the Orlando Sentinel Star basketball classic last week and are now ranked number one by the Florida high school poll.

The three-game sweep of the Orlando tourney makes Martin County the solid favorite to do the same thing in St. Petersburg tonight.

Johnson, who had given up his high-scoring potential in order to cater to All-American prospect Walter Campbell, suddenly had to carry the bulk of the effort last Wednesday night in Martin County's four overtime win over previously unbeaten and number one ranked DeLand. But the sophomore standout was equal to the task, as he meshed 19 key points for the hometowners propelling them to the 97-93 win.

Guard Oscar Delancy was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player as he tallied 54 points in the tournament to become one of the top scorers in the classic. "He earned every bit of it," said his proud coach Don Wallen, after the award was presented.

Delancy had 24 points in the Tigers' championship win over Orlando Edgewater, a game which the Tigers won 77-67 in two overtimes. Perhaps the Tigers are trying to put things in perspective concerning Edgewater's ranking duel with DeLand. It took four overtimes to eliminate tough DeLand, but Edgewater was a cinch, because it took the exhausted locaders only two overtimes to knock them off.

In the opening game, Martin County downed Orlando Boone 69-62. Campbell had 15 points to pace the Tigers, while Delancy was close behind with 14.

Despite the starring win in the finale, it was the semi-final game that attracted all the attention. Martin County was expected to have its hands full with the DeLand Bulldogs. Oliver Lee, the All-American who was expected to be an brilliant, was not even the top scorer for his team. Instead, it was a sluggish DeLand that took to the court against the Tigers. The Bulldogs had had their hands full with Orlando Evans the night before, but had escaped an upset with a fourth quarter comback 61-59.

After DeLand took a 1-0 lead, the Tigers went crazy. They scored 10 points in a row for a 10-1 advantage, and the writers, who had billed this game as the "biggest showdown of the year," were already yawning.

Martin County was in firm control of the game for most of the night, trailing only once after that, 51-50. But with 1:47 left in the game, they held a five point advantage, 69-64. With Martin County ahead 71-68, with 30 seconds left, Lee got loose on a fast break and trimmed the lead to one. After that, Coach Don Wallen drew a technical foul, and Lee tied the score 71-71 at the end of regulation.

The winners crowd saw one overtime go by, then two, three, and finally, it all came to an end in the fourth extra period.

Bobby McKagen's jumper put MCHS ahead to stay with 2:26 to go 90-89. Then, Johnson and Delancy combined the lead to five with two pointers of their own.

Leading 94-89, Martin County applied the final touches with a Johnson free throw and a McKagen field goal.

Monday night, the Tigers were matched against Dunedin (7-2) in the first round of the St. Petersburg classic.

Martin County is now 8-0 on the season and they return home next Tuesday night to play Fort Pierce Central, a very prominent challenger in the Suncoast Eastern Division, and a threat to the Tigers' unbeaten record, if it holds up at St. Pete.

Save COG is mayor's goal

PORT ST. LUCIE–While the City Council Tuesday agreed to endorse the St. Lucie County Commission's stand terminating the Regional Planning Council in Fort Pierce and St. Lucie County, they supported Mayor Schuyler Sharpe in what he termed to be a last minute effort to save the St. Lucie River Council of Governments (COG).

"It bothers me to see the death of COG since it provided an open line of communications between the local governing bodies. It is an organization where officials could meet at grassroot levels and discuss common problems," Sharpe said.

Although Sharpe intends to write a personal letter to the mayors and chairmen of the local governing bodies, he has little hopes of pulling the organization together again.

"With the six entities working together we could be a force, particularly in working with the state level, but it seems the others involved do not think it is important," the mayor said.

Martin County Commissioner Frank Wacha Tuesday supported Mayor Sharpe's position on COG.

"It is good for different levels of government to communicate with each other," Wacha said. "There can be other problems to come up that could be different from what is discussed at Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council."

"We need some mechanism such as COG for governments to exchange ideas, and it is always good for different levels of government to meet, exchange ideas and some solutions to mutual problems," Wacha said.

"Since I became involved two years ago, I have tried in every way I knew how to instill life in this organization, but I just don't seem to have the magic wand to accomplish this feat," Mayor Sharpe said.

"All I can do now is await replies to my final effort."

In July of 1975, Mayor Sharpe and City Manager Elmer Cox made a strong effort to revitalize COG after St. Lucie County and Fort Pierce commissioners voted to pull out of COG.

After the two Port St. Lucie city leaders met with Fort Pierce and St. Lucie County officials in 1975, Cox observed. Sharpe voiced a strong argument for keeping COG going.

And the man most responsible for the establishment of the St. Lucie-Martin Counties county and municipal governments, former Martin County Commissioner Timer Powers in 1975 blamed St. Lucie County officials for "accepting COG with indifference and then never putting their hearts in it when it was organized in 1974."

While the City of Fort Pierce did come back in COG and former Mayor Buck Bryant attended meetings St. Lucie County Commission, represented by Commissioner Ed Enns, didn't officially vote to return to COG, and there was a definite lack of enthusiasm.

Last week St. Lucie County Commissioners suggested the abolition of COG because the organization's functions are duplicated by the new planning council.

A meeting of COG was slated last week but only Mayor Sharpe and Fort Pierce City Commissioner Jack Lang showed up.

BEACON LIGHTS INSTALLED–While the new blinker lights being installed at the intersection of Westmoreland Boulevard and U.S. 1 may not make it any easier for the motorist entering the intersection, they most certainly should enhance the safety of such venture. Although not in operation yet, blinker lights are being installed. Blinker lights are also being installed at the Lyngate and U.S. 1 intersection and Port St. Lucie Boulevard and U.S. 1 intersection. Members are reminded to bring jewelry for the sale that will take place during the meeting.

The club's monthly luncheons will resume January 17 at Ray's Inn, in the St. Lucie Plaza on U.S. 1 at 11:30 a.m. Deadline for reservations is Thursday, January 13, according to Joanne Walters, luncheon chairman. Her number is 878-1672, or reservations may be made and paid for at Monday's meeting.

Leonie Poindar, with a 94-net 197, won the President's Cup Tournament played by the St. Lucie Country Club Women's Golf Association at Sandpiper Bay.

The City indicated a possible interest in the proposed City Hall site at the intersection of Airoso and PSL Boulevards providing the developer "GDC" would lower the asking price to $5,000 per acre.

MARCH

An 80-page proposed comprehensive city zoning ordinance, 76-1, was unveiled during a council workshop session. P&Z Chairman Ed Fessel and vice chairman Dr. Charles Hoyte outlined the document and answered questions for those attending the session.

The county's voter registration list was decreased by nearly 4,000 in the annual purge.

The proposed rate increase application by General Development Utilities, Inc. was the main topic for discussion at a meeting sponsored by the Port St. Lucie-River Park Homeowners Association. Representatives of the Port St. Lucie and the Country Club Home owners Associations were in attendance.

A state purchasing agent was in Martin and St. Lucie Counties to meet with savannas property owners to discuss possible donation and purchase of the vast wetlands. Norman McMillan of purchasing agent for the state Bureau of Land Acquisition, was scheduled to return within three weeks to discuss signing preliminary contracts. The state-ordered appraisal of the 10,000 acres averaged out to $500 per acre. The appraisals for each parcel of property varied. Property owners were assured their agreements to donate or sell would not be binding if the project fell through. A total of $8 million has been earmarked for the acquisition of the swamps, all important savannas and the project retains a top priority in the state land program.

"It is better to try and fail than to have never tried at all," said Larry Johnston, a member of the St. Lucie County Democratic Club and coordinator of a two-county sponsored Democratic Ball. Then all but one of the scheduled presidential candidates failed to appear at the $25 a plate fund raising event.

The Spring Festival netted better than $2,500 for the Community Center's operating fund.

Election officials manning the South County precinct polls were unanimous in reporting a steady flow of voters during the presidential preference primary.

The Bicentennial Committee, headed by Adm. John E. Fradd, sponsored a Bicentennial Cocktail Dance at the Sandpiper resort.

Word was released that a decision on the new regional planning district was expected within the month. Area officials were told by a state Department of Administration official. Several months before, the four northern counties of the South Florida Regional Planning Council adopted resolutions asking Lt. Gov. Williams for a new planning district. Other officials of the planning council argued against the secession of the northernmost members.

The proposed new 67 page city charter was to be officially transferred from the hands of the Charter Revision Commission to the City Council. A special meeting was scheduled for discussing the proposed document.

The official groundbreaking ceremonies for the long awaited Port St. Lucie Medical Center were held.

Port St. Lucie Anglers' Club members voted unanimously to oppose the state Fish and Game Commission's proposed plan to seine the waters of Lake Okeechobee to remove rough fish and, hopefully, reduce water pollution.

Discussion with FPL officials concerning methods to reduce the cost of street lighting in lighting district 5 resulted in a considerable reduction from the proposed figure of $22 per lot. The revised estimate was for $11.28 annually per lot.

The executive council of the Port St. Lucie Homeowners Association urged the City Council to call for an early vote on the proposed city charter as submitted by the Charter Revision Committee.

In an effort to cut down on vandalism the City Council adopted an ordinance establishing a 9 p.m. curfew at Spruisman Park.

Although some modification was expected, the city adopted the proposed new comprehensive zoning ordinance, 76-1, on the first reading.

Ed Fessel submitted his resignation as chairman of the Planning and Zoning Board and was extremely critical of the "no action" policy on the part of the City Council.

Homeowners supported millage roll-back bill, urged others to do the same.

APRIL

St. Lucie County Tax Appraiser James Bass assured the City Council he could foresee no problems with placing four lighting districts on the 1976 tax rolls. Also, a bid from a Stuart electrical firm was approved for installation of lights at Spruisman Park, cost $13,180.

The millage rollback bill for Martin and St. Lucie Counties died for the lack of senate support.

During a re-organizational meeting Schuyler Sharpe, Frank Rose and Lolita Kernohan retained top city posts. Donna Baggan was sworn in as City Clerk.

Mrs. Fred Johnston, Mrs. Knox Moncure, Frank Zendzian and Bob Brunton were installed as new trustees by the CESA Board of Directors.

General Development Utilities President Harold E. Schmidt spoke to the PSL-RP Homeowners regarding the firm's proposed hike in sanitary sewer and water rates.

When local residents opposed the GDU water and sewer rate hike complained of discoloration, poor distribution, bad taste, low pressure and a considerable amount of sediment in their water. GDU officials promised to clean and flush water mains on a regular schedule.

Vaughn Lewis, acting chairman of the city's P&Z Board, reported five resignations at the end of the first year and urged a joint meeting between the City Council and the P&Z group. Lewis asked the council to lay out the ground rules for the committee's operation and also to furnish a list of priorities.

In a letter to the council, the Civic League went on record recommending that the charter submitted by the Charter Revision Committee be presented to the voters without changes or amendments of any kind, claiming that the committee deserves to have the product of its work judged by the electorate.

Four new members were named to the P&Z Board. George Monteith, Ray Neighbours, Ed Jenkins and John Huncharek.

GDC President Louis Fischer agreed to reduce the cost of the 14.89 acre parcel, purchased as the new city hall site, from $12,500 to $5,500 per acre, providing a closing could be scheduled no later than September 30, 1976. Should the city agree to a cash purchase, GDC agreed to donate Thornhill Park to the city. The park consists of 20.85 acres and is located near the intersection of Floresta Drive and Thornhill Drive.

Norman McMillan, state purchasing agent for the Bureau of Land Acquisition, met again with property owners of the vast wetlands of Martin and St. Lucie County. According to Dr. Walter Stokes, a leader in the "save the savannas" project, those concerned are in the final stages of closing contracts, but it would probably be near the end of the year before the State Cabinet would be able to approve the savannas purchase.

Douglas J. Stout was appointed as the city's Director of Public Safety. Stout was formerly employed by the St. Lucie County Sheriff's Department.

Thirteen girls of Port St. Lucie Loma met to organize their own group as a feminine chapter to serve Lionism. Mrs. Myrtle Grizzell, Mrs. Evelyn Rainor and Mrs. Ellen Schnlee were chosen to head the club.

An organizational meeting for a proposed Port St. Lucie Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) was scheduled to be held at the Community Center early in May.

Joe Latiker was crowned champion of the Northport Men's Golf Association.

Bill McTheenes was elected Lt. Cdr. and District Administrative Officer of District 8, U.S. Power Squadron, during the spring conference held in Key West.

The Optimist Field lights at Sportsman Park were officially turned on during the opening ceremonies. The ceremonies preceded a Senior Little League game between the local Optimist and North Palm Beach.

Although the vote was 3-2 in favor of collecting some $50,000 from one present and two former councilmembers, pressures brought by other organizations within the city caused the council to stall.

Local anglers requested the city to install lights on the Kavanaugh Bridge on Port St. Lucie Boulevard. The bridge was becoming increasingly popular with night time fishermen.

The public hearing on the GDU rate increase application was postponed from May 26 to June 22 at Sandpiper Bay.

The Florida Cabinet approved a FPL permit to build a second nuclear plant on Hutchinson Island. Attorney General Robert Shevin called for strict monitoring of safety precautions.

JUNE

Although there was considerable controversy over the matter, the council agreed in a proposal that the new patrol officer and the city's new police car would be under the direct supervision of the St. Lucie County Sheriff's Department, while the city picked up the $30,000 tab for the services.

Out of 13 applications received for the position of a permanently assigned police deputy, only Gerald R. Cassena met all the necessary qualifications.

An application for a $15,000 grant from the Governor's Highway Safety Commission was filed by the city. If the grant was approved, the funds would be used to conduct a traffic warning and regulatory sign study to determine the needs of the city.

Citing test year inadequacies, four civic association objected to the proposed rate hike of GDU in an eighteen page rebuttal to the Public Service Commission.

St. Lucie County Sheriff Lamie Norvell submitted a $165,167 budget to the city.

Lt. Gov. Jim Williams approved creation of a new regional planning district for Martin, St. Lucie, Indian River and Palm Beach Counties.

Over 1450 free high blood pressure tests were given to the public in the lobbies of Citizens Federal's three offices.

The sale of the share of Fort Pierce Development Corporation stock netted the city approximately $1,100 on their investment.

Over 250 local residents attended the public hearing to protest GDU's proposed water and sewer rate increase application. The hearing was conducted by the Public Service Commission at Sandpiper Bay.

GDU officials were given until August 1 to present a detailed list of sales report to the Public Service Commission, to aid the PSC in determining whether or not GDC was fulfilling their sales agreements by providing free water and sewer hookups as promised to those buyers purchasing lots prior to 1972.

Resources Board to be reactivated

STUART–Members of business and industry in Martin County are being invited to join in the reorganization of the county Resources Development Board, it was announced today by Richard E. Campbell, president.

A breakfast meeting is planned for 7:30 a.m. Wednesday, January 5, at the Buccaneer Motel (formerly the Ramada Inn) in Stuart. It is open to all business and industrial leaders in the county, and the board will be reactivated at that time.

The agenda will include a proposed name change to "Industrial Task Force of Martin County," solicitation of members, and establishment of a dues structure. A committee to seek a slate of officers will be announced.

The action follows a request by Dr. William G. Myers, county commissioner, who asked Campbell to reactivate the group to "accept the challenge of seeking industry for Martin County," Campbell said.

On December 3, officers of the resources board met to discuss reactivating the group. Attending were Campbell; Glenn Sutton, vice president; Dale Hudson, treasurer; and Gene Van Curen, secretary. Also attending were Al Hendry, Ransom Tilton and Ron Mitchell.

Arrangements for the breakfast meeting were made by Hudson, and Van Curen was asked to compile a list of business and industry leaders from names submitted by those present. Those on the list will be contacted to attend, but Van Curen asked that all interested in bringing industry to Martin County attend.

The group also discussed the possibility of a full-time director for the group, and the use of professional volunteer talent available in the county.

The cooperation of the industrial committee of the Stuart Chamber of Commerce was assured by Van Curen, who is also president of the Stuart Chamber.

All Chambers of Commerce in Martin County are being asked to send representatives to the meeting, Campbell said.

Chief Spinney is retiring

JENSEN BEACH–Randolph Spinney, one of the original volunteers of the Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department, announced Monday that he is resigning as chief, a position he has held for almost 15 years.

The effective date of his retirement is January 1, and Chief Spinney said, "I'll still be an active member of the department."

The Fire Department marks its birthday May 18, and Chief Spinney noted, "That was 29 years and seven months at the end of this month."

After spending several days in Martin Memorial Hospital back in September Chief Spinney said, "I decided to get out."

"A bout bleed that I couldn't stop put me in the hospital and I lost 32 pounds in about 10 days," the chief explained.

Chief Spinney, 63, is a native of Brooklyn, but has been a resident of Jensen Beach since January of 1945.

Buck Hendry, as county road superintendent, got us our first fire truck, and he was one of the first volunteers," Chief Spinney said.

Recalling some of the early days of the department he said, "We fought fires all over the county, all the way down to Hobe Sound."

"We kept our first truck at Ward's Camp, which is now Pier Bob's Restaurant, and next we had it in a shed which is now Jensen Beach Hardware," the chief recalled.

Chief Spinney said some of the original volunteers were A.J. White, John and Al Hendry, Thomas Hellier, Pete Ward, Buck Hendry and himself.

He said White was the first fire chief, Bools St. Clair was second. Then came Al Walker and Bud Willeke.

"I'm the only one of the original volunteers that is still in the department," he said.

"We got our first new fire truck in 1956 for $7,500, and it was purchased from contributions by the people of Jensen Beach," the chief said.

"We sent out letters asking for donations from the people," the chief continued.

The department still mails out letters in January asking for donations, the only fund raising effort of the department.

"We moved into our present building more than 10 years ago, and we now have six trucks," Spinney said.

Members of the department gave Chief Spinney a patrol and fire
